HIGH POINT COLLEGE'S

'Working for a better informed campus'

Vol. 55

September 15, 1982

High Point, N.C. 27262

INSIDE Sports, p. 6 New faculty,

DR. NICHOLAS GONCHAROFF spoke at Convocation on Aug. 31. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

Goncharoff encourages students at Convocation 1982

CRYSTAL L. HEDGECOCK

Nicholas T. Goncharoff gave the convocation address Aug. 31 at the ceremony that officially opens the College.

Other speakers at Conocation included Dr. Charles Lucht, High Point College President; Mr. Charles Hayworth, Chairman of the Board of Trustees at High Point College and Mark Mashburn, SGA Presi-

Lucht expressed en-thusiasm as he welcomed the audience to the "official opening of classes."

This is going to be a tremendously good year in the history of High Point College," Lucht said.

Mashburn echoed Lucht's hopes for a good year and thanked the Orientation Committee for the "great job" they had done.

Hayworth said the new library would be "ready for use by the end of the 1983-84 school term.

Hayworth also said "if the SGA President will see that destruction stops (in the residence halls) the Board of Trustees will donate $10,000 to the library in honor of the 1982-83 student body.'

The audience approved of his proposal by clapping. Goncharoff, Director

Special Programs of the YM-CA, spoke of "The CA, spoke of "The Wholeness of Man in a Divid-ed World."

During his address, Goncharoff spoke of three points. The first point concerned the ability man has and does not use.

"We use only five per cent of our brain on our life," Gon-charoff said. "With five percent we created miracles Goncharoff said the se-cond point was to "destroy humanization itself or have the wisdom to preserve it.

He said the weapon is "the power of the pen and the power of the word."

Goncharoff's third point concerned man's relationship to nature, the environment and living creatures.

There is an "infinitive search for beauty beyond Earth," Goncharoff said. "Our brain has the capacity to explore beyond our imagination.

Goncharoff concluded his address by urging the students at High Point College "to think globally, act locally."

"Maybe at the 'high point'

"Daint, you can in life, at High Point, you can start a personal, national and global renaissance as have Jefferson and many others,

Chimes ring again

BY THOMAS GRANA HI-PO Reporter

Whether you like or dislike them, High Point College's musical chimes are once again part of our college life.

Installed in late July, the pre-recorded tapes have replaced the worn out chimes that were donated in the

In an interview with Mr. Ken Bulla, the college's Business Manager, he explained that the idea to replace the chimes came from High Point College's Board of Trustees. They also donated the $6,000 that it cost to install the necessary equipment to play the melodious tapes.

There are two different types that are played. The Westminister tapes play every half an hour from 8 A.M. to 7 P.M., Monday through Saturday. On Sunday they begin at noon and end at 7 P.M. The Music Module tapes play only at noon and 6 P.M. seven days a week, and actually play prerecorded songs.

"True Love," "You'll Never Walk Alone," and "Close to You. Come December though, in keeping with the spirit, Christmas music will be played.

Opinions of the chimes are

Traditionally, they are a welcome addition to the community, as some people in High Point may have grown up with the sound of chimes in the background.

Students at High Point, however, have a different outlook on them. Most agree that they are nice to listen to, and are helpful in keeping time, but can be very bothersome when trying to study or

However, no matter what one's opinion is, our melodious chimes will be heard throughout High Point for a long time to come.

Orientation program succeeds

PEGGY DRAPER HI-PO Reporter

The 1982 freshman orientation, whose theme was, 'Lets Get Excited', started early this summer for director Denise Watts.

Watts was responsible for scheduling activities and making contacts with merchants as well as getting monies for off-campus activities

On Monday, Aug. 15, Pat Connely, Mike Louia, Art Payne, Rhonda Cecil, Sharon Lowe, Denise Watts, Mike Hennis, and Sandra Swoboda all arrived on camus to fulfill their responsibilities as the orientation core. The core was responsi ble for compiling packets which each freshman and transfer received, contact various persons to confirm all scheduled events and complete numerous last minute details.

On Friday, Aug. 20 the panied by twenty-one fellow upperclassmen which completed the freshman orientation committee. These committee members are: Joe Budd, Jimmy Davis, Doff Fleshman, Greg Fox, Steve Fraizer, Steve Hess, Tom Leech, David Young, Waldo Rustrian, Bill Costello, Joyce Bacik, Claire Carruthers, Teriann Cleary, Crystal Hedgecock, Mary Hunter, Yvonne Hurley, Judy Jones, Kim Jones, Terry Spittel, Suzanne Zuroff, and Nancy Siersted. These twenty-one people, along with the eight core members, all served as either "Big Brothers" or "Big Sisters", which each fresh-man and transfer were assigned to at least one.

On Saturday, Aug. 21, approximently 330 freshman and 70 transfer students ar-rived on High Point College campus. Later in the day, they were assigned to their big brother or big sister and their orientation advisor. Watts said, "Orientation could not have gone better, it was the smoothest we have had in the past three years.

In speaking with some of the big brothers and big sisters, they all agreed that their own freshman orienta tion did not involve as many academic and social ac tivities as this years did Many said that this years freshmen were kept busier and they became much closer with their big brothers and big sisters, which created a much homier atmosphere.

This year, a big effort was made to involve the commade to involve the com-munity in the activities tak-ing place on campus. The High Point Chamber of Com-merce provided a slide presentation on the city of High Point. The State Board of Transportation donated new High Point College signs and the Merchants Association observed a High Point College Day on August 28th. Eighteen different businesses participated in a raffle donating gifts or gift certificiates to the students.

. Editor-in-Chief
Associate Editor
Advertising and usiness Manager
Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO.

Carelessness causes thefts

I've never been one to distrust people. I believe people should be trusted until they prove otherwise.

Well, I'm the first today to say that this attitude is naive and somewhat stupid.

Proof that my attitude was incredibly foolish came last winter. I had concert tickets stolen out of my pocketbook that I had innocently left in my unlocked car in my own driveway! A passenger in my car commented on the locking of my car doors when we got out, but my response was, "No, they're O.K. I live in a safe neighborhood

My "safe neighborhood" cost me $40 in concert tickets! I learned my lesson. This same naive and stupid attitude is floating around

High Point, the college and the city, seem safe enough. Everyone seems extremely friendly and helpful. Students on the campus seem close like brothers and sisters. But the truth is that there are thieves at High Point, the college and the city.

Some thefts can be avoided.

Three nights ago, a cassette tape deck was taken out of a care. However, the car was unlocked! That person from whom the cassette tape deck was stolen was an easy victim.

Campus security has been preached at us every since we came to HPC, whether it's been three years ago or one month ago. Still, we ignore all precautions, either through carelessness or laziness

It's true that the thief may just break the car glass to enter, thus causing more damage. But all of this commotion would take more time and could draw more attention than someone simply opening the car door and casually removing the cassette deck.

If the thief has to go to special trouble to enter a car, or anywhere, he may be more easily discouraged and give up

There is no sense in us making the way easier for someone who is going to steal our possessions. That would make us accomplices to the crime. How absurd -- being arrested for a crime that was committed against yourself!

Even by being careful, crimes will still occur, but by taking special precautions we can possibly prevent a crime from being committed to us.

It is certainly worth it for me to double-check the door to my room. I would hate to think my roommate had her things stolen because of my carelessness. How could a person ever really make up for losses like that? "I'm sorry" just would not replace clothes, books or personal items.

Even if you are running down the hall for just a minute or going next door, you should lock your door. That pocketbook sitting on your desk can be picked up easily and quickly. There is no need in tempting a would be thief. It may be a good idea to keep pocketbooks and wallets out-of-sight while they are in the room. By all means, keep your car doors locked. Even if you don't have anything you consider valuable, lock them anyway. Sometimes, the thief will not take anything, but will just mess up the interior of the car. Often, damage is harder to deal with than stolen merchan-

And the guilt of knowing you could have prevented a theft is the hardest to deal with of al

CRYSTAL L. HEDGECOCK

SGA plans '82-'83 year

My Fellow Students:

Again, I would like to welcome everyone back to campus for the 1982-83 academic year. This is the for opportunities. We have gotten off to a fantastic start. Involvement, participation and interest have picked up over previous years, which seems to indicate that we do care about our actions and activities while we are here at High Point.

Our first Student Government Association meeting was very well attended and I wish to thank President Lucht for attending and making a few comments. Committees are gearing up to their task for this year and I would encourage any and all students to become involved. All students are welcome to attend all open meetings of the SGA and I hope to see you there. Our next meeting is Thursday, Sept. 16 at 6:30 p.m. in Meeting Room 2 of the Campus Center. If you have any problems or con-cerns, feel free to contact me, P.O. Box 3312-Campus

> Let's have a great year! Mark Mashburn SGA President

Never say

An interesting thing hap-pened the other day. I made an announcement over the P.A. system in the cafeteria concerning a RUSH party to works that comprised this announcement was "beer." I made the announcement and sat down.

One of the fraternity brothers snapped "You can't say that." "Say what?"

"Beer

He informed me that there is a college rule that states no one is allowed to say the word "beer." The other unspeakable is "keg," I was told. I see many of you have heard this before.

Now I have been here at High Point College for two years, and to my knowledge have never been informed by any college official that I can't say the word "beer."
This alledged rule does not exist in the College Catalog, the S.G.A. constitution or the ethics code. Why, then, do students think the word beer" is outlawed?

The constitution of the United States provides for freedom of speech. As far as I know, it can't be beat Although one is prohibited from screaming "fire!" in a crowded theatre, one can say 'beer" in the HPC cafeteria. Most people who have made announcements in the past have substituted "beverage" for beer. Beverage is an ambiguous statement.

If I tell you beverages will be provided, who knows what you will be drinking, but when I say there will be beer, you know what I mean.

Finally, High Point Col-lege receives funds from the Methodist Church. church officials don't approve of drinking beer, which explains the college policy. Folks, you can shield yourselves from reality as long as you live, but, believe it or not, college students on this campus drink beer. They also talk about it. Drinking is a privilege and a choice, which can be, and is denied. Things don't work the same way with speech. You may not want to drink beer, but who's to stop you from saying it.

By the way, if this editorial has been printed in its entirety, the word "beer" has appeared ten times. If not, you and I both wasted our time.

Tom Leech

Security guard joins college staff

BY ERIKA ALLION HI-PO Reporter

"If it would come to someone being raped or assaulted, I wouldn't think twice about jumping on somebody's back."

Quite a strong statement coming from a 5'4", 126 pound woman named Ginger Foy. Foy is the new late night public safety officer on College safety is new to her. Previously Ms. Foy worked for Powers Detective and Security Agency in Greensboro where she guarded and patrolled bus-inesses and banks. "This is the first time HPC has hired position, they didn't take me seriuosly when I asked about the position. It made me feel good when they hired me. . . people are just starting to realize that women can handle situations like this."

Her shift is the most active and perhaps the most dangerous. Ms. Foy is the only officer on duty betwee the hours of 11 p.m. and 7 a.m. She says the biggest problem is town's people who come on campus in the middle of the night. "I wish sometimes we could carry weapons because my shift is the most active and it's kind of hard when you're as little

But Ms. Foy loves her job. She says students are always helping her out. "There are a bunch of good kids on this campus. . . I just wish they would open up and trust me a little more. . . you try so hard to make students like you but you can't force

Ms. Foy says she is often hassled about being a wo man and most of it comes from the guys. In response though she says, "I'm not going to go out looking for reasons to catch somebody. I'm only 30 years old, I haven't forgotten how to party and I have my own boyfriend, so I do understand. . . but, if I catch a student, I'm not going to lay my job on the line just for Covering the whole campus is hard says Foy. But she has the High Point police to back her up and when she gets in a difficult situation she doesn't hesitate to call them on her "trusty radio."

'They can be here in two or three minutes, plus there are always students willing to help me. She said she hoped more students would get involved in campus safety. 'I've made a lot of friends on this campus and I treasure every one of them, I just wish I could get to know everyone." In closing Ms.

Foy said, "My biggest concern is you students. . . I'm just trying to protect you.

RUSH dominates Greek happenings

BY TANA PARKER and KAREN HERNANDEZ

HI-PO Reporters Another week has gone by for the Greeks. The one word which is on all the Greeks minds is RUSH.

The past few weeks both the fraternities and sororities have been busy planning functions for the new freshmen to attend.

The fraternities have been quite successful with their plans. The Inter-Fraternity Council, with new president Bill Costello, started out RUSH on Sept. 2 with Open House in the fraternity

On Friday, Sept. 3, the Theta Chi fraternity started their RUSH off with a Grain Party at the High Point Elks Lodge while the Delta Sigma Phi's partied at the Eastchester Ridge Apartment

Saturday, Sept. 4 was the Lambda Chi Alpha and the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternities turn. The Lambda Chis had their famous Second Annual Hat Party at the Elks Lodge and the Pikas traveled to the Best Value Inn for their party.

After a week of the books.

everybody started their parties again!

Friday, Sept. 10, the Pikas went back to the Best Value Inn for their Second Annual Shade Party. The Sigs ended Shade Party. The Sigs ended the summer with a Beach Party held at Raintree Apartments' Clubhouse. The Lambda Chis held their Second Annual Western pig pickin' at Jaycee Fairgrounds, on Saturday, Sept. 11.

The Theta Chis met with their prospective rushees and little sisters Sunday, Sept. 12 for a softball game at Armstrong Park.

Monday, Sept. 13, the Lambda Chis held their Stags at the High Point Women's Club where 35 rushees were invited. Alumni brother Jack Hamilton was the guest speaker. The Sigs held their Stags on Tuesday night, Sept. 14 at the Schlitz Brewery. Former Dean of Students Bob Lowdermilk was the guest speaker.

Tonight the Pikas will have Regional President Steve Bridges as guest speaker at their Stags where 35 rushees are invited to the Sirloin Ranch.

Thursday, Sept. 16, the Theta Chis will end Stags at the Western Sizzlin in Greensboro. Former presi-dent and alumni brother Chris Graney will speak to the 15 prospectives.

The upcoming weekend has more parties planned. The Pikas are having a Day at the Rail Friday, Sept. 17 from 2 p.m. until 6 p.m. The Theta Chis are having a party that night at Howard Johnson's starting at 9 p.m.

Saturday, the Theta Chis are having a car wash from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. at Tom's Brass Rail. Saturday night, the Pikas are having, a Harvey Polaski Party at Dr. Carl Wheeless's and the Lambda Chi Luau Party at Thomasville Buck Club. The Sigs will be having a Grain Party this weekend. (Date and location to be announc-

The sororities are planning their RUSH, with sign-ups that started Sept. 6. On Sept. 8, the four sororities got together and formed a "greek train".

Panhellenic President Jill Harris was "very pleased with the outcome and the attraction the "Greek Train" brought among freshmen girls.

The four sororities held a softball game Sunday, August 29.

The following has happened within each sorority:

PHI MU - Kathy Neblett and Mike Waller were married March 27. Debbie Hendrix is expecting a baby in December. The Phi Mus had their convention this past summer in Savannah, Georgia. Bonnie Hopkins represented the Phi Mus. Congratulations to Teresa Brown in her engagement to Lambda Chi alumni Gary Vanlandingham.

DELTA — Congratulations go to Lambda Chi lavaliered Terri Livingston and Bob Hannum. Also congratulations go to Theta Chi lavaliered Sharon Sweeney and Mark Mann. The Gams hope to improve in their scholarship, avenge the volleyball defeat, raise money for their national charity J.D.F. and of course, raise their M.V. standings at HPC.

KAPPA DELTAS - The Kappa Deltas have been working hard to make this the best RUSH ever. They will be raising money and doing special projects for their convention in Chicago this June. They wish Sue Saxe luck in her trip to F.T.I. for her senior year. ZETA TAU ALPHA — All of the local Zetas got together Aug. 15 and had a picnic at Kathy Wilson's house. Congratulations goes to Rita Hegge who was lavaliered by Warren, a Kappa Alpha from Wake Forest. Congratulations to Kim Darden and Chan Shaver and Barb Yeager and Todd Philips for their engagements. Jan Espada will be having a baby shower Sept. 15. Her baby is due in two months.

Prospective grads -take note

All upperclassmen please note that those who have failed the High Point College Proficiency Examination in Writing will not be permitted to sit for the exam on November 16 unless requirements of the Writing Center are met. This test is a graduation requirement. Please contact Mrs. Alice Sink in the Writing Center, Cooke Hall during the first weeks of September.

Loan hours posted

A supervisor will be on duty in the seminar room of Alumni Gym during the following hours:

Monday Tuesday Wednesday Thursday Friday

2:00-5:00 1:00-2:30 2:00-5:00 1:00-3:00

Students and faculty will be able to check out and return equipment and physical education reading materials during this time.

A student or a faculty identification will be necessary to insure loan of the equipment.

Hi-Po Staff

Feature Editor ...... Karla Green News Editor . . . . Reports ..... Erika Allion, Donnie Brower, Peggy Draper, Thomas Grana, Karen Hernandez, Mark Phelps, Susan Warrick

Photographers .... Marisa Firpi, Bill Johnson

New staff members fill ten positions

CHARLES BURTON HI-PO Reporter

They are, in a sense, freshmen at High Point College. New faculty and staff members have to remember who's holding which meeting where, remember the names of buildings in addition to remembering the names of people. Most of them look on their new jobs as a challenge.

MICHAEL PITTMAN

MICHAEL PITTMAN is the new Director of Student Life, and he sees excitement and involvement as two keys to a student's success in College.

"I have eight years experience in Student Life work, and in that time I saw many ideas, practices, and programs - just the thing High Point College is looking for.

"If we could get everyone involved in a campus organ-ization in which they would spend about two hours a week working, they would not only feel better by getting involved, but it would also look good on their

Pittman believes in the importance of breaking the drudgery of college life with activities that are new and. hopefully, exciting.

"We want to get a mascot for the college, hold a few pep rallies before games, and have a Holiday fest on 1-4. ("Fall shouldn't be the only time people have fun while at Pittman has changed college jargon with the shift from "dorm" to "residence hall." He believes his reasons for the change are vital for a successful college experience.

"A 'dorm' simply con-notes a place where people sleep -- and that's all they do. A residence hall, on the other hand, gives students a chance to interact with others -- to develop new lifestyles and new interac-tions with people. We think of students as young adults, exercising their talents here and learning. The residence hall atmosphere is important for those reasons.

JIM SCHLIMMER, the new Director of Admissions, is an avid bicycler and racquetball player who, by the way, is ready to challenge any competitors to a

"I feel a strong sense of academic excellence at High Point College," Schlimmer noted. "I am charmed by the people here."

break

JILL KEISER

JILL KEISER is the Assistant Librarian-Media. She is also an alumnus of High Point College. "I hope to organize, fully catalog and make easily accessible the A-V Department to every-one. I'm hoping we'll be able to do local productions, slide/tape programs, and filmstrips."

ROB SALE joins the growing list of former students who are working for their alma mater. "I graduated from High Point College in '68, with a major in music. I taught in the Thomasville Public Schools, then went back to school at UNC-G, and got a degree in art." He sees his new job as Mr. Carter's assistant as a unique fusion of his gardening hobby into his occupation. "Mr. Carter's great. I learn something new everytime I work with him."

DONNA BURTON

DONNA BURTON, Information Services Director, was busy and unable to be interviewed at press-time.
In addition to the new staff members, six educators joined the faculty this fall.

DR. RICHARD SPONG joins the psychology department after teaching at the University of South Carolina, Spartanburg, and at UNC-G. 'I am teaching two challenging courses, one of which is Statistics. I'm looking forward to that course, in addition to the other three courses I'm teaching

DR. RICHARD SPONG

KRISTIN HOWELL is a Greensboro native who worked in Germany for an international company. enjoy sports, horseback riding, and snow skiing. I'm enjoying meeting all the faculty members, and like everything at High Point College except Joe Robinson's cigar smoke," she said with a smile.

KRISTIN HOWELL

ANITA BOWMAN, math instructor, likes "working with people who are think-ing. It's so important that people feel good about themselves -- I set high standards so students will have something to reach for. Although I believe students should set goals, they should recognize their limits, also.'

ANITA BOWMAN

DR. MARTHA BROWN remarked that the college 'has a friendliest atmosphere. It's a very open place -- the people are involved in what they're Dr. Brown taught at doing." Dr. Brown taught at UNC-G, Guilford, and Bennett College before coming to HPC.

CPTN. DAVID JANNEY cited the rewards for students enrolled in ROTC program. "There's no obligation in taking a Military Science course. In fact, taking a few courses is a good way to find out about the benefits of ROTC in addition to getting an elective out of the way.

NOT PICTURED: Cpt. David Janney, Rob Sale and Martha Brown (Photos by Marisa Firpi)

1. Checks less than $50.00 must be cashed at the Book Store. Checks in the amount of $50.00 or more may be cashed at the Business Office.

2. In order to eliminate congestion in the Business Of-fice we asked that checks be cashed at the Cashier's window.

POSTAGE STAMPS

1. Students may purchase single stamps at the Campus Post Office.

2. Books of stamps may be purchased at the Book

Michael Pittman named Director of Student Life

BY MARK PHELPS HI-PO Reporter

"It's going to be a fantastic year!" said Michael Pittman, the College's new Student Life Director, and with the experience and new ideas he brings with him, there is no doubt that it will.

With his new job, Pittman with the working with the Resident Hall Program and in training Resident Counselors. He also will be helping in Campus Center programming, the Orientation Program, personal counseling, career planning, and assisting the Student Government.

"I'm impressed with the student body in that everyone has a very positive attitude and willingness to help. Of all the colleges that I have been at, High Point doesn't rank second to any of them."

This is a big compliment coming from a man who has worked at top schools like Syracuse, Ball State, and Florida State, among others.

He has worked with residence halls, administration, and student affairs. For the past three years, he served as administrative assistant for the Dean of students at Florida State.

Among the many plans he is organizing is a holiday fest, tentatively scheduled for December 1-4. It will include Christmas tree planting, decorating, a window painting competition, a king and queen competition, and a formal ball on the fourth. Any students interested in helping should contact Student Affairs.

MICHAEL PITTMAN: "Of all the colleges that I have been at, High Point doesn't rank second to any of them." (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

Schlimmer heads Admissions

JIM SCHLIMMER is the new Admissions Director at HPC. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

BY KARLA GREEN

Schlimmer.

Change is evident with the start of this new school year and in the Admissions office, the new face belongs to Jim Schlimmer comes to High Point College as the new director of Admissions and Financial Aid, replacing Alfred S. Hassell. Hassell left HPC at the end of June to start a recruitment enterprise with his wife in Daytona Beach, Florida.

Schlimmer, a native of lowa, comes to HPC from Westmar College in LeMars, lowa, where he served as Assistant Director of Admissions. Westmar, like HPC, is a small , private institution that is also affiliated with the Methodist Church. His educational background includes an undergraduate degree from Luther College in Decorah, lowa.

Having been on campus only since Monday, September. 6. Schlimmer is getting settled in and learning about the college and the area. He says that he is "very impressed with the Piedmont area and equally impressed with the college." He finds HPC much like the environment in the small colleges in Iowa. Schlimmer says that was "one of the things I was looking for" when choosing HPC.

Helping Schlimmer get settled in is his secretary, Joan Betsill, who commented that though it was "sad to see Mr. Hassell leave," things are going well in Admissions. This is a branch of Administration that underwent several changes last spring with the hiring of three new Admissions coun-

Schlimmer says that he will "continue with the changes that were put into effect last spring." Schlimmer also plans "an emphasis on the improvement of communications of the HPC Amissions office with the prospective students." Admissions counselors June Forcum, Neil Teague and David Hope will be travelling alot this fall and throughout the year to extend such "communications".

Schlimmer wants the prospective students to "see the students to see the students are experiencing here." He adds, "They need to feel the faculty commitments and see this as an institution where they can grow." Schlimmer feels that by presenting a strong student life program balanced with academic quality, prospective students can find this type of "growth" opportunity at High Point College.

In talking about the types iprospective students, Scholimmer commented that many students are 'coming back to college 'after being out of the academic lifestyle. He says that they are looking for different things in college choice, but that the main concerns are 'job placement combined equally with a concern for academic quality."

"Our objective is to communicate with them through campus publications, telephone contact, and as much as possible through personal contact." The counselors will be doing this in their upcoming travels by attending college nights and high schools both in and out-ofstate.

Schlimmer commented that as of this date, 10,000 prospective students have displayed some type of interest in High Point College.

New library policy announced

BY SUSAN WARRICK HI-PO Reporter

As the 1982-83 semester begins at High Point College, many changes are visible. One of these changes has to do with library fines policy. The procedure is as follows: 1.) Books which are not returned two weeks after the initial overdue notice is received are reported as lost. 2.) The book's cost plus a $5.00 processing fee is billed to the student's account in the Business Office if the book is not returned by the 10th of the month. Mrs. Aderholdt, the librarian, explained that the new policy is not a means of penalizing the students, but rather as a more effective way of re-claiming overdue books. When a book is not returned by the 10th, it is considered lost and therefore reordered. This means that if the overdue book is returned by the 10th the student will still be required to pay for the cost of the book plus $5.00. The new policy, which is becoming nation-wide, enables the student to check out books for a longer period of time than before. Overall, the fine sistem should prove to be effective, both for the library and the students because it will ensure the reader of finding his needed sources in the library.

Putt-Putt

cont. from p. 7

and the top three scores for each machine will receive prizes.

In .ddition, all High Point

In ddition, all High Point College students may play the video games at the cost of $1.00 for SIX tokens. This offer is good on Monday night during the playing of the tournaments, (college I.D. needed).

Sign Up? You can sign up for either tournament on Wednesday at supper or on Thursday at lunch or supper. Monies are due in for Putt Putt Tournament at sign up.

Ellington's Florist

1122 EAST LEXINGTON AVENUE 889-4748

*

Specializing in cut flower arrangements, corsages, and boutonnieres.

Friday Flowers - $3.00 FREE DELIVERY TO HIGH POINT COLLEGE

High Point College SPORTS

Conditioning and strategy: Key to success in Women's Tennis

CHARLES BURTON

The Women's Tennis team began the season with a 7-2 loss to UNC-G. Coach Kitty Steele attributes the loss to a lack of preparation.

"We were not mentally ready-we hadn't practiced with enough intensity, especially on strokes. Two of our players are playing field hockey in addition to playing tennis, so the strength of the weakened team is somewhat."

Even though the team lost its first match, the coach still sees the team as strong and equipped with good players.

"Diez-de Medina was our number 1 player last year; she made it to the round of 16, then went to the NAIA Nationals in Kansas City in June where she received Honorable Mention All-American.

Anneli Kiviniemi is our number 2 player-she's also busy with field hockey and will play in some but not all matches.

Lynn Sharkey is in the number 3 position. She was also named to the Round of 16 and received Honorable Mention in Kansas City. An intense competitor.

Theresa Regnante and Helen O'Brien played at Kansas City too, where they received Honorable Mention in the doubles match. They lost to the eventual national champions, which is an excellent accomplishment.

Despite the loss of promising freshman Leslie Gianopolis, the team carries on with the eventual promise of players Dori Johnson.

Teresa Sweatman, and Beth Bitcon, a transfer student from New York.

'With that many returns, we hope to be strong again this year. Our chief nemesis is Guilford, which gained two good recruits this year.

The coach sees the period of fall games as a time to practice and to be prepared, both mentally and physically.

"I hope that with concentrated effort on conditioning and strategy we can be an even stronger team by spring. We have basically solid strokes already.

Lynn Sharkey gained the two points in the game against UNC-G by defeating Albright 6-2, 6-3. In doubles, Medina and Regnante were defeated by Amy Brown and Laura Barnette 8-1 in a pro

DORI JOHNSON prepares to return the ball to her opponent. (Photo by B.J.)

Upcoming games, Panther scoreboard announced *Sept. 21

UPCOMING GAMES VOLLEYBALL

Sept. 15 Wake Forest Univ. Sept. 17 Winthrop College/ Univ. South Carolina Sept. 21 Guilford College.

SOCCER UNC-Asheville

*Sept. 19

FIELD HOCKEY Appalachian Sept. 14

NC Club

Sept. 17 *Sept. 20 Catawba Belmont Abbey College WOMEN'S TENNIS

Pfeiffer College

Sept. 17 Pembroke State *Sept. 20 Wingate *denotes home games

GOLF Sept. 16-18 G'boro College Invitational

PANTHER SCOREBOARD WOMEN'S TENNIS

UNC-G, 9/9

UNC. 9/1

1-6 Lost Warren Wilson, 9/4 1-0 Won

Liberty Baptist, 9/7 1-0 Won Wake Forest, 9/9 0-3 Lost

Gibson: Improved offense needed to carry soccer team

BY MARK PHELPS

HI-PO Reporter Soccer coach Woody Gibson would like to improve on last year's second place finish in the Carolina's Conference, but to accomplish this he thinks that his team will have to supply more offense. After a 2-2 start, the defense has had to carry the team.

"Our major missing ingredient is a goal scoring for-ward," coach Gibson said. This team is lacking someone who can score between 13 and 15 goals in a season. We do have a number of players able to score about 3 or 5 goals."

This lack of scoring showed up in the season premier with the University of North Carolina. After holding them to only a 1-0 halftime lead, the Tarheels erupted for five goals in the second half for a 6-0 victory.

The Panthers came back to win their next two games by one point margins as they defeated both Warren Wilson and Liberty Baptist 1-0. Wake Forest handed High Point its second loss with a 3-0 shutout. Commenting on the team's lackluster offensive output, Gibson said, "You really can't compare year by year performances, but this team's point production is low. We outscored Liberty Baptist 9-2 over the last two years and Wake Forest 7-3 over the last three year period." This was the Deacons first victory over

To make this season a success, the Panthers will need strong support from top returnees like Pepe Perrone and Ricky Klier. Perrone was District 26 Player-of-the-Year last season and coach Gibson says he has not had a bad season in the three seasons he has been here. Klier, the team's goal keeper, received All-American nominations last year and even though he has been charged with nine goals, he has still played well

These players will have to provide the leadership for the incoming freshmen, who, after two weeks of practicing, still have a bit to learn. 'They are having to adjust to college ball, which is much more physical than high school," said Gibson. "They show good form but are still

Conference play begins September 17 when the Pan-thers play at Catawba Col-lege. Coach Gibson revealed that this year's competition will be tough. "I would say that there are six of the eight conference teams that are strong. The major challengers will be defending champions Atlantic Chris-tian, Guilford, and Catawba."

IN RECENT GAME against Wake Forest a Panther player runs to retrieve the ball. (Photo by B.J.)

Rogers reflects on tennis, coaching

BY CHARLES BURTON

"I enjoyed tennis as a "Eight or nine years ago I child - watching the players and reading books about the coach the team. There had "I enjoyed tennis as a sport. I've never had any formal lessons, even though I was the captain of the HPC during team mv undergraduate years, during the Depression. We had a coach, but we didn't have a coach, so to speak-I set the schedules and arranged the transportation for the team. It's a challenge now to be helping the Women's Tennis

J. Wilson Rogers is indeed "helper" to the Women's Tennis team. Upon entering his office, one clearly sees that he is both businessman and sportsman-his Certified Life Underwriter (CLU) certificate is prominent over his desk, as well as the sign which proclaims "Tennis is my racket," which hangs, incidentally, near his tennis racket.

Rogers' start with the team arose from the team's need for a coach and his interest in the sport.

been a new athletic staff person hired who had no ex-perience in tennis, so I did it myself until Kitty Steele came. When she came on the faculty, I offered my resignation from the team, which she declined."

Rogers has enjoyed serving as interim coach when Coach Steele has had conflicts

"Because of the split scheduling between tennis and field hockey, I can usually be with the tennis team while Kitty's with the other

Even though Rogers' interest in tennis has been longstanding, he's often had to sacrifice sport for business. He was lucky enough to combine both these aspects, however, when he worked for Trans-World Airlines (TWA).

We rented a tennis club one day a week, which stop-ped when I was transferred to New York, when I just didn't have time to play. There were a few years in there when I didn't pick up a racket at all." Even when not on the court, Rogers has maintained an active in-volvement in athletics by serving as Chairman of the Faculty Athletic Committee.

"In the past two years, High Point College girls have qualified to go to the National College Tournament in Kansas City. Lately, we've placed fourth in the nation, which is a great record. We have almost the same team as last year-just

For a man who's never had a tennis lesson, J. Wilson Rogers' knowledge and support of the sport is an encouragement to the Women's Tennis team.

Baseball auiz corner

Z CORNET ching staff.

Digest News Service 6. Name the only player to have his uniform retired by league teams to have three 20 game winners in the same season. 2. Name the last time a major 2.00 in his first year? league team had two players 8. Name the only catcher to

3. Which team was the last to have teammates finish 1-2 in Noaln Ryan was pitching. the batting championship?

most home runs from three in one season.

See answers next week...

players in a season. 5. Name the last baseball team to have brothers on the pit-two different teams. Who was the last rookie pitcher to have an ERA under to each have 200 hits in a have caught a no-hit game season. when Sandy Koufax was pitching and a no-hit game when

9. Name the last pitcher to hit 4. Name the team to have the two home runs in a game twice

SU sponsors Monday night Putt-Putt

"Monday Night Putt Putt" will be the coming attraction for the High Point College student happening on Sept. 20 between the hours of 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. at "Putt-Putt" in High Point. At that time, H.P.C. Student Union will sponsor a puttputt tournament. It will consist of the playing of 36 holes of putt-putt and a possible trophy for either first, se-try fee is $2.00. Also, all those who enter the tournament will be able to practice at putt-putt this week for $3.00 for 3 rounds of puttputt, (regular price is $4.00 for three rounds).

"Video Tournament" will be played at the same time as the Putt Putt Tournament. Four machines will be played

See Putt-Putt p. 5

FOR YOUR FREE TRIAL OR TO GET STARTED, CALL SUE, K.T., TOM, OR DEBBIE, COME BY AND LOOK US OVER!

YES, WE HAVE STUDENT RATES-JUST $99

FOR THE SCHOOL YEAR IS THE BEST OFFER YOU'LL GET. STUDENTS, ATHELETES, COACHES, AND TEACHERS HAVE UNTIL SEPTEMBER 25th TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF OUR OFFER. IT WON'T BE REPEATED THIS YEAR. $400,00 IN FACILITIES INCLUDE:

58 NAUTILUS MACHINES - 2 SUN ROOMS - 2 STEAM ROOMS -

SUPERVISED NURSERY - SHAKE AND JUICE BAR - SEPARATE LOCKER AND SHOWER AREAS. QUALIFIED INSTRUCTORS - MANY FROM HIGH POINT COLLEGE

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

© NAUTILUS - COLLEGE VILLAGE SHOPPING CENTER - 889-3111

DESCRIPTION AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON ADDRESS OF THE PERSON AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSON ADDRES

Strictly<sub>Classified</sub>

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad, type the ad doublean ad, type the ad double-spaced and turn it in to the HI-PO by Friday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ads turned in after this deadline will be held until the next ssue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no designation, the ad will run for only one week.

FOR SALE: A new, Wilson Chris Evert Autographed tennis racket with 43/8" grip. $35. Contact Teresa Sweatman, P.O. Box 3621, Campus

Play planned for October

ERIKA ALLION HI-PO Reporter

The hustling pace of New York City, the dippiness of a hopeful actress, and the sensitivity of a blind young ful mixture of pathos and comedy in the Tower Players production, "Butterflies Are opening, the cast includes several students not yet seen in the H.P.C. spotlights. Freshman Pam McHone por-trays the dizzy blond Jill Tanner and Bob Clark, a junior, plays the role of Don Baker, a blind man trying to be independent. They find their apartments are connected and later also their lives.

Scheduled for an Oct. 8th

Pam McHone says of the show, "It portrays a period when all of us were growing up, it will be a goodreminiscing time for a lot of people. Her co-star, Bob Clark thinks, "students will see it's not your typical show, it's something they can enjoy, really."

Other members of the cast include David Martin and Kat Burton. "Butterflies Are Free' will be presented Oct. 8, 9, 15 and 16 in Memorial Auditorium.

Announcements

There will be a meeting for those students interested in planning the High Point College HOLIDAY FEST on Wednesday, September 15 at 6:30 p.m in the Conference Room of the Campus Center.

We need people to help out in planning and working on what very well may become one of the College's main student events of the year!

POST OFFICE HOURS MON. TUES .: 8:30 am-2:15 pm WED . 8:30 am-3:00 pm THURS. 8:30 am-3:00 pm FRI. 8:30 am-2:15 pm SAT. 9:00 am-12:00 Noon

High Point College has a Bowling club. We had our first league meeting on Sept. 11. Awards were presented to Elizabeth Crawford for High Average Senior Girl and All-star Team Senior

We have not selected teams and welcome anybody to join at anytime.

****

ATTENTION STUDENTS -ATTENTION STUDENTS Sudlow will be on campus Sept. 27, 28, and 29 to take faculty, organization and class pictures. This DOES include senior pictures!

Pictures will be taken in Room #1 upstairs in the campus center

****

Sept. 30.

Upcoming poetry contest

A $1,000 grand prize will be awarded in the upcoming poetry competition sponsor-ed by World of Poetry, a quarterly newsletter for poets.

Poems of all styles and on any subject are eligible to compete for the grand prize or for 99 other cash or merchandise awards, totaling over $10,000.

Says Contest Chairman, Joseph Mellon, "We are encouraging poetic talent of every kind, and expect our contest to produce exciting discoveries."

Rules and official entry forms are available from the World of Poetry, 2431 Stockton Blvd., Dept. D. Sacramento, California, 95817.

Unknown virus plaques campus

HEDGECOCK AND LEWIS WHELESS HI-PO Editors

The High Point College Infirmary staff do not yet know what is causing a virus-like illness which has stricken approximately 85 students since Thursday night.

Infirmary nurse Joyce Isenhour said the illness. which is characterized by nausea, vomiting and diarrhea is "probably a virus." She said they "have not yet pinned it down," and that more information would be available today after the state lab analyzes urine spe-

Isenhour said the illness

"does not appear to be food-related at this stage."

According to Dr. William McRae, Director of Student Health at UNC-G, a similar epidemic--involving cases in two days -- occurred at the University four years ago. He said workers in a federal CDC lab in Atlanta were unsuccessful in pinillness, but it appeared to be Norwalk-like virne which is identified by nausea, vomiting and diarrhea. McRae said the illness lasted about 24-48 hours.

McRae said there have been a few cases of nausea, vomiting and diarrhea re-ported to the UNC-G infirreached epidemic propor-

A spokesman at High Point Memorial Hospital said they have examined one or more patients daily with virus-like symptoms, they "haven't had alot of people at one time."

HIGH POINT COLLEGE'S

'Working for a better informed camous"

Vol. 55 Issue 2

High Point, N.C. 27262

INSIDE Compus Thefts, p. 2

CAEP, p. 3

One hospitalized Collision injures three

CRYSTAL L. Editor-in-Chief

An accident involving four cars injured three High Point College students over the weekend.

The students hurt were Tammy Swaim, Sharon Harper and Beth Spencer. Swaim, the driver of one of the cars, was going through an intersection in Thomasville when a car approached her car broadside, said Mandy McGuirt, a student at the college who witnessed the ac-

McGuirt said Swaim sped up when she saw the car coming toward her. The oncoming car hit the back passenger door of the Impala that Swaim was driving. With the impact, the front door flew open, throwing Spencer, Swaim's passengers, from the car, McGuirt said.

Two other cars collided with the car that hit Swaim. McGuirt and Ruth Fiege, also a HPC student, were in the car following Swaim. When the accident happened, they took care of the girls until the paramedics arrived, Teriann Cleary, McGuirt's roommate, said.

They were taking care of them (the injured women) and escorted them to the hospital," Cleary said.

The people involved were taken to the Thomasville Community Hospital where all but Spencer were treated ed and released. McGuirt

'Spencer suffered a fractured collarbone, a fractured pubic bone and has lots of stitches and abrasions," Mc-Guirt said. She will remain in the hospital for "about a week and a half."

Harper was treated and released, but she went home the day after the accident, said McGuirt.

McGuirt said the women were doing "really good," and will be returning to school

Swaim's car was totaled. The car was in a v-shape with the front windshield and two side passenger windows broken, McGuirt said.

The investigation is still pending and no charges have been filed," McGuirt said.

Job hunting is getting cutthroat

With more than 10 million Americans out of work, the competition for jobs is really getting keen. Even minimum wage jobs are highly soughtafter, sometimes by people who have earlier had jobs which paid much more than minimum wage.

Unemployment benefits are getting harder to come by, as well as welfare, and this is increasing the competition for minimum wage jobs as well. In some parts of the country, a single job opening will attract several hundred applicants.

Workers who were laid off from the steel and auto industries have good chance of never being rehired by their former employers. They are now having to turn to minimum wage jobs just to earn a living. The adjustment from a $16 an hour job with company benefits, holiday and sick pay, health insurance, etc., and that of their new job, which may offer little in benefits or job security, can be quite a traumatic shock to them. And these higher-paid workers are now entering into a new level, thereby reducing the number of minimum wage jobs that are available to teens, minorities, and housewives re-entering the job market.

The situation is not likely to improve in the near future. Many companies -other than the hard-hit steel, auto, and rubber industries and with exception to layoffs are just not replacing employees they are losing naturally.

As jobs become more scarce, people who are outof-work tend to lower their sights as far as matching their previous salaries

The more job interviews they come away from without getting the job, the more likely they are to take a pay cut just to get a job, figuring any income is better than

The retail field is one where jobs are highly sought-after now. Employers are sometimes scared of hiring someone who came from a high paying job, however, since they hate to hire someone who may not be happy in his new lowerpaying job.

The slump is really hitting employment agencies hard,

With many employers not replacing people who leave, and not hiring on additional people, the number of jobs for agencies to fill has declined dramatically. Plus, agency fees drive away customers, and for jobs with fees paid by employers, em-ployers are becoming less likely to want to take on that additional cost. Instead, they hire from the outside of their own, or begin looking at employees on their staff to fill jobs that have opened. Often, a position will be combined with several oth-ers, and all will be redefined so that a replacement is no longer needed.

Many employment agen-cies are having a new problem crop up more and more - their applicants are just too over-qualified for the jobs that are available. Although the applicants themselves will often be willing to take on a position of much lower prestige or pay, often the employers are skeptical of hiring someone who has a PhD to be a secretary.

CONSTRUCTION of the new library is well underway. The basement should be completed by winter. (Photo by Firpi)

ZENITH staff plans 1983 annual

BY LEWIS WHELESS HI-PO Associate Editor

The staff of High Point College's yearbook, the Zenith, has begun organizing this year's annual by concentrating on theme development and greater public relations, according to Jean Williamson, the year book's editor-in-chief.

Miss Williamson said the 15 staff members have started basic organization of the year book. "We have already taken 15 rolls of film. We started taking pictures the day students first arrived on campus," and the first layout session was held Thursday afternoon. Faculty, class and organization pictures will be taken by Sudlow on Sept. 27, 28, and 29 in Room 1 upstairs in the Campus Center.

Miss Williamson at-tributed "shortage of help and lack of communication among staff members" to the delay of the 1981-82 year book. The editor said, "This vear I'm really working on pulling everybody (staff members) together. additions to the annual this vear will include an index and more stress on social life at the college.

"We (the Zenith staff) want to really stress public relations and let the college know why we're here," commented Miss Williamson, The art department is taking part in this campaign by designing various means of promotion for the year book in Mr. Raiford Porter's art classes.

The editor plans to utilize information she gained this summer at the Colonial Journalism Workshop in Lyn-chburg, Va. The workshop was sponsored by Jostens, Inc., the same company who prints the Zenith.

Various seminars were conducted during the fiveday workshop, providing information on the business aspects of producing a year book, advanced layout, graphics, photography, theme development and copyrighting.

The cost of this year's annual, according to Miss Williamson, will reach ap-proximately $13,000. This figure is an increase of about $1,000 over the total cost of the 1981-82 year book, but Miss Williamson said the increase does not represent "a large" amount for this year's production costs.

Approximately 1981-82 Zenith issues have not as yet been retrieved by students. Williamson said she doesn't "understand why students have not come to get these yearbooks. They (the students) paid for them in their tuition...Anyone who wants a year book should come to see me in the Zenith office upstairs in the Campus Center.

JEAN WILLIAMSON

Seniors who graduated last spring have received year books by mail.

Thefts rob students of safety

BY THOMAS GRANA

HI-PO Reporter Although it is an extra hastle to bring our keys to the shower or roll up our car windows and lock the doors. it may well be worth while.

After all, we don't get our kicks from strangers going through our personal belongings. Unfortunately, some people have had to learn the hard way. So far at the residence halls this

-4 wallets have been stolen equaling $195.00.

-1 checkbook with cash inside equaling $30.00 has been stolen. -An undetermined amount of money has been taken from a purse.

-1 room has been ransacked (nothing taken).

-Also there has been one attempt of first degree burglary.

Out of all these larcenies, only the attempted burglary has been a forced entry. This makes it fairly obvious that locking your room when you leave, if only for a second, is the easiest way to keep your possessions in your possession. Cars on campus are no exception. Stolen so far this semester have been: semester have

-2 wheel covers 1 container of cassettes

-2 AM/FM stereo systems Police do have finger-prints and a suspect, so it may not be long before an arrest is made This does not mean that the dilemma is over, however, Some efforts to reduce the problem include part-time employees staking out the parking areas and the women's courtvard, and increased patrol for safety officers on the east side of campus. Also a sign has been ordered that will be placed next to the sidewalk access to Belk asking, "Did You Lock Your ur

The easiest and most effective measure of security, however, is simply locking up. Carelessness is only inviting the problem, and after all, High Point students don't need any more pro-blems than they may have right now. So LOCK UP!

Socials, parties dominate RUSH

BY TANA PARKER Hi-Po Reporter

The Greeks are still busy working on RUSH this week. While the sororities are getting off to a delayed start. the fraternities are coming to

This past Saturday the Lambda Chi's and Theta Chi's washed cars at First Federal Savings and Loan and Tom's Brass Rail, respectively.

On Monday September 20, the Lambda Chi's invited Rushees to attend an open meeting to see how their meetings are run. The Theta Chi's that night sponsored a

Correction

In the feature story on Jim Schlimmer, Director of Admissions, it was stated that his title was Director of Admissions and Financial Aid. This is the tital that the former director, Mr. Hassell held at this college. However, over the summer, the titles of these departments were changed, in that Mrs. Kay Stroud was promoted to the Director of Financial Aid. Thus, the title now held by Jim Schlimmer is Director of Admis-

The Hi-Po regrets the er-

Night at Scarletts and tonight they will be at The Rail from 8:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. Admission will be 50¢ and 35€ draft.

Drawing the Rush Parties to a close this weekend, all 4 fraternities will be hosting their parties on Saturday September 25. The Sigs will travel to Alumni brother Bernie Miller's home in Asheboro for a Cookout/ Field Party at 4 p.m. after they clean up some cars at their Car Wash at High Point Bank & Trust from approximately 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The Lambda Chi's will stay in High Point Elks Club with a Roman Day Toga Party from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. The Theta Chi's will also stay in High Point at the Guilwood North Apartments' Clubhouse hosting a "Sour Screw" Party from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Intramurals Cont. from p. 2 (1-3), and the Yankmees.

In fall softball, the Cha-ingang holds the lead with a record of 2-0. Lambda Chi is second after their lone victory with Theta Chi, (0-1), the Yankmees, (0-1), and the Unknowns, (0-2), round out the field.

No referees are used in Ultimate Frisbee while student volunteers are used to umpire the softball games. Both are played on the intramural field near the stadium and schedules are posted in the post office and in the dorms.

Ellington's Florist 1122 EAST LEXINGTON AVENUE 889-4748

*****************

Specializing in cut flower arrangements, corsages, and boutonnieres. Friday Flowers - $3.00

FREE DELIVERY TO HIGH POINT COLLEGE

of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the ex-pressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO. The Hi-Po welcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed, and an address must be included. If war-

Crystal L. Hedgecock . . . . . . Editor-in-Chief

Lewis Wheless . . . . . . . . Associate Editor

Scott Morgan ..... Advertising and

Charles Burton ...... Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those

..... Business Manager

ranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as

Language professors submit papers to conference

BY KARLA GREEN

It is considered quite an accomplishment when a college professor, aside from his regular college duties, puts the necessary time and thought into the presentation of a paper.

However, when an entire department of professors elect to represent their college, all presenting indi-vidual papers in their area of expertise, it really says a lot tor the school they repre-

High Point College can be proud of the Foreign Language Department. At the Mountain Interstate Conference of Foreign Languages, to be held at Wake Forest University, October 7-9. each of our foreign lan-guage professors will speak

Dr. Frances Hoch, head of the modern languages department, commented that the topics represented by HPC professors at the conference will range "from literature to teaching methods to international business programs." The papers will be presented at different times through out the Thurs., Fri., and Saturday conferences in Winston Sa-

THE FOREIGN LANGUAGE DEPT. will present papers in October. The professors are

Marisa Firpi)
The titles of the papers include: "Grammar Made Concrete," by Dr. Barbara Long; "Experiencia interior yautoridad absoluta enla voz a ti deoida" by Dr. John Gabriele; "Activities to Facilitate the Correct Use of Prepositions of Place in German," by Dr. Carole Head, and "Internationalizing the Business Program through the Liberal Arts " by Dr. Frances Hoch.

Dr. Hoch spoke highly of the quality as well as the diversity of HPC representation at this event. It is an annual conference including professors from the states of Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and Geor-

Dr. Long, who will present her paper on Friday after-noon of the conference, talked excitedly of her topic.

"Grammar Made Concrete explains the use of a series of explains the use of a series of games that I feel are very effective in helping the foreign language student to build a better understanding of the language." Long described two games that are discussed in her paper.

"One is a type of language bingo using object pronouns, and another is the building of sentences with movable word cards."

Long is quite excited about this theory and states that "last year I had no students to fail any of my French

Long feels that through the use of these games, "the student understands and feels more comfortable with the language." She also says that students, though the college requirement is only for one year of language, are signing up for additional courses now out of interest.

She feels that "by a better understanding, through the use of these games, the student is able to enjoy the language more."

Such new ideas are often expressed at the conferences. Dr. John Gabriele cites this as one of the reasons he enjoys attending.
"You get to meet a lot of the professors from this area and compare ideas useful in this field of foreign language." According to Gabriele, some 200-250 professors will read at the conference.

To serve as liaison between students, faculty

CAEP Student Advisory Committee formed

Student's view

The CAEP Student Advisory Committee at the RJR campus was organized to serve as a liaison between students and the administration, according to Mrs. Cynthia Lloyd, Committee member. "Some students member. "Some students were going to the Reynolds Personnel Department to gripe. The Committee would like to avoid that," said Mrs. Lloyd.

According to Mrs. Lloyd, the college as well as the CAEP students would be better served if the problems in the CAE Program were handled by people in the Pro-gram. "The Committee wants to help both the students and the Program," she said.

The major complaints of students, said Mrs. Lloyd, have to do with the scheduling of courses and the feeling that the Program is isolated from the college.

This view was repeated by Ms. Ann Trunk, who was in strumental in organizing the Committee. "Some students felt they are not getting the courses they needed. Some felt that there was a lack of communication between students and the administration," she said.

Mrs. Lloyd and Ms. Trunk agreed that enthusiasm for the Program has diminished somewhat since it began three years ago, primarily because some students are disappointed, saying they are unable to get some of the courses they need. The Student Advisory Committee hopes to regenerate the Program, according to Mrs.

Mrs. Lloyd said the Committee on the Reynolds campus is starting its own newspaper to inform students about course offerings, to provide features on individual students and faculty members, and to publicize the Dean's List and the benefits of the CAE Pro-

Some students are skep tical about the success of the Committee, Ms. Trunk and Mrs. Lloyd said, but the Committee members are optimistic. Ms. Trunk said, "It's going to work. It's going to be good."

Administration's view

Student Advisory Committees were formed to provide a link between CAEP students and the administration, according to Mrs. Libby Gurney, CAEP Ad-Gurney, CAEP ministrative Assistant.

The students want to feel that they are a part of the campus," said Mrs. Gurney. There isn't enough time for us to talk to every student, and they can't call long distance from WinstonMrs. Gurney said the come election held Monday night mittees would distribute to choose new members were surveys and announcements, not available before press bring problems to the attenof the Program ad ministrators, and help publicize specific courses. They will also help plan social events, Mrs. Gurney said.

Gary Guffy, Vicki Manns,
Debbie Bell, Jasmine War-Debbie Bell, Jasmine war-ren, and Virgil Gurney serve on the Advisory Com-presently serve on the Ad-visory Committee at the Piedmont cam-visory Committee at the Piedmont cam-pus, according to Mrs. HPC campus. Results of an Gurney.

Ann Trunk, Cindy Lloyd, Jim McGinness, Dallas Powell, and Tammy Greenwood serve on the Advisory Committee at the Reynolds campus.

Jerry Bell and Don Foster

Hi-Po Staff

Features Editor. . . . . . . . . . . . Karla Green ..... Pam York News Editor . . Erika Allion, Donnie Brower, Reporters . . . . . Peggy Draper, Thomas Grana, Karen Hernandez, Mark Phelps, Susan Warrick Photographers .... Marisa Firpi, Bill Johnson

After fourth-place NAIA finish

Lady Netters gain post-season honors

Five members of the Lady Panther tennis team gained honorable mention American honors after High Point's fourth-place finish in the NAIA National Tournament over the summer.

In singles Ana Medina (#1), Lynn Sharkey (#3) and Leslie Gianoplos (#4) all reached the round of 16 and thus gained honorable mention honors. Medina and Sharkey, both sophomores, were honored for the second straight year. In doubles Helen O'Brien and Theresa Regnante advanced to the quarter-finals, upsetting the number of five-seeded team from Presbyterian College before losing to eventual national champions Karen Regman and Pat Smith of Grand Canyon College (AR). Regman and Smith were also the defending national champions in doubles.

This was the second straight fourth-place finish for High Point in the NAIA National Tournament as they totaled 23 points, five behind national champion West-mont College (Cal).

High Point finished the season with a 15-2 regular season match record, a fifth consecutive Carolina Conference championship and a second-place finish in the District 26 tournament.

Coach Kitty Steele said, "I am very pleased with the year and with no seniors on the team, I'm looking forward to continuing the trend next year."

RANKED NO. 1, Ana Maria Diez de Medina shows form in her backhand. (Photo by B.J.)

High Point College Page 4 · HI-PO · Wednesday, September 22, 1982

SPORTS

Field Hockey team takes on Pfeiffer for season opener

HI-PO Reporter Tuesday, Sept. 21 at 4 p.m., last year's 4 p.m., last year's N.C.A.I.A.W. state field hockey champions take on N.C.A.A. division 2 champions Pfeiffer College. Coaches Kitty Steele and Leslie Clark promise a stronger, younger, and more aggressive team than in previous years, with definite emphasis on scoring.

Returning players include seniors, Lou Taylor, and Helen O'Brien, two of High Point's biggest offensive threats; juniors Carrie Inglis, and Anneli Kiviniemi, and sophomore Dana Holmes.

Eleven new players join the squad this year, including junior transfer Beth Christian from East Carolina and Sharon Packen and Lynn Whitiker from Ocean County College, New Jersey. Of the eight new freshmen, Carol Bidermann and Colleen Farrell hail from New York. Teile Hadsock, Carol Williams, and Shari Campbell are from Virginia. Pam Harris is from Asheville, N.C., Dawn Ray is from New Hampshire, and Janet Temple is from Maryland.

Coach Steele said the new players have an excellent attitude and will be assets to the team now and in the Practice is held almost everyday from 3:30 to 5:45 and includes running, stret-ching sprinting, stick drills, and offensive/defensive drills. The coaches are extremely pleased with prac-tices so far and said their talent is so deep that the starting line-up may change

Intramurals season opens

BY MARK PHELPS

HI-PO Reporter This year's men's intramural sports have gotten underway as both fall soft-ball and Ultimate Frisbee began earlier this month.

Jeff Blank, who heads the men's department, is planning to start tennis before fall break and soccer soon after.

gram, had trouble getting

Denise Ward, who is in charge of the women's pro-

Putt-Putt scores posted

1st place trophy was won by Bill Sledge. Bill played two fine rounds of putt putt scoring a 33 on each round.

2nd place trophy was won by Matt Kohn. Matt's winning score for the two rounds was a 73.

There was a sudden death play-off for the third place trophy. Both Buck Hall and Steve Papastauron shot a two round score of 75. Buck Hall won the sudden death play-off and won the third place trophy.

Four video games were played and the top winners are...Donkey Kong, 1st place - Steve Papastauron, 2nd place - Scott Horton, 3rd place - Roy Heilbron. Frogger, 1st place tennis started so early in the year. She is hoping to begin volleyball around the third weekend in October.

Cambell, 2nd place - Mike Garrett, 3rd place - David Stackhouse. Galaga, 1st place - Jeff Gunter, 2nd place, Tim Craven, 3rd place Mikey Porter. Defender -1st place, Nov Heilbron, 2nd place - Dona Gilbert.

Ultimate Frisbee is a game that combines the skills of football, basketball, and soccer. It involves two teams of seven players, each trying to pass a frisbee down the field and score at their opponent's side. If the frisbee is dropped, the offensive possession changes. This can occur over one hundred times per game, which is how fast the game is.

After completing their first three games, Delta first three games, Delta Sigma Phi leads in Ultimate Frisbee with a perfect record. Theta Chi follows with a 3-1 record and Lambda Chi is a close third at 2-1. Also competing are Q.T.Pi, (1-1), Unionizers, (1-2), Pi Kappa Alpha, (1-2), Team X,

See Intramurals p.2

Coach Little comments on volleyball season

BY WOODY GIBSON

Guest Columnist High Point College is set to open its 1982 volleyball season with seven letter winners returning from last year's 16-19 team. The Lady Panthers traveled to UNC-Asheville Sept. 10 for their season opening tournament. Three-year starter and All-Conference performer Viveca Wingfield returns as the only senior on the roster. Junior Ursula Watt was a full-time starter while junior Melanie Hamilton and sophomore Lvnn Fortiliza split time as starters.

Kim Jones and Karla Thornhill, both juniors, and sophomore Susie Ramirez played a great deal during the season and will provide good depth.

Coach Nancy Little says, "Viveca has been injured this fall and has had some physical problems, so she hasn't played as well as she is capable of.

'I looked for Ursula Watt to be our best all-around player this year because she is our best athlete.

Two players who did not return may hold the key to the Lady Panthers season. Senior Lena Scriven and junior Becky Cowles, both All-District hitters a year ago, did not come to school

Four freshmen will play a key role in the Panther fortunes this fall: Cynthia Ismeal, a 5-8 hitter, was a member of the National Club Team in Bolivia, South America, and is a probable starter; 5-1 setter Anne Lopez, from Caparra Heights, Puerto Rico, is another possible starter; Jackie Gandy, a 5-6 per-former from Thomasville High School and Kim Maness, a 5-7 hitter from Asheboro High School rounds out the squad. Gandy was the Most Valuable Player in the Mid-State 3-A conference while Maness was an All-Conference performer,

"Last year we were a power team, winning points on blocking and hitting. This year we'll have to be a more defensive team, keeping the ball in play and winning points when we can. Without Lena and Becky, we're just not as strong up front as we should be," says Little.

The Lady Panthers, who posted a 6-0 regular season record in the Carolinas Conference, were upset by Atlantic Christian in the opening round of the conference tournament a year ago and hope to better that this year.

In the District 26 tournament High Point lost in the finals to a St. Augustine's team who went on to the NAIA National Tournament.

Steele previews basketball team

RY CHARLES BURTON Sports Editor

Pfieffer. The name keeps recurring. Although men-tioning "Pfieffer" doesn't doesn't make Jerry Steele start biting his fingernails or look for a place to hide, he does see Pfieffer as a prime competitor for this year's basketball season, slated to begin November 20th.

Asked if Pfieffer had recruited new players, Coach Steele said, "Oh no. They haven't recruited anybody new or spectacular," Steele replied. "I'm just saying that if they started playing us with the team they had last year, they'd already be the favorites."

Before the team plays Pfieffer or anyone else for that matter, they must undergo a rigorous practice schedule

"Every Monday, Wednes-day, and Friday we have one-hour practice sessions," Steele said. "Tuesdays and Thursdays we run. Beginning the 20th, we'll begin practicing with more intensity. Our practice involves sprints and distance running mainly-there are alot of starts and stops in basketball, which help make alot of blisters problems." and ankle

Blisters and ankle problems, serious as they apnear are not as serious or as debilitating on both the team and personal level as are knee problems.

'My biggest concern for this season is three people who have had knee operations lately. I'm interested in keeping people healthy,' Steele remarked.

Last year's final statistics showed the Purple Panthers with a 9-5 Conference score. a 10-5 district score, with a 15-10 score overall. Promising new players, according to Steele, are Terry Samuels, Jim Hoffman, Tommy Bishop, Terry Aiken, and Frank Kauffman.

The key to the season is the seniors," Steele remark-ed. "Their attitude on and off court helps carry the team. One person won't carry the team alone."

Steele also remarked that the goal of the basketball program was to represent the school athletically. "Coach Hoffman has also been an excellent asset to the team. He's done a great

Steele is also "looking for manager" for the team, He remarked that the only prerequisite was that "the person wants to be a manager." Any takers?

PANTHER SCOREBOARD

VOLLEYBALL.

Winthron/U. of S.C.

lost 15-13, 11-15, 15-10,

Wake Fores

12-15, 15-11

someone who wants to be a Upcoming games, scoreboard announced

	UPCOMING GAMES VOLLEYBALL	9/29	Elon* FIELD HOCKEY
27	Lenoir Rhyne/Gardner	9/21	Pfeiffer*
	Webb College	9/24	Lynchburg
29	UNC-Charlotte, Duke	9/24	Manhattanville College
-	University*	9/27	Davidson*
	SOCCER	9/29	Wake Forest*
23	UNC-G		TENNIS
25	Pembroke State	9/20	Wingate*

Answers to "Baseball Quiz Corner"

Oakland (1973) - Ken Holtzman, Catfish Hunter, and Vida Blue Texas (1980) - Mickey Rivers with 210 and Al Oliver with 209.

3. Minnesota (1977) - Rod Carew hit .388 and Lyman Bostock hit .336. 4. New York Yankees (1961)

Roger Maris hit 61. Mickey

Mantle hit 54, and Bill

Skowron hit 28. 5. Chicago Cubs (1976) - Rick and Paul Reuschel

6. Henry Aaron's number 44 is retired by both Atlanta and Milwaukee 7. Steve Rogers, Montreal, in 1973 Jeff Torborg.

 Rick Wise, Philadelphia, in

W. 9-15, 15-8, 15-7 USC 5-15, 15-8, 15-7 0/93 Catawha, Mars Hill

9/17

SOCCER UNC-Asheville Won 2-1 9/17 Catawba Won 4-0 4-2 overall 1-0

FIELD HOCKEY Appalachian 2-1 lost

TENNIS Peace Scrimm 9/17 Pembroke 9-0 Won

September Sports NFL creed unwarranted

Acting on behalf of its members, the NFL Players' Associa-

Acting on behalf of its members, the NYL Players' Associa-tion has threatened to strike. The union asserts that its athlete members make less than baseball players and basket-ball players do. And I believe them. I really do. I find it easy to believe that football players are underpaid in comparison with their peers. The crime, I think, is that anyone makes as much as they do already. A million a year, paid in the guise of "recognizing talent and athletic ability" seems like an over-reward of such qualities. Yet, we question withletic schalarships and nay abusmally low coaching salaries athletic scholarships and pay abysmally low coaching salaries in many colleges. In short, the three worlds of athletic reward the academic, the non-professional, and the professional are not reciprocal ones at all.

Of course, this doesn't even touch upon the fact that my parents and your parents struggle to produce the money for our tuition at High Point College, which is probably 1/4 or less what these "underpaid" football players make. I need to be objective, though, and admit that I know, as well as you that football is big business both on and off the campus. Everyone football is big business both on and off the campus. Everyone has his favorite horror story of a football player at some large public college graduating functionally illiterate, coached along by their coaches, so to speak, on the easiest courses to take and thus the easiest schedules, making more time for practice. It doesn't happen at High Point College. So the situation stands. With the economy and our personal finances both shambles, how amusing to sit back and watch an enjoyable free source of recreation – Monday night rootball and the properties of the stands of th

-be stripped away, while overpaid boys in men's clothing quibble over this right and that right and this or that pay

If the Player's Association decides to strike, think of all the free time you'll have. With that time, you can study, watch something else on TV, or sleep. As my time allows, I'll be wat-ching our basketball team thrash Pfeiffer. Our season, at least, looks promising, exciting, and free from the blemishes of greed and unrest.

Charles Burton

JOSTEN'S $15 off lok Gold $30 off 14 k Gold

JOSTEN'S COLLEGE RINGS AVAILABLE DAILY AT YOUR BOOKSTORE

$15 DEPOSIT

ATTENTION JUNIORS AND SENIORS ORDER YOUR RINGS SEPT. 27 and 28 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

Strictly Classified

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED s for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad, type the ad doublepaced and turn it in to the HI-PO by Friday night before the issue that you ant it to run in. Any ads urned in after this deadline ill be held until the next issue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no esignation, the ad will run for only one week.

COLOR CONCERT PHOTOS Taken at recent area shows. Excellent quality, service, and prices. Let us know your favorite performer. For sample and catalog, send !1 and SASE to Concert Photos

4 Cates Court Hillsborough, N.C. 27278

STRATUS will be perfo ning on the lawn of McCulloch dorm Su 5 p.m. In case of rain the concert will be held in the auditorium.

Announcements

The Society for Collegiate Journalists will be sponsoring a booksale October 4. 5. 6 Roberts Hall. On Monday and Wednesday the sale will be held from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m., 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. Tuesday the times are 10 a.m. to 12 p.m., 1 p.m. to 2 p.m., 5:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. and 7:15 to 8 p.m.

****

Registration for Session II of CAEP is October 4. The first issue of the new CAEP newsletter is schedul-

Monday Sept. 27, 1982, Student Union will be sponsoring a dance at Scarlett's. The dance will start at 8 o'clock. HPC students get in free but all outside guests will have to pay $1.00.

****

There will be an ice cream social tonight in the cafeteria from 8:00 p.m. until 9:00 p.m. The cost is only 40¢ tonight in the cafeteria between 8:00 p.m. and 9:00 p.m. (college I.D. required).

September 26 -- 3:00 p.m. - Second Floor -- Campus Center

"Book Talks at High Point College" will begin again! Will be open to the public but the faculty, staff and students are especially in vited to attend!

Book to be reviewed -- The Last Unicorn. A book for fans of high adventure and fan-

CAEP newsletter is schedul-ed to appear early in October. High Pointer who teaches English at Davidson County Community College. Dr. Carole Head of the High Point College Foreign Lan-guages Dept. will comment on the legend of the unicorn; she will also display two of her large medieval tapestry reproductions which illustrate the lore of the unicorn.

A discussion will follow which will be moderated by Paul Lundrigan of the HPC Fine Arts Dept. Light. re-freshments will be served.

APO

Alpha Phi Omega started the new semester with the making of ID's and the sale of books at the APO Book Exchange.

The Book Exchange is located at the side entrance of Harrison Hall. The hours for the Book Exchange are Monday: 9:30 - 10:45 a.m. and Thursday: 12;30-1:45 p.m. On Aug. 31, the APO's initiated their new brothers. The new brothers are: Dale Crotts, Jackie Knotts, Wyeleen Kwan, Cindy Mize, Luanne White, Tom Williams and Ida Yuan.

The APO Open House was Sept. 1. The white fountain in front of Roberts Hall is the end result of a service project held on Sept. 2 and 3. The APO's painted the foun-

The officers of Alpha Phi Omega were installed on Sept. 7. They are: Mike Louia, pres.; April Callahan, vice-pres. of membership; Mary Hina, sec.; Kevin Cowan, tres.; Wyeleen Kwan, p.r. and historian; Bonnie Hopkins, Social chairman; Tim Craven, Book Exchange chairman; Scott lounge and athletics; and David Young, alumni sec.

On the same night, the brotherhood welcomed 13 new pledges into the fraternity with a pledge Ceremony. They are: Ellen Bahm, Betsy Beck, Beth Bitcon, Collen Farrell, Deidre Fleenor, Karen Ford, Marsha Manos, Frank Meadows, Art Payne, Eddie Snider, Lisa Staton, Sandra Swoboda and Denise Watts.

the APO inducted their new advisor, Mr. Kenneth Bulla. The brotherhood celebrated the weekend with a Toga Party on Saturday.

Sept. 1 was also the night

BRIAN HUSKEY will be appearing in the Student Union Coffeehouse on Wed. Sept. 29 from 6:30-9:00 p.m. in the Old Student Center.

HIGH POINT COLLEGE BOWLING TEAM LEADERS The Misfits 2. The Handicappers 3. The Gutter Dusters SCORE TEAM The Handicappers High Team Game (Scratch) High Team Series (Scratch) The Handica 1345 INDIVIDUAL SCORE High Average (Male) Buck Hall Elizabeth Crawford 153 High Series (Male) Buck Hall 491 (Female) Elizabeth C 198 186 High Game (Male) Barr Gartley Elizabeth Carwford (Female)

Advance tickets now on sale for Lee Greenwood coming November 11th 21 and Over

Private Club - Members and Guests Only

PARENTS AND STUDENTS enjoyed the picnic during Parent's Weekend. (Photo by Marisa Firoi)

Parent's visit HPC

BY PEGGY DRAPER HI-PO Reporter

The past weekend was Parent's Weekend here at High Point College. Parents and relatives arrived late Thursday evening through early Saturday morning.

The annual weekend activities began early on Saturday with a complimentary breakfast in the cafeteria. Following breakfast the parents had the opportunity to attend three different discussions and meet with their son or daughter's professors.

daughter's professors.
Saturday's weather was appropriate for the picnic that was held in front of the campus center. Following comments by President Charles Lucht, families toured the campus and attended an exhibition baseball game.

An informal reception was held in the latter part of the held in the latter part of the afternoon at President Lucht's home located on Gordon Road. This gathering provided parents the opportunity to met with other parents as well as students. In the evening, musical entertainment was provided by Larry Groce, a singer/guitarist/composer, at City Lake Park ending Saturday's scheduled activities. Sunday, parents were invited to a worship service in Memorial Chaple after which most families began their trip home.

High Point College's

"Working for a better informed campus"

High Point, N.C. 27262

Vol. 55 Issue 3 September 29, 1982 INSIDE Editorials, p. 2

Soccer, p.6

Aid funds delayed

BY MARK PHELPS

In a move that has been widely publicised by the press, President Reagan vetoed the Supplementation Bill, which will cause many delays in the delivery of the 1982-83 financial aid funds. The bill, which contained $217 million for student aid, was described by Reagan as "wasteful and unnecessary spending."

Mrs. Kay Stroud, the College's Director of Financial Aid, remained very optimistic. "Students have been very good in accepting it. I think that its coverage by the press is scaring the public." Stroud is encouraging students to go through the procedure for receiving financial aid. She added that "it is likely that many of the cutbacks will be reinstated."

A two-thirds majority vote by the House and Senate is necessary to sustain the veto, It is expected that Congress will try to override the veto following its turn from recess.

Asked if the student enrollment has been hindered by the action, Stroud replied, "I haven't received the enrollment figures, but I don't think it has effected very much if any."

Diet Coke makes debut

Campus Digest News Service

Coca-Cola has plans to spend nearly 50 million dollars introducing its new Diet Coke soft drink.

"Just for the taste of it" are the words launching the newest entry in the diet cola category of soft drinks.

Coca-Cola introduced Diet Coke to bottlers and distributors at a Radio City Music Hall extravaganza in late summer. "The World Premier of Diet Coke," as it was called, including the Rockettes, Bobby Short and an orchestra all singing the praises of the new drink. Future Diet Coke television programs will feature highlights from the show.

Other television advertising for the new drink will highlight stars enjoying Diet Coke, without the stars being identified by name. "Taxi" star Judd Hirsch and hockey star Phil Esposito are among the stars featured in the commercials.

Whether or not Diet Coke will greatly hurt the sales and all of the others in remains to be seen. But Coke sure is betting a lot of money on it.

Campus to get Cablevision

BY PAMELA YORK HI-PO Reporter

High Point College, in an effort to better meet the educational needs of students, faculty, and administration, is taking steps to bring cablevision to the cam-

According to Dr. Bill DeLeeuw, Director of Communications, Sept. 30 marks the completion date for cablevision hook-ups in several campus buildings: Cooke Hall (room 3 and 23), and the Gymnasium (Seminar Room), and the Campus Center (Meeting Room 2). By January DeLeeuw 21 by January DeLeeuw 21 the Fine Arts building, and dorm lounges can be completed.

DeLeeuw said that in terms of campus use, the classrooms will be able to receive all 22 channels of cablevision including HBO and Cinemax but with a few restrictions concerning their accessibility. For instance, the rooms containing a TV/Monitor for cablevision will be locked at all times and can only be entered with the permission of an instructor. However, in terms of the future cable hook-ups for dorm lounges, HBO and Cinemax will be excluded because of the designation of these areas as public gathering places. In an effort to further explain this regulation, Carolyn Laws, station manager for Cablevision of Point/Jamestown. said. "Our contracts with HBO and Cinemax prohibit hook-ups in any kind of meeting place -- in anything other than a private residence." DeLeeuw said that it is the designation of the hook-up sites in the campus building as classrooms in conjunction with the restrictions of their use that allows these rooms to receive the special channels.

"The cable hook-ups on campus are primarily for reception for instructional purposes," DeLeeuw said. He added that with the use of a recorder/playback, a program can be taped to be shown at a later time. At present, the college has two recorder/playbacks - one in the TV station and one in the furniture/marketing room.

Laws said the benefits of cablevision are many. "For instance, with cablevision," said Laws, "there is a much broader choice of programming available and with that choice, your time viewing television can be more valuable." She also said that this affords one the opportunity of viewing educational and cultural programs as well as others for special interest or personal enrichment.

Bruce Tingle, assistant director of Student Life, said he believes cablevision "will be an excellent asset to our teachers. There is so much you can tape and show back to the class and complement what is being taught."

According to DeLeeuw, future plans include a 2-way closed-circuit cable system in which programs can be aired on campus without oping out over cable to other areas. He also said that it is hoped hook-ups to the dorn rooms (which could include HBO and Cinemax) at a reduced rate under a contract similar to one of an apartment complex can be completed by next year.

Tonight! See Brian Huskey Free admission 6:30-9:00

Tonight! See Brian Huse Free admission 6:30-9:

Athletes: A life of leisure

Charles Burton's editorial concerning the football strike, which appeared in last week's issue, prompted this editorial. Perhaps this response belongs in the sports section, but the subject matter should concern everyone. It's more than just a football strike.

There is the argument that ball players risk their lives for the sport. Well, that's their own fault! The players chose the profession -- let them live with their decision. Firemen risk their lives every time they go to a fire, also, but you don't see firemen striking because they aren't paid a million dollars a year. It's a good thing they don't too. What would we do if the firemen went on strike for weeks at a time? The whole city could burn down! Firemen aren't the only ones that are risking their lives in their professions; there are many

Another aspect that we should consider is the fact that we are here in college, studying for four (or more) years. When we graduate we will be thankful to have a job - any job within our expectations -- and we won't be making a quarter of a million dollars. We probably won't even be making $25

Why is it that we are studying so hard and yet, when we graduate and apply all of our knowledge, we won't even get paid well for it? It doesn't seem fair. It isn't.

That's what is wrong with our society - we live in a fantasy world. Our policemen get paid $20,000 a year and our football players get paid $200,000 a year. This ratio is true with other occupations also. Our doctors, who are among the better paid in the professional world, are paid hundreds of thousands of dollars a year for saving people's lives. Our actors are paid hundreds of thousands of dollars a week, perhaps, for entertaining us with silly sit-coms! How absurd!

People are constantly complaining about "the economy and how it is so screwed up. If we start standing up to these greedy mongrels, who attack each other for our enjoyment, instead of yielding to their requests of more money, maybe we could begin to get the economy in perspective.

So let's suffer through a fall and winter without football if it's necessary. But it won't be. Those football players don't have another talent — they have to play football for a living.

This time they will be the ones yielding, instead of those of us on the other side of the t.v. And it's about time.

The Hi-Po is distributed on campus by Alpha Phi Omega, a National Service fraternity. This is the fifth year they have provided this service.

Hi-Pa

Crystal L. Hedgecock Edi	tor-in-Chief
Lewis Wheless Associ	ciate Editor
Scott MorganAdv	ertising and
Busine
Charles BurtonSr	orts Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the ex-pressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO.

The Hi-Po welcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed, and an address must be included. If warranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as seen necessary.

Losing Our Heads

The world is right to condemn the Beirut refugee massacres. They were utterly horrifying, utterly disgusting. The world is right to be outraged by the massacres, but the world is wrong to nail Israel to a cross before she has been

We do not wonder why the Arabs and Russians were quica so convict israel without trial, for they are not known for their temperance. If we did not know propaganda was everything, we would find it merely ironic that people who engage in "holy wars" and a nation with a Gulag Archipelago could suddenly conciences over human suffering and death. quick to convict Israel without trial, for they are not known and death.

No, we are not surprised by the Arabs' and Russians' unfounded charges; what we are astonished by is the virulence of the charges made by Israel's allies.

The reaction of some Israelis themselves is also curious. Victims of PLO atrocities for decades, these Israelis denounce "Begin's blood-shedding goverment," as one placard in a High Point Enterprise photograph had it, before it has been proven that Israel shed any of the refugee blood, indeed, before it has been proven that Israel is cultable in any way whatsever. culpable in any way whatsoever.

culpable in any way whatsoever.

Over-reaction, unfortunately, is common to the human beast. If it suits his purposes or salves his itches, the human beast will do practically anything, walk off a movie set, walk out of a meeting, walk over his ally. The human beast often confuses morality with his own ego.

But crucifying I grael without trial is not enough for some.

Now we have our ambassador to the UN asserting that everyone is a party to the massacres and that everyone is guilty-Israel, the Christian Phalange, Lebanon, the PLO, the United States, France. France!

Ah, Kipling, who among us is a man? Who is keeping his

Marion Hodge Assistant Professor of English

WWIH, 91.3 FM, returns to the airwaves

BY PAT CONNELLY Special to the Hi-Po

The campus radio station took to the airwaves Saturday with a new frequency and a fresh outlook for the coming year. WWIH moved on the dial from 90.5 megahertz to 91.3 FM as a result of power increase from 10 to 100 watts. Although the power output will not go into effect until the end of October at the earliest, the frequency change has already been in-

"High Point's Best Alternative". as WWIH calls itself, is made up of approximately 50 student volunteers who keep the station on the air from 3 p.m. to 1 a.m. on weekdays and from 9 a.m. until 1 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Although the format is basically album-oriented rock & roll (AOR), WWIH differs from other rock stations in that the "not so popular" songs or groups get airtime, too. It is the goal of FM 91 to "educate" the listener with popular music that is not of-fered at larger commercial radio stations. In addition to playing lesser known songs from popular groups, the WWIH staff introduces new artists that are not yet well known. For example, WWIH received Joan Jet's debut album and began playing cuts from it as early as November 1981 while most commercial stations did not air the album until December.

The music format is not limited to just rock n' roll, though. On Saturday mornings from 9 a.m. till noon, classical music can be heard, and from noon to 3 p.m. jazz is scheduled. The 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. shift offers Soul music on Saturday afternoon, and Sunday's programming begins with three hours of contemporary Christian music.

Besides music, FM 91 broadcasts items of campus and community interest. For instance, the station has a two-minute daily program on the stars and sky, Suspense Theatre, Pacific News (news that does not make the news), and interviews with various people on the High Point College campus as well as community leaders.

As noted earlier, all WWHH personnel are student volunteers. No prior experience is necessary to be a part of the radio station, just a desire to work and commit oneself. Weekly meetings for WWHH are Tuesdays at noon in the Conference Room in the Campus Center. If you are interested in joining the staff, call WWHH at 885-8968 on weekday after-

Security Guard's duties questioned

BY THOMAS GRANA

HI-PO Reporter
Is Ms. Ginger Foy, campus security officer, abusing her power? According to some students on campus, she's doing just that.

Some students say that Foy is spending her time try-ing to catch girls leaving Millis Residence Hall after visitation hours. These students feel that Ms. Foy should be maintaining security in the women's residence halls instead.

Foy, however, does not think she is in error. She states that she's only doing her job and looking out for the students' safety. Obviously, working the night shift draws more attention to her than to the other security officers. It also makes her often look like the "b

She claims to have a good rapport with 90% of the student body. It's the other 10% who think they're immune to campus rules, she says, and therefore cause her many problems. She wishes that they would understand that she's not out to ruin their good time. She's just looking out for their well being.

So far there have been no complaints from the administration, and Foy is pleased with her work. The only thing that concerns her is the threats that have been made on her by unidentified students who say they will try to get her fired. Such threats, she promises, will not affect her job in the

Mrs. Lucht involved in accident

BY SUSAN WARRICK HI-PO Reporter

Mrs. Angelin Lucht, President Lucht's wife, was involved in an accident last

Mrs. Lucht said as she was driving down Gordon Road in High Point, she passed a large mower on the side of the road. Just as she was passing the mover, its blade struck a rock which was thrown into her car window. The impact of the rock shattered the front windshield, scattering glass into the car. Glass covered Mrs. Lucht's hair and clothing, but she escaped serious injury.

To treat Mrs. Lucht for minor cuts, the city department called an ambulance to the scene of the accident. However, she was not taken to the hospital. "The city department was very cooperative about the incident," Mrs. Lucht said.

Questionaires distributed

Virus cause narrowed down

BY CRYSTAL L. HEDGECOCK Editor-in-Chief

The "unknown virus" that caused so much commotion has shown "no evidence of having a bacterial-causitive agent," Mrs. Joyce Isenhour, nurse at the College infirmary, said.

The speciman that was checked, said Isenhour, was not bacterial related.

Because only one speciman was available to send, the lab in Raleigh would not test it, Isenhour said. "Their (the lab in Raleigh) standard procedure is that without a certain amount of specimens, the lab will not test it." Isenhour said. "They need three or four samples from different people."

Isenhour has designed a questionnaire and sent it to the residence halls to be distributed. When the questionnaires come back to her, she said she would send the results to the Board of Health. Isenhour said that hopefully the Board of Health can come up with some pattern to a known

The sooner the questionnaires are filled out and sent back to her, Isenhour said, the sooner a cause will be known for the "unknown virus".

Correction

The HI-PO regrets that Dr. Barbara Long was misquoted in last week's issue. In "Language professors submit papers to conference," Long was quoted as saying "last year I had no students to fail any of my French classes." The quote should have been "last year I had no students fail any of my French 102 classes." The HI-PO regrets any problems this mistake may have caused.

Loans harder to obtain

With student aid having been cut back in several areas, there is a lot less money available this school year. The Guaranteed Student Loan program is the largest federal student aid program. A new loan rule prohibits students from families with incomes of $30,000 or more from applying for guaranteed loans, unless there are unusual circumstances of financial need. Many students have heard of the $30,000, rule and not applied when, actually, they might be eligible.

Unless President Reagan signs the appropriations bill which would provide extra money for the Pell Grants program, and the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Program, many students will be unable to receive financial aid. This will probably cause a decrease in the number of lower-income students applying at community colleges and "cheaper" schools.

Hi-Po Staff

Features Editor. Karla Green
News Editor Pam York
Reporters Erika Allion, Donnie Brower,
Peggy Draper, Thomas Grana,
Karen Hernandez, Mark Phelps,

Susan Warrick Photographers . . . . Marisa Firpi, Bill Johnson

MRS. KAY STROUD serves as Director of Financial Aid at High Point College. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

Kay Stroud Sets Goals For Year

BY LEWIS WHELESS

Associate Editor
"Flexible" is a key term used in describing High Point College's new Director of Financial Aid

When Kay N. Stroud received a degree in homeeconomics and design from UNC-G, her intention was to pursue a career in this field. She secured an interior designing position at Skipper's Choice in High Point, but the lure of financing and business influence her to steer away from paint and wallpaper and into the business office. "I became more interested in the business end of the job and eventually did everything from budget(ing) billing," Mrs. Stroud said.

Mrs.Stroud delved further into the area of finance in 1979 when she accepted a part-time position in the HPC Financial Aid Department. Two years later, Mrs. Stroud was named Assistant Director of Financial Aid. When Mr. Al Hassell resigned from the position of Director of Admissions and Financial Aid in June, Mrs. Stroud was promoted to Director of Financial Aid. Mr. Jim Schlimmer was appoin-ted Director of Admissions.

Dr. Roy Epperson, Acting Dean of the College, said the admissions/financial aid director positions were divided this year because of the increasing importance of the financial aid program and a continuing observation that one person can't adequately do the job.

As head of the Financial Department, Mrs. Stroud has three major goals for the year. First, she wants to uphold a new "satisfactory academic progress policy" which was recently instituted by the Department of Education. Under the new policy, students eligible for financial assistance can only receive the assistance if their grades are quantitatively and qualitatively adequate. Mrs. Stroud's second goal is in the implementation and carry-out of new policies and procedures for the Financial Aid Department.

Most importantly, according to Mrs. Stroud, is her third objective, which lies in 'educating students about financial aid.

Students should under-stand the components of financial aid and know how to interpret it. One way of educating students may be through a series of articles in the Hi-Po - students read the paper.

As for the future of financial aid, Mrs. Stroud says that although many people downgrade financial assistance, "it will be available," but students will also have to find alternate ways to pay for their education.

Mrs. Stroud says she encourages anyone who has questions regarding financial assistance to "ask me or anyone else in this office. We're here to help the students."

Study shows smokers have an alternative

Campus Digest News Service

Cool turkey may be the answer for those cigarette suckers who can't survive a cold-turkey attempt to kick the habit. A recent study by physician now a physician now at Washington University in St. Louis shows that cigarette smokers can wean themselves from nicotine by switching to a pine.

"The purpose of our study was to see if pipe smokers inhale smoke into their lungs," says Kevin Mc-Cusker, M.D., a pulmonary specialist. " After seeing the results, if I had a patient who couldn't quit cigarette smoking, I would definitely suggest switching to a pipe."

In McCusker's study, the majority of cigarette smokers who dropped cigarettes and switched to the pipe changed their inhalation behavior. By ceasing to draw the smoke into their lungs, smokers can reduce by five-fold their risk of developing emphysema, coronary artery disease and cancer of the pancreas or

"There has always been some question about whether a cigarette smoker would continue to inhale, and smoke the pipe just the same as a cigarette," says McCusker. "Many physicians are leery about recom-mending the pipe for that reason. In our study, however, only one out of eight former cigarette smokers inhaled smoke from the pipe.

McCusker's study was published in the Aug. 6, 1982 issue of the Journal of the American Medican Association.

One stumbling block in the path of would-be pipers is the belief that pipe use significantly enhances the likelihood of developing cancer of the lip, tongue or throat. But that suspicion is just a smokescreen of misinformation according to Mc-Cusker, who says the risk of such illness among cigarette and pipe smokers is "just about equal.'

"It may be true," says McCusker, "that the pipe smoker has a slightly higher risk of lip cancer. I hate to compare the risks because obviously no cancer at all would be best. But smokers should know that the death rates for cancer of the lip are much, much lower than the death rates for lung cancer. Lung cancer is the numberone cause of cancer deaths in this country. Not many victims survive.'

When it comes to choosing your poison, the pipe offers a less lethal does than cigarettes, according to McCuskerprovided that the smoker stops inhaling. "The switch to a pipe serves as a departure point or the beginning of a new behavior patternnot inhaling," says Mc-Cusker. "Also, because the pipe smoke is more irritating to the throat and lungs, the smoker is not likely to continue trying to inhale it

McCusker recommends that a pipe smoker trying to kick the inhalation habit should arrange for a simple test called a "carbox-yhemoglobin" about six months after switching from the cigarette. "The test is the only sure way to know if you stopped inhaling," he says. "You shouldn't have any trouble having the test made, because it's available through medical centers across the country."

For those smokers will uncomfortable with a pipe, For those smokers who are there is new promise

"Additional help for hard cases may soon present itself in the form of a palatable, nicotine-laced chewing gum," claims Mc-Cusker, who collaborated with physicians at the University of Arkansas to test a gum being developed by Merrel Dow Phar-maceuticals Inc. of Indianiapolis.

"We're surprised that it's taken so long to get the notion across the ocean" says McCusker. "Nicotine gums have been very popular in England and Sweden for many years. The main problems with Americanproduced chewing gums were that they either tasted too bad or didn't have enough nicotine.'

In the chewing gum evaluation, gum containing 2-milligram and 4-milligram doses of nicotine were tested. It was shown that chewing one piece of 4-milligram gum per hour will produce a blood nicotine level comparable to that obtained with hourly cigarette smoking.

"The one way that pipe smoking and chewing are different from cigarettes is that they don't produce a rapid increase-a quick high in the blood levels nicotine," explains explains Mc-

When Merrel Dow makes it available, the chewing gum will be the preferred alternative to cigarettes.

he adds. "The nicotine levels with the chewing gum may be a little higher than that with the pipe, but the asbsence of smoke has many other obvious advantages, especially for those who need to quit because of coronary artery or pulmonary

On the other hand, one advantage of pipe smoking for would-be quitters is that in involves the hands. "For those smokers who've got to fiddle with something, the pipe might be much better,' McCusker says.

According to the physicians and scientists involved in these comparisons, Merrel Dow's interest in marketing tolerable, satisfying nicotine gum is just one part of the industry's overall attempt to make tobacco use less hazardous.

"Industry realizes that they must develop safer See Study p. 5

****** School Kids Records

551 S. Mendenhall Street, Greensboro Rock - Country - Jazz - Classical - Soul LPs & Tapes 45s - Blank Tapes - Accessorie Open Daily - Mon. - Fri. 'til 9:00 Listen for Less 275-1226

~ *********

A review

Stratus sparked by audience-band relationship

BY TABBIE NANCE
HI-PO Reporter

"The feeling of entertaining and doing it well is what keeps me going," he said. "It's a real nice feeling between me and the audience that I can't put into words."

If this "feeling" was felt by Stratus' bass player Sunday, it was because he can relate to small crowds.

A few more than thirty people chose to seek refuge from the rain in the High Point College Auditorium. If you were one of the lucky people attending, you were treated to a private Stratus concert.

Stratus is a rock and roll band with five members. The bass guitar player is Timmy on the Bass (legal name), Alan Zimmerman is lead singer, Billy Beheler plays the guitar, Gary Strickler plays the lead guitar, and Buddy Owens is featured on the drums.

After performing a week in Knoxville, Tennessee, Stratus' truck and van traveled all night to get to High Point and set up. Although the members were exhausted, the songs they performed were well received by the audience. If the band was fully rested, their show would have had the potential to rock the college.

Original music was included in their performance as well as a 60's show featuring songs by the Rolling Stones and Tommy Janes and the Shandells.

After talking with Timmy on the Bass, an original band member, and Alan Zimmerman, a new member, I understand better what motivates them to keep playing gig after gig, no matter how tired they are. I also understand better their lives as band members. Both have personal goals of having albums and having songs they have written on the radio.

Traveling in a band has both its advantages and it disadvantages, according to Timmy and Zimmerman. "I like the traveling part and meeting new people all the time," Zimmerman said. "I never have time to get tired of being in one place."

"Once you have had the feeling of all this traveling and being on stage it makes it very hard to settle down," Timmy said. "As far as disadvantages, I have no privacy because I'm always around the band and the crew, and all the traveling makes it hard on a relation-ship. It takes quite a bit of emotional discipline."

Zimmerman, the father of a two-month-old baby, agreed, "I'm not around my family as much as I'd like. Tomorrow I'm going to drive to Maryland, spend one day with them, and then drive back because we have a show in Hickory, North

Strus has been together for three years and Timmy said there is a certain magnetism between band members. "There is some sort of spontaneous energy and magnetism that holds us together."

As long as this spark keeps Stratus together, they will continue to play music from some of rock and roll's greatest as well as band originals that are sure to dazzle any audience.

European living offered to students

BY ERIKA L. ALLION

HI-PO Reporter
This year HPC students have a chance to live and study in Europe and receive college credit. The Foreign Language Department in cooperation with the American Institute of Foreign Study is offering a trip to Strasbourg, France or Salamanca, Spain.

The five week trip involves attending a major European University studying the language and culture of the countries. No previous knowledge of a foreign language is necessary. The classes are taught in English.

Dr. Barbara Long, a modern language instructor says, "We are offering this trip as an incentive, it adds fluency and communication skills." The cost of the trip is $1849 which includes round-trip plane fares, room/board and tuition.

Strasbourg, the crossroad of French and German culture, is "the center of Europe," according to Long. And Salamanca's history dates back to the 4th century B.C.

Long said a trip to Europe has, "a broadening effect on influencing the way people see life."

For more information contact Dr. John Gabriele, or Dr. Barbara Long.

Dr. Michael Jones joins CAEP

DR. MICHAEL JONES

"Dynamic. Electric." Dr. Michael Jones, who recently joined the CAEP, HPC campus, enjoys that kind of praise from his students, according to Ms. Shirley Rawley, Program Director. Dr. Jones is a member of the Business Administration Department.

Dr. Jones took his bachelor's degree at the University of Louisville. He has attended Western New England Law School. Franklin and Pierce Law School, and Northwestern Law School. He has an M.Ed. from Springfield College, an MBA from the University of Louisville, and a Ph.D. from Northwestern University. He has served as Coordinator of Management Sciences at Averett College in Danville, Virginia

Dr. Jones is presently living in Greensboro. He works as a consultant, Ms. Rawley said.

crossword

Study Cont. from p. 4

ways to use nicotine." McCusker says, "and they reflect that new attitude in their products and advertising. The great push to low-tar cigarettes and 'smokeless' tobacco is further evidence of the trend."

MRS. GINNY FICK referred to this medieval tapestry as she reviewed THE LAST UNICORN at "Book Talks at High Point College" Sept. 26. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

High Point College

Page 6 - HI-PO - Wednesday, September 29, 1982

SPORTS

Kickers' season improves

High Point's soccer team is finally coming together. That's the view expressed by many of this year's players.

After losing at home 2-0 to Belmont-Abbey, the low point of the season, the year looked lost. However, in the next game, High Point narrowly defeated nationally ranked UNC-Greensboro, 2-1. This was the team's biggest victory of the year, and also may have been the turning point of the season. The team feels they are finally coming together and will be difficult to beat from here on.

When things are going badly, the team turns to senior captains Pepe Perrone and Ricky Klier. They're the team's "sparkplugs" and are called upon to pick up the team when its down.

As far as Coach Gibson is concerned, the players are satisfied. They feel he's a good coach and a nice guy, although he can be moody at times.

HPC's soccer players feel they have more potential than they've shown, and if someone emerges as a prominent scorer they could go a long way. We'll just have to wait and see.

BOBBY RAPP encounters leg action with a Wake Forest player (No. 2) in a recent match. (Photo by B.J.)

For athletes, practicing and conditioning are top priorities

BY MARK PHELPS HI-PO Reporter

Tony Dorsett spins off a tackler, skirts to the outside, and turns a usual short gain into a '70-yard touchdown. Chris Everette-Lloyd returns everything hit at her and wins the U.S. Open Championship with seemingly little effort.

Almost every fan looks toward these individuals with amazement and wonder as to how such incredible feats can be done with as much ease.

What most people usually fail to remember is that an athlete's talents account for only a part of what it takes to become great. This is not to say that a great player doesn't possess tremendous skills, but that there is much more dedication and sacrifices needed to reach that top quality than the average person is willing to give.

Now that the fall sports are upon us, most college athletes have been working to get back into shape after the long offseason. This conditioning is particularly hard for the freshmen, who have to make the transition needed to perform on the Students have to divide up their time evenly between workouts, studies, and relaxation. Many end up having to wake at sunrise to get in some running or sacrifice their nights in order to maintain the necessary amount of work meded. Ask any athlete and he will tell you that training is not all the glamour and heroics deplicted in the "Rocky" movies.

I competed on local swim team for ten years and, in this reporter's biased opinion, swimming ranks near the top when comparing rough training measures. Our season would begin in early May and last until the end of August, when the North Carolina State Championships were held. It was every swimmer's dreams to compete in this meet.

In order to reach this goal, a tremendous amount of dedication was needed. Our team practiced six days a week and competed in an inter-conference meet every Tuesday night. The average workday began at 6:00 acm, when we would swim for two hours in a very cold outdoor pool. An hour-long weightlifting session was held at 10:00 a.m. and another two hour practice was swum that afternoon.

A normal practice included nearly 200 50-yard laps, or approximately six miles. This adds up to 72 miles of swmming per week. Many of the stronger kids would wear tee-shirts during a workout in order to produce a heavy drag. The very dedicated males would shave their heads, arms, and legs in hopes of improving their times by a few tenths of a second.

Competitive swimming is just one example of what many athletes have to go through to reach their personal goals.

During the autumn sports events, each player's performance will show only the tip of an iceberg, a finished product made through hours of training and hard

NCAA "wins" first round

Cammus Digget Name Sarnice

The battle is heating up on the NCAA front. The 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals granted the NCAA a stay on the suit blocking the NCAA from selling college football games to television networks. However, the stay is only temporary, but it did void the first deal that had been made between colleges and a network. Oklahoma and University of Southern California had arranged for their Sept. 25 meeting to be televised for $550,000.

The original ruling Sept. 15 by U.S. District Judge Juan Burciaga says that the NCAA's contracts with ABC, CBS and Turner Broadcaing are violations of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law. The Universities of Oklahoma and Georgia filed the lawsuit, claiming that schools should be able to make their own dealer.

Many colleges and universities have stated since the ruling that they would still honor the commitments they had made for the current season. But after that, things would become very confusing with all the schools trying to negotiate their own packages with the networks. The larger schools would stand to gain a great deal, but many of the smaller schools feel they would be left out in the cold, and that eventually, their football programs would be edged out for lack of funds.

If the NCAA loses its appeal, another much more serious problem would arise.

As it now stands, schools that are found to be in violation of NCAA rules are prohibited from appearing on television. This is a powerful threat, because all schools want televised coverage of their games. If colleges are allowed to negotiate their own deals, they will not be bound by the NCAA rules, and therefore, the schools that violate recruiting practices will get away with it.

Such is the case with Southern Cal. They are currently under NCAA probation for giving athletes passing grades in courses they never took. When a federal judge ruled that the NCAA could not sell college games, and that the universities themselves would be able to enter into negotiations, that allowed Southern Cal the opportunity to play in a televised game. And plans were made for the Oklahoma-Southern Cal contest to be televised. But now that opportunity has been denied, at least for the time be-

The end result is that colleges would start violating recruiting rules of days past, in order to lure the best athletes available, in order to have the best team possible with a perfect win-loss record, in order to negotiate the highest prices with the networks for the telecasts of their games.

At least that's what the critics say. But whether or not that happens will depend on whether the NCAA wins its appeal or not. And that could take months to find out.

That is the control of the schools and their recruiting

Panther scoreboard announced

PANTHER SCOREBOARD VOLLEYBALL

9/20

VOLLEYBALL
9/21 Guilford College A&T won 15-3, 9-15, 15-6
9/23 Catawba College/
Mars Hill
won 15-12, 15-19
record 7-3

record 7-3
SOCCER
Belmont Abbey

9/23 College lost 2-0 9/25 UNC-G lost 2-1 Pembroke Won 1-0 FIELD HOCKEY

Wesleyan

9/21 Pfieffer lost 4-3 9/24 Lynchburg College won 9/24 Manhattan ville College – lost 9/25 W. Virginia 9/20 Wingate 9-0
9/16-17 Greensboro
College Invit.
Finished 11th of 18 teams
UPCOMING GAMES
VOLLEYBALL

WOMEN'S TENNIS

9/29 UNC-Charlotte/Duke*
10/4 UNC-G/Elon*
10/6 Pembroke/Fayetteville
See Scoreboard p. 7

September Sports

Players preview fall tennis season

Kitty Steele's office door was closed, yet I heard music playing inside. I knocked. Inside, two ladies-probably athletes, I assumed-were snacking on peanut butter

"Is Coach Steele in?" I

"No," one replied, "but she'll be back at ten til two, then at two she's on the court until four.

'Well, tell her I'm doing a story on the Women's tenn for the HI-PO and would like to interview her on how she thinks the team is doing this year-that sort of thing."

"We're on the team. You could talk to us," they both mutually suggested. The peanut butter and jelly were put aside for our interview.

I knew Teresa Regnante from my other classes, and was introduced to Anneli Kiviniemi, a sophomore from Sweden, where "tennis is the main sport." Both Anneli and Teresa reminde me that Sweden is the birth place of Bjorn Borg.

"Do they know that last year we were fourth in the nation, for two years in a row?" Teresa asked.

"Probably not," I suggested. "Let's include that in the interview."

We have five All-American players who played on the national team this summer," Teresa added. We're looking forward to our sixth year with the title, but now we'll have to win the District Tournament first then go on to the Nationals.

It's not going to be as easy as last year."

Teresa had done most of the talking to this point, but Anneli joined here when I asked them about training -always a subject of interest for athletes.

"Sami Narhi, who's from Sweden, too, is helping the team this year," Anneli said, "We're never conditioned or run as hard as we have so far this year. "Short sprints, 10-minute running sessions, stretching, doing footwork, playing two hours daily-all those things."

As Teresa told me, the fall season is an extremely important one for the team.

Fall is really pre-seasonwe have matches in the Spring that are important. It's good for the freshmen, though, to start getting used to being on the team."

I guess we always think of tennis as a summer sport, without the dirtiness of football and the allure of basketball. I wondered what made team work, what its aims were, what held it together. "Oh, I think Mrs. Steele is good at her job-she does an excellent job recruiting. The coach is such a personable

"I came to High Point Col-Anneli,

"because the team was so good. Going to the Nationals is a big thrill for me.

The coach and the team it self were the answers to my question about the team's cohesiveness. Would it work again this year? Teresa

This is it: this is the big year. We won't waltz through the title like we did a new league, it's going to be harder." last year. With new rules and

What did Teresa consider the most important things to insure the team's success?

Play competively. Have absolute concentration. And," she added with a smile, "have the killer instinct."

Walk on over to walking

CHARLES BURTON

Walking is an activity that is good for you and re quires very little equipment. All you need is a pair of comfortable shoes and, of course, two feet.

About five years ago walking was touted as the "thinking man's exercise. Since no elaborate stretching is needed before starting out on a walk, warm-ups are obviated. Pulled muscles and shin splints are also things that bother runners and not walkers-all the more reason for walking, some said. Although a good pair of running shoes are, paradoxically, the best equipment for walkers, any shoe that's comfortable for you will do. Many walkers even prefer shoes such as Wallabees or Hush Puppies with crepe soles.

If you don't wear tennis shoes daily, you may not be aware of how much a good pair costs. Be prepared to pay more than $30.00 for a pair of Nike or Etonic shoes, both of which are excellent shoes for walkers. Look for stores where the employees themselves are wearing tennis-type or running shoes while they work, and ask them why they chose their particular brand over the many others they deal with daily. Chances are, they have to walk a great deal in the store, and their shoes may be what you're looking

The most important reason to walk is health. Although there are several scientists who make their livings by conducting experiments comparing running and walking, both exerses are good activities for the heart. Most people would say that running is probably more aerobic (causes more oxygen to glow toward the heart and through major vessels) than walking; the field between each opinion is broad, however, and the best method to take might be to do what feels best-run or walk or do both. Certainly, people learn to walk before they run, as the old cliche goes, so you could branch off from walking to running. Chances are, at some point you'll both run and walk for Running is like airplane travel-you're moving too fast to notice much below you or on either side. Walk-ing is a different case, ing is a different case, because you set your pace; you can decide stop and listen to a bird or to look at something you think is interesting. You can do these things while running, too, even though most runners set distances for themselves, and to detour or stop scraps the whole regimen for the day. Not with walking.

It would be remiss in this short article to advocate walking without first suggesting you get a physical exam. Most walking is so strenuous that anyone in fairly good health (no major ems with heart, circula tion, breathing problems, or blood pressure) can start a walking program that begins with a half-mile distances and increasing increments thereafter with no

Fall is an excellent time to begin walking for exercise. Most experts suggest that you walk with a natural, correct posture, swinging your arms as you walk. Developing a sense of grace and poise can also be added benefits from walking. Imagining you're walking through honey, thus making your stride deliberate and exercising little-used leg muscles, works for some. Taking your time, enjoying the walk, stopping when you feel like it-all these things have both physical and mental therapeutic. laces to walk in High Point. If you're just beginning, you can drive the car and park it at the point of your walk-ing departure, then drive back home. The Environmental Center on Penny Road has several nature trails you may enjoy discovering. Scout camps near your home are also good places to discover; be sure and ask permission of the proper people, before you start your odysseys Whichever shoe you choose, whatever trail you take-walking is natural recreation vou can participate in.

Sports Quiz

ampus Digest News Service

1. Name the only active player who has won or shared three American League home run titles?

2. Gaylord Perry won the NL Cy Young Award in 1978 while pitching for the San Diego Padres. Name the other Padre to win the Cy Young award?

3. One active pitcher has won three American League Cy Young Awards in the past decade. Name the player?

4. Rod Carew has American League batting 'ss '2261 'woqloo wif '01 champion seven times. What 9561 'ulancisma 'auo'i oped '6 other active player has three AL batting titles?

5. Pete Rose has won three NL batting titles. What other active player has led the National League in batting in three years?

National League to be named the league MVP?

7. Mike Schmidt and John Bench have each been National League MVP Name one other active player who has won this honor

8. Who was the only player in this century to have seven hits in a single game?

9. Who once hit home runs in eight consecutive games?

10. Steve Busby pitched two no-hitters for the Kansas City Royals, What other Royal pitched a no-hitter?

8. Cesar Gutierrez, Detroit, in

7. Joe Morgan 6. Sandy Koufax (1963) 5. Bill Madlock 4. Carl Yastrzemski

6. Name the last pitcher in the '$261 '$261) sampled mil '$ 1. Reggie Jackson 2. Randy Jones (1976)

Scoreboard

SOCCER 10/5 9/29 WOMEN'S TENNIS Pfieffer 10/1 Mars Hill College State* 10/6 10/2 Mars Hill Tourn. FIELD HOCKEY 10/6 Atlantic Christian* 0/90 10/1 Radford* *Denotes home games

Gene's Gene's Sug Clinic

1702 ENGLISH RD. - HIGH POINT, N. C. 27260 PHONE 886-5316

Strictly Classified

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad, type the ad doubleaced and turn it in to the HIPO by Friday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ads turned in after this deadline will be held until the next Issue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no designation, the ad will run for only one week.

COLOR CONCERT PHOTOS Taken at recent area shows. Excellent quality, service, and prices.

Let us know your favorite performer.

For sample and catalog, send $1 and SASE to Concert Photos 4 Cates Court

Hillsborough, N.C. 27278

FOR SALE: A new, Wilson Chris Evert Autographed tennis racket with 4%" grip. $35. Contact Teresa Sweatman, P.O. Box 3621, Campus

Announcements

Organizational Meeting Dates for Men's In-tramurals Announced.

Tennis-Thursday, Sept. 30, 12 Noon

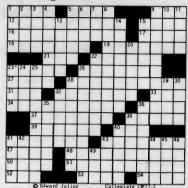

Soccer-Thursday, October, 7, 12 Noon

Track-Thursday, October

14. 12 Noon All meetings take place in Meeting Room 2 of the Campus Center.

collegiate crossword

See answers p. 5

ACROSS

- 1 Movie mogul Marcus
- 5 Heroic tale
  9 Song syllable
  12 The state of being undamaged
  15 Pal
  16 Its capital is

- 16 Its capital is
  Dacca
  17 Nobel chemist
  18 The art of putting on plays
  19 Pearson and Maddox
  21 Vegas
  22 Drink to excess
  23 Hiss
  26 Italian painter
  27 Screenwriter Anita

28 Devilishly sly 31 Decline

36 Machine part 3 37 Type of music 4 38 Dosen't eat 5 39 The Sun'flower State 6 40 Part of APB, to 7 police 7 41 All-too common 9 excuse (2 wds.) 4 35 Hort opera solo 10 43 Short opera solo 10 45 Forto 10 45 Forto 11 50 Made do 13 51 Prevents 14 52 — Alte 52 43 U.S. caricaturist 15 53 U.S. caricaturist 15 13 Acquit 14 "The Lord is My 52 — Alte 53 U.S. caricaturist 15 Veal — 54 Farm storage place 20 Extends across

32 Devices for refining flour 33 Teachers organization 34 Shore protectors (2 wds.) 36 Machine part

- 22 Turkic tribessee
  23 Mr. Guinness
  24 Spanish for wolf
  25 Retrace (3 wds.)
  26 Olipsroof
  27 Olipsroof
  28 Olipsroof
  29 Clike Falis Unger
  30 Need inventory
  32 Nutr or cheated
  40 Take (pause)
  41 Inished a cake
  41 Take Ankiebones
  43 Rock of 44 Ankiebones
  45 Work with soil
  45 New Deal organization

Intramural scores announced

BY JEFF BLANK

Lambda Chi Alpha at 2-1,

In Men's Intramural Frisbee, Delta Sigma Phi holds down first place after three weeks of play at 3-0 followed by Theta Chi at 4-1, and Pi Kappa Alpha at 2-2.

In fall softball, Chaingang is in first place with 2-0. Theta Chi is in second with 1-0 followed by Lambda Chi Alpha with 1-1 in third place. The Unknowns finish ed the season with a 0-3 record. All these teams will participate in a single elimination playoff to decide the fall season softball championship.

Campus Paperback Bestsellers

1. E.T.: The Extra-Terrestrial, by William Kotzwinki (Berkley $2.95.) Novel of the popular film.

DOWN

Conservatives' foes, for short 2 Go — length (ramble) 3 Famous volcano 4 Moves jerkily 5 Hollywood populace 6 Sheriff Taylor 7 "Golly"

8 — as an eel
9 Size of some want-ads (2 wds.)

10 Regretful one 11 Vanderbilt and Lowell

- 2. Real Men Don't Est Quiche, by Bruce Fairstein.
  (Pocket, $3.95.) A hillarious guide to masculinity
- The World According To Garp, by John Irving. (Pocket, $3.95.) Outrageous story of T.S. Garp
- 4. The Road To Gandolfo, by Robert Ludlum. (Bantam, $3.75.) His latest auspense/thriller
- 5. Garfield Weighs in, by Jim Davis. (Ballantine, $4.95.) Second book on the famous cartoon cat.
- The Cinderella Complex, by Colette Dowling. (Pocket, $3,95.) Uncovers the roots of women's inner conflicts.
- What Color is Your Parachute?, by Richard Nelson Bo (Tan Speed Press, $6.95.) Career and job guide.
- The White Hotel, by D.M. Thomas. (Pockat, $3.50.) Stor of a troubled young woman in pre World War II Austria
- The Soul Of A New Machine, by Tracy Kidder. (Avon, $3.95.) Behind the scenes at a computer comp

New & Recommended

Mazes and Monaters, by Rona Jaffe. (Dell, $3.50) The latest bestseller by the author of Class Reunion.

Oxford American Dictionary. (Avon, $3.95) The authoritative paperbound dictionary of America Coming Alive/China After Mao, by Roger Garside. (Mentor, $4.50) An eyewitness, in-depth examination of the dramatic new changes in China.

...............

High Point College's

"Working for a better informed campus" High Point, N.C. 27262

Vol. 55

Issue 4

INSIDE

Special students. pp. 4-5 October 6, 1982 "Fantasticks."

Rids are out Rush is finalized

BY KAREN HERNANDEZ HI-PO Reporter

Tension, curiosity and the long awaited five o'clock was seen Monday as all the sororities were waiting for the girls to accept their bids. Once the bids were handed out, laughter, shouting, running wild and hugging took place all over the campus.

To initiate all the girls who joined a sorority, a celebra-tion party was held at Scra-lett O'Hara's that same night. The Greeks were there and the excitement lead into hugging and kissing each other superfluously.

The Alpha Gamma Deltas had a total of 10 pledges: Jennifer Austin, Carol Bid-derman, Shari Campbell, Kellie Green, Teile Hadsock, Dori Johnson, Melissa McKenzie, Linda Miller, Tammie Swain and Janet Temple.

The Kappa Deltas are proud to have a total of 9 pledges. The new members are Jackie Barner, Lee Kro-McHone, Pam Welch, B.J. McInvale, Bonnie Eaken, Jennifer Lindquist and Wendy Hora.

The Phi Mus outcome this year was called "excel-lent". They have 14 new Phi's, and they are Dana Arsenault, Beth Baker, Julie Beatly, Janet Freeman, Claire Hall, Terry Hender-son, Laura Idol, Lisa Jones, Anne Maryse Lopez, Jennifer Palmer, Loita Spencer, Grace Hall, Ursula Watts and Nancy Young.
Having the most pledges with a total of 19 was the Zeta Tau Alpha Fraternity. New members include: Tammi Fish, Tammy Riggs, Debbie Land, Peggy Draper, Kim Woolsey, Wendy Kauf-man, Mary Van Horn, Beth Belk, Kelly Heimimdingu, Marte Delanev, Susan Kernoodle, Barbara Benson, Kara Tamaccio, Lisa Blake, Elizabeth Wall, Elizabeth Daisy, Rebecca Daisy, Jean Williamson and Sany Austin.

The fraternities' DRAGS dances this past weekend marked the end of formal RUSH. After dancing Saturday night away, the perspec-tive rushees awaited the distribution of bids on Sun-

Gordon Bowen, President of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity, was pleased to announce their 16 new associate members. They are Steve Piazza, Jeff Rosen-burg, David Zeph, Andrew Stewart, Pete Lawton, Steve Papastavrov, Danny Spar-ling, Alan Puddy, Jeffrey Stevens, Todd Phillips, Chris Moschella, Bruce Finigan, Barry Brochman, Denis de St. Aubin, Loy Sherrill, and Brad Miller.

"Quality is better than quantity" was how Theta Chi Fraternity's President Brian Caskie described their 7 new members. The new members are Dean Jones. Kenny Taylor, Steve Hatt.

Mark Cuningham, Mike Reed, Eddy Carpenter, and Mat Kohw

Having the most pledges with a total of 22 was the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity. John Van Horn, President, announced the new members: Greg Shuskey, Fran-sisco Bloch, David Ashe, John Higgins, Terry Aiken, Kenneth Huff, Stanley Potter, Tom Scott, Mike Garrett, Jeff Keck, Kevin Carr, Paul McDonough, Bob Rossi, Barry Peronteau, Ted Coryelle, Keith Rowand, Ron Barrows, Jeff Collins, Chip Messick, Greg Cornelius, Mike Louia and Matt Suttonfield.

The Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity added 11 pledges to their chapter. President John McDonald said they are Donnie Brower, Mark Pearn, Dave Groceclose, Jim Holleran, Brain Grives, Larry McCulloch, Mark Siegfreed, Greg Upchurch, Roy Heil-bron, Tom Grana and Donnie Wilborne.

Freshmen elections today, tommorrow

BY TABBIE NANCE HI-PO Reporter

Elections for freshmen class officers will be held Oct. 6 and 7 in the school cafeteria during lunch and Running for the office of president are Jeff Keck and Stanley Potter. For the office of vice-president, Peggy Draper is running unop-posed while there are three candidates seeking the posicandidates seeking the posi-tion of legislator: Barbara Hurley, Tammy Riggs, and Anne Thomson.

On the ballet there are two write-in positions available: one for the office of legislator and one for the office of the judicial representative.

All freshmen are eligible to vote. Please exercise this right and vote in the cafeteria on Wednesday and

Turbulent times ahead

Williams discusses mob behavior

DR. JACK WILLIAMS relates theories of mob behavior to Beirut massacre. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

BY PAMELA YORK HI-PO Reporter

Sept. 14-16, 1982 -Beirut, Lebanon - Hundreds of civilians massacred by Gemayel's rightist Christian what motivates a group to act so violently? What preventative measures can be employed to control a potentially violent group or

According to Dr. Jack Williams, Chairman of the Department of Human Resources and a professor of sociology at High Point Col-lege, "What happened in Beirut is that they had just had an assassination of the president (president-elect Bashir Gemayel) who was of the same group as those who committed the massacre. By that time, feelings were running so high that the only way to have prevented the massacre would have been to not let them (the members of the group) into the refugee camps.

In terms motivates mob behavior, Williams said basically a group of people gather for a common cause which may be very general or poorly defined, and then it gets crystallized on a particular issue or incident.

Williams added, "Mobs have an identity of their own; mobs are much more than a group of individuals together." He said that as a group, people do things they would never do as individuals

To support this view, Williams noted the last known lynching in the United States; it occurred in a small town in Louisiana, 1961. "A sociologist by the name of Bates at Louisiana State University talked to several participants in the group that lynched a black man. Each of them proclaimed their individual innocence-each said, 'I didn't do it; the mob did!"

What type of individual is most likely to react violently in a mob? "No one," said Williams, "is above this sort of behavior if he is carried away in the mob identity." However, he noted that the young are more susceptible than the old to identifying as a group.

Because all people are capable of mob behavior, no state or country is exempt from incidents similar to those of Beirut if the circumstances are of a violent nature. Williams said. "This nature. Williams said, Inis kind of behavior is predic-table in any area that is characterized by unrest and rapid changes. We are going to see a great deal of it in the Middle East for many years to come.

Editorials.

Editorial page unused

Is anyone out there? As we see it, apparently not. In the first three issues of the HI-PO, several thoughtprovoking informative and controversial editorials have appeared on this page. Only one of these was submitted by a student who was not associated with the HI-PO.

The editorial page in any paper is designed for others to express ideas and opinions. Unfortunately, this editorial page has not achieved its goal. Few opinions and ideas have en expressed, except those of the editors and advisor, Dr. Marion Hodge.

The HI-PO is "working for a better informed campus." However, the job becomes much harder when the students will not participate in process

There wouldn't be any problems about the editorial page if everyone was happy with the way the school is run or all of the events at HPC. But everyone is not happy and satisfied. In fact, complaining takes up the majority of person's conversation. Why spout off about something if only two of three will hear you? Why not write an editorial and the budgets hear you; these. That's what feeded on a continuous that the school of the second of the seco let hundreds hear your ideas. That's what freedom of speech is all about! Why not exercise your freedom? You live in America - take advantage!

Every week the editorial page of the HI-PO is barely filled. It appears that all is well at High Point College. Is it? Please, let us know in order that the HI-PO can be a vital tool in helping, teaching, and informing the college and the community.

As can be seen in the masthead below, "the HI-PO welcomes letters from readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed, and an address must be included. If warranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as seen necessary." WE'LL BE GLAD TO HEAR FROM YOU!

The Hi-Po is distributed on campus by Alpha Phi Omega, a National Service fraternity. This is the fifth year they have provided this service.

Crystal L. Hedgecock Edi	tor-in-Chief
Lewis Wheless Assoc	ciate Editor
Scott MorganAdve	ertising and
Busine	ss Manager
Charles Burton Sp	orts Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those I ne opinions neren are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO.

The Hi-Po welcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed, and an address must be included. If war ranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as seen necessary.

RASTER BLASTER

She sits in front of the T.V., committing video adultery. The electric afternoon lover made of plastic, glass and chrome.

The kid's got no one to play with; he's got no one to stay with. Except for the fantasy failures brought straight into his home.

It doesn't make sense to waste your time letting others live your life;

To lose yourself in a T.V. show, while you lose your frields and wife.

Turn off the Raster Blaster; take control of your dreams; or else the men in production will capture you with their schemes.

Your collective minds are sinking while you let others do your thinking. They tell you when to laugh and cry; they control your smiles and frowns.

If you think T.V. is exciting, then you're the one I'm inviting to rediscover the real world; to share in it's ups and downs.

> It'll only take a moment to turn your face away;

remove the insult to your mentality, keep the chromakey curs at bay.

Challenge the Raster Blaster; take control of your dreams; this sign of so-called progress is never quite what it seems.

-Ariel Ann Tenna

As the English Department's Communications Program continues to grow, and as the College begins to offer courses on television, it is time to examine certain issues concerning the media. One of those issues is the way the film camera is changing our perceptions of the truth. What appears to be documented fact is often illusion or worse, fraud.

Frank Borman can say half a sentence in an airplane 30,000 feet above the ground and say the other half standing in the Atlanta airport. We have become so used to such illusions, however, that we no longer question the truthfulness of such camera tricks.

On a recent "Top Ten" show, Paul McCartney and Stevie Wonder were shown sitting at the same piano, in front of the Wonder were shown sitting at the same piano, in front of the same background, singing their popular duet, "Ebony and Ivory." They appeared to be sitting side-by-side, but they were not. McCartney was filmed in London and Wonder in Los Angeles! The "message" of that piece of film lies in the editing, not in the performance. The theme changes from racial harmony to moral cacophony. Had we not been told about the trick beforehand, we would have been none the

Many of us can recall how some film crews staged firefights in Vietnam, and how some directed re-enactments of incidents during civil rights and anti-war marches. Those practices were rightfully denounced.

"The camera doesn't lie," we are often told. In fact, it lies a great deal

Any instrument in the hands of human beings can be made to lie, sometimes even though the camera operator is honest. The most comting lie is that of superficiality. Can any two-minute televisign news story provide the breadth and depth necessary for observers to make intelligent decisions? Can the democracy-long endure when voters base their decisions only on what they see through the camera? As members of an intellectual community, we at the College have the opportunity and the duty to seek the answers to such questions. We must help our students understand the theoretical bases and possible dangers of what they are do-

Marion Hodge Assistant Professor of English

In recent virus outbreak

Rumors unwarranted

BY SUSAN WARRICK HI-PO Reporter

Rumors have been circulating around campus recently concerning the infirmary's refusal to allow the Board of Health to take samples of the recent virus for testing. According to Mr. Tysinger, who is with the Board of Health, the problem of obtaining samples for the testing arose from lack of cooperation on the students' part instead of the infirmary's part.

"Many samples were needed in order for the tests to be run in the bacteriology and the viralogy labs. The bacteriology lab did complete their tests of the virus In fact, only one sample was given to the infirmary by a student with the virus," said Tysinger.

"Mrs. Eisenhour and her staff were very cooperative. It was the students' fault that further tests could not be made concerning the virus," stated Tysinger.

Three left

BARRY DRAKE will be appearing in the OSC TONIGHT 6:30 p.m.-8:30 p.m. Admission is free.

Scholarship

At UNC-G Graduate schools represented University of North Caro-

Graduate and Professional School Day at UNC-Greens-boro will be held Oct. 7, 1982 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m., according to Bruce Tingle, Assistant Director of Student Life. Interested students at High Point College should sign up in the Student Life Office of the Campus Center. Transportation will be provided beginning at 1 p.m., and several trips will be made.

Tingle said. "This is an excellent opportunity for our students to assist themselves with the question, 'Is graduate school for me?'

Schools that will be represented include: Appalachian State Univer-

Campbell University

Emory University School of Law.

Georgia Tech., College of Managment.

Georgetown University, School of Business Administration.

Meredith College.

Miami University. North Carolina Central University School of Law.

lina at Chapel Hill.

North Carolina State Un-

UNC-Chapel Hill Law

UNC-Charlotte University of North Carolina at Greensboro. University of South Carolina College of Business

Virginia Commonwealth University. Wake Forest University.

Wake Forest University School of Law. Western Carolina Univers-

"Fantasicks" comes to town

BY SCOTT MORGAN HI-PO Reporter

New York's longest run-ning musical hit will be touring to the High Point College Memorial Auditorium stage Tuesday, October 12, at 8:00 p.m.

"The Fantasticks," a song-and-dance-filled pro-duction, is sponsored by the Cultural Programs Com-mittee, Student Union, and Student Government Association, in a never ending effort to bring high-quality cultural events to the High Point College community and area. The story centers around a young couple whose fathers pretend to trick their children into falling in love. In an effort to make their bickering more realistic, a wall is built between their property, and the young couple are forced to secretly meet at the wall. Through the magical powers of a traveling gypsy-type, some complications arise to complicate the plot, and the story unfolds from there. I t promises to be a sentimental evening taking the audience to a magical fantasy world where all comes out for the best and love prevails.

The show opened in the Sullivan Street Playhouse on May 3, 1960. That year, an unknown actress named Barbara Streisand sent a photograph and resume to the producers. She was not offered an audition.

Since its opening, the show has survived newspaper strikes, blizzards, blackouts, various actors' strikes, and a three-week loss of telephone service. There have been over 4000 different productions per-formed in over 1800 US cities and towns in all 50 states and territories. Some 250 different productions have been performed in over 55 countries.

General admission is $5 at the door, $4 in advance, $3 for groups of 10, senior citizens, and students, and a special rate of $2 with High Point College identification. Reservations can be made at the box office.

National Higher Education Week - Oct. 2-9 awarded

HI-PO Reporter Erika Allion, a High Point College senior majoring in Communications, has been awarded an English department book scholarship. By meeting the requirements for the scholarship-having completed a SCIP internship and having a QPA of 3.0 - Erika received $100 for the 1982-83 school year.

PAMELA YORK

Dr. Bill DeLeeuw, Director of Communications, said there are three book scholarships not yet awarded: one for an English major, one for a Communications major, and one for an English or Communications major in the CAEP Program. He said that these scholarships can still be applied for and awarded for the spring semester. For more details and/or application, see Dr. DeLeeuw in the English Department or consult the Financial Aid Office.

Corrections

In the September 22 story, CAEP Student Advisory Committee formed," Jack Daniels' name was inadvertantly omitted from the list of those serving on the RJR Campus committee. The HI-PO regrets the mistake and any inconvenience caused Mr. Daniels or the

In last week's issue of the HI-PO, information was published concerning a trip to Europe offered to students for the upcoming summer.
The HI-PO printed that the classes would be taught in English. This was in error. The classes will not be taught in English. The HI-

In the sixties higher education was a high priority. Not today. Put education's priority back where it belongs and you put America up where it belongs!

Hi-Po Staff

Features Editor. . . . . . . . . . . . . Karla Green News Editor . . . . ..... Pam York . Erika Allion, Donnie Brower, Peggy Draper, Thomas Grana, Reporters Karen Hernandez, Mark Phelps, Susan Warrick

Photographers .... Marisa Firpi, Bill Johnson

Between jobs and families, Continuing Adult Education students still find time for college

When housework turns to homework...

BY KARLA GREEN

The initials CAEP can be seen around campus daily. We know that CAEP stands for the Continuing Adult Education Program offered through High Point College in terms of the night program.

You probably also are taught here on campus to High Point residents as well as in Winston-Salem to the employees of such companies as R.J. Reynolds Industries, Peidmont Airlines, and Hanes Corporation, to name a few. But have you ever considered what it would be like to be a CAEP student?

First of all, according to information from the CAEP office, the night students can carry three to six hours during each eight-week session. Thus, they can graduate in four years by attending these classes year around. Their requirements are the same in all classes aday students, but must be completed in eight weeks instead of a full semester.

Though they may seem far removed from campus existence as we fulltime students know it, CAEP students share the common problems of cramming for tests, writing term papers, and the constant reading that comes with many

In addition to this, CAEP students know the struggle involved with juggling a fulltime job with all of its demands, rushing to classes three nights a week, and catching up on homework during spare moments before returning home to family responsibilities.

One night student commented that often she feels that "there aren't enough hours in the day."

Why, then, do these working adults decide to become

That is a good question to ask Peggy Cecil. Ms. Cecil has been a registered nurse in Winston-Salem for 27 years. She is currently the Nursing Supervisor at Winston-Salem Health Care Plan, which is a subsidiary of R.J. Reynolds Industries.

She has held this administrative position for four years, yet she decided to be among the first students to participate in the CAEP when it began at RJR in Sept. of 1980.

Her motivation? "A personal goal," says Cecil. "It was a chance for me to broaden my outlook." She says she chose psychology as her major because it was the one subject that presented the "biggest

MRS. PEGGY CECIL, who is a registered nurse in Winston-Salem, is a charter member of the CAEP Program. (Photo by Karla Green) challenge" and at the same time was the "shortest route to a degree with the courses previously taken."

Her studies through HPC have given Cecil new insights into her career in nursing. She says that 'psychology has enhanced the field of nursing' for her. She commented that she has learned a great deal from practical experience-"the school of hard knocks"-however, her classes taught "new ways to present ideas."

The biggest change that student life made for Ms. Cecil was budgeting of her time. "I found that I had to learn to plan ahead." She recalls many trips that she and her husband have taken when, as she says, "The first things I packed were my books." Ms. Cecil is currently only four credits away from graduation.

Cecil also knows what it is like to have children of her own in college at the same time. She said that in her home, "School became a family effort." Cecil recalls times when she has challenged her daughter to make better grades, as well as times when her son helped her complete art projects.

Family support is the common factor among two other WSHCP employees who also moonlight as students in CAEP program. Cora Malloy was also originally involved in the CAEP, in which she was working toward a degree in Business Administration and Management.

and Management.

Malloy also had a son in school at the same time as she attended CAEP. She comments, "Lots of family support and encouragement kept me going."

kept me going."
Malloy, also works fulltime at Winston-Salem Health Care Plan, when she has held three different positions in the past 5½ years. Coming there as an LPN, she first moved into the position of Receptionist Supervisor from which she made her final administrative move into her current position of Referral Supervisor. Malloy feels that she is in a job where she must "actively seek a degree" to advance any fur-

Malloy was very specific in her reasons for attending school at age 49. "I always have to be working towards a goal." "I feel in this day and age the female must seek higher education to be a part of the competitive business world."

Malloy has chosen to work on her goal "a little at a time" picking up classes as she can. She describes it as moving toward her degree at a "comfortable pace".

The "pace", however, speeds up as we look at 23-year-old Tammy Greenwood. Tammy Greenwood. Tammy can be found behind her desk in the Claims Department of WSHCP delly. At quitting time, three nights a week, she rushes to RJR World Headquarters building in downtown Winston-Salem to attend CAEP classes and then she goes home to "homework and housework" and a husband whom says she "couldn't do without."

She calls her life as a student the "hardest thing she ever tried to do." Greenwood says, "I could never make it without the support and understanding of my husband and his parents. They help me through the rough times."

She says that she studies seven days week and often gets in bed at 12:30 a.m. "CAEP means a lot to me. I think it is an excellent program," says Greenwood.

See CAEP, p. 5

MRS. CORA MALLOY: "I feel in this day and age the female must seek higher education to be a part of the competitive business world. (Photo by Karla Green)

Between jobs and families. Continuing Adult Education students still find time for college

Creative Phrase and Fable

A Short Story by Charles Burton The water was Wedgewood-blue from the bath beads he'd added. Arthur Frazier was taking his afternoon bath, trying not to think about his novel. Just as he reached over to get the shampoo from the tub's edge, he thought, "I need to get Minerva Scott in a bathtub scene somehow. First, however, she must conquer her fear of water," Frazier dropped the shampoo with a sigh, and sank down into the water so that only his head was visible.

Arthur had been writing a novel for most of his sixty-four years, yet he didn't have a word on paper. The novel centered around a beautiful woman who had grown up with Arthur. She was imaginary, yet as real to Arthur Frazier as anyone had been or ever would be.

As a child, Arthur had told his mother, "I've got a buddy and she's a girl. This extra cookie is for her, OK?" He'd take the cookie with him to the sandbox, where his friend waited. Sandy was her name (child of the sandbox that she was), and she loved cookies. Little did Arthur know that one day Sandy would grow into Minerva Scott, herione of his novel and his ticket to literary immorality.

Arthur's life continued. He did things like everyone else does. The novel, however, always stayed in the back of his mind, haunting him most of the time. During his senior prom in high school, he imagined describing Minerva dancing with a handsome suitor: "Flowing organdy and a beautiful white orchid accentuated this winsome wonder, the Cinderella of the ball. Her skin was translucent like finest china, her eyes resplendent like Japanese jade..." Arthur reveled in his beautiful thoughts about Minerva, yet felt punished because many dates and love affairs were ruined because of such thoughts. Arthur's unwitting mates became the persona of Minerva Scott-Scribner (she'd recently married a publishing heir-apparent). Arthur never married, though. For Arthur Frazier was married to his novel, and to Minerva Scott-

Reaching into the dairy counter at the grocery store, dusting his furniture, or seeing a plane land all made Arthur think about the novel. How to capture Minerva in all these settings, show her as a cross-sectional woman with feelings: these problems plagued Arthur often, making sleep his only time of realease from his avocation of writing. If he was lucky, Arthur wouldn't remember his dreams about the novel lucky, Arthur woulan trememor in a treatment as a subsect of the next morning. When he got out of bed, however, Arthur knew he'd dreamed about Minerva.

Arthur sat at his window at First Cattleman's National Bank and thought about the novel. "That daydreaming's outla aton. or vou've without a iob. Mr. Hemingway." He'd pank and thought about the novel. "Inat daydreaming's gotta stop, or you've without a job, Mr. Hemingway." He'd been stupid enough to tell his boss, Dr. Dunn, about the novel. Two weeks after he'd been reprimanded, Arthur was

As he received his pink slip, delivered personally from Dr. Dunn, Arthur imagined Minerva being fired from her job as a model, then selling apples on Fifth A venue to support her children and husband (his publishing company had gone out of business.) "She would do anything - anything - necessary to ensure her children received adequate nourishment for their hunger-wracked bodies," Arthur thought.

Arthur got out of the blue water without washing He sat down on the commode and dried himself off. The house was quiet. There was nothing to eat. As he sat there, the titles of the novel flashed through his mind; titles like The Sound and the Minerva Scott-Scribner (borrowed from Faulkner), or, best of all, The Collected Work of Arthur Frazier (his own creation. Yet when he sat down at his desk minutes later, title, story, and plot were forgotten. He could remember nothing except for sixty-four years of the same old yearning of wanting to write something and being unable to do so Arthur's sixty-fifth birthday came later that same year. He felt as though things were starting to "look up". He went down town to sign up for his Social Security, and listed his occupation as "fiction writer." He went later that week to get the license plates for his "66 Ford, and almost felt like shouting when he took the plates out of their white paper envelopes and saw that his new license number was AFM-655. Why, AFM certainly stood for Arthur Frazier and Minerva, and he was sixty-five years old. Maybe he was supposed to have waited this long before he could write

Arthur sat down at his typewriter that night, and met the same resistance in putting words down on paper as he always had. Finally, he began to jot down a poem, something he'd never tried before. Although he couldn't see the poem on the best-seller list, Arthur finally felt like a writer. Now, however, he was also a poet. His writing had diversified. Think of all the rhymingly wonderful things Minverva Scott-Standish (borrowed from Longfellow) could do now! Think of the iambic pentameter! Think of the work!

Creative Corner is a new feature of the HI-PO which will contain various types of creativity submitted by the students and faculty of HPC. Poetry, short stories, art work, photography, etc. can be submitted to the HI-PO office (room 219 Campus Center) or by sending it to Lewis Wheless, P.O. Box 3811, Campus mail.

Your Marine Representative will be available:

OCT. 7-8 10:00 A.M. - 4:00 P.M. CAMPUS CENTER

CAEP students budget time

TAMMY GREENWOOD However, she also says that she is forced to give up many things she wants to do because "I just can't do

Greenwood sees CAEP as giving her "an open door and a chance for growth".
She describes her fellow students as "having to be very dedicated to hack the schedule." She says she sees young and old in her classes. She feels that they "share a common goal of trying to get ahead."

Greenwood sets no limitations of her future after go into the fields of business or senior management." She describes her outlook as "in-

Greenwood says that she often feels separated from the life of day students and would like to visit the campus to learn more about life at the school from which she will receive her degree.

She is a member of the recently formed Advisory Committee on the campus of RJR. "It was set up as a means of information for the students involved in the CAEP," says Greenwood.

"We try to stay informed as to what is going on at to what is going on at HPC" she says. According to Greenwood, CAEP students received copies of the campus publications and are interested in becoming more of an intregal part of

In an election held September 21, the following people were elected to the CAEP Student Advisory Commit-tee, HPC Campus: David Barnes, Debra Bell, Virgil Gurney, Don Jones, Sandy Pugh, and Marilyn Robin-son. Bell and Gurney served on the Committee last year. Gurney says that the Committee will be mainly con-cerned with academic matters, such as determining what courses students would

Cast prepares for opening

ERIKA ALLION HI-PO Reporter

"It's going great... 'But-terflies are Free' is a show about everybody. It's a nice show for college students especially. Everyone can relate to the mother and son in the show as well as the budding romance between the two lead characters, Don and Jill," said David Ap-pleton, Director of the Tower Players' fall produc-

Rehearsals are going well. "We have a good range of stage experience in the cast, I only wish we had more people in the cast. . .it's a lot of work for the two leads." The only problem, says Appleton, is a shortage of peo-ple to finish building the set. So if anyone has even just a few hours of free time, Appleton says he could definitely use the help.

BOB CLARK AND PAM McHONE play the lead parts of Don Baker and Jill Tanner, respectively in BUTTERFLIES ARE FREE. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

"Butterflies Are Free," was a large hit on Broadway a few years ago. Appleton hopes its popularity will draw large, enthusiastic au-

The show opens Friday and runs Oct. 9, 15, & 16 in Memorial Auditorium. Tickets can be reserved at the box office.

*********

High Point College

Page 6 - HI-PO - Wednesday, October 6, 1982

SPORTS

Little says:

Strength lies in offense

After posting victories in ten of their first fourteen matches, including three wins over Division I schools, coach Nancy Little says she is pleased with the way her volleyball team has played but thinks that two of the four losses could have been avoided.

"I'm fairly pleased with the manner in which the season has progressed but I think that we should have won the matches against Wake Forest and South Carolina."

The Lady Panthers lost to USC in their second game of the season. Seven days later they came back to defeat the Gamecocks in the second meeting between the two teams.

The loss to Wake Forest saw both teams alternate taking the lead several times before the Deacons came away with a grueling fivegame victory. High Point failed to capitalize when the Wake coach was ejected midway through the final game.

This year's team has had to rely on its defense to carry it through much of the season. "Our major strength is the ability to keep the ball in play and not let it hit the ground. Last year's squad was mainly a serving team while this one has been a digging team."

Much of the team's success has come with the help of three freshmen. Cynthia Ismeal, a 5-8 hitter from Bolivia, has started throughout much of the season and has played excellently. Jackie Gandy, a 5-6 player from nearby Thomasville High School, and Anne Lopez, a 5-1 setter, have played the roles of split-starters.

Gandy was the Most Valuable Player in the Mid-State 3-A conference last year. Lopez comes to High Point from Caparra Heights, Puerto Rico.

"Each player performs with great teamwork. If we keep playing the way we have, we will have a great year," Lopez said.

As for the rest of the season, coach Little thinks that Guilford and defending champion Atlantic Christian will be the major competition for the conference title. "We have won both of our conference matches so far, including a victory over Guilford. If we can continue to play well, we can match the 6-0 conference record we had last year." Atlantic Christian defeated High Point in the first round of last year's tournament.

IN RECENT FIELD HOCKEY ACTION, players advance down field. (Photo by B.J.)

Judge rules against NCAA

Campus Digest News Service

The N.C.A.A. football contracts with the American Broadcast System and Turner Broadcast System have been voided by a U.S. District Judge Juan Burciaga of Albuquerque, NM.

The judge has ruled that the N.C.A.A. violated antitrust laws in negotiating the college football contracts. The University of Oklahoma and the University of Georgia had filed suit against the N.C.A.A. for the right to negotiate their own contracts.

The N.C.A.A. will probably appeal the ruling.

Athletes deteriorate slower

Campus Digest News Service

Working up a good swet on a regular basis may be as close as people will ever come to finding the fountain of youth.

In a Washington University study, researchers are finding that, as the years pass, masters athletes - cyclists and long distance runners over age 50 - may deteriorate at a slower rate than their inactive peers.

Researchers studied 16 aging athletes for three years, and although conclusive date is not yet available, preliminary findings have confirmed a relationship between a person's exercise habits and the rate of decline in cardiovascular function with age.

"We're looking at maximum oxygen uptake capacity — a measure of the cardiovascular system's ability to transport oxygen to the muscles," says professor of preventive medicine John Holloszy, M.D.

World-class runners such as Alberto Salazer and Craig Virgin have oxygen uptake capacities of 70 to 85 millitters per kilogram. Inactive seniors, ranging in age from 50 to 72, usually have capacities of about 30. Regardless of health, everyone experiences

Regardless of health, everyone experiences some decline in this capacity with age. The rate of that reduction is important because it may determine how one feels as age begins to sap strength and endurance. The greater the decline, the lower one's capacity for strenuous exercise.

Non-athletes experience an 8 to 10 per cent decline each decade. Most athletes show similar reductions, but this decline may be due to decreased training with age, Holloszy says.

In the masters athletes who have not decreased their training, oxygen uptake capacity often declines as little as 4 per cent per decade, indicating a slower decline in cardiac function.

The researchers say that the hearts of people who are inactive work less and less efficiently as the years go by, meaning the system is put under great strain during virtually every physical activity. A vicious cycle results because exercise then becomes too painful to endure, and the decline is accelerated. In the end, muscle function is impaired, the body breaks down, and the time comes to break out the rocking chair and

Previous studies have shown athletes to be a far more vigorous than the sedentary subjects, and their decline in exercise capacity to bemuch slower than that of nonathletes.

The study should mean something to the typically inactive, slightly overweight, beer-drinking American male. Not to mention his female counterpart.

drinking American male. Not to mention male female counterpart.

"A decline of 8 to 10 per cent per decade doesn't sould like much," says co-researcher James Hagberg, "innless you string together three or four straight decades at that rate. Then you have a total decline of 30 or 40 per cent, which is something you can definitely feel. Your cardiac function is impaired."

The slide into the rest home, however, is not inevitable.

Panther scoreboard

announced

PANTHER SCOREBOARD VOLLEYBALL

9/27 Lenior Rhyne/Gardner Webb 15-6, 15-7 won, 15-10, 15-18 lost 9/29 UNC-Charlotte/ Duke won 15-8, 15-6 lost 15-10, 15-11 SOCCER

9/25 Pembroke* 1-0 9/29 Elon* 1-1 10/2 FIELD HOCKEY
9/27 Davidson College
9/27 Davidson College
3-2
10/1 Radford 4-0
9/29 Wake Forest 2-1
WOMEN'S TENNIS
10/1 Mars Hill
College 8-1, won *denotes Carolinas Conference Match

Upcoming games posted

- UPCOMING GAMES
VOLLEYBALL
10/6 Pembroke/

Fayetteville
10/8-9 Francis Marion
Tournament
10/12 Lenoir Rhyne/Guilford*
SOCCER

10/6 NC State* 10/9 Campbell* 10/11 Wingate* FIELD HOCKEY

10/7 Converse*

10/8 Catawba*

10/12 Wake Forest

WOMEN'S TENNIS 0/6 Atlantic Christian* GOLF

10/11-12 Elon College Invitational *denotes home game

October Sports-

Fall sports: Only amusements?

These fall sports are sometimes viewed as mere you'll not see much if any ACC writing on these pages. amusements before the big ones--basketball the winter, TONGUE-IN-CHEEK DEPT: baseball in the spring-beging and swell the gym and the field with spectators. That is unfortunate. If you haven't been to any fall games yet, there are six matches to be held here during the next week. Two of which are Carolinas Conference matches. What an opportunity to see High Point College's fall sports at their best.

NO ACC HERE:

A friend of mine and I were talking recently about the HI-PO's Sports section, when he reccommended that we HPC sports writers should write about ACC Sports, which is what everyone's interested in. It's a reporter's obligation to inform his readers, which is what we try to do. I believe there's a glut of ACC information "out there" already, so

Which reminds me. Have you noticed the proliferate amount of bumperstickers and other souvenir propaganda these ACC schools churn out? Have you seen these things on the back of cars in Cooke Hall parking lot and elsewhere at HPC? Well, I have, and unless these people are alumni of their advertised schools, I think they should take their college business elsewhere. Not to mention that these bumperstickers with wolves and blue rams make one's car look pretty crummy. What's the best way to show your allegiance to HPC's Sports? Attend the games. And please, don't listen to me and transfer to Carolina, State, or Wake. How about drawing a purple panther, (which would match your blue ram or your red wolf, whichever the case may be) and pasting it onto your bumper0 Don't be a traitor.

CHARLES BURTON

suspends schools

pus Digest News Service

Three colleges have been suspended from the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for violations of N.A.I.A. rules.

The schools, Cameron University, Le-Moyne-Owen College, and Rutgers at Camden, were all suspended for using ineligible athletes on their basketball teams.

Le-Moyne-Owen was suspended for using a player for five years instead of four. Rutger's suspension was due to a mix-up while that school was switching from the smaller N.A.I.A. association to the larger schools organization, the N.C.A.A. Cameron University's admits its suspension was due to inadvertently allowing an ineligible student to play on the team.

Le-Moyne-Owen Rutgers both resigned from the N.A.I.A. following their suspension.

Foot-

1. Name the only freshman to finish in the top 10 in the 1981 statistical passing rank-

Who holds the NCAA record for most touchdowns scored in two consective games by an individual?

Who holds the NCAA single-game rushing record? 4. Who holds the single game rushing record?

5. Name the only team in the Atlantic Coast which has never played in a major bowl game?

6. West Virginia QB Jeff Hostetler is a transfer who once played at Faurot Field with his previous team. Name this team?

San Diego (NFL) drafted Missouri tight end Kellen Winslow in the first round of the 1979 draft after acquiring the choice from which team?

8. Which Big 8 school did not have a consensus All-American in the decade of the

9. Name the quarterback who holds the major college record for most touchdown passes in

10. Which player holds the NCAA record for most rushing yards gained in the tirst game of his career?

on 9-20-69 vs. Oklahoma. 10. Alan Thompson, 220 yds

9. Jim McMahon, BYU-47 in 8. Iowa State

7. Cleveland Browns 6. Penn State S. Virginia

Kansas-294 yards Cromwell, neloN Tech-356 yards 3. Eddie Lee Ivery, Georgia

(6 vs. East Carolina, 5 vs. Carolina-11 in 2 games in 1981 1. Doug Flutie, Boston College 2. Kelvin Bryant, North

Round-robin tourney held recently N.A.I.A.

The lady's tennis team participated in an all-day tournament at Mars Hill College on Oct. 2.

Nine teams represented at the event, and in "Round Robin" competition, each played 64 games. In number one singles, Anna Medina went three sets before losing to Gene Love of Carson Newman HPC's Lynn Sharkey, in number two singles, defeated Gail Ellison from Lander College in three sets. At number one doubles, Dori Johnson and Theresa Regnante defeated Mary Perry and Terry Bridges, number one doubles from Presbyterian College.

In team totals, the Lady Panthers were edged out of the number one position with a total of 195 points to Presbyterian's 197. The team's last home match will be today at 2 p.m.

The season record is now

USF drops basketball program

The University of San

Francisco's board of trustees voted to drop its basketball program due to abuse by alumni members.

Alumni members apparently ignored warnings to discontinue the illegal practices they were engaging in. The president of the university, Rev. Jon Lo Schiavo, said that these people believed there was no way to maintain a good basketball program without

Rev. Schiavo said the university could no longer afford to have its reputation tarnished by the allegations being made against it. The University of San Francisco has been investigated for rules violations in the past, and has served on probation as a result of previous N.C.A.A. probes. While the univesity was on probation, problems arose again when the N.C.A.A. found rules infrations, and placed them on a second year of probation. Following this incident, the head basketball coach and the director of athletics were

The current problems surfaced when it was discovered that an alumni member had paid wages to an athlete for work he did not do. Other possible rules violations occured with students who were being recruited for the basketball

Basketball was the only program affected by the board of trustees vote. Other men's intercollegiate and women's intercollegiate programs will continue.

The decision stunned many of the University of San Francisco's followers. The university has been national champions, and a strong conti contender

HIGH POINT BOWLING LANES HIGH POINT BOWLING CLUB Team Leaders L Handicappers Gutter Duster Liz, Mel & Ging High Team Game (Scratch) Handicappers 460 High Team Series (Scratch) High Team Game (Hdcp.) High Team Series (Hdcp.) Handicappers Gutter Duster 1400 617 Gutter Duster 1910 Individual Buck Hall High Average (Male) 163 (Female) Liz Crawford 153 High Series (Male) 519 Buck Hall Susan Durbano 502 (Female) High Game (Male) (Female) All 175 Games Ruck Hall 192 Susan Durbano 176 Buck Hall 192 Susan Durbano

Country Roads of High Point College Village Shopping Center

Live music Wednesday - Sunday

Advance tickets now on sale for Lee Greenwood coming November 11th 21 and Over Private Club - Members and Guests Only

Strictly

Classified

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad, type the ad double-spaced and turn it in to the HI-PO by Friday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any add turned in after this deadline will be held until the next issue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no designation, the ad will run for only one week.

Employment On-campus employment

Title: Newspaper delivery person
Description: part-time --one person needed to deliver newspapers to on-campus resident students. Hours: flexible Salary:

negotiable
Address: Greensboro Daily
News, phone 882-6229

Off-campus employment: Title: bartender Description: part-time – needed for work during furniture market. Must be 21. Hours: negotiable Salary: ? Address: Top of the Mart – tell them Art Prillaman sent

VOII.

Off-campus employment: Title: Carpet Cleaning assistant.

Description: part-time - needed for assistant in moving furniture and general carpet cleaning.

Hours: mostly afternoons

Salary: $3.35/hr.
Address: Touch of Beauty,
145 W. Lexington Ave., High Point, N.C. 883-2514
Call ahead for an appointment.

Off-campus employment

Title: general laborer
Description: part-time – assist in setting up showroom, moving furniture, etc. One of two persons needed throughout the fall Furniture Market.
Hours: flexible Salary: $4lnr.
Address: Mr. Tom Hobgood,

882-3349, Please identify yourself as an HPC student.

Lost and Found

FOUND - Calculator that can be claimed by identifying it. Stop by the Admissions Office and see if it's yours.

Merchardise
FOR SALE: A new, Wilson,
Chris Evert Autographed
tennis racket with 4%, "grip.
$35. Contact Teresa Sweatman, P.O. Box 3621, Campus mail

Announcements

Test dates:
Foreign Service written exam
- Dec. 4
GRE test - Dec. 11, registration closes Nov. 5.
LSAT test - Dec. 4, registration closes Nov. 4.
GMAT test - Jan. 29, 1983, registration closes Dec. 27.
Test booklets for these tests are available in the Career

Organizational Meeting Dates for Men's Intramurals Announced.

Soccer-Thursday, October, 7, 12 Noon Track-Thursday, October 14, 12 Noon

All meetings take place in Meeting Room 2 of the Campus Center.

more action

Campus Digest News Service
Is is pressure from the Moral Majority? Or just a switch in the fickle preferences of the televisionwatching audience?

Whatever the reason, this year's fall television schedule is certainly a departure from last year's.

This year's lineup calls for action adventure, not set. The giggling blondes of seasons past will not be bouncing around the tube this fall. Instead, the new characters will consist mostly of Tom Selleck look-alikes in shows such as "Mast Houston," "Gavilan," and "Tales of the Gold Monkey."

Private eyes are back in demand on the video rating scale. Night-time soap operas are on the wane, with even the front-runner "Dallas" lacking the audience it used to have. "Dallas" and "Dynasty" return, as the two most popular evening soaps, along with "Falcon Crest."

Situation comedies will have a couple of newcomers (but few last the season.) Several old favorites will be returning, including Sally Struthers in her own 'Gloria' show, as well as Bob Newhart, Meredith Baxter-Birney, and Patty Duke Astin in their own comediws.

"M.A.S.H." returns for its final year, with the last espisode being the most highly sought-after television commercial time in history. "Taxi." another popular comedy, returns but on a different network in what could be NBC's best move in years.

Oct. 8 at 8:00 p.m. in the Old Student Center. Admission $1.

Artifacts

Concerts:

Oct. 17 - Heart with CHEAP TRICK at Hampton Roads, Va. Tickets $9.50/$10.50.
Oct. 31 - VAN HALEN at Hampton Roads, Va. Tickets $10.50/$11.50
Oct. 19 - Glenn Frey at the Atlanta Fox

Theatre. Tickets $11.25.
Oct. 10 - B.B. King at the Omni in Atlanta.

Tickets $8/$9.
Oct. 20 - CROSBY, STILLS AND NASH at the Omni in Atlanta. Tickets $11.50/$13.50.
Oct. 9 - Marshal Crenshaw at the Agora

Ballroom in Atlanta. Tickets $5.96.
Oct. 15 - R.E.M. at the Agora Ballroom in Atlanta. Tickets info unknown.
Oct. 15 - ROBERTA FLACK in Spirit Square in Charlotte. Ticket info unknown.

Oct. 23 - MIKE CROSS in Spirit Square in Charlotte. Ticket info unknown. Oct. 21 - CROSBY, STILLS AND NASH in the

Greensboro Coliseum. Tickets $10.50/$12.50. Oct. 21 – JUDAS PIREST at the Scope in Norfolk, Va. Tickets $9.50/$10.50. Oct. 16 – HEART with CHEAP TRICK at the Roanoke Civic Center. Tickets $9.50/$10.50. Oct. 30 – VAN HALEN at the Roanoke Civic Center. Tickets $10.50/$11.50. Nov. 5 – HEART in the Greensboro Coliseum.

Ticket info unknown.

Oct. 8, 9 and 15, 16 - BUTTERFLIES ARE FREE in High Point College Memorial Auditorium. Tickets $4 at the door, $3 in advance, $2 for students, senior citizens,

*****

Teen market overlooked

Campus Digest News Service

Planning office.

Teenagers are a maketing area often overlooked by business. Although makers of records, movies, video games and pimple creams direct a great deal of their advertising towards teens, other companies mostly ignore this buying sector.

But teens have a lot of disposable income that is being ignored as well. Most teenagers hold part-time jobs, and many receive sllowances also. These earnings are for the most part almost entirely disposable income, since few teens contribute to their family's rent or utility bills.

But some companies believe that they shouldn't specifically address teenagers in their advertising campaigns. They feel that teenagers are intelligent enough to follow the same advertising as adults, and that it would be insulting them to treat them as an entirely separate market.

Maybe so, but you sure couldn't convince the makers or Clearasil.

Ellington's Florist
1122 EAST LEXINGTON AVENUE

889-4748
Specializing in cut flower arrangements,

corsages, and boutonnieres.
Friday Flowers — $3.00
FREE DELIVERY TO
HIGH POINT COLLEGE

High Point College's

"Working for a better informed campus"

High Point, N.C. 27262

October 13, 1982

INSIDE

Moehlmann.

Sports, p. 6

Run-off for president

Class officers elected

BY TABBIE NANCE HI-PO Reporter

Freshmen class elections were held October 6 and 7. All officers were elected with the exception of the freshmen class president. A run-off election, to be held October 12 and 13, will determine if Stan Potter or Danny Sparling is to be named president.

Running unopposed, Peggy Draper was elected to the office of vice-president. A communications major, Draper is from Milford, Delaware. Having been on the student council while in high school, she looks forward to helping the freshmen get off to a good start. "I want to help develop an active class because our class has a lot of good, enthusiastic workers.

The four legislator posi-tions were filled by Lisa Blake, Barbara Hurley, Anne Thomson, and Tammy

A home furnishings market major. Blake is from Mount Gilead, North Carolina. Blake said she was very excited about the new position" and hopes "for support from the entire freshmen class."

"I hope the freshmen will get involved and if they want something done," Hurley said, "I hope they will not just complain but will tell someone who can do something." A native of Seaford Delaware, Hurley is majoring in communica-

Thomson, from Asheville, North Carolina, said she ran for the office of legislator because she wanted to get involved. "I want to be a good relay between the students and the student government," said Thomson. Thomson is majoring in accounting.

See Class Officers, p. 3

15 year project complete New airport opens

CRYSTAL L HEDGECOCK

If you're flying home for Fall Break, don't go to the same old airport you're used

It will be closed. The new Regional Airport opened for business during the past weekend.

The $65 million threelevel terminal is built on 200 acres, covers 312,000 square feet and has parking space for 2.500 cars

The building will house security station mine airlines: Altair, Best, snack bars Delta, Eastern, Piedmont, areas for each. Tennessee, United, Wheeler There are a and Aeromech.

departing passengers and Union N the lower level serves arrivbranch and ing passengers. The third restaurant.

level is below ground and houses maintenance and ser vice facilities.

The ticket counters various shops, restaurants and bars are on the uppe

The northern end of the building serves Eastern, Tennessee, Wheeler and Best airlines. The southern end serves Piedmont, Delta, United and Altair. Aeromech only has offices at this time

The two departure con courses are designed with security stations, restrooms, snack bars and waiting

There are several stand-up bars and two cocktail

The building is a long, rectangular-shape and is divided into quarters for the a raw bar serving oysters and other seafood. There is also a gift shop, a First The upper level serves also a gift shop, a First Union National Bank

Bells cease chiming

ROBERTS HALL'S chimes will ring again. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

But they'll ring again...

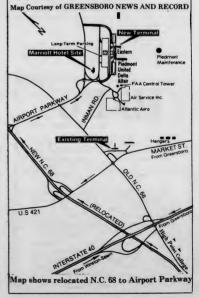

BY SUSAN WARRICK HI-PO Reporter

There has been something missing at High Point College the past two weeks. The chimes, which usually greet us everyday, have not been ringing. Mr. Ken Bulla, the business manager at HPC, gave the reason for the absence of the chimes: "It appears that someone deliberatly pulled one of the wires which led to the speakers, according to the technician who fixed the chimes two weeks ago."

If the chimes are fixed, why aren't they ringing? "The reason for the lack of music this past week," stated Bulla, "is because of the repair work being done on the steeple. This work should be completed by this week. So, once again, the chimes will be "telling" us the time each day.

Editorials.

The Hi-Po is distributed on campus by Alpha Phi Omega, a National Service fraternity. This is the fifth year they have provided this service.

Crystal L. Hedgecock Editor-in-Chie	f
Lewis Wheless Associate Editor	r
Scott Morgan Advertising and	d
Business Manage	r
Charles BurtonSports Edito	r

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the ex-pressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO.

The HI-PO welcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed, and an address must be included. If warranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as en necessary.

The devil in Gatlinburg

For the tourist, Gatlinburg, Tennessee, does not exist in the real world; it is a carnival, a fairyland, a place something like Thomas Mann's Venice-"The incomparable, the fabulous, the life-nothing-else-in-the-world." It is a town of almost purely hedonisitic escape. One eats while in Gatlin-burg, eats steaks brought in from Kansas and lobster brought in from somewhere and candy made there in a great variety of shapes and flavors. It is a town of desire. The tourist's transient acquisitive enthusiasms are stimulated by a most incredibly vulgar collection of junk.

by a most increasiny valgar conection of juna.

For the resident, however, Gatlinburg possesses all the vicissitudes of modern life, all the passions, all the struggles for power, status, happiness and wealth, especially wealth. Babies are born there, children reared, the dead buried. And now the Devil himself is in Gatlinburg.

Unlike his ancestors, the modern Gatinburger does not enjoy the benefits of isolation. He has no protection from anxiety. The drive for possessions has infiltrated his soul as thoroughly as it has infiltrated the souls of all Americans. and the mania of accumulating things faster and taxes and inflation can make them too expensive to afford withers and buffets him as surely as it does everyone else. Nor is the resident protected from lust. The rate of divorce is increasing as husbands and wives find that their sexual desire for another man or woman is not arrested by social strictures or concern for the welfare of their children.

All this my wife and I learned while we lived in Gatlinburg a few years ago. That these problems have increased in in-tensity and frequency was made clear by a recent visit. We looked up old friends who told us about other friends, all of whom, it seemed, had divorced their spouses, or were in the process of doing so. They told us about "drugs" in the school, teachers fired and hired, political struggles and intrigues, those who had moved away, a few births and a few deaths. And they told us about the witches who had lived in our old house

Now, not long after we had moved out of that house and had gone to Georgia, my wife and I went back by there, out of curiosity and nostaligia. We found the same little green house set in a small valley, surrounded by hills and hundreds of beautiful treees, mostly magnificent tuplip poplars. It was the same quiet, somewhat rustic place it had been when we lived there, a place where the pileated woodpecker made raucus the day and the whippoorwill softened and made romatic the night. The only prominent difference was a child's swin set, brighly colored, in the backyard. We were Apparently the people with the swing set moved out and the witches moved in sometime after that. Our friends could not be certain about the details, but they did know that people began to notice strange things happening. Rumors circulated. Finally, a local high school boy sneaked up to the house late one night, looked in the window, and ed up to the house late one night, looked in the window, and as wa black mass being performed. He saw the strange paraphernalia used in such ceremonies, including a dead chicken. What effect this eyewitness' story had on the populace is unknown. Soon thereafter, apparently, a human death occurred during a black mass. The police came, made arrests, and so the coven was broken up; at least it moved out of the populace of the coven was broken up; at least it moved out of "our" house.

It is generally true that the two opposing poles or religious fanaticism draw sustenance from and grown upon one another. The psychology which produces the ranting "man of God"—the James Joneses and Jerry Falwells-produces the follower of Satan. We should not be surprised, the state of the saturation in the surprised. therefore, that an increase in the number of Devil worshippers accompanies an increase in the number of "charismatic" believers. Nor should we be surprised when we find side-by-side on a fanatic's living room wall an African black-magic mask and a Christian crucifix.

I am not prepared to say, however, that such a relation-ship exists in Gatlinburg, Tennessee. I am not prepared to say that the real Devil lives there.

Marion Hodge Assistant Professor of English

Searchfor newdean underway ADT keeps busy

BY SUSAN WARRICK HI-PO Reporter

The search committee for a new dean has been hard at work this year.

This committee consists of six faculty members which include: Dr. Fred Yeats, Dr. James Stitt, Dr. John Gabriele, Dr. Charles Futrelle and Mrs. Jane Burton. April Callahan, a student of High Point College, is also a member.

is also a member.

The committee began its search by sending out a questionnaire to the faculty,

Yeats said. This inquiry sought specific qualifications in which the faculty felt were necessary in a dean. When the answers were received, a summary was made.

The position of dean was then advertised. Nominations were solicited from different college presidents. Application deadline has been set for October 11, Yeats said.

After the deadline, Yeats said the committee will then begin work on the applications received. The applicants will be narrowed down to a small number, which will be screened. A second screening will follow, which will narrow the margin to an even smaller number. An interview with the remaining applicants will then take place. And, from this group, a new dean will tien take place. And, from this group, a new dean will hopefully be selected. Dr. Lucht, who appointed the members of the search committee, will be working with the committee throughout the process. A new dean is expected to take the position as soon as January and as late as June 1 1000

BY SHERRI HART Special to the HI-PO

The sisters of ADT have been very busy since the beginning of school.

In September, ADT completed various service projects. During Parents' Weekend sisters helped register parents and assisted with the informal tea at the President's home. ADT helped out with the children's corner at Day In the Park. A group of sisters visited their adopted grandparents at the Presbyterian Home and the Evergreen facility. Plans are underway for a student directory which will include both campus and day students. The sisters sent $100 to the Christian Children's Fund during September, also.

Septemore, aiso.

ADT has had three very successful open houses. The sisters would like to welcome the following girls to the circle of Christian fellowship: Jennifer Burroughs, Lisa Swing, Karen Bishoff, Ginny Dunn, Marja Erickson, Kelly Lambert, Kelley Brisentine, June Craft, Sheila Craig, Selwyn Heintz, Laura Vestal, Susan Warrick and Alicia Wirght.

On Oct. 25-27, the sisters will be selling Ghostagrams. These will be paper ghosts with a sucker attached The Halloween greetings will sell for 25¢ and all proceeds will go to UNICEF.

at 1982 graduation

Moehlmann honored with award

Courtesy of HIGHPOINTS

Dr. John Moehlmann, assistant professor of English, received the first Meredith Clark Slane Distinguished Teaching - Service Award during graduation May 2.

In making the presentation Mrs. Slane said, "No better commendation of a teacher can be obtained than that of his students who have said, 'He creates a desire for learning through his unique teaching techniques and enthusiasm for teaching. He encourages honesty and truth in writing in a refreshing manner. His positive insights into life, in this basically pessimistic world, help his students find that light at the end of the tunnel that gives meaning to life."

Moehlmann was formerly a high school teacher in the Knoxville area, and later served as a teaching assistant at the University of Tennessee. He taught at the University of South Carolina-Florence and was affiliated with the Division of Continuing Education at East Carolina University.

Moehlmann is a graduate of Lenoir Rhyne College, Hickory, with a bachelor's degree in English. He received his master's degree from Appalachian State University and his doctorate from the University of Tennessee.

The Meredith Clark Slane Distinguished Teaching-service Award is funded by Slane Hosiery Mills, founded by Mrs. Slane's husband, the late Willis H. Slane. Mrs. Slane remains active in the business, and is well known for her involvement in community affairs.

DR. JOHN MOEHLMANN received the first Meredith Clark Stane Distinguished Teaching-Service Award. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

Class officers

A business administration major from Statesville, North Carolina, Riggs was active in student council asked what she hopes to do as legislator Riggs said, "I would like to aid the student government in solving problems on campus."

TAMMY RIGGS

Tania Faizi, a political science major, was elected as the freshmen class judicial representative. Living in High Point, Faizi is a commuting student. "As a judicial representative I want to be fair and look at every situation totally objectively."

TANIA FAIZI

DON'T FORGET to vote today at lunch and dinner for freshman class president.

Fall Break begins at 5 p.m. Friday, Oct. 15. Dorms will close at 6 p.m.

Dorms will reopen at 12 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 24. Classes resume Oct. 25.

Hi-Po Staff

Features Editor. Karla Green
News Editor. Pam York
Reporters Erika Allion, Donnie Brower,
Peggy Draper, Thomas Grana,
Karen Hernandez, Mark Phelps,
Tabbie Nance Susan Warick
Tana Parker

Photographers .... Marisa Firpi, Bill Johnson

Involved in action recently

Staffer doubles as officer

Editor's Note: "W.G. Evans," who is mentioned in the following article, is W. Gart Evans, Director of Alumni Affairs at High Point College.

Point College.

Courtesy of the High Point Enterprise
BY JEFF HERRIN
Enterprise Staff Writer

A reserve officer with the High Point Police Dept. today was identified as the man who exchanged shots with an armed robbery suspect Tuesday night.

Police Chief John Faircloth said in a statement to the press that Reserve Officer W.G. Evans wounded Gary Lionel Carter, reportedly of Raonoke, Va., after Carter allegedly opened fire behind a church on Westchester Drive.

Carter has been moved out of the intensive care unit at High Point Memorial Hospital and is listed in satisfactory condition. Since Carter apparently is improving. Faircloth decided to release the name of the officer involved in the shooting.

In the event of a fatality, the officer would not have been identified, in accordance with a policy adhered to by the High Point Police Dept.

In his statement,

În his statement, Faircloth said that Evan, Faircloth said that Evans was en route to the police department to begin a tour of volunteer duty when he heard a call in reference to an armed robbery at Peppi's Pizza Den on the radio. Evans, who was in uniform at the time, offered to assist in the investigation.

Witnesses at the scene told police they had seen a man fleeing from the restaurant on N. Main Street. evans and other officers began combing the area near Westchester Drive and Idol Street on foot.

Evans saw Carter lying near a pile of brush in a field behind Westchester Baptist Church, according to Faircloth's statement.

"When confronted, Carter fired his gun, a 22-caliber revolver, at the officer," the statement read. "Evans promptly returned fire, striking the suspect in the upper left chest area. The suspect immediately was taken into custody and removed by ambulance to High Point Memorial Hospital for treatment."

Carter is expected to be charged with armed robbery and assault on a law enforcement officer today. Faircloth said other charges are pending in connection with the incident.

"I am pleased to announce the based on the information available, it appears that Officer E vane conducted himself not only in a lawful manner, but also in a very professional manner, Faircloth said. "By employing techniques acquired through training and experience, he avoided injury to himself and his fellow officers and used only that force necessary to subdue the suspect."

In a report on the robber, police said a man entered Peppi's Pizza Den about 8:30 p.m. Tuesday. He reportedly asked for change then held a gun to the cashier's face and demanded the money from the cash

Police said the man fled with a "small amount" of cash, but would not specify how much. The gunman ran for about half a block to a 1966-model station wagon, according to witnesses. The suspect apparently had difficulty getting into the car, however, and opted to run toward Westchester Drive. Ten to 15 minutes after the robbery was reported, Carter allegedly exchanged shots with

Police recovered a .22-caliber pistol, an unspecified amount of cash and a hunting knife from the

The station wagon involved in the incident was reported stolen from a parking lot in Rock Hill, S.C., Tuesday afternoon. No mention of charges involving auto larceny has been made.

Although the State Bureau of Investigation was called into the case originally, Faircloth said there is no evidence that Evans acted improperly Tuesday night. Faircloth also commended the reserve officer program in general.

"Many citizens are not aware of the dedicated volunteer officers who give so much of their time and effort to the cause of crime control in High Point and other cities," he said. "Officer Evans is a fine exampple of the citizen/officer.

"He has, without monetary compensation, undergone training, qualified under strict guidelines to use police equipment (including firearms) and is fully certified and empowered to act as a police officer of the city.

"We are grateful for the services of our reserves and support Officer Evans and his actions in this case without reservation." A review

Play offers subtle humor

"BUTTERFLIES ARE FREE" opened last weekend in the High Point College Memorial Auditorium. The play stars HPC students Bob Clark and Pam McHone. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

BY ERIKA ALLION HI-PO Reporter

The Play "Butterflies are Free" is a nostalgic one. A young blind man named Don Baker is struggling to make it on his own in New York City. There, he meets a flowerchild named Jill Taner, and as stories go, they fall in love to live happily ever after. But, it's what happens between their first meeting and the sentimental ending that makes it a popular production.

Bob Clark, a junior at HPC, plays a very believable Don Baker. Clark's experience in theatre is certainly seen in this production. His character is full of energy and life and he carefully brings in the subtle humor in Pam McHone plays the role of Jill Tanner, an insecure young woman who can't commit herself to anything... least of all to a man. Miss McHone doesn't look comfortable on stage, and her dialogue often seems forced. But her inexperience sets her character apart from Clark's, and in a way...it works quite well.

The first act was a delight, I forgot about writing this critique and just sat and investigation of the proposed myself. Unfortunately, the second half of the show dragged slowly along. The actors seemed less sure of themselves and the spontaneity disappeared completely.

But the cleverness of the author and the enthusiasm of the actors make "Butterflies are Free," a show worth going to. I think everyone will appreciate its subtle humor and its lesson.

Faculty visit historic town for festival

BY PAMELA YORK

HI-PO Reporter Historic Jonesborough, Tenn. was the site of the Tenth annual National Storytelling Festival Oct. 1-3. The event, which featured 50 storytellers, is intended to promote and encourage the oral tradition of literature. Ms. Shirley Rawley, who is Chairman of the English Department at High Point College and who attended the three-day festival, said that over 2,000 people were presented for the event.

Rawley noted that the growing popularity of storytelling stems from the desires of families and communities to keep the old stories from being lost.
"People have a need to know their history, roots, and tradition," she said. "It makes us feel closer to our past, and storytelling serves as a connector."

The featured storytellers were of diverse backgrounds, and their stories were not limited by boundaries or time. Rawley said, "Each person who came had his own type of tale to tell based on his own background."

Ms. Alice Sink, who is Director of the HPC Writing Center and who also attended the festival, noted, "They had people whose stories were in the form of songs, myths, and folkfore." One of the storytellers, Brother Blue, was particularly interesting. "he had bells on his fingers, blue hair, and a multicolored, ribboned costume, and he talked about Willy Shakespeare," said Rawley. Among the other topics were long songs, Canadian tales, African tales, deep South tales, and ghost tales.

"I believe that since the beginning of man, one of his greatest desires was to tell a story. There has never been a time when stories were not told." Rawley said. "Through things like the storytelling festival, I think the interest in storytelling will keep it a growing art form."

WHILE IN JONESBOROUGH, HPC faculty visited the Chester Inn. The inn was built in the late 1790's and is Jonesborough's oldest frame building. The old inn included among its many notable guests Tennesse's three U.S. presidents: Andrew Jackson, James K. Polk and Andrew Jockson, James K. Polk and Andrew

Creative A woodcut by Marisa Firpi

How do I spell relief? M-U-S-I-

BY JANET GIBBONS

Special to the HI-PQ
Remember the good old days when you could buy a brand new album and still get change from your five dollar bill? As we all know, those days are gone. There is a source of relief, though, for the "record buying blues" -- the Main Street branch of the High Point Public Library.

The library has an audio-visual center that is well stocked with a wide variety of albums. High Point College students may gain access to the collection through a non resident card. The card is available to High Point College students at no cost with presentation of a current High Point College ID. It is valid for one year. A non-resident application card is available at the check-out

The albums are listed in the card catalog by artist and title, but it is much more fun to browse. The collection is divided into two basic groups - regular albums and special circulation. The first group is considerably larger and albums in this group may be checked out for three weeks at a time. There is no limit on the number of regular albums which can be borrowed at one time. Included in the regular group are opera, ballet, con-certos, jazz, humor, and popular albums. The special circulation albums are ones that are either new to the charts or fairly new to the library's collection. These albums may be checked out for one week at a time and only five special circulation albums may be checked out at one time.

Carolyn Lain, a member of the audi-visual center staff, says, "The album collection is used quite a bit. With the economy like it is now more people are coming to the library Despite their frequent use, the albums are in surprisingly good shape. Another nice feature of the audio-visual center is that, although they can't make any guarantees, the library staff accepts recommendations for additions to the collection. Request forms are available at the audio-visual center and the staff will let you know if your requested album is added.

To arouse your curiosity, I'll name a few of the artists that are available at the library, but keep in mind that it would take almost all the space available in the Hi-PO to give a complete list. These are just a few -The Beatles, Van Morrison, The Doors, The Pretenders, Bruce Springsteen, Renaissance, Carly Simon, Yes, The Byrds, Emerson Lake and Palmer, Oscar Peterson, Count Basie, The Band, Jackson Browne, The Clash, The Grateful Dead, Jimi Hen-drix, Jethro Tull, Joan Jett, Pink Floyd, The Police, Blue Oyster Cult, and The Rolling

The collection is accessable on Mondays and Fridays from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays from 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m., and on Satur-days from 8:00 a.m. until noon.

If you'd like to hear an album before you break a ten dollar bill to buy it, or if you simply enjoy music, the Main Street branch of the High Point Public Library is the best deal in town. Happy Hunting!

Catholicism featured in college t.v. series

Courtesy of CAROLINA

By Mary Clare Coyne Educational television is nothing new. However, filming the inside of a Catholic Church as well as taping five interviews with a Catholic priest for a religion course is new - especially at High Point College where "Christian Denominations in America, I" is being taught.

By tuning in Cablevision High Point-Jamestown. Channel 16, viewers can see and hear Atonement Father Peter Tomanino, pastor of Christ the King parish, discuss such topics as the sacraments, Catholic Church history, athority in the Church, and the Catholic position on social and moral

The one-credit hour course, taught by Dr. Earl Crow, who also teaches the curse on campus, began airing on Sept. 7 and will run through Dec. 15. The course consists of two meetings on campus and 12 half-hour programs aired four times a week. At the end of each week's pro gram, the program from the previous week is repeated.

The first six programs deal with Catholicism. Greek Orthodoxy and the beginning of Protestantism will follow. In the Catholic segments. Father Tomanio is interviewed for 15 minutes followed by 15 minutes of instruction from Dr. Crow

In the final segment on Catholicism, the television cameras went to Christ the King Church to film Father Tomanio celebrating Mass. Later his voice was dubbed in giving an explanation of the stages of the celebration. An explanation of the tabernacle, the altar, and the basic layout of the church was also included in the segment.

The college is not sure just how many people watched the first course televised by the institution. Dr. Crow said he has heard from a number of people that they have seen all or some of the programs. teaching the course via televi-

Besides receiving credit for taking the course, other students received credit for taping it. Dr. William DeLeeuw, director of Communications for the English Department at High Point College, trains students how to use the videotape equipment used to tape the course. "the TV station is a learning experience for them,"he said. 'The students worked on the program by taping it, editing it, and airing it."

Both Dr. Crow and Dr. DeLeeuw agreed that the taping went well and hope for further success in their teaching via television.

Film considered waste

Campus Digest News Service Many of the reviews on this season's latest release. Beastmaster, have been, shall we say, a little less than flattering. Some of the more 'kind' summations have called it such nasty things as 'garbage - pure garbage -- a complete waste!" Others were a bit more liberal in their opinion, comparing the movie to 'an unpalatable horse product; trash, nothing but trash!' And one critic from the Denver Post actually went as far as to call it 'the worst motion picture of the year, if not the decade!'

Mind you, these are just a select few of the many reviews that have since been written on this particular movie, but the feeling among film critics seems to be mutual: 'Beastmaster' stinks, with a capital 'S'. But an 'unpalatable horse by-product'?

Beastmaster' (presumably in the medical era) during a ritualistic child sacrifice, where we meet the evil instigator himself. Priest Mayax, along with his band of witches and goblins. During the sacrifice, one of the village locals manages to steal one of the little tikes, who just so happens to be Dar (Marc Singer), the firstborn son of

As Dar grows into See "Beastmaster," p. 8

882-2919

1616 N. Main St. Mon-Thur 11-11 High Point Fri & Sat 11-Midnight CLOSED SUNDAY

High Point College Page 6 - HI-PO - Wednesday, October 13, 1982

SPORTS

Soccer team leads conference

BY MARK PHELPS HI-PO Reporter

With only a third of the season remaining, High Point's soccer team leads the Carolinas Conference with a record of 3-0-1, and an overall 6-5-1 record. Much of the Panthers' play has been erratic and coach Woody Gibson believes this has been caused by a number of

"Part of our problem lies in the amount of young players, but then this team has played twelve matches this year and they really can't be considered freshmen anymore."

Injuries have also played an important role in the inconsistency. One of the major setbacks was the loss of John Kennedy, a talented freshman scorer who is out for the season with a broken bone in his foot.

"There have been a lot of people playing hurt," Gib-son said, "and it is just now that many of the nagging injuries are clearing up.

The defense has continued to be the Panthers' major strength throughout the year. In the 19 goals that have been allowed, 13 have been against North Carolina. North Carolina State, and Wake Forest, all Division I schools. This leaves only six goals given up among the other nine matches.

"On our level, there isn't a better defensive club in the noted Gibson, knew early on that the defense would have to provide because we are not a high scoring team.

The lack of offense was exhibited in their last four matches as the Panthers were able to score only three goals against Pfeiffer, Pembroke State, and Elon.

In the last game against North Carolina State, High Point fell behind 4-0 early, but then played the wolf-pack, which is ranked in the top 20 to a standstill for the last sixty minutes.

"We can't afford to get behind anyone and have to play to catch up," Gibson said, "This puts more pressure on playing hard at the start. We didn't have this problem last year.'

With five matches remaining to be played, coach Gibson has three objectives to reach before the season ends. "I would like to win the remaining games, take the conference champion-ship, and qualify for the district playoffs. I think we are capable of accomplishing each of these goals."
High Point has qualified for the playoffs for the last eight years and played in the last two finals.

Coach Steele comments on team's victory

FIELD HOCKEY players putt to victory (Photo by B.J.)

CHARLES BURTON Sports Editor

Kitty Steele was ecstatic over the field hockey team's 9-0 victory over Converse College, which boosted the team's record to 5-6.

"Several girls scored goals for the first time during the Converse game," Steele remarked. Girls scoring during that game were Beth Christian, Lynn Whitaker, Helen O'Brien, Lou Taylor, and Teile Hadsock. Carol Bidermann and Carol Williams both scored two

The field hockey team appears to be just that-a group of players who rely on ach other for their success. According to Steele, there are no "star players." When seven people score goals in a game, it really is a team effort," she remarked.

With only five games left in the regular season, Steele feels the team will continue to improve.

"I believe our score for the season for right now could just as well have been 8-3, 9-2, instead of 5-6. We've lost by narrow margins and had some double overtimes where one shot was made after ninety minutes.

"Our greatest margin of loss was 0-4 against Duke,' Steele remarked. didn't play badly, slower.

Steele looked back on the season thus far and noted two problems that had slowed the team somewhat.

'We've had several injuries on top of a lack of offensive puch. The team's more comfortable now; the girls know each other much better."

The story behind field hockey is that of a "sports migration.

"Field hockey is not traditionally a Southern sport," Steele said. It's played pre-dominantly in the North, especially in Philadelphia and Maryland. For that rea son, many of our players are from the North."

Steele said she continues to be pleased with the team's effort and attitude and looked forward to a strong finish as the regular seaso ends on Oct. 30.

Majors club stays active

The Health, Physical Education and Recreation Ma jors club have elected officers for the school year 1982-83. The officers are: Randy Aaron, pres.; Jeff Blank, vice-pres.; Lynn Fortaleza, sec.; and Lenora Compton, treas.

At the first meeting, Gary Burnett of the High Point Recreation Dept. spoke on job opportunities and what one should do to get a job in recreation. He also spoke on how well High Point's recreation programs are doing this year.

On Oct. 8, Randy Aaron, Jeff Blank, Lenora Compton, Butch Bowser, Jono Jack-son, Jon Richardson and Randy Heckler attended the 1982 Student Majors Association Convention at Winston-Salem State University.

At the convention several P.E. majors from schools around the state gave discussions and made presentations on different activities such as towel-volleyball, karate, team handball, octopus tag and other sports. High Point College's majors pre-sented Carolina 'razzle dazzle" football

All schools participated in each activity and it was an educational experience.

The majors are ordering sweatsuits and jackets for purchase by all majors and will soon be on campus.

Other activities planned by the majors are: running the concession stand at HPC men's and women's basketball games and a New Games Festival in November which Gary Heaton is pre-

Upcoming games posted

UPCOMING GAMES VOLLEYBALL 10/14 Atlantic Christian SOCCER

Atlantic Christian FIELD HOCKEY Univ. of Richmond SCOREBOARD

VOLLEYBALL UNC-G won 10-15, 10/14 15-13, 15-2 Elon 15-13, 15-5

10/6

Pembroke won

13-15, 15-8, 15-9 Fayetteville won 15-10, 15-8 10/8.9 Francis Marion Tournament: College of Charleston lost 15-10, 15-3 USC-Spartan lost 14-16, 17-15 Francis Marion lost 15-7, 15-8 Furman won 15-6,

Coll. of Charleston lost 16-14, 15-7 SOCCER State lost 0-4 Campbell lost 6-1 10/9 FIELD HOCKEY

Duke 4-0, lost Converse won 9-0 Catawba cancelled 10/8

10/6

TENNIS 8-1 won Atlantic Christian (4-1)

*****

PHONE 886-5316

Playoffs highlight week for Intramurals

BY JEFF BLANK scial to the HLPO

Frisbee final standings regular season: Theta Chi 3-1 Lambda Chi Alpha 3-1 Delta Sigma Phi 3-1 Unionizers 1-3 Pi Kappa Alpha 0-4

In Playoffs, Theta Chi defeated Unionizers and Lambda Chi Alpha defeated Delta Sigma Phi in the semi-finals. In the finals theta Chi will play Lambda Chi Alpha. (Game was cancelled Sunday.) Softball final standings for regular season:

Chaingang 2-1 Lambda Chi Alpha 2-1 Theta Chi 2-1 Unknowns 0-3

In playoffs, the Unknowns defeated the Chaingang 7-2 and the Unknowns won the championship by defeating Theta Chi 6-2. Theta Chi had defeated Lambda Chi Alpha in the semi-finals.

A tennis tournament is being played now and final results will be in the next issue. Soccer and a one day track meet will take place after fall break, then intramural teams will get orga-nized for volleyball. This will finish intramurals Christmas break.

Losing team scores one

The scoreboard flashed "thru the door at when Northwestern defeated Northern Illinois 31 to 6. The victory meant the Wildcats had roared at last. It was their first win this decade, and it put an end to their 33-game losing streak.

The victory was important for another reason. If the Wildcats had not beaten the Mid-American Conference team, few would have given them any hope for wins against the tougher Big Ten teams. There would have been little reason to hope. The history of the Wildcats is not filled with glorious SUCCESS

Before its win over Northern Illinois, Northwestern had lost 62 of its past 66 games and 49 of its 52 Big Ten games. Its rushing total was minus 50 yards.

Last year the Wildcats scored a total of 82 points for the entire season and they set the record for the longest losing streak after a defeat to Michigan State. Northwestern students celebrated by tearing down the goal posts and tossing them into Lake Michigan.

Northwestern students are not really cheerful about the football team's record. Some of the players feel they are the brunt of a lot of animosity. Chris Hinton, a senior Wildcat, said some of the arguments at dinner time accuse the football players of not doing their jobs. If they get a free ride to school with scholarships, they should be winning.

Coach Dennis Green remains undaunted by the Wildcats' past. He is optimistic that Northwestern can survive in the Big Ten because he speaks form experience. Before coming to Northwestern, Green tackled Stanford's losing problems in the 1960's as an assistant coach.

Some of Northwestern's problems started in the mid-1970's, Green said, when the university regionalized recruiting instead of looking nationwide for qualified athletes.

Another problem is the team's age. Most of the Wildcats are young. Forty-five players on the 60-man traveling squad are just in their first or second year of college

But Green still has hopes for the future. He said the players knew what kind of a team they were joining when they first came to Northwestern and that they are prepared for a challenge.

The Wildcats have more that just a challenge on their hands. They are under a lot of pressure. Last year, the school's athletic director, Doug Single, said that the football program would have to be reevaluated if the team was not winning three to five games by 1985.

This year he said that the Wildcats do not necessarily have to win, but he wants to see

Bowling scores announced

High Average Gene Simpson - 174 Liz Crawford - 144 High Game Dave Tomlinson - 204 Lix Crawford - 155 High Game - Team ___ Dil and Gene - 665 Handicappers - 591 Gutter Duster - 683 Gene Simpson - 554 High Series - Individual Liz Crawford - 419 Dil and Gene - 1878 High Series - Team Gutter Duster - 1875

Correction Gardner Webb 15-10, 15-8

In last week's HI-PO, the scores of two volleybal matches were switched. The correct scores were: 9/27 vs. 9/29 vs. Duke 15-8, 15-16 The HI-PO regrets the

GIVE TO THE AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY.

THIS SPACE CONTRIBUTED AS A PUBLIC SERVICE

Sports Quiz

1. The League Championship Series started in 1969. Name the only active manager to lead a team to the World Series prior to 1969.

2. Which pitcher played for an American League team in the 1979 A.L.C.S. and for a National League team in the 1980 N.L.C.S.7

Other than Kansas City, California, and Oakland, Which other A.L. West team has played in the A.L.C.S.? 4. Who managed California in the 1979 American League Championship Series?

5. Counting 1982, name the only two National League teams not to make the N.L.C.S. since 1969.

6. Name the only two American League teams to appear in six League Championship Series since 1969.

7. Name the only two National League teams to play in six League Championship

8. Which pitcher played for San Francisco in the 1971 N.L.C.S. and also for Milwaukee in the 1957 and 1958 World Series? 9. Name the only American Leaguer to play in the first A.L.C.S. (in 1969) and the A.L.C.S. in 1982?

10.Name the only National Leaguer to play in the first N.L.C.S. (in 1969) and the 1982 N.L.C.S.?

10. Phil Niekro played for

9. Rod Carew played for Min-nesota in '69 and California in 8. Don McMahon. 7. Cincinnati and Pittsburgh. 5. San Diego and Chicago. 6. Oakland and Baltimore.

4. Jim Fregosi. 3. Minnesota (1969-70). '08. UI

2. Nolan Ryan Pitched for California in '79 and Houston Boston in 1967 world series. I. Dick Williams managed

Photographer's Forum magazine presents Third Annual Student Photo Contest

Over $3,400.00 Cash Awarded! Over 100 Students Published!

And it's open to any college student. Photographer's Forum magazine is offering over $3,400.00 cash to student photographers this year. Winning photos will be published in the May 1983 issue of Photographer's Forum and all finalists will be published in the Best of Photography Annual 1982. Enter as many black & white prints, color prints, or slides as you wish (subject matter open). Entries will also be considered for future issues automatically. So don't delay, send off your entry today!

•2 Grand Prizes - $750.00 Best Color Print or Slide, $750.00 Best Black & White

•2 Second Prizes - $500.00 Best Color Print or Slide, $500.00 Best Black & White Print

•2 Third Prizes - $350.00 Best Color Print or Slide, $350.00 Best Black & White

•10 Fourth Prizes - $25.00 Best Color Print or Slide, $25.00 Best Black & White

•100 Honorable Mentions All Honorable Mentions will be published in the May 1983 issue of Photographer's Forum magazine nd will receive a certificate of outstanding merit.

All contest finalists will be published in the Best of Photography Annual.

Strictly

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad, type the ad doublespaced and turn it in to the HI-PO by Friday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ads turned in after this deadline will be held until the next issue. Please designate on

designation, the ad will run Employment

for only one week.

the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no

Off-campus employment: Title: bartender Description: part-time - needed for work during furniture market. Must be 21. Hours: negotiable Salary: Address: Top of the Mart -tell them Art Prillaman sent Off-campus employment Title: general laborer Description: part-time - assist in setting up showroom, moving furniture, etc. One of two persons needed throughout the fall Furniture Market. Hours: flexible Salary: $4/hr. Address: Mr. Tom Hobgood. 882-3349, Please identify yourself as an HPC student.

Hours: Part-time Oct. 14-18, 7:30-4:00 Salary: $4.00-4.25/hr. Address: Mr. Bain-sales manager, Imperial Manufacturing, P.O. Box 650, Mem-TN. phone: phis. 1-800-238-5777

Off-campus employment: Title: Furniture market Description: Hand out' balloons and information, maybe dress up like clowns Hours: Part-time, Oct. 14-16, 8:30-4:30 Salary: $3.50/hr. Address: Contact Alta Workman, 1-800-241-0340

Off-campus employment: Hours: Part-time, Oct. 14-18, 8:30-5:30 Southern Furniture Market, phone 889-6144 Off-campus employment: Title: Furniture employment

Description: Hand out flyers Hours: Part-time. Oct. 14-18, 9:00-4:00 Salary: $4.25/hr.

Address: Arlan Lothe, Clockwork, Inc., Madison, WI, phone: 1-608-241-0860 On-campus employment:

Title: Manager for basketball team Hours: Part-time Salary: $3.35/hr. Address: Contact the Financial Aid office

Classified

Off-campus employment: Title: Assistant in Day Care Center Description: Help in GTI's Day Care Lab Program

On-Campus employment Title: Stagehands Description: Need students to work on stage construction and general work. Hours: ? Address: Contact Kay Stroud in the Financial Aid Office; phone 885-5101, ext.

Off-campus employment Title: Assistant Manager Description: Assist in managing general operation of restaurant Hours: Full-time Salary: Negotiable

Address: Suzanne Barefoot,

Top of the Mart, 201 E. Green Dr., 11th floor, Green Dr. wing. *Note-no phone calls. Come by and complete application. Make sure to idenify yourself as an HPC student.

Off-campus employment: Title: Waitress Description: Wait tables, take food orders Hours: Part-time-must be able to work lunches Salary: $2.20/hr. plus tips Address: Suzanne Barefoot (same as above).

On-campus employment: Title: Trainer for basketball team Hours: Part-time Salary: $3.35/hr.

Address: Contact the Finan-cial Aid office Off-campus employment: Title: Furniture market

Description: Hand out flyers Hours: Part-time-1:00·5:30 (flexible-10-20 hrs/wk.) Salary: Negotiable Address: Doris Martin, GTI, 454-1126

Lost and Found

FOUND - Calculator that car Salary: 4.25/hr.
Address: Myra Gardner, Stop by the Business office and see if its's yours.

Merchandise
FOR SALE: A new, Wilson
Chris Evert Autographed
tennis racket with 4%; "grip. $35. Contact Teresa Sweatman, P.O. Box 3621, Campus

Announcements

Organizational Meeting Dates for Men's In-tramurals Announced. Track-Thursday, October 14, 12 Noon All meetings take place in Meeting Room 2 of the Campus Center.

Beastmaster

Cont. from p. 5

manhood, he quickly discovers that, thanks to a witch's voodoo curse as a child, he possesses magical powers which enable him to converse back and forth with the animals of the land. His father says that nobody must know about these powers, for evil men still search the land for him and would inflict great bodily harm (to say the least) upon him if ever found. Well, as they say, all good things must eventually come to an end. Priest Mayax, still alive and well, hears tell that Dar is indeed still living, so a troop of his ugly Jun warriors are sent to the village, where everyone except (naturally) Dar is cut and mangled to ribbons. This infuriates the boy to no end, who, along with his animal friends, swears an oath not to rest until Mayax lies dead. He enlists the help of a good-lookin' local slavegirl, Kirl (Tanya Roberts), and soon an old warrior, Seth (John Amos), joins the motley crew on their journey to put Mayax out of the child sacrificing business.

The special effects in themselves are embarrassingly dreadful, almost bordering on the hysterical. For example, in one unforgettable scene, warriors are seen throwing burning torches on top of green grass huts. Moments later, the huts literally explode into huge black fireballs, sending villagers and warriors alike flying through the air. Then, a few minutes later, more flaming torches are thrown into a moat ofmud, whereupon a 50-foot wall of fire appears from within. Exploding grass huts and flammable mud? What will those crafty natives think of next!

The acting found throughout is also some of the most amateurishly horin any production to date. John Amos could have done better if he had had script in hand, and Tanya Roberts looks more of a cross between a Max Factor commercial and an ad for '1,000,000 Year B.C.'.

Summing it Beastmaster can best be described in one word; disgusting.

Beastmaster definitely places a strong first for the worst motion picture ever. From start to finish, the storyline manages to remain at one, and only one, level: at one, and only one, level. B-O-R-I-N-G. Even the many sword and animal fights found throughout

Artifacts

Concerts: Oct. 17-HEART with CHEAP TRICK at Hampton Roads, Va. Tickets $9.50/$10.50. Oct. 31 - VAN HALEN at Hampton Roads, Va. Tickets $10.50/$11.50 Oct. 19 - Glenn Frey at the Atlanta Fox Theatre. Tickets $11.25. Oct. 20 - CROSBY, STILLS AND NASH at the Omni in Atlanta. Tickets $11.50/$13.50. Ballroom in Atlanta. Tickets $5.96. Oct. 15 - R.E.M. at the Agora Ballroom in Atlanta. Tickets info unknown Oct. 15 - ROBERTA FLACK in Spirit Square in Charlotte. Ticket info unknown. Oct. 23 - MIKE CROSS in Spirit Square in Charlotte. Ticket info unknown. Oct. 21 - CROSBY, STILLS AND NASH in the Greensboro Coliseum. Tickets $10.50/$12.50. Oct. 21 - JUDAS PIREST at the Scope in Norfolk, Va. Tickets $9.50/$10.50. Oct. 16 - HEART with CHEAP TRICK at the Roanoke Civic Center, Tickets $9.50/$10.50. Oct. 30 - VAN HALEN at the Roanoke Civic Center, Tickets $10.50/$11.50. Nov. 5 - HEART in the Greensboro Coliseum. Ticket info unknown

Theatre:

Oct. 15, 16 - BUTTERFLIES ARE FREE in High Point College Memorial Auditorium, Tickets $4 at the door, $3 in advance, $2 for students, senior citizens.

1000000 DO DO DOTOBER Campus Paperback Bestsellers

- 1. The World According To Garp, by John Irving (Pocket $3.95.) Outrageous story of T.S. Garp
- Real Men Don't Eat Quiche, by Bruce Feirstein. (Pocket, $3.95.) A hilarious guide to masculinity
- Thin Thigha in 30 Days, by Wendy Stehling. (Bantam, $2.95.) How to lone up and thin down
- Cujo, by Stephen King (NAL/Signet, $3.95.)
   Another tale of horror from the master.
- E.T.: The Extra-Terrestrial, by William Kotzwinkle (Berkley, $2.95.) Novel of the popular film.
- The Soul Of A New Machine, by Tracy Kidder.

  (Avon, $3.95.) Behind the scenes at a computer company.
- The Hotel New Hampshire, by John Irving. (Pocket, $3.95.) Latest novel by the author of "Garp."
- What Color is Your Parachute?, by Richard Neison Bolles. (Ten Speed Press, $6.95.) Career and job guide.
- The Cinderella Complex, by Colette Dowling. (Pocket $3.95.) Uncovers the roots of women's inner conflicts.
- 10. Color Me Beautiful, by Carole Jackson. (Ballantine, $8.95.) A how-to book for women

.............. New & Recommended

Letter To A Child Never Born, by Oriana Fallaci. (Washington Square Press, $2.95) The atory of a woman coming to grips with pregnancy and the atruggle between society's demanda and her own desires.

New Rules, by Daniel Yankelovich. (Bantam, $3.95) A atudy of the cultural and economic forces charting our future. Working Wardrobe, by Janet Wallach. (Warner, $8.95) How to more than triple your wardrobe with Iwo-color coordinated dressing.

••••••

********* School Kids Records

551 S. Mendenhall Street, Greensboro Rock - Country - Jazz - Classical - Soul LPs & Tapes 45s · Blank Tapes · Accessories Open Daily · Mon. · Fri. 'til 9:00

> Listen for Less 275.1226

Turmoil continues in Religion department

BY KARLA GREEN

ture Editor There will be a search throughout spring semester for a new chairperson for the Department of Religion and Philosophy, a position that has been empty since the protest resignation of Dr. Earl Crow last spring, according to Dr. Epperson, Acting Dean of the College, Dr. Crow resigned from the position he previously held for nine years over what he terms "a dispute over

Crow said that he was originally in conflict with a policy that President Lucht presented in a meeting last March 24, whereby, in Crow's words, the departmental chairpersons were told by the President that they must "be sup-portive of all administrative policies and to carry out these policies and voice no opposition to them." Crow's protest to his understanding of this at the time was "that I should have the right to disagree with any policy though it is my duty to carry out the policies of the unresolved to Crow, he resigned two days following this meeting. President Lucht, in talking to the HI-PO, acknowledged that in March he received Crow's written resignation and accepted it at the time. It was the feeling of the President that at this point, Dr. Crow, "instead of coming to me to discuss the issue, chose the option to resign," thus, leaving the opening for a new departmental chairperson.

When the matter seemed

There was a point, earlier this fall, when Dr. Crow asked to be reinstated to his former position. The HI-PO talked with Dr. Crow about the events surrounding this appeal.

Crow, along with the other professors in the religion professors in the religion department, called a meeting with the President and Dean Epperson on September 28 "to try and resolve the issue", according to Crow. "We asked the President to put into writing the policy in question," said

President Lucht verified this, saying that "at this point, Dr. Epperson, who was at the meeting, drew up a memo that we felt would clarify the policies."

According to Crow, it was at this point that he asked to be reinstated after "having no problem" with the written policy. According to Dr. Crow, the new written clarification read "that the chairperson was free to oppose policy if they gave it proper time to be tried and then sought to change it through the proper chan-nels." Crow stated that to his surprise, "This was quite different from what I opposed prior to my resignation. In order to get leadership

See Turmoil, p. 4

High Point College's

"Working for a better informed campus" Vol. 55

High Point, N.C. 27262

November 3, 1982

INSIDE Editorials. p. 2 Sports, p. 6

THE COMPUGRAPHIC EDITWRITER is located in the English office in Cooke Hall. Libby Gurney demonstrates. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

Editwriter added to department

BY KARLA GREEN

The Communications major is the fastest growing major on the campus of High Point College and to its credit over the past year, it has added the High Point College Community Television station, a 100 wattage to its WWIH radio station, and now, has turned to the computer age.

In the past month much excitement has stirred over the arrival of the $12,000 Compugraphic writer, a modern computerized typesetter that will enable the college publications to become selfsufficient without depending on the printer to set the copy of the paper and the yearbook.

Dr. Deleeuw credits the growth of the major much in part to the aid it has received from the Rawley Fund. It is fund that over the past four to five years, since its origination, has given a total of $39,000 to the College.

Ms. Shirley Rawley, head of the HPC English department and a member of the contributing family, said the Rawley fund was established by David and Sara Rawley It was "designated for the purpose of the improvement of instruction" at HPC, says Rawley.

See Editwriter, p. 5

Dorms close during break to conserve energy

CRYSTAL, L HEDGECOCK

The rationale for closing the residence halls for Thanksgiving break is energy conservation according to Michael Pittman, Director of Student Life at High Point

According to Pittman, the residence halls were kept open last year for only 10-15 people. There are 635 residents

"Keeping the dorms open was not cost effective," Pitt-man said. "There will be no students in the buildings without RA's and RC's for safety reasons and the RA's and RC's go off payroll when the school closes Pittman said last year was the first deviation from the usual closing of the residence halls at Thanksgiving. "The residence halls were closed two years ago and always had been before that.

Mrs. Mary Alice Young, residence counselor for Belk dorm, said the dorms "have never been officially open, ex-cept last year." In previous years, Young said that students wishing to stay on campus had to request permission from the dean.

"Last year was the first year the staff was ever on duty," Young said.

"There were not enough students staying in the building to justify heating, electricity and our salaries," said Mrs. Margie Boyles, Residence counselor for Womens and Wesley Dorms.

The decision to close the residence halls for Thanksgiving was made in early September, according to Pittman. The students were informed of this decision last week when sheets were posted in the dorms.

'It is indicated in the catalog that the college is clos-ed," Pittman said, "and I'm giving people enough time for plans. I'm also encouraging people to invite a friend home for break."

Pittman said he hopes to have down the road a guest housing facility for students, guests of the College and prospective students.

"Right now I don't have the kind of money," Pittman said. Pittman said there was another option for students who didn't have anywhere to go or international students who couldn't make it home.

"I'm working with Gart Evans, director of Alumni Affairs, to check with alumni in the community and try to find housing for eight or ten students," Pittman said.

There is a real concern for the students and I spent a lot of time deciding what to do for them." Pittman said.

EDITORIALS Is Halloween

Is Halloween year round?

If Halloween is indeed a time of horrors, then Halloween 1982 was the epitome of All Hallow's Eve.

No horror movie has ever represented a world a scary as the actual world in which we live. The pschos have left the screen and entered our world and the victims aren't actors and actresses any longer. We become the victims.

The recent, much-publicized Tylenol tragedy did more than "ruin" a company. That one tragedy set off a chain-reaction unlike any chain-reaction ever before known.

Toxic poisons have started turning up in various products everywhere. Every morning when I brush my teeth, I wonder if Crest has more than flouride to help my cavities. I wonder if I'll live long enough after brushing to ever have another cavity.

The maniac that poisoned the Tylenol to prove a point to Johnson and Johnson didn't stop at the Tylenol. He poisoned the minds of hundreds of other maniacs.

The Tylenol didn't have to show up in Chicago. Why couldn't High Point be just as convenient to prove a point? High Point has people that die too.

It's frightening to think where the next victim will turn up. Horror cases from as close as Thomasville have been reported. Children have found straight pins in apples received from Halloween there.

Where and when will it end? Halloween is over for this year. Perhaps that will be the end of it. We can only pray that it is

"Dirty pool" o dominates elections

More than likely, you're reading this some time after the end of the 1982 off-year elections. Regardless of the outcome, if you've followed the campaigns, especially the local ones, one of the greatest political hangovers in quite a while is going to be settling deep in our minds, which will hopefully give some foresight into future elections.

The issue is "dirty pool" by several of the nominees for Congress from right in our own state. There's nothing illegal about quoting someone's statements, but it is hardly 100 percent above board to quote out of context.

For example, Sixth District (which includes Guilford County, i.e. with High Point) congressional Democratic nominee Robin Britt distributed a newspamphlet which quotes his incumbent Republican opponent Gene Johnston as saying, "That idea (slavery) would be a great benefit to the American taxpayer, If you would put it forward I would be delighted to second it." Uh. . ., well, not really. Not in the way slavery is thought of in America, not physical bondage on the cotton plantation. Actually he was speaking of economics. but that's neither here nor there. What is here, is that the quote was used out of context and thus nothing more than what is popularly, and rightly so, called "mudslinging.

Of course, winning an election is half knowing what you're doing and half appearing as though you know what you're doing. It is in this second half that the unethical tactics have occurred which conservative news analyst George Will calls "negative advertising" and which will ultimately be "self defeating" to the candidate.

It will be, because many of the voters vote on issues and candidates themselves and will not tolerate a candidate attacking his opponent without just cause, thereby effectively evading issues.

Nevertheless, our governor, who holds the most respected and powerful state office appears on television and accuses certain candidates of the party opposing his own of being liars.

This is certainly not a position for the office of the governor of our, or any, state to take. A candidate should win on his own merit, not because be belittles the opposition with a personal "smear" campaign. Only those who win in this congressional election, or any election, on the basis of self-promotion have done so rightfully.

John R. Smith

Theatre seeks support

To the Editor

This letter is in reference to a recent review which appeared in the HI-PO about the Theatre Department's recent production of "Butterflies Are Free" terflies Are Free."

From the review given, one could easily assume the play involved only two characters · Don Baker and Jill Tanner, played by Bob Clark and Pam McHone, respectively. The two remaining characters, Mrs. Baker, played by Cat Burton, and Ralph Austin, played by David Martin, do not appear until the second act. The fact that neither of them were mentioned could lead one to suspect if the entire performance had been

What was said, though, was biased. True, Mr. Clark has more theatrical experience than Ms. McHone, but there could have been at lease one positive comment about her portrayal of her

Those who attended the preview performance did not see a finished product. The preview is just that - a final dress rehearsal before open-

See Theater, p. 3

In the absence of backs-

The Director of Student Life would like also to direct faculty life, it seems.

Faculty members are being asked to approve a plan whereby individual professors instead of the Student Life Office would approve student absences from class. Professors are told that since they are closer to the students the professors themselves would be better able to judge whether or not a student's absence is excusable. The Office of Student Life is short-handed, we are told; they have neither the time nor the personnel to handle excuses any longer.

Professors have even been supplied a list of activities which might be considered excusable. Getting married might be an acceptable excuse for missing class, but seeing a doctor might not.

We might agree that the excuse procedure is laborious and time-consuming. Requiring that individual professors ask the questions and keep the required records would not make the procedure less laborious and time-consuming, however, except for the Office of Student Life.

Moreover, the list of suggested excusable and unexcusable activities seems arbitrary and inconsistent. If an appointment at the doctor's office is not to be excused, then an appointment at the matrimonial altar should not be excused, either.

Few people at the College seem to object to the basic principle of requiring attendance and punishing those who exceed the various limits. Everyone seems to agree that the College has the right and duty to set standards of appropriate conduct. Everyone seems to agree that if we cannot require scholarly superiority, that at least we can help the student avoid failure by assuring that he will be in class.

What we need, therefore, is one of two approaches. We need either a central office to process the excuses, all of them, or we need to give the individual professor complete authority over his classes. If we choose the second approach, we should not be surprised if there is an increase in both student and faculty unrest. The variety of standards will cause increased hostility.

wint cause increased nostinty.

If nobody wants this particularly nasty monkey on his back, then why not kill the monkey? Let's put the monkey on the back of those who are truly the only ones who know whether they are "excused" or not - the students.

"When the student is ready the master will come," is a

"When the student is ready the master will come," is a truth from Zen. Relieving the student of the responsibility of being willing to accept the consequences of his own actions will not make him ready. For many, the master will never come.

make him ready. For many, the master by Marion Hodge

Assistant Professor of English

Hi-Po P.O. Box 3510 Room 209 Campus Center

Crystal L. Hedgecock. Editor-in-Chief
Lewis Wheless Associate Editor
Scott Morgan Advertising and
Business Manager
Charles Burton Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO.

The HI-POwelcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed, and an address must be included. If war-ranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as seen necessary.

Info series. . .

When income decreases. "special condition" offers alternatives

The following is the first installment in a three-part informational series concerning the student's responsibilities and options with regard to financial aid at High Point College. The series is intended to be an educational tool to make students more aware of what aid is available and how it can be obtained

BY LEWIS WHELESS Associate Editor

When a college student or his parents become part of America's steadily growing unemployment line, the student often fears his education will have to be cut short.

But Kay Stroud, Director of Financial Aid at High Point College, says there is no need for a student to panic when his income is decreased because "there are options."
She advises students not to "sit there and worry about it. If students can present a valid reason and proper documentation, one way or another we can give some kind of help."

There are numerous reasons why a stuent's income may be reduced, including loss of parental support (through death or unemployment), loss of student employment or benefits, unexpected medical bills, and eparation or divorce. When a student finds himself in a financial dilemma, there are several procedures he can follow in order to get some help. The student must first apply for financial aid by filling out the FAF (Financial Aid Form) or the FFS (Family Financial Statement). From these forms, the student's financial need is determined, depending on such factors as income, assets, and family size. A Student Aid Report (SAR), which explains whether or not the applicant is eligible for any type of aid, will be sent within four to six weeks. The college financial aid administrator then determines the amount and type(s) of aid the student is eligible for. The largest Federal student aid program offered to eligible students is the Pell Grant. Other types of aid include the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant, College Work-Study, the National Direct Student Loan, the Guaranteed Student Loan, and the PLUS loan.

The student who has already applied for aid when his financial situation worsens has another option - "Special Condition." If the financial change is a result of death, separation or divorce, or a loss of job or benefits, the student may be eligible for additional or Basically, two types of additional aid may be procured through filing Special Condition. Firstly, if the student is already eligi-ble for the Pell Grant, he may qualify for an increase in the grant after filing Special Condition. Secondly, if a student was not previously eligible for aid, he may become eligible for other types of federal or state aid by demonstrating need through the Special Condition form.

The student who has already applied for aid when his financial situation worsens has another option -"Special Condition." If the financial change is a result of death, separation or divorce, or a loss of job or benefits, the student may be eligible for additional or increased aid.

Federal loans are included among the options for students who meet "special condi tion" needs. The GSL (Guaranteed Student Loan) is a low-interest loan made by a lending agency (bank, credit union, or savings and loan association). The loan is available at a 9 percent interest rate for new borrowers, and repayment begins six months after the borrower leaves school, PLUS loans are available to parents to provide ad-ditional educational funds at an interest rate of 12 percent. Parents can borrow $3000 per student per year, and repayment begins 60 days after the loan is granted.

Dean candidates visit campus

BY SUSAN WARRICK HI-PO Reporter The Search Committee for a new Dean has narrowed the number of applicants for Dean from five to two peo-

According to Dr. Fred Yeats, the majority of people who applied for the posi-tion were highly educated, which made the selection difficult. The two who were selected for the final interviews are Dr. Daniel Ford and Dr. Dwight C. Stewart.

Dr. Daniel Ford is a dean at the School of Liberal and Performing Arts. He is also a Professor of English at Southern Arkansas University. He now lives and works in Southern Arkansas. He is married and has two campus on October 28 and 29 to interview for the posi tion of Dean. He toured the buildings on campus and talked with the faculty. He also met with the Department Chairpersons, Administrative Officers, and Student Representatives.

Dr. Ford visited HPC's

Dr. Dwight Stewart is Dean of the Faculty at Union College in Kentucky. He has taught Religion and Philosophy at Union College, Garrett Theological Seminary, Boston Universi-ty, and Culver-Stockton College. He is married and has three children.

Dr. Stewart visited the campus on November 1 and 2 for his interview. He met with students, administrators and department chairpersons. He met with the faculty in the Faculty Lounge on Monday.

Blood collected before Halloween

CRYSTAL I HEDGECOCK

The Oct. 25 blood drive sponsored by the Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity successfully met and exceeded its goal of 100 pints.

The Red Cross received 139 pints from 161 people who attempted to give blood. Awards were given for largest organization partici-

First place went to American Humanics Student Association with 41 per cent participation. The Kappa Delta sorority won second place with 38 per cent. Alpha Psi Omega won third place with 33 per cent participa-

Denise Ward, APO vicepresident of service, said this blood drive was the first one to have such a large community participation.

"There was a good turn out from Prudential Life Insurance Co. and the Lilly Co.," Ward said.

"A lot of thanks goes to the students and faculty who helped and gave share," Ward said.

The next APO blood drive is tentatively scheduled for January.

Much work goes into theatre

cont. from p. 2

ing night to make a final check on technical workings. As it is also the first time the cast performs before an audience, some lines may appear pushed or forced out, and the members of the audience should be aware of

The cast, director, stage manager, assistant stage managers, designers, and crews put in more than six weeks to make this (and all shows) a reality, involving literally hundreds of hours of work. This means three to four hours a night, five nights a week for rehearsal. and more for memorizing lines and blocking - all while struggling to maintain

True, our productions are not of professional caliber. The sign at Montlieu Avenue says "High Point COLLEGE presents..."

Yes, this is college theatre, educational theatre. We certainly don't have the facilities necessary to pro-duce a technically elaborate show, but we work near miracles with what we have. At the moment, we are having to use just over half of our lighting dimmers.

There is no "magic" in the theatre. Just sweat, hope and an abundance of prayer that maybe - just maybe we'll have an audience of at least 50 to play to.

omeone once asked me if all the work involved in put-ting on a show is worth it. For a "big" crowd of 35, it

There is no glory in col-lege theatre - the only reward is knowing that you've done a good job. And you hope that your audience can appreciate it.

The Theatre Department is planning "Godspell" for its Spring Production. Maybe this time it'll be worth it. Hopefully the cam-pus community will support us in this endeavor and help in production or audition. o knows? Some of them might develop an appreciacultural arts.

> Respectfully, Scott Morgan Tower Players President

Hi-Po Staff

News Editor Reporters	. Erika Allion,	Tana Parke
	Peggy Draper,	Thomas Grans

Photographers .... Marisa Firpi, Bill Johnson

Tabbie Nance Susan Warrick

Employment expected to grow in 80's

This is the first of a series of articles concerning the job outlook for majors on the High Point College Campus.

Employment is expected to grow faster than the average for all occupations through the 1980's due to increasing pressure on businesses and government agencies to improve budgeting and accounting procedures. Because the occupation is large, many job openings should result from the need to replace workers who leave the occupation, retire, or die

Demand for skilled ac countants and auditors will rise as managers rely increasingly on accounting information to make business decisions. For example, plant expansion, mergers, or foreign investments may depend upon the financial condition of the firm, tax implications of the proposed action, and other considerations. On a smaller scale, small businesses are expected to rely more and more on the expertise of public accountants in planning their operations. Legislation regarding pension reform, tax reform, financial disclosure, and other matters should create many jobs for accountants and auditors. In addition, increases in investment and lending also should spur demand for accountants and auditors.

College graduates will be in greater demand for accounting and auditing jobs than applicants who lack this training. CPA's should have a wider range of job opportunities than other accountants. Opportunities for accountants without a college degree will occur mainly in small businesses and accounting firms.

Many employers prefer graduates who have worked part time in a business or accounting firm while in school. In fact, experience has become so important that some employers in business and industry seek persons with 1 or 2 years' experience for beginning posi-

The increasing use of computers and electronic data processing systems in accounting and auditing should stimulate the demand for those trained in such procedures. Opportunities should be particularly good for internal auditors and tax accoun-

Through the 1980's. employment of bank officers is expected to increase faster than the average for all occupations. Rising costs due to expanded banking services and the increasing dependence on computers will require more officers to provide sound management and effective quality con-trol. Greater international trade and investment will stimulate international and domestic banking activities, thus increasing the need for bank officers and managers. Adding to this increase in demand due to growth will be the need to replace ex-perienced officers who die, retire, or leave their jobs for other reasons

Because of the increasing number of qualified applicants, competition for bank managerial positions is expected to stiffen. Once employed, managers and officers are likely to work yearround, even during periods of slow economic activity, because cyclical swings in the economy seem to have little immediate effect on banking activities.

Employment of buyers is expected to grow about as fast as the average for all occupations through the 1980's as the retail trade industry, where buyers work, expands in response to a growing population and higher personal incomes. Besides jobs that will be created by increased demand for buyers, many job openings will arise each year from the need to replace workers who transfer to other occupations, retire, or die.

Competition for buying jobs is expected to be keen, for merchandising attracts many college graduates. Prospects are likely to be best for qualified applicants who enjoy the competitive, fast-naced nature of retail-

ng. Employment of credit managers is expected to grow more slowly than the average for all occupations through the 1980's. Nevertheless, many jobs will become available each year due to the need to replace persons who leave the occupation.

Anticipated increases in business and consumer purchases are expected to continue to limit growth in employment of credit managers. The use of computers for storing, retrieving, and processing information has enabled credit managers to evaluate applications for credit more efficiently. The use of telecommunications networks has enabled retail outlets to centralize credit operations. Businesses also will continue to reduce or eliminate their credit departments and rely on their customers using bank credit cards. These bank credit operations also maintain more efficient centralized operations.

Turmoil continues

cont. from p. 1 back into the department, I asked to be reinstated," said Crow

President Lucht contends that his response to Dr. Crow's request was that "I told him that I did not think it best to reinstate him as departmental chairperson and that since the chairman-ship was open we needed to look to review the entire situation as to what was best for the college." President Lucht continued by stating, "This is what I intend to do."

Dr. Crow's request to be reinstated, however, did not stop with the written request to the president. He appeared before the subcommittee of the Academic Afairs Committee meeting of the Board of Trustees held on October 13 to appeal his case. Crow talked about this meeting. "I was told I would have 30 minutes, so I prepared a 27-page report about the events prior to my resignation and up-to-date occurences through the date of the meeting." According to Crow, when he got to the meeting he was told he would "only have 15 minutes to speak."

to Crow, when he got to the meeting he was told he would "only have 15 minutes to speak." Crow quoted the Board's decision that President Lucht had "acted properly concerning the issue." Crow said, however, "It is my opinion that the Committee had their minds set on the outcome prior to the meeting."

Dr. Crow recalls that within a few days of the meeting, President Lucht notified him that the Committee "had decided not to take action on my request."

President Lucht verified this action, saying that he was asked by Dr. Charles Carroll, head of the Subcommittee, to relay this decision to Crow.

According to Dr. Crow, the next point of controversy came when the President, in response to Crow's basic request that a chairperson or a temporary chairperson be assigned to the department, called a meeting to discuss the future replacement.

On Tuesday of last week, the President and Dean Epperson again met with the three religion professors. At this meeting President Lucht, in response to Crow's request, commented that he would "begin a search for a new chairperson." Epperson stated to the HI-PO that "both internal and external applicants would be welcomed." He added that "anyone from the religion department could apply."

"I announced at this point that I would not reapply," said Dr. Crow who insisted that his co-professors, Dr. Charles Teague and Dr. Vance Davis, "are both experienced and either would do well" in the position. Crow says that at this meeting he "pleaded with the president to appoint either Davis or Teague to the position and/or the temporary position." However, again Crow insists that the president had his mind made up. "He made it quite clear that the selection for my replacement would come from the outside." said Crow.

When asked about the choice coming from outside the college, President Lucht stated that among his major concerns in filling this position, should be "to strengthen the relationship between the college and the Western N.C. conference of the United Methodist Church." Lucht stated, "We need someone who can do well in that function and at the same time carry out the responsibilities of the chairmanship."

manship."
Dr. Crow also stated that he felt this was a blow to the department and that his feelings were "that the reputations of Davis and

See Turmoil, p. 5

Registering with the Selective Service on your 18th Birthday

Nothing could be easier. Within a month of your 18th birthday, go to the nearest U.S. Post Office. Pick up the simple registration form and fill it out. Then hand it to the postal clerk. That's all there is to it.

Great Haircuts, Unlimited

20% DISCOUNT
HIGH POINT COLLEGE STUDENTS
Good on all Hair Care Services for Gals & Guys. ..except Advertised Specials. Please present college I.D.
Westchester Mall 882-1148

Ellington's Florist

1122 EAST LEXINGTON AVENUE 889-4748 Specializing in cut flower arrangements,

corsages, and boutonnieres.
Friday Flowers — $3.00
FREE DELIVERY TO
HIGH POINT COLLEGE

Drink policy questioned

TABBIE NANCE HI-PO Reporter

If you are now a High Point College senior, you can remember the Student Union dances in 1979. These dances were known as "beer blasts"

The admission price at the door payed for the beer, whether you drank beer or not, and the kegs were full and free flowing. So why have the dances changed?

Bruce Tingle, Assistant Director of Student Life and the Student Union Advisor, said these dances were held in violation of the North Carolina State ABC law. According to this law, High Point College cannot apply for a permanent ABC permit because the college isn't considered a place of business. HPC can apply for a tem-porary permit, but the ques-tion arises of where this permit money comes from. No Student Union money can be allocated to buy alcohol or permits for alcohol.

The only two ways around these problems have already been employed this year by the Student Union dance chairpersons. These ways at a place of business that has an ABC permit, or let alcoholic heverages.

The question of who is liable if a student has been drinking at a school function and has an accident has been illustrated through many re cent court cases. The HPC Student Union advisor could be held liable if an alcoholrelated accident occured after the student attended a college sponsored event.

Turmoil

cont. from p. 4

Teague were somewhat tainted by their association with me Though this entire issue may seem somewhat "in the past" to some, the religion majors of this college feel it is very much "in the pre-sent."

Lane Sapp, religion major, stated that he has been "per-sonally hurt" by all that has transpired. "I think it has done a lot to ruin the moral of the Religion Dept." He added that he felt it "a shame" that one of the three professors were not ap-

Wendy Fishel, another religion major, who, along with Sapp, has met with the President to try and constitute the need for an ap pointed head of the department, feels "more consideration of our feelings should have been given. We have invested time and money here." Fishel asked to go on record with this final statement: "Throughout this unfortunate situation our three professors have acted for the continuation of the progression of our department. According to Dr. Davis, Sapp and Fishel have "taken charge and formed group meetings to organize departmental activities in the absence of a department

Davis and Crow both agree that without a chairperson to supply leadership for the students, the department is under a considerable strain. Davis commented that at many functions of the school, citing Parents' Day as one, "our department goes without representation." Crow says that though Dean Epperson is "functioning as coordinator of there are still program, many things that are delayed or not yet settled are "that a chairman would have taken care of long

President Lucht, in speaking with the HI-PO, agreed that without leadership there are problems, and says that since the last spring he has begun work toward finding a temporary chairper-son. "I have contacted several people to see if they might be interested in serving as a temporary chairman." Lucht also said that earlier last week, the Religion Department "had notified me that they now feel that such affairs can progress without the appointment of a temporary

Editwriter added

cont. from p. 1

To the communications major, it has recently supplied the funding of two cameras used to start the HPCC TV station last semester.

According to Pat Connelstation manager of WWIF radio, the TV station is not the only one who has benefited from the generosity of the Rawley family. Connelly said that they are in the process of partially funding a much needed stereo compoent board for the station. "The Rawley Fund has made it possible for us to take the steps necessary towards the move to stereo," says Connelly. Though the "family's long standing interest in the area of communications" has been the reason for the backing of this particular major, Rawley commented that the communications dept. is not the only to receive support from the fund. She added that the "first of the money spent on the campus, pur-chased the first computers at HPC, which now are in the Math department."

Ms. Rawley, in speaking of the family communications background cited that there have been generations in their family involved in the newspaper and two in radio."
"The fund enables the department to have things that it is not possible to cover in the budget." says Rawley.

Dr. Deleeuw agrees with Rawley in saying that the communications major has grown over the past four years due to the outside funding of the necessary equipment

Unlike some majors the communications field is highly technical and without the expensive equipment the majors cannot be properly trained for the jobs ahead of them, according to Deleeuw. The addition of the editwriter will provide students with additional experience in the field of journalism. "After the students are trained on the editwriter they can work through the practicum in other businesses in the media," sayd Deleeuw.

Training on the new typesetter will begin for the most part, next semester, according to Deleeuw. He expressed that those students interested in learning to operate the machine should consider taking the course offered by the business department in data processing. Training of the typesetter this semester will be exclusively selected by Deleeuw but it will be open to all majors in the spring through the Practicum.

Facts about the new editwriter itself appear in the copy that follows which was typeset by Dr. Deleeuw on the new equipment.

Compugraphic Editwriter

The Compugraphic Editwriter is a phototypesetter which sets copy in variable point size with justified margins. Copy is typed into a computer terminal after basic information has been proinformation has been programmed: point size, line space, type face, and sise in 8 point size, line space of 10, Helios type, with a line length of 10 picas and 6 points—the column width used in the Hi-Po.

information typeset can be stored on a disc for future use or it can be sent to the photo unit which scans the type filmstrip and imprints it on photographic paper. The paper is then processed much like a photographic

The advantage of typesetting is simply one of cost. About 30 to 50 per cent of the cost of a printing job is the actual typesetting.

The typeset copy is then pasted up and carried to the printers who photographs a negative and then burns a plate for printing.

The typesetter, however, can also be used for writing and editing copy on the VDT screen for any journalism articles.
The keyboard operates much like a regular typewriter. corrections, insertions, and deletions can be made

Poll on college

Campus Digest News Service

A recent poll shows that Americans no longer regard a college education as the road to riches. Although those peo-ple polled feel that qualified students should have the opportunity to attend college, they did not feel that it guaranteed employment after

The poll was conducted by Group Attitudes Corpration of New York. Nearly 1200 people responded to the 4200 surveys sent out.

Fifty-five percent of the respondents were worried that they would be financially unable to send their own children to college. However, over half agreed with Ronald Reagan's cuts in federal aid.

PLEASE ... NO MORE HUNGER

TODAY, JUST LIKE EVERYDAY, 10,000 PEOPLE WILL DIE FROM STARVATION; MOST OF THEM WILL BE CHILDREN. ABOUT 100,000 CHILDREN GO PERMANENTLY BLIND EVERY YEAR SIMPLY BECAUSE THEIR DIETS LACK VITAMIN A.

WHETHER IT HAPPENS ON A FAMINE-STRICKEN DESERT IN AFRICA, IN A WAR-TORN CITY IN THE MIDDLE EAST, OR TO A NEEDY FAMILY IN HIGH POINT, HUNGER IS SO REAL SO PAINFUL AND SO UNNECESSARY.

IT IS TIME THAT WE STOP THIS NEEDLESS SUFFERING. ACCESS TO FOOD IS A BASIC HUMAN RIGHT. WORLD HUNGER CAN BE WIPED OUT IN OUR LIFETIME IF ONLY WE HAVE THE PUBLIC AND POLITICAL WILL, TRUE FREEDOM. JUSTICE, AND PEACE CAN NOT EXIST IN A WORLD FILLED

NOVEMBER 7 - 13 WORLD HUNGER AWARENESS WEEK

Volleyball team claims championship

BY MARK PHELPS HI-PO Reporter

"We were really up for this match!" exclaimed coach Nancy Little, after her volleyball team defeated Atlantic Christian to take the Carolinas Conference tournament championship.

''l was hoping they would upset Guilford (ranked second) in the semi-finals so we would play them. We were beaten pretty badly on their homecourt a year ago so this gave us an extra incentive. It was especially satisfying to win in front of their fans."

The Panthers cruised through the semi-finals by defeating Catawba 15-7, 15-8, and 15-7. The championship match saw both teams alternate taking the lead before High Point was able to come away with it in the fifth game. The final scores were 5-15, 15-11, 14-16, 15-13, and 15-11. The victory avenged an upset loss to Atlantic Christian in last year's tournament.

Cynthia Ismeal, a freshman from Cochabamba, Bolivia, was named the tournament's MVP. She and teanmate Ursulla Watt received all-conference honors Earlier this week, Watt was named a flirst team all-district selection while Ismeal was named to the 2nd team. Next for the Panthers is the District 26 Tournament, which will be held in Alumni Gymnasium.

"We only know a couple of the teams that will be competing in it right now," commented coach Little.
"St. Augustine will be our toughest competition. They defeated us last Tuesday in a match which we played poorly in. Another contender will be Lenoir Rhyne, which beat us earlier in the season."

think we should be able to beat them if we can play well."

The champions of the tournament will play the College of Wilmington, Delaware, at he winners' Tournament games will be held Friday at 1:00, 3:00, and 6:30. Tickets are $1.00 for students with LD.'s, $1.00 for high school students, and $2.00 for adults. Separate tickets will be sold for day and evening

High Point College

Page 6 - HI-PO - Wednesday, November 3, 1982

SPORTS

Soccer team wins district 26 tournament

BY CHARLES BURTON Sports Editor

At this point in the season, the soccer team has posted some impressive wins. They have 5 wins, 0 losses, and 2 ties so far. Their largest triumph, however, was the District 26 Tournament, with a 7-1-2 record.

"We'll play at home this Thursday (11/4) against UNC-Asheville," Coach Gibson said. "We won earlier against Asheville 2-1, and we encourage everyone to attend the game."

Pfieffer will play at Atlantic Christian on Thursday also; the winners from these two matches will play Saturday in the District Championships.

With the team this close to victory, support from the fans could play a vital role in the team's success. Exciting, thrilling, down to the wire excitement — all these are available at this important

FRESHMAN PETER AMMANN (#4) heads up the field toward HPC's goal. (Photo by B.J.)

$120,000 available in athletic grants

CHARLES BURTON Sports Editor

Every athlete dreams of winning a scholarship. In business, wages are structured so that those who are smarter or inherently more talented earn more money. In sports, those who are better athletes have the chance to receive big scholarships.

The Carolina Conference sets the standards for athletic scholarships in this area. The Conference has predetermined amounts each member school may award per player, per sport. Also, the Conference stipulates that players who receive scholarships sign a four-point contract, pledging themselves to responsible conduct, satisfactory cacademic work, promotion of "the best interests of the institution," and conscientious training and practicing.

And there is money available for athletic scholarships at High Point College. According to Coach Jerry Steele, a basketball player on full academic grant who plans to live in Belk Dorm may qualify for $5,000. This figure represents a waiver of tuition, fees, room and board and insurance, and is the maximum amount a player may receive.

"We try to combine athletic grants with other types of financial sid," Students may qualify for a North Carolina Grant, a BEOG, or an academic scholarship in addition to any sports money they may be qualified for."

The Conference stipulates that basketball players may receive as much as $7,500 per member school, variable with tuition fees.

There is less money available for other sports, however. Baseball players, for instance, may receive as much as $3,000, which is one thousand dollars more than those with golf, tennis, track, field hockey, or volleyball grants receive. The costs for athletic grant students is increased, too, since they are usually resident students who have large transportation costs.

How do the coaches distribute all the available money? "We try to spread it around to all the team members," Steele remarked.
"Athletes fill out all the financial aid forms everyone else fills out."

As many athletes will confess, there is a good deal of prejudice against those who have received athletic grants. Several interviewees not on athletic grants, especially those in debt for their tutition and living expenses, were of the general conclusion that athletes have a "free ride."

"They (other students) think athletes resulty aren't smart—that they get special treatment from the coaches and professors," remarked Roosevelt Brunson, a senior from Cameron, N.C., who is a member of the basketball team and an athletic grant recipient. Whether the athletes are intelligent or able available for grants.

Roosevelt Brunson, a senior from Cameron, N.C., who is an ember of the basketbal team and an athletic grant recipient. Whether that thees are intelligent or able to meet the challenges of college is disputable. What is clear, however, is that a large amount of money is

Coach Steele estimated that a nywhere from $100,000-to $125,000 was recently used in awarding athletic grants. "It would be interesting to see how much money the school awards each year in all it scholarship programs and through financial aid," Steele remarked.

What about these stereotypes of athletes as poor students? "Athletes are a cross-section of the entire student body," Steele said. "We have some athletes who are Presidential scholars, some who are werage students, and some who don't do well. It's a cross section."

According to Steele, athletic grants ideally give students a chance to earn their education. Roosevelt See Grants, p. 8

In track Intramurals

Team "X" takes first place

BY JEFF BLANK Special to the HI-PO

On Thursday, Oct. 28, Men's Intramurals had their annual track meet. The weather was perfect, and the competition was good.

Team "X" took first place honors with 76 points. Theta Chi finished in second with 56 points, Chaingang got third place with 44 points, and following in fourth place was Pi Kappa Alpha with 35 points. Delta Sigma Phi was next with 26 points and then Lambda Chi Alpha with 25

Team "X" won four events out of the nine as they took the 440 relay with Theta Chi second and Chaingang third, Pi Kappa Alpha fourth, and Lambda Chi Alpha fifth. Joel Moebius (Chaingang) won the mile followed by Chris Heanan (Lambda Chi Alpha), Griff Thompson (Delta Sigma Phi), Steve Hatt (Theta Chi), and Harry Stewart ("X"). Ian Lewis won the 440 yard dash in 52.29 seconds followed by Ted Coryell (Pi Kappa Alpha), Brian Caskle (Theta Chi), Glen Jones ("X"), and Tony Peele (Chaingang).

Angelo Stewart ("X") won the 100 yard dash in 10.58 seconds followed by Jeff Collins (Chaingang), Terry Aiken (Pi Kappa Alpha), Scott Oliver (Theta Chi), and Chris Moshella (Lambda Chi Alpha). In the 880, Mike Duffy (Theta Chi) took first followed by Phil Vilante ("X"), Ken Taylor (Theta Chi), Mark Mann (Theta Chi), and Dave Gensch (Delta Sigma Phi). In the mile relay Delta Sigma Phi edged "X" with Theta Chi next and Chaingang close behind.

In the field events, Sam Averett (Lambda Chi Alpha) won the shot put with a toss of 34' 31/2". Greg Cornelius (Pi Kappa Alpha) won a close second with 32' 914", followed by Dave Welborn ("X"), T. Scott (Pi Kappa Alpha), and Dean Jones (Theta Chi).

In the high jump, Dave Morse (Delta Sigma Phi) leaped 6' 0" with fewer scratches than Tim than

Kosltimizo (Chaingang) at 6' 0", then Scott Oliver (Theta Chi) at 5' 6" and Tony Peele (Chaingang) at 5' 4

In the long jump Angelo Stewart ("X") leaped 20' 10" followed by Ian Lewis ("X") 20' 11/2" next was a tie at 19' 5" by Don Brown (Lambda Chi Alpha) and Paul McDoug (Pi Kappa Alpha). Next was Terry Aiken (Pi Kappa Alpha) at 19' 4" and Jeff Collins (Chaingang) at 19' 3".

Team "X", composed of mostly soccer players proved to be in better shape allaround compared to the rest of the field. Angelo Stewart and Ian Lewis of Team "X" were named as unanimous choices as the meets Co-M.V.P.'s.

Thanks go to the High Point Track team and many volunteers who helped in scoring, timing, and judg-ing, and also to Coach Davidson who served as our meet director and head official. Also, thanks to all participants for the largest tur-nout in four years which proved to be the most exciting and competitive.

Upcoming games

VOLLEYBALL: 11/5 District 26 Tournament SOCCER: 11/4-6 District 26 Playoffs

Panther scoreboard

31

VOLLEYBALL 10/12 Lenior Rhyne lost 15-10, 5-15, 14-6

Guilford won 15-3, 15-8 10/14 Atlantic Christian won 10-15, 15-6, 15-11 10/26 Wingate won 15-7, 15-11

St. Augustine 10st 15-13, 15-11

10/29 Carolina's Conference Tournament vs. Catawba won 15-8, 15-7, 15-7 vs. Atlantic Christian won 5-15, 15-10, 14-16, 15-13, 15-11

Overall: Won Conference Championship 21-10; undefeated in conference play.

SOCCER

10/14 Atlantic Christian won 2-1

10/27 Guilford tied 1-1 10/31 Barber-Scotia won 4-2

FIELD HOCKEY 10/12 Wake Forest won 3-1

10/14 Davidson won 4-1 10/15 University of Richmond won 2-1 Catawba won 4-0 vs. Appalachian, won vs. Durham Club, won vs. Tobacco Rd. Club, won 3-0 Overall: 13-6 record

10/27 Catawba won 1-0 10/30 Deep South Tournament.

> DISTRICT TOURNAMENT 4 TEAMS

1. The Carolinas Conference Tournament Championship 2. The Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conference regular season champs.
3. The Independents Champ.

4. An At-large Team with the best district record.

Tarheel cagers look promising for another season

BY MARIO WATSON

Special to the Hi-PO Despite the return of three starters from last year's NCAA championship team, the North Carolina Tarheels will be hard pressed to equal their accomplishments of last

Carolina posted a 32-2 record a year ago, opened and finished the season as the nation's top-ranked team and won the national championship with a 63-62 victory over Gerogetown in the NCAA finals.

All-America center Sam Perkins, forward Matt Doherty and guard Michael Jordan return from last year's starting five. However, the two missing starters, guard Jimmy Black and All-America forward James Worthy will be extremely difficult to replace.

The difficulty was evident this past weekend as Carolina held its annual Blue and White game. Jim Braddock scored 25 points to lead the white squad to a 90-82 victory over the blue squad in a scrimmage Satur-day that left All-America candidate Sam Perkins injured. Perkins, who scored 14 points, was held off the court with 2:28 left to play in the first half after being Carolina Coach Dean Smith said precautionary X-rays were ordered, but he expected the junior center ready next week.

"He has been out for four days with jumper's knee and he just got kicked there," Smith said.

The Tar Heels are already missing guard Michael Jordan due to a broken hand in practice a week ago. He is expected to return in time for North Carolina's seasonopener against St. John's on Nov. 20 in Springfield, Mass.

Also gone from last year's team are Chris Brunt and Jeb Barlow, the top front-

Carolina has the potential to once again be a major force in college basketball.

"We should be a very good basketball team," said Coach Smith. "However, our schedule poses a tremendous challenge. We could easily lose 10 or 12 games and still be an outstanding

The Tar Heels will play at least 20 games against teams which appear in postseason tournaments

Nine of the first 11 games will be played away from home.

In addition, Carolina's 14 ACC games wil be played under rules different from the rest of the schedule. The league will use a 30-second clock and a 19-foot threepoint field goal in conference play this year.

The rule changes were noticed Saturday as the crowd shouted "shoot it" to remind the Tar Heels that the timeclock was running out, a couple of times.

Smith said his team will be in the race for the ACC title and a spot in the NCAA tournament if serious injuries to key people can be avoided.

Another Blue and White scrimmage is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 13 at 4:30 in Carmichael Auditorium.

NFL football: Is it missed?

November Sports...

BY CHARLES BURTON

Sports Editor The football strike is now entering its seventh week. From what I'm hearing, not many people are missing it.
On last Saturday night's "Prairie Home Companion"
(WFDD-FM), the moderator raised a few interesting questions about the strike and the way its outcome could affect our way of life. Used to be, he said, the kick-off. This reminds me of all the comics you us-Dagwood being married to the TV every Sunday after-noon, about Blondie crying about it, about Mary Worth writing letters to an advice columnist because of her football induced loneliness.

According to the "Prairie Home Companion" host, perhaps all these years public opinion pollsters, who claim to have their hands on actually have had them somewhere else. Maybe it's all been a mistake. Maybe preachers hurried through the benediction on Sunday mornings so the faithful could get home in time to see we are just now weaning ourselves from an unwillingly induced idea that we were afraid to leave behind heretofor.

But I doubt this is true. It is interesting to note, however, that football fans are still supporting college football and its players. Sucthe progression and, if "lucky," are drafted into professional football. They'd better enjoy their popularity now, while they have it.

They may be out of work in a few years.

Strictly Classified-

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad, type the ad double-spaced and turn it in to the Hi-PO by Friday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ads turned in after this deadline will be held until the next issue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no designation, the ad will run for only one week.

Employment

Off-campus employment:
Title: survey taker
Description: Five to seven people needed to take survey on the HI-Tran buses.
Hours: Part-time; Sat. 11-6,
8:30-5:30 and Thurs. 11-11
(negotiable)
Address: John Montgomery,

Address: John Montgomery, HI-Tran 889-7433. Contact before Nov. 3.

Off-campus employment: Title: stock clerk Description: J.C. Penneys needs four stock clerks for Christmas. Address: Tom Kiston, J.C. Penneys. Westchester Mall.

On-campus employment: Title: Trainer for basketball team Hours: Part-time Salary: $3.35/hr. Address: Contact the Financial Aid office

On-Campus employment
Title: Stagehands
Description: Need students
to work on stage construction and general work.
Hours: ?

Address: Contact Kay Stroud in the Financial Aid Office; phone 885-5101, ext. 213.

On-campus employment: Title: Manager for basketball team Hours: Part-time Salary: $3.35/hr. Address: Contact the Financial Aid office

Off-campus employment: Title: baby-sitter Description: needs baby-sitter for a one-year-old child. Hours: one or two times per week. Address: Mrs. Terri Knight, 883-4746.

Off-campus employment:

Title: Dog sitter
Description: Lady who breeds small dogs and shows them is looking for a person to house and dog sit. Prefers female who loves animals.
Hours: mostly weekends
Address: Mrs. Gloria
Blackburn, 883-7734

Off-campus employment: Title: House sitter Description: House sitter needed to do utility work, clean-up, and wait on the front. Reliable young person needed. Hours: Mon-Fri. 5-7 p.m.,

Address: Mrs. Judy Morris, 869-4090

Off-campus employment: Title: Babysitter Address: Pat McDonald,

Sat. 8-6.

883-0992 Services

TYPING DONE ON CAM-PUS. Reasonable rates. Call Tabbie at 889-9814.

TYPING SERVICE. Can pick up and/or deliver. Must have three days to do work. Paper must be supplied by student. Call Maria Hale at 869-6462.

Announcements

All students in the English 141-146, Communications Practicum, classes should turn in their biweekly reports regularly. A tally of hours up until October 16 has been mailed to each editor/manager of student publications. A master list is posted on the Communications Bulletin Board.

All residence halls will be closed over the Thanksgiving break. According to Michael Pittman, Director of Student Life at High Point College, the halls will be closed at 6 p.m. on November 23 and will not reopen until no

YES, there are Christian fellowships at High Point College, open to all faculty as well as student. Baptist Student Union,

Tuesday 7:00 p.m.
Intervarsity Christlan
Fellowship,
Thursday 7:30 p.m.
Lobby of Student Center

All upperclassmen majors (sophomore and above) are strongly encouraged to take English 360, Photographic Communications, spring semester. Two sections will be offered: MWF (1-2), TTh course covers black and white still photography: principles of shot composition, film developing, and basic printing. Lab fee of $25 covers cost of supplies used in class and chemicals for developing and printing. Each class is limited to 15 students.

ATTENTION: The Thanksgiving meal will be served Wed., Nov. 17, featuring turkey and all the trimmings. VOLUNTEERS ARE NEEDED to help decorate. See Mr. Caulfield.

Kathy Thompson, promotional director for WGHP-TV will speak in CH 23 Nov. 4 at 3 p.m. Open to the public.

Graduating Communication seniors are requested to turn in a brief resume and a 2x3 black and white glossy for the annual Job Placement Prospectus to be mailed out to around 400 media businesses the first of the year. The English Department must have the information before you leave for Christmas break. Graduating seniors are: Erika Allion, Gina Cardone, Lisa Davido, Glen Denny, Greg Fox, Delbert Hickman, William Johnson, Jane MacCannell, Tabitha Nance, Tana Parker, Michael Pisano, Art Prillaman, Carol Rogers, and Lionel Rogers.

All Communications majors are requested to fill out and turn in to Dr. DeLeeuw the new Information Sheet on majors. The information is needed for future placement in SCIP and for full-time and parttime employment.

CHESS TOURNAMENT
-Nov. 4-14 in the Student Center, Meeting room 1; no entry fee. The tourney is sponsored by the Student Union. See Dana Gilbert for more information – phone 889-1014 or drop him at note
at P.O. Box 3334.

The next general meeting of all TRIP students is Friday, November 5, at 2:30 p.m. in Cooke 22. Any student unable to attend the meeting should contact Dr. DeLeeuw before that date.

A preliminary meeting for those signed up for a SCIP Internship for the spring semester is scheduled for Tuesday, November 9, 11:30 a.m. in Cooke 22. Any other student who is not yet ready for the internship can attend the meeting for an explanation of the SCIP Internship. So far, three students have tentatively been placed for the spring: Gina Cardone and Jane MacCannell (Channel 2 in Greensboro) and Pamela York (Cablevision of High Point/ Jamestown). Students currently in SCIP (Lisa Davido, Delbert Hickman, Greg Fox, Tana Parker) should remember to turn in their biweekly reports regularly. Final work and report are due on the last day of classes this semester.

Jet-Setter's Preview

There will be an informational meeting Wednesday, Nov. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the Language/Religion Students' Lounge, Roberts Hall for all those interested in going on the Study Tours to Spain and France this summer. Dr. John Gabriele and Dr. Barbara Long, escorts and tour counselors, will show a film and slides of the countries and answer questions about the trips. Everyone is welcome.

Elon College is sponsoring an afternoon seminar on alternative careers in Communications on November 18, 1-5 p.m. Information on Communications Bulletin Board in Cooke Hall.

Athletic grants offered

.

Brunson agreed.

"Scholarship benefit both parties, the school and the athlete. Athletes make the fans happy and generate revenue."

Brunson noted the differences in large and small college athletic programs.

"At small institutions, more student athletes graduate. What I'd like to see larger schools do is to go to a five-year program for athletes. The first year would involve getting used to school and studying. Then, the athlete would have four years of playing time."

With promises ranging from academic utopia to an unfurnished apartment, the athletic recruiting process is often a big, albeit shady process is nitself. The recruiting process is often where the first mention is made of athletic grants. Brunson was recruited differently, however.

"I had been getting letters for a long time, wanting me to go here and go there. Coach Steele talked to me personally. That was one reason I chose High Point College."

Brunson's final remarks were words of advice.

"Scholarships are good if the athlete takes advantage of the situation and gets an education. The coaches should stress that more. If the athletes don't get an education, they hurt themselves more than anyone"

High Point College's

"Working for a better informed campus"

High Point, N.C. 27262

Vol. 55

INSIDE "Scrooge,"

November 10, 1982 Sports, p. 6

International Business seminar Writing Proficiency held for language teachers Exam to be Nov. 16 school levels. Hoch said,

BY PAMELA YORK

News Editor

Because of the increasing emphasis on international trade, foreign language skills among businessmen is becoming a requirement for effective communication with people of other countries. According to Dr. Frances S. Hoch, Chairman of the Department of Modern Languages at High Point College, the recogni-tion of the relationship between these two areas prompted the planning of the seminar, Languages and Interna-Business: Workshop for Teachers."

The workshop, which was held Nov. 5 and 6 at the College, was designed primarily foreign language teachers of the college, high school, and junior high

'The purpose of the workshop is to acquaint these teachers with the relationship between foreign languages and international business in North Carolina and also to discuss materials and methods for teaching foreign language for business. Most of these people are looking for ways to introduce the practical applications for foreign languages into business."

Hoch, who coordinated the two-day seminar, said the scheduled events included specific sessions on international trade and foreign language for business and general sessions on the relationship between the two. The guest speaker for the workshop was Dr. Geoffrey Voght from Eastern Michigan University. "We to bring Dr. Voght to High Point College," Hoch said. "He is one of the national experts in this field.

Also involved in the program were departmental teachers and people associated with international business from the Triad area. In addition to Hoch, HPC's Dr. Richard Bennington, Chairman of the Earl N. Phillip School of Business, and Dr. Carole A. Head, Assistant Professor of Modern Languages, spoke at the seminar. Mr. John Schmonses (U.S. Depart-ment of Commerce, Greensboro), and Ms. Joann Sprink (R.J. Reynolds and Tobacco co.) also provided workshop sessions.

Bennington said he thought a major benefit of See International, p. 4

The Academic Dean of the College has announced the fall date for the Writing Proficiency Examination. It will be administered at 11:30 a.m. Tues., Nov. 16 in Room 106 of Haworth Hall

All students who enrolled at High Point College during or after September, 1980 and who plan to graduate from HPC must take and pass the HPC Writing Proficiency Examination. Those who must take the test this fall include 1) those currently enrolled in English 102, 2) new transfer students, and 3) those who have failed the exam but now have permission from the Writing Center to retake it.

Correction

In last week's issue of the HI-PO, the story concerning the two dean applicants said that the choice for dean had been narrowed from five to two people. This statement was an error. There has been no decision made on choices for the dean. The HI-PO regrets this error.

Applicants decrease as scholarship fails to increase

With both college tuition and inflation continually increasing, students cannot afford to overlook any possible source of financial assistance.

At High Point College, one such source for incoming freshmen is the Presidential Scholarship program. Originating from the Admissions Office, these scholarships are awarded on the basis of high school achievement demonstrated through course work and college entrance test scores as well as on the basis of leadership qualities rather than in terms of financial need.

However, while the costs of a college education continue to rise, the amounts of these scholarships --ranging in value from $2,000 to $5,000 for a four-year period - have not been increased in over four years.

Prompted by statistics concerning the program, Mr.

Jim Schlimmer, Director of Admissions and co-Admissions and co-ordinator of the program, and Dr. E. Roy Epperson, Acting Dean of the College, have requested a reevaluation of the program for possible changes. Schlimmer said that the recommendation, which was submitted to Dr. Charles

lege, and his advisory council in late September, stems from two major observances concerning the program's efficiency.

"In the past two years," Schlimmer noted, "two things have happened. One, we've had fewer people ap-

See Applicants, p. 3

As a class project

Education majors create bulletin boards

THIS BULLETIN BOARD is located in Roberts Hall. (Photo by Marsia Firpi)

PEGGY DRAPER HI-PO Reporter

Cutting, gluing and using a lot of imagination is what the K-9 education majors in the methods classes have been doing this semester.

Mrs. Nancy Shelton is the instructor for this methods

The education majors are constructing bulletin boards for the areas of Reading, Language Arts and Social

Shelton commented that a bulletin board is one of the most effective teaching aids. The students learn how to create, design, balance, color schemes and experience dif-ferent forms of lettering. One purpose of using a bulletin board is to motivate the pupils interest. The pupil will become interested in a bulletin board if it contains various colors, eye catching captions and interesting figures, she said.

Stimulating a visualization of ideas, developing individual and group response and enriching instruction are also purposes of using a

bulletin board, which the education majors have been keeping in mind. Several of the bulletin boards are presently displayed on the classroom doors in the basement of Roberts Hall. During the second week in December all of the bulletin boards will be displayed in the student center. Principals, teachers and other administrators from local schools will be invited to view the boards.

Shelton encourages all HPC students to stop and take a look at the individual boards during this week.

Strictly Classified-

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad. type the ad double-spaced and turn it in to the spaced and turn it in to the H1-PO by Friday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ads turned in after this deadline will be held until the next iasue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no designation, the ad will run for only one week.

Employment

Off-campus employment: Title: survey taker Description: Five to seven people needed to take survey on the Hi-Tran buses. Hours: Part-time; Sat. 11-6, 8:30-5:30 and Thurs. 11-11 (negotiable) Address: John Montgomery,

Address: John Montgomery, HI-Tran 889-7433. Contact before Nov. 3.

Off-campus employment: Title: stock clerk Description: J.C. Penneys needs four stock clerks for Christmas. Address: Tom Kiston, J.C. Penneys, Westchester Mall.

On-campus employment: Title: Trainer for basketball team Hours: Part-time Salary: $3.35/hr. Address: Contact the Financial Aid office

On-Campus employment
Title: Stagehands
Description: Need students
to work on stage construction and general work.
Hours: ?

Address: Contact Kay Stroud in the Financial Aid Office; phone 885-5101, ext.

On-campus employment: Title: Manager for basketball team Hours: Part-time Salary: $3.35/hr. Address: Contact the Financial Aid office

Off-campus employment: Title: baby-sitter Description: needs babysitter for a one-year-old child. Hours: one or two times per week. Address: Mrs. Terri Knight, 883-4746.

Off-campus employment: Title: Dog-sitter

Title: Dog-sitter Description: Lady who breeds small dogs and shows them is looking for a person to house and dog sit. Prefers female who loves animals. Hours: mostly weekends Address: Mrs. Gloria Blackburn, 883-7734

Off-campus employment: Title: House sitter Description: House sitter needed to do utility work, clean-up, and wait on the front. Reliable young person needed. Hours: Mon-Fri. 5-7 p.m., Sat. 8-6.

Off-campus employment: Title: Babysitter Address: Pat McDonald, 883-0992

Address: Mrs. Judy Morris,

Services

TYPING DONE ON CAM-PUS. Reasonable rates. Call Tabbie at 889-9814.

TYPING SERVICE. Can pick up and/or deliver. Must have three days to do work. Paper must be supplied by squedent. Call Maria Hale at 869,6462

Announcements

All students in the English 141-146, Communications Practicum, classes should turn in their biweekly reports regularly. A tally of hours up until October 16 has been mailed to each editor/manager of student publications. A master list is posted on the Communications Bulletin Board.

All residence halls will be closed over the Thanksgiving break. According to Michael Pittman, Director of Student Life at High Point College, the halls will be closed at 6 p.m. on November 23 and will not reopen until noon Sunday, November 28.

YES, there are Christian fellowships at High Point College, open to all faculty as well as student. Baptist Student Union,

Tuesday 7:00 p.m.
Intervarsity Christian Fellowship,
Thursday 7:30 p.m.
Lobby of Student Center

All upperclassmen Communications majors (sophomore and above) are strongly encouraged to take English 360, Photographic Communications, spring semester. Two sections will be offered: MWF (1-2), TTh course covers black and white still photography: principles of shot composition, film developing, and basic printing. Lab fee of $25 covers cost of supplies used in class and chemicals for developing and printing. Each class is limited to 15 students.

ATTENTION: The Thanksgiving meal will be served Wed., Nov. 17, featuring turkey and all the trimmings. VOLUNTEERS ARE NEEDED to help decorate. See Mr. Caulfield.

Kathy Thompson, promotional director for WGHP-TV will speak in CH 23 Nov. 4 at 3 p.m. Open to the public.

Graduating Communication seniors are requested to turn in a brief resume and a 2x3 black and white glossy for the annual Job Placement Prospectus to be mailed out to around 400 media businesses the first of the year. The English Department must have the information before you leave for Christmas break, Graduating seniors are: Erika Allion, Gina Cardone, Lisa Davido, Glen Denny, Greg Fox, Delbert Hickman, Wil-liam Johnson, Jane MacCannell, Tabitha Nance, Tana Parker, Michael Pisano, Art Prillaman, Carol Rogers, and Lionel Rogers.

All Communications majors are requested to fill out and turn in to Dr. DeLeeuw the new Information Sheet on majors. The information is needed for future placement in SCIP and for full-time and parttime employment.

CHESS TOURNAMENT
-Nov. 4-14 in the Student Center, Meeting room 1: no
entry fee. The tourney is sponsored by the Student Union. See Dana Gilbert for more information – phone 889-1014 or drop him at note
at P.O. Box 3334.

The next general meeting of all TRIP students is Friday, November 5, at 2:30 p.m. in Cooke 22. Any student unable to attend the meeting should contact Dr. DeLeeuw before that date.

A preliminary meeting for those signed up for a SCIP Internship for the spring semester is scheduled for Tuesday, November 9, 11:30 a.m. in Cooke 22. Any other student who is not yet ready for the internship can attend the meeting for an explanation of the SCIP Internship. So far, three students have tentatively been placed for the spring: Gina Cardone and Jane MacCannell (Channel 2 in Greens-boro) and Pamela York (Cablevision of High Point/ Jamestown). Students currently in SCIP (Lisa Davido, Delbert Hickman, Greg Fox, Tana Parker) should remember to turn in their biweekly reports regularly. Final work and report are due on the last day of classes this semester

Jet-Setter's Preview

There will be an informational meeting Wednesday, Nov. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the LanguageReligion Students' Lounge, Roberts Hall for all those interested in going on the Study Tours to Spain and France this summer. Dr. John Gabriele and Dr. Barbara Long, escorts and tour counselors, will show a film and slides of the countries and answer questions about the trips. Everyone is welcome.

Elon College is sponsoring an afternoon seminar on alternative careers in Communications on November 18, 1-5 p.m. Information on Communications Bulletin Board in Cooke Hall.

Athletic grants offered

ont. from p. 6

Brunson agreed.

"Scholarship benefit both parties, the school and the athlete. Athletes make the fans happy and generate revenue."

Brunson noted the differences in large and small college athletic programs.

"At small institutions, more student athletes graduate. What I'd like to see larger schools do is to go to a five-year program for athletes. The first year would involve getting used to school and studying. Then, the athlete would have four years of playing time."

With promises ranging from academic utopia to an unfurnished apartment, the athletic recruiting process is often a big, albeit shady process is itself. The recruiting process is often where the first mention is made of athletic grants. Brunson was recruited differently, however.

"I had been getting letters for a long time, wanting me to go here and go there. Coach Steele talked to me personally. That was one reason I chose High Point College."

Brunson's final remarks were words of advice.

"Scholarships are good if the athlete takes advantage of the situation and gets an education. The coaches should stress that more. If the athletes don't get an education, they hurt themselves more than anyone."

High Point College's

"Working for a better informed campus"

High Point, N.C. 27262

Vol. 55

INSIDE "Scrooge," November 10, 1982 Sports, p. 6

International Business seminar Writing Proficiency held for language teachers Exam to be Nov. 16

BY PAMELA YORK News Editor

Because of the increasing emphasis on international trade, foreign language skills among businessmen is becoming a requirement for effective communication with people of other countries. According to Dr. Frances S. Hoch, Chairman of the Department of Modern Languages at High Point College, the recognition of the relationship between these two areas prompted the planning of the seminar, "Foreign Languages and International Business: A Workshop for Teachers."

The workshop, which was held Nov. 5 and 6 at the College, was designed primarily foreign language teachers of the college, high school, and junior high school levels. Hoch said, "The purpose of the workshop is to acquaint these teachers with the relationship between foreign languages and international business in North Carolina and also to discuss materials and methods for teaching foreign language for business. Most of these people are looking for ways to introduce the practical applications for foreign languages into business. Hoch, who coordinated the two-day seminar, said the scheduled events included specific sessions on international trade and foreign language for business and general sessions on the relationship between the two. The guest speaker for the workshop was Dr. Geoffrey Voght from Eastern Michigan University, "We are very fortunate to be able to bring Dr. Voght to High Point College," Hoch said. "He is one of the national experts in this field."

Also involved in the program were departmental teachers and people associated with international business from the Triad area. In addition to Hoch, HPC's Dr. Richard Bennington, Chairman of the Earl N. Phillip School of Business, and Dr. Carole A. Head, Assistant Professor of Modern Languages, spoke at the seminar. Mr. John Schmonses (U.S. Department of Commerce, Greensboro), and Ms. Joann Sprink (R.J. Reynolds and Tobacco co.) also provided workshop sessions.

Bennington said he thought a major benefit of See International, p. 4

The Academic Dean of the College has announced the fall date for the Writing Proficiency Examination. It will be administered at 11:30 a.m. Tues., Nov. 16 in Room 106 of Haworth Hall

All students who enrolled at High Point College during or after September, 1980 and who plan to graduate from HPC must take and pass the HPC Writing Proficiency Examination. Those who must take the test this fall include 1) those currently enrolled in English 102, 2) new transfer students, and 3) those who have failed the exam but now have permission from the Writing Center to retake it.

Correction

In last week's issue of the HI-PO, the story concerning the two dean applicants said that the choice for dean had been narrowed from five to two people. This statement was an error. There has been no decision made on choices for the dean. HI-PO regrets this error.

Applicants decrease as scholarship fails to increase

With both college tuition and inflation continually increasing, students cannot afford to overlook any possible source of financial assistance

At High Point College, one such source for incom ing freshmen is the Presidential Scholarship program. Originating from the Admissions Office, these scholarships are awarded on the basis of high school achievement demonstrated through course work and college entrance test scores as well as on the basis of leadership qualities rather than in terms of financial need.

However, while the costs of a college education continue to rise, the amounts of these scholarships -ranging in value from $2,000 to $5,000 for a four-year period have not been increased in over four years.
Prompted by statistics concerning the program, Mr.

Jim Schlimmer, Director of Admissions and co-ordinator of the program, and Dr. E. Roy Epperson, Acting Dean of the College, have requested a re-evaluation of the program for possible changes. Schlimmer said that the recommendation, which was submitted to Dr. Charles Lucht, President of the College, and his advisory council in late September, stems from two major observances concerning the program's efficiency.

"In the past two years," Schlimmer noted, "two things have happened. One, we've had fewer people ap-

See Applicants, p. 3

As a class project

Education majors create bulletin boards

THIS BULLETIN BOARD is located in Roberts Hall. (Photo by Marsia Firpi)

BY PEGGY DRAPER HI-PO Reporter

Cutting, gluing and using a lot of imagination is what the K-9 education majors in the methods classes have been doing this semester. Mrs. Nancy Shelton is the instructor for this methods

The education majors are constructing bulletin boards for the areas of Reading, Language Arts and Social

Shelton commented that a bulletin board is one of the most effective teaching aids. The students learn how to create, design, balance, color schemes and experience different forms of lettering.

One purpose of using a bulletin board is to motivate the pupils interest. The pupil will become interested in a bulletin board if it conns various colors, eye catching captions and in-teresting figures, she said.

Stimulating a visualization of ideas, developing individual and group response and enriching instruction are also purposes of using a bulletin board, which the education majors have been keeping in mind. Several of the bulletin boards are presently displayed on the classroom doors in the basement of Roberts Hall. During the second week in December all of the bulletin boards will be displayed in the student center. Principals, teachers and other administrators from local schools will be invited to view the boards.

Shelton encourages all HPC students to stop and take a look at the individual boards during this week.

EDITORIALS Pledges congratulated and enthusiasm encouraged The following is a letter received by the Hi-PO.

Dear Pledges:

Congratulations to all the new pledges of the Greek organizations at High Point College! As young college men and women, you elected to participate in rush activities and then were given the opportunity to pledge a par-ticular group that will play a very important role in your college life. This affiliation will continue after gradua-tion into a lifetime of friendships and association with men and women of similar ideals and interests. Emphasis and association with men and women of similar ideals and interests. Emphasis should be placed on the fact that membership as a collegiate is for a few short years; it is as an alumni that the greatest privilege of membership should be realized.

Great works of long ago, authors of literature, philosophy, music and many classics are with us today because they have weathered "the test of time". Generation after generation has enjoyed and appreciated Longfellow, Socrates, Chopin, and the later classics of eonard Bernstein and even Walt Disney. Although classics were born into existence through the thoughtful expressions of their authors, they still provide entertainment, appreciation and joy -they each were a product of their time. While not everyone agrees or appreciates in the same way, Chopin will appeal to some while Disney would top the list for others. How very much like this are the sororities and fraternities which have stood the test of

The fraternity world is not for everyone just as not everyone can agree about the classics. Yet, you must agree that these organizations, founded on Christian ideals, have met the test and are alive and well because of their perpetuation of close sisterhood and brotherhood, which offer a chance to develop close friendships of a lifetime. By encouraging young men and women to accept their responsibilities and privileges, to encourage scholastic achievement, lead, to serve, to appreciate others and to respond to the needs of their fellow man in philanthropic endeavors through the rich heritage and traditions of their individual chapters, they also serve as a "family" or support group at a formative time in a young adults life. Today Greek membership is striving to maintain its standards, values and high aspirations of their founders. However, changes are occur-ing due to the accelerated rate of our lives. The collegiate of today does not want stilted parties and "small talk"; rather you are seeking to "know", you are more knowledgeable, mature and questioning, and far more sensitive to others needs than students a decade or two ago. Along with apathy, indifference, and some individuals and organizations that consider the college fraternity/sorority exper-ience today to be of "the Animal House" variety, problems of inflation and changing social values are also preventing some chapters from reaching quota.

In closing, I would encourage you to look backward to the founding fathers of our Greek groups and their traditions and to go forward -- meet the needs of collegiate men and women; keeping our ideals before us, reaching out to others and serving them. The importance of your pledge training cannot be over-estimated as the strength of this program will determine the future strength and life of your chapters. I would challenge you to achieve the very best, both individually and as groups, that you can, and to demonstrate these qualities of excellence to the campus and High Point College community.

Best wishes for a successful year.

Sincerely, Joan R. Betsill, Kappa Delta, (University of Md) Admissions Office

Upper level piano courses offered also

Dear HI-PO Editor, Recently several students informed me they were not aware that advanced piano lessons were offered at High Point College. Their misunderstanding was due in part to the way piano courses are listed on the spring semesters course offerings sheets. Only one course - Music 101A - is listed for piano lessons. This number is used for our department's convenience to indicate all piano lessons and does not reflect any particular course level. Please be aware that Music 101A is not only for beginners. I wish to extend an invitation to any interested students to sign up for this course. Please stop by Room 2 in the Fine Arts Building and talk with me for more information. I would like to know who you

Cordially, Marcia Dills, Fine Arts

Is the pen mightier?

The scholar is the seeker after truth. He is also the recorder of the facts and findings of his search. We do not have many scholars at High Point College.

We have many teachers, many good teachers, many personable teachers who are concerned about their students. We have many innovative, forward-looking teachers, but we have very few who are actively, ambitiously pursuing new knowledge. We do not have many who are writing and publishing. This chasm should be bridged.

Part of the problem is the attitude of the administration, past and present. The Faculty Handbook says this in its statement on criteria for promotion: "Although scholarly publications and research activities are not the major criteria for promotion at High Point College, they are considered as desirable scholarly pursuits"(p. 12). Not very deeply hidden in this circular sentence is the admission that the College is failing to support research and publication. The lack of release time and the suspension of sabbaticals are other indications of this failure.

Most colleges take the easy way out when it comes to such support. We are all familiar with the "publish or perish" policy. Such a negative solution does more harm than good.

As a matter of fact, since statistics show that only a small minority of those who take advanced degrees continue scholarly research, the negative approach would be unrealistic and debilitating.

Another part of the problem is the attitude of professors themselves. Most seem to think that research and writing for publication are boring and laborious.

If this were as far as it went, we could accept it as per sonal preference and forget about encouraging it. But that's not as far as it goes

The attitudes of the administration and of individual professors are carried over onto the classroom and affect the attitudes of our students. Students dislike research papers and reject scholarly professions partially because their professors do not engage in it and partially because the administration does not support it.

We need positive enducements - money, release time, sabbaticals. At the very least, we need to acknowledge publicly, within the College and without, those who are completely fulfilling the traditional responsibilities of the college professor.

Room 209 Campus Center Crystal L. Hedgecock . . . . . . . Editor-in-Chief Lewis Wheless . . . . . . . . . Associate Editor Scott Morgan ..... Advertising and Business Manager Charles Burton ...... Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the ex-pressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO.

The HI-POwelcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed, and an address must be included. If war ranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as seen necessary.

Marion Hodge -Assistant Professor of English

Library construction Applicants is right on schedule

LIBRARY CONSTRUCTION is well underway. This worker welds a beam at the top of the library. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

MARK PHELPS

HI-PO Reporter The construction of High Point College's new library is running right on schedule and is planned to be completed sometime in August.

Mr. Ken Bulla, the College's Business Manager, has hopes of the completion to come sooner than ex-pected. "It would be nice for it to be finished before the end of the summer so that it can be ready for the beginning of the school year.

Mr. Bulla said that the architectural planning of the new and current libraries are mostly the same. "The main difference between the two buildings is the size. The new one will have room for a language lab, and there will be much easier accessibility to the books with the larger stocking room. There will also be an elevator.

The current library has about 15,000 square feet while the new library has 46,000 square feet. Asked whether there has been a decision made on what will he done with the old building, Mr. Bulla said that there has been a number of proposals, but nothing has been determined.

plying for the program, and two, fewer people are enroll-ing in High Point College after having been awarded Presidential Scholarships."

Mrs. Kay Stroud, Director of Financial Aid, said she feels a lack of increase in the amounts of the scholarships may be a factor in the lessened effectiveness of the program. "If the Presidential Scholarships remain at the lower amounts, prospective students may not have the incentive to compete for them." She added, "Because everything else has gone up, I think that the Presidential Scholarships should go up

In terms of any changes that may result from the reevaluation, Schlimmer said, "I anticipate the essentials of the program will remain the same - the scholarships being renewable each year for four years if the student maintains a 3.0 grade point average. The only change we would anticipate would be the dollar value of the scholarships." In regard to benefits of an increase in the scholarship amount, Schlimmer said, "It would cause a lot more peo-ple to be interested in the college." Echoing a similar opinion, Stroud said, "This would be one way to help the students...by keeping up with the other changes in the economy. And that's what we are interested in -helping our students. We are going to try and help them all we can.

Schlimmer said that a decision concerning changes must be made by the time students are invited to the campus for interviews, which is scheduled for Feb. 18-20. He also noted, "At present we are in the process of gathering input from different groups on campus, while keeping in mind that our primary purposes are to attract and enroll a good number of top quality, high academic students and to be competitive with other private schools."

"Currently," Schlimmer said, "the gears are in mo-tion to go through the program for the winter. We are in the process of building a list of prospective applicants." In an effort to attract more students into the system, Schlimmer said they have expanded the number of students to be considered as applicants. "We are going to pastors and guidance counselors to ask for students they think may be qualified. The biggest area of change I expect is a larger number of people competing and showing interest in the program.'

Old and new business discussed SGA meeting held

BY KAREN HERNANDEZ

HI-PO Reporter
The Student Legislature Association met Thursday Nov. 4th. The proper procedures were taken as for voting and reports from the various committees were announced.

On October 28, Mr. Paul Lundrigan, Chairman of the Cultural Programs Committee, submitted a proposal to the Student Government to provide five hundred dollars toward the cost of presenting a performance of the musical "The Fantasticks." Mark Mashburn, SGA President, vetoed the bill Nov. 4 because he said it was not SGA's place to fund this project. He also said that not many students at-tend such functions. Therefore, he said, it is not worth giving financial sup-

A complaint was given by the student body in general in regard to the posting of activities on campus not being done accurately. Tom Leech, speaker of the legislature, directed his message to the Committee Chairmen and people involved in this committee. He said some kind of action would be taken because this committee needs people who are responsible. They need to keep the campus informed as to the coming events, he said.

The Executive Committee announced the launching of a series of articles concerning a conference that three representatives of the SGA attended in St. Louis. Four topics will be discussed. These will be placed in a series of four weeks.

The Student Union announced that next semester there will not be as many coffeehouses or dances. They have planned to do less activities to bring better quality performances. This includes the probability of bringing in concert Eddie Money, 38 Special, or other

The next SGA meeting is scheduled for Nov. 18 at 6:30 in meeting room #2 of the Campus Center. All HPC students are encouraged to attend.

St. Louis meeting offers new ideas to HPC leaders

BY MARK MASHBURN

Special to the HI-PO While most students were traveling home for Fall Break, Bruce Tingle, Wendi Hora, and Mark Mashburn traveled traveled to St. Louis, Missouri, to attend the 4th Annual National Leadership Conference on Student and University Government.

The reason: to improve our SGA and student body in its leadership capabilities. Tingle, Hora and Mashburn attended 14 different workshops and seminars. Some of the topics of the discussions participated in include: Program Planning for Student Governments, Assertive Training for Campus Leaders, Reducing Student Apathy, Role of the Student Body President, Time Management, Effective Committee Work, and various Roundtable discussions.

In order to share some of the ideas there will be a series of articles to be published in the HI-PO. By publishing the articles, perhaps other leaders on campus will carefully ex-amine some of these ideas, ponder them, and try the ideas with their organiza-tions, in hopes of improving their organizations and themselves.

Pat Bosco, administrator of Kansas State University. lead the conference. He has had several years of ex-perience in leadership training, student government advising, campus union pro-gramming, residence hall staff training and Greek affairs in both a community college and major university settings. He gave the opening Keynote address, which will be summarized in this

The first question address-ed was "should students share power?" The answer, a definite YES! Sharing power teaches democracy and deals with important decisions which affect those who are a part of the college community. Those involved in leadership positions are usually characterized by being more mature and sophisticated. Leadership is always of great educational value for those willing to invest both time and effort in an organizational structure and really become involved.

Bosco then outlined ten points which he called Boscoisms. These are very key points for leaders to know, understand, and follow. The list of Boscoisms

1. Know the system or organization in which you are involved. Know your Constitution and what it

2. Know the Gatekeepers -These are people who have knowledge on how decisions are made.

3. Know your constituen-See St. Louis, p. 5

Hi-Po Staff

Reporters . . . . . Erika Allion, Peggy Draper, Thomas Grana, Karen Hernandez, Mark Phelps, Tabbie Nance Susan Warrick

Photographers .... Marisa Firpi, Bill Johnson

Info series. . .

Loan programs help fund tuition costs

The following is the second installment in a three-part informational series concerning the student's responsibilities and options with regard to financial aid at High Point College. The series is intended to be an educational tool to make students more aware of what aid is available and how it can be obtained.

BY LEWIS WHELESS
Associate Editor

As the availability of student grants decreases, and as the competition for scholarships increases, many students are turning to loans and tuition plans as viable alternatives for funding their educations.

According to Kay Stroud. Director of Financial Aid at High Point College, students and their parents are discovering that loans provide "good alternatives" when seeking additional aid. Many loans are given at slightly lower interest rates than car or house loans, and the repayment periods generally begin after the student has left college.

Tuition is often due to be paid in one large sum, and often at inconvenient times. The tuition plan alleviates this problem by offering a system of money management that creates a schedule of monthly payments.

months after the student leaves school or falls below half-time status. This loan may allow a repayment period of up to 10 years, and payments will be at least $30 per month.

The outlook for the NDSL at High Point College is a favorable one. "We still have a good allocation (of NDSL funds), so we foresee no problem. We also have a good default rate at High Point College. Schools without a good default rate will have problems (with NDSL allocations)," Mrs. Stroud said.

The GSL is a low-interest loan made to the student by a lender, such as a bank, savings and loan association, or credit union. The interest rates for new borrowers is nine percent. The undergraduate may borrow up to $2,500, and the graduate may borrow up to $5,000 under the GSL program. The major limitation

The outlook for the NDSL at High Point College is a favorable one. "We still have a good allocation (of NDSL funds), so we foresee no problem. We also have a good default rate at High Point College. Schools without a good default rate will have problems (with NDSL allocations)," Mrs. Stroud said.

According to Mrs. Stroud, there are three basic loan programs available at High Point College. They are the National Direct Student Loan, (NDSL), the Guaranteed Student Loan (GSL), and the PLUS loan.

(GSL), and the PLUS loan. The NDSL is a low-interest loan available to graduate and undergraduate students who automatically apply by filing for financial aid. Anyone is a vocational aid. Anyone is a vocational operarm or anyone who has completed less than two years of a program leading to a Bachelor's degree can borrow up to $5,000 at a 5 percent interest rate. Those who have completed two years toward a Bachelor's degree and have achieved third-year status may borrow up to $6,000, and graduate students may borrow up to $12,000. The repayment period begins six with this loan is that a student cannot borrow more than the cost of attendance at his/her school.

The GSL application may be obtained from a lender. school, or state guarantee agency, and students should apply as soon as they are accepted by the school. After the application is made, the school certifies the applicant's enrollment, cost of education, academic standing, and other aid the student will receive, and the student's need, if applicable. The lender then approves or rejects the loan. If it is approved, the lender gets the approval of a state guarantee agency or the Department of Education. The loan is made to the applicant in one or more payments.

Students who have a family adjusted gross income of more than $30,000 have to demonstrate need for the GSL by the completion of a needs test, which is a form obtainable from the financial aid office or a lender.

Repayment of the GSL begins six months after the student leaves school if the interest rate is nine percent, and nine to twelve months if the interest rate is seven percent. Students usually have at least five to ten years to repay the loan.

repay the loan.
Mrs. Stroud said that in speaking with Duffey L. Paul, Director of the College Foundation, he "felt real confident about the GSL allocations" for this year.

PLUS loans are the third basic type of loan available to students and their parents. This loan is made by a lender, (like the GSL), and it carries a 12 percent interest rate. Student's parents may borrow up to $3,000 per year, and independent undergraduates may borrow up to $2,500 per year. Credit ratings are usually checked in approving these loans. Other applications procedures for the PLUS loan are similar to those for the GSL, except that the applicant does not have to demonstrate need.

Mr. Paul said that North Carolina expects to have a parent loan program in operation by this spring, and qualified parents should have no difficulty in obtaining one of these loans.

Out-of-state students should contact the Guarantee Agency in their states to seek the PLUS loan.

Mrs. Stroud said that one problem the HPC Financial Aid Department tries to eliminate is students taking out to many loans. "We tell students they will have too much repayment. They want to live when they get out of school." Mrs. Stroud said.

Under the "Tuition Plan," another funding alternative, monthly payments are planned to make sure the right amount of funds are sent to the school at the right time. This plan enable families to stay on a formal budget and avoid debt. There is a one-time initial fee of $25, plus 50' per month for handling.

Mrs. Stroud said that if students have any questions concerning loans, the Tuition Plan, or any other types of financial aid, they should see her in the Financial Aid office in Roberts Hall

Greeks provide services to campus, community

BY TANA PARKER HI-PO Reporter

Contrary to popular belief, fraternities and sororities at High Point College are not "Animal House" stereotypes. They contribute a lot to both the campus and community. In particular, they have social service projects and national philanthropies in which they raise money.

Phi Mu Sorority is recognizing November as Project HOPE month, which is their national philanthropy. Project HOPE, Health Oppor-tunities for People Everywhere, provides health care education at home and abroad. Phi Mu's Social Service Director. Sharon Elrod, listed some of the events which will occur. This week balloon-a-grams will be sold for 50 cents each. Sunday, Nov. 14, the Mu's will Phi showing a movie entitled "Where there is HOPE." All are invited to attend the showing in the Panhellenic room, above the post office, at 6:30 p.m. More events will be announced at a later date.

The Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity received an award last weekend in connection with their national philanthropy, The March of Dimes. President John McDonald and member Buzz Mackintosh traveled to Indianapolis, Indiana for their National Leadership Gonference. After attending many seminars, varying from topics on scholarship goals to alcohol awareness, the Delta Zeta chapter received an award for their contribution to the March of Dimes. The Sigs won their award for earning over $500 collars last spring while participating in a telethon in High Point.

At the same time, the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity went to the Mills Baptist Childrens Home in Thomasville. This is an annual trip in which they have a cook-out and play games with the children during the afternoon.

International

cont from n 1

the program was to present "the career opportunities available for those who have an understanding of both language and business and the type of international trade that the U.S. is carrying on."

In terms of specific figures that relate the importance of the areas of foreign language and business, Hoch noted, "The U.S. in general is becoming more and more involved in export. At present, we only have 9 per cent of the world trade. We need to increase this in order to comincrease this in order to comincrease this in order to com-tries." In reference to the local level, she added, "In N.C., there are 2400 companies that deal in international trade, and there are 150 foreign-owned companies that have branches and companies here."

Because companies are having to look outside the U.S. for trade, Bennington said he belives trade will continue to become more interdependent in the future. "Companies will have to sell to other countries to remain profitable. It will have to be a "live and let live" situation... there's really no other choice."

HPCC t.v. tapes show

BY CRYSTAL L. HEDGECOCK

Editor-in-Chief
The High Point College t.v. practicum, under the direction of Dr. William DeLeeuw, Director of Communications, taped the dress rehearsal of "Grease" at the High Point Theatre last

According to DeLeeuw, the tape, after editing, will be available for broadcast over Channel 19, High Point College's public access chan"We hope to have this type of arrangement in the tuture with the theatre where we tape the productions and air them over High Point College Community t.v.," DeLeeuw said.

"Grease," a High Point Community Theatre production was the same show as performed on Broadway, with the exception of a few songs added from the movie version said Sharon Robinson, executive director of High Point Community Theatre.

"Scrooge" combines efforts of college and community

BY SCOTT MORGAN

HI-PO Reporter
The High Point College Fine Arts Department and Andrews high school have joined forces to produce "Scrooge," a one-act musical play based on Dickens' "A Christmas Carol

'Scrooge'' tells the familiar story of miserly Ebenezer Scrooge who is visited on Christmas Eve. circa 1860, by various ghosts and learns the true iov of Christmas comes from giving.

The cast includes students from the college and local schools as well as the Triad community. Two members of the HPC teaching staff will also be appearing in major roles.

Paul Lundrigan, Assistant Professor of Theatre, is playing Scrooge, and Dr. James Elson, Professor of music, will appear as the Ghost of Christmas Present.

Jane Burton, Associate Professor of Art, is heading the costume crew, and the set was designed by Raiford

Porter, Associate Professor of Art. The set is one of the most ambitious attempted in several years, according to Lundrigan.

The set consists of six wheeled platforms that rotate and open to expose the various settings, from Scrooge's office to the graveyard where he sees his own grave with the Ghost of Christmas future.

The cast also includes HPC students Bob Clark as Bob Cratchit, and Anna Minear as Mrs. Cratchit; Irene Tivald as a Cratchit daughter; Scott Morgan as Marley's Ghost and Ghost of Christmas Future; and Mary Hunter and Donna Hoover as street merchants of London.

"Scrooge" is directed by David Appleton, Dr. Elson is the Musical Director, Mallory Graham is Choreographer, and Cat Burton is Stage Manager.

resented December 8-11 in Memorial Auditorium.

THE SET DESIGNED for "Scrooge" is "one of the most ambitious attempted in several years," Paul Lundrigan said. Raiford Porter is the designer. (Photo by Marsia Firpi)

A review Sugarcreek heads for the top

JANET GIBBONS

Special to the HI-PO Today's music business is tough and competitive! To gain recognition a band must work hard and then work harder. It takes initative, determination and, above all else, talent to make a name. Sugarcreek, a six member band from Charlotte, N.C., has the ingredients it takes to create a sound that stands out. Sugarcreek's members include Rick Lee, keyboards and vocals; Lynn Samples, drums and vocals; Mike Barber, bass and vocals; Jerry West, guitar and vocals; and Tim Clark, vocals an percussion. Gray Peck is the sound techician for Sugarcreek.

Sugarcreek's first studio album, Fortune, is a collection of ten songs that incorporates high energy sound, driving beat, and melodies that stick with you long after the needle has been lifted from the record. There is nothing mellow or laidback about Fortune. The music is up-front, straightforward rock and roll. The overall sound is polished, crisp, and consistent. If you're a lover of pure rock and roll. Fortune is an album that belongs in your collec-

One of the first things that struck me about Sugarcreek is that each of the musicians is also a vocalist. It is rare that each band member contributes vocally. This situation provides for a nice variety and exceptional harmonies on Fortune. Each band member also contributed to the writing on Fortune. Jerry West and Rick Lee are the dominant writers, but the influence of the other writers. -Clark, Lynn Samples, Mike Barber and non-band member Robin Farr - makes for a consistent, yet varied

One of the songs on For-tune is called "Going For It," and I think it sums up Sugarcreek's future: they are going for it. Sugarcreek has had shows with the Outlaws, Wet Willie, and Pablo Cruise, to name a few. Sugarcreek has played at many college campuses, in-cluding our own. The band tours clubs throughout the southeast and their itinerary now includes a visit to P.B. Scott's Music Hall in Blowing Rock, N.C. from Nov. 11-13. So, if you're curious about Sugarcreek, you may want to catch them at P.B.

Scott's If you can't see them this time around, I'm sure you'll get a chance to hear Sugarcreek via the air waves because "the creek is rising," and Sugarcreek is here to stay.

St. Louis

cont. from p. 3

cy - Have a general understanding of those involved in your group or organization.

4. Pick your Spots - Know when and where to express vourse

5. Maintain Continuity Leaders should leave a paper trail for those who succeed you in office. Use meeting minutes as public information of what your organization is doing. Use your advisors effectively.

6. Know Who You Repre-

Give and Get correct information on issues you are

8. Do NOT be a "Conspain in the neck to those with whom you are

9. Understand Autonomy and Use It.

10. Look to Your Role as a Learning Experience.

In the coming weeks, Ef-fective Committee Work and Elections, Student Activity Fees and Motivating Stu-dent Volunteers, and Reducing Student Apathy will be covered in the series.

7. Do Your Homework -

First concert Nov. 22 Community band formed BY LEWIS WHELESS Associate Editor Assoc

A tuba blasts. A trumpet boasts its hearty voice. A clarinet echoes a merry tune, and a drum explodes under its player's hand.

It is Monday night in the High Point Auditorium, and band practice has begun.

Mr. Jack Jarret, a retired music teacher, wanted to devise a project to fill some of his free time, so he formed a new concert band at High Point College. The three-month-old band has a membership of nearly 40, and according to Jarret, "they are doing a fantastic job. Everybody comes back every week, and they love it."

The majority of the band's members are from the community; in fact, only two of the musicians are students of the college. Jarret said he does not understand why more members of the student body are not participating in the ensemble because college credit is offered for the "course." ret said the band presently has no funding, but he hopes freewill contributions will be given after the first concert on Nov. 22. We will be able to buy new music (with the contribution money)." The band is currently using music provided by HPC and Andrews everal classical and contemporary pieces will be performed during the band's first concert on Nov. 22. They will include:

Shostakoviches "Festive Overture-Opus
96," Gustuv Holt's "First Suite (E-Flat)," Barry Manilow's "It's A Miracle," "Portrait of Duke Ellington," and the "Russian Sailor Dance.

Ar, Jarret said the band hopes to present at least one concert during each season of

Mon-Thur 11-11 High Point Fri & Sat 11-Midnight CLOSED SUNDAY

To become District 26 champs Volleyball team defeats St. Augustine

Sports Editor

In the District 26 Tournament held at High Point College Friday, the Women's Volleyball Team emerged victorious over its chief nemesis, St. Augustine. In two semi-final games, St. Augustine defeated Mars Hill 15-7, 15-13, 15-5. High Point then defeated Lenoir-Rhyne 5-15, 15-5, 15-10, 9-15, 15-16. The winners of the semi-finals - HPC and St. Augustine - then paired off for the finals.

'We went into the finals with a loss to St. Augustine in the regular season and with a loss last year in the finals," Coach Nancy Little remarked. Previous losses aside, HPC defeated Augustine 8-15, 15-13, 16-14, 11-15, 15-7, a wift that made the HPC team the District 26 champions.

"We blocked early and served very well. Cynthia Ismael and Ursula Watt were our prime servers," Lit-tle said. "Kim Jones spiked a lot they couldn't block which also helped."

How did Little feel about the opponent? "St. Augustine is truly a talented team, but we played a very mental game period; our team was very coachable. Volleyball is a mental game and a spirit game; a game that involves both the heart and the mind."

The strengths of the oppo nent were formidable, according to Little.

They (Aug.) are probably better hitters. They've played together a lot. We out-thought and 'out-gutsed' them, though, pro-bably because of the fan's support. They were great the gym was noisy and the fans were very supportive. The team loved it.

Players from HPC named to the All-Tournament team were Cynthia Ismael, Ursula Watt, and Viveca Wingfield. The next match is against Wilmington College of Delaware. The winner of that game will play in the National Tournament in Regis. Col.

District 26 covers the whole state of North Carolina, and High Point College's own are the cham-

NANCY LITTLE

High Point Coll Page 6 - HI-PO - Wednesday, November 10, 1982

SPORTS

High Point Soccer team defeated in shootout

BY CHARLES BURTON

Sports Editor Imagine two of the best soccer teams in the conference. Put them together playing a conference game. You would probably expect quick, aggressive scoring and tough competition from both sides, right?

Wrong, Although the competition was tough, the scor-ing just wasn't there. Ninety minutes into the regular time, the score was 0 for High Point, 0 for Atlantic Christian. With a situation like this one, go into overtime period where somebody will score quickly and the game will intensify, right?

Wrong. After four tenminute overtime periods, the score was still 0-0. After such a quandry as this, the such a quandry as this, the NASL rules say it's "shootout time." With five players on each team, the game will build to a white-hot intensity, usually with both teams breaking the deadlock and scoring. That usually happens, but not always.

And it didn't happen in the championship game. Atlantic Christian won the championship; their fifth player in the shootout scored the winning goal.

"We're disappointed," Coach Woody Gibson said. "It's unfortunate that a championship game had to be decided that way. The coaches never dreamed the outcome would be like that...It was an excellent match, and both teams played well."

The team finished the season with a 10-7-2 final overall record. Their opponent, Atlantic Christian, is an old nemesis.

'This is the third year in a row Atlantic Christian has played us," Gibson said. They've won all three mat-Gibson's greatest disappointment was for the seniors on the team, the proverbial "captains of the team effort.

"I am deeply disappointed for the seniors who had done everything they could to be on a district championship team and were unable to be. I thought all three seniors: Pepe Perrone, Ricky Klier, and David Morse really put forth a lot of effort."

IN A RECENT MATCH against Atlantic Christian, both High Point and Atlantic Chris tian produced much action, but the score remained 0-0 until High Point was finally defeated in the shootout. (Photo by B.J.)

In such a series of events as the shootout and the overtime periods, it is often difficult to determine which is the better team. Sheer luck plays a large role in the success of any team under such circumstances.

"With all the effort of both teams, you can't say that one team was better than the other. One just had to win, while the other had

Many schools on NCAA probation

Campus Digest News Service

Everyone reads about the top ten college teams, and who's leading the nation in statistics, but a lot of people miss out on the little stories about the teams that have been caught cheating.

Eighteen universities are currently on some sort of NCAA probation.

Nine are on probation for football rules infractions including Arizona State, Southern Methodist University, and the Universities of Colorado, Georgia, Miami, Oregon, Southern Califor-Wisconsin at Madison, and Texas at Austin. Most of the infractions stem from improper recruiting practices. Arizona State, and the Universities of New Mexico and Oregon are all barred from appearing in televised games this season. Some schools, like the Universities of Colorado, Texas and Wisconsin have no sanctions in effect for their charges of improper recruiting.

The University

Southern California currently has the harshest sanctions in effect: no postseason competition through the 83-84 season, no televised games during 83 and 84, a coach prohibited from recruiting for two years and 16 people prohibited from participating in the athletic program for a period of three years. Southern Cal's probation will end April 21, 1985. The schools on probation for basketball infractions include Arkansas State University, Texas Christian, Witchita State, Cal State Polytechnic, Saint Louis University and the Universities of California at Los See Many, p. 7

Henron Color SPORTS

Many schools on NCAA probation

tion absorbed management problems makes

With 13-6 record

Field Hockey season ends

BY CHARLES BURTON

Sports Editor
If there was such a thing as an honorary all-star team, coach Kitty Steele would probably put her entire field hockey team on it, then go on to make defending champions of the already champion team. Having a few All-Star team members on a team makes any coach feel proud; having seven, however, is even more an accomplishment.

"We finished the regular season with a 13-6 record for the year," Steele remarked. We had a ten-game winning streak, with the season culminating in the Deep South Tournament." The Tournament was held in Boone Oct. 30-31.

inere were three games in the Tournament," Steele said. "In the first game, we played Appalachian, and won with a score of 1-0. That one point was scored by Helen O'Brien. In game two, we played the Durham Club, and won 2-1. Scoring in that game were Lou Taylor and Helen O'Brien. We then went on to win the third match against the Tobacco Road Club, with a score of 3-0. In that game, Lynn Whitaker scored two points; Lou Taylor scored one point."

Partially because of their success at the Deep South Tournament, players Carol Angeles, California at Santa Barbara, New Mexico, South Florida. Most of these schools are under probation for improper recruiting or extra benefits given to their

Most of the infractions that lead to a school being placed on NCAA probation are turned in to there NCAA for investigation by disgruntled athletes or parents who believe their son was treated unfairly.

The investigations do not always turn up cases of wrongdoing, but the NCAA puts a lot of time and effort into each investigation to make sure all thefacts are

Whether or not the fear of probation is a deterrent to

Many:

Bidermann, Carol Williams Sharon Packen, Anneli Kiviniemi, Lynn Whitaker were named to the All-Star Team, with seniors Helen O'Brien and Lou Taylor named to the First All-Star

With a 13-6 record, ten points of which were earned in a ten-game winning streak, the field hockey team emerged as yet another champion in High Point College's fall sports season.

BECAUSE OF CHEMOTHERAPY KAREN ANDERSON IS A STATISTIC. THE KIND OF STATISTIC WE LIKE TO BRAG ABOUT.

When Karen was only 18 years old, her doctor discavered she had a deadly farm of leukemia. Facing incredible odds, a sur-vival rate af only 3%, Karen spent the next three years in inten

Not anly was her life at stake, but if she did survive, there were serious questians as to whether she'd be able to have children. Naw, eight years and two sons later, you'd never suspect that this vigorous young mather had battled a disease that kills more than 15,000 Americans every year. Karen, Brian and Erik are living proof that we're gaining in the fight against can-cer. It's a fight we can't affard to lose. It's your danations that help us cantinue the research, education and reha-bilitation programs that will give us mare statistics like Karen Anderson. The kind af statistics we can all be

> THE COST OF LIVING

Majors attend convention

BY JEFF BLANK

Special to The HI-PO On Thursday, November fourth, Randy Aaron, Jeff Blank, Butch Bowser, Lenora Compton, and Gary Heaton attended the North Carolina Alliance for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation convention at the Holiday Inn in Greensboro.

Programs began at 8 a.m., with talks about sports clubs, intramurals, officiating, "keys to your future," and recrea tion and rehabilitation for Senior Citizens. There were numerous booths set up to inform participants about future careers, sporting odds, continuing education, and profit-making ideas for

In addition to the seminars, concession stand supplies have been ordered and purchased to begin this year's basketball season. The majors also worked the stand for the women's volleyball tournament. More projects for majors are being planned, including the New Games Festival to be held Friday, November 19 in the Alumni Gymnasium. All majors are asked to attend this event.

Stadium lights for rent

Campus Digest News Service

Renting rug cleaners, cars or just about anything is big business these days. For Musco Mobile Lighting Ltd., rentals are really big business

For a mere $50,000, the company will deliver several semi-trailer trucks mounted with six banks of light. It is not your average consumer will ask to rent the mobile lights. So the com-pany is selling its services to colleges whose stadiums are too dark for television broadcasts. Approximately two-thirds of them are too dark, especially those in the north or those which have night games or contests late into the fall.

By using the portable stadium lights, colleges could get more prime time for the football games -and more money for themselves. The going rate for a CBS or ABC national broadcast is half a million dollars or $300.000 for a regional broadcast. Each team in a Turner Broadcast gets $175,000. At those wages, colleges will still make a nice profit even if they have to pay the rental fee for the lights.

Musco Mobile Lighting Ltd. has already lit up Notre Dame's stadium in Michigan and it has several more contracts for this season. However, some network representatives say that not too many college football games will get prime time this fall because of new premieres and tough ratings competition. But they said they like the flexibility and choices the lights give them in selecting what football games they do broadcast.

The portable stadium lights can do more than provide flexibility to the networks. They can give a clearer picture since they hae the ability to outperform permanent lights.

equal to that of the sun so camera crews can do without special filters and The mobile lights. powered by diesel-fuel generators, were first tested at Kinnick Stadium at Iowa University. They produced so much power that a man was seen mowing his lawn several blocks away.

Tests show the lights produce 150-plus foot candles. At midfield, they can give cheating is a controversial subject. Schools obviously lose out when they are prohibited from the revenue that comes from televised appearances and bowl games and the public embarressment from being caught cheating

The NCAA is reportedly expanding its enforcement department staff this year to help investigate abuses in sports. Some of the new private detectives they have hired have even had job experience with a much bigger investigative agency - the FRI.

The NCAA is hoping that stricter policing will help curb and deter the rulebreaking that is taking place in college sports.

Corrections

As stated in last week's issue of The HI-PO, High Point College did not win the District 26 tournament, but did post the best record in regular season play with the score of 7-1-2. Secondly, the team's final overall record was 10-7-2; with a win in the Carolina's Conference Championship.

In the story about sports scholarships, the baseball program has three grants-inaid and baseball players may receive more than three thousand dollars. The other sports listed in the article have two grants-in-aid allowed them. The HI-PO regrets these errors.

200-foot candles of light. A television camera needs at least 90 to 100-foot candles to get a good picture.

Goy Gene's

1702 ENGLISH RD. - HIGH POINT, N. C. 27260 PHONE 888-5316

Strictly Classified-

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from our hometown. To submit an ad, type the ad doublespaced and turn it in to the HI-PO by Friday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ads turned in after this deadline will be held until the next sue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no designstion, the ad will run for only one week.

Employment

Off-campus employment:

on the HI-Tran buses

Description: Five to seven

eople needed to take survey

Hours: Part-time; Sat. 11-6,

8:30-5:30 and Thurs. 11-11

Address: John Montgomery,

HI-Tran 889-7433. Contact

Off-campus employment:

Description: J.C. Penneys needs four stock clerks for Penney, Westchester Mall.

On-campus employment: Title: Trainer for basketball

Title: survey taker

negotiable)

before Nov. 3.

Title: stock clerk

Christmas Address: Tom Kinton, J.C. Off-campus employment: Title: House sitter Description: House sitter needed to do utility work, clean-up, and wait on the front. Reliable young person

Hours: Mon.-Fri. 5-7 p.m., Address: Mrs. Judy Morris, mpus employment: Title: Babysitter Address: Pat McDonald, 883-0992

Services

TYPING DONE ON CAM-PUS. Reasonable rates. Call Tabbie at 889-9814.

TYPING SERVICE. Can pick up and/or deliver. Must have three days to do work. Paper must be supplied by student. Call Maria Hale at

Announcements

YES, there are Christian fellowships at High Point College, open to all faculty as well as student.

Baptist Student Union, Tuesday 7:00 p.m. Intervarsity Christian Fellowship, Thursday 7:30 p.m. Lobby of Student Center

All students in the English 141-146, Communications Practicum, classes should turn in their biweekly reports regularly. A tally of hours up until October 16 has been mailed to each editor/manager of student publications. A master list is posted on the Communications Bulletin Board.

All residence halls will be closed over the Thanksgiving break. According to Michael Pittman, Director of Student Life at High Point College, the halls will be closed at 6 p.m. on November 23 and will not reopen until noon Sunday, November 28.

Jet-Setter's Preview

There will be an informational meeting Wednesday, Nov. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the Language/Religion Students Lounge, Roberts Hall for all those interested in going on the Study Tours to Spain and France this summer. Dr. John Gabriele and Dr. Barbara Long, escorts and tour counselors, will show a film and slides of the countries and answer questions about the trips. Everyone is welTuesday Night Live

Student Union will sponsor a talent show contest to be held on Tues., Nov. 30 at 8:00 p.m. in the Old Student Center, Pizza and drinks will

The contest will have 1st and 2nd place prizes for music (song or instrumental) and comedy. The 1st place winner will receive a $20.00 gift certificate at K-Mart. 2nd place winner will receive a $10.00 gift certificate at K-Mart. There will be a panel from the faculty to judge the performers. Ted Clearly will be master of ceremonies. All students or groups interested in performing in the contest need to start preparing the acts very soon. Please also leave notice of your act in the office of student life. Also, there will be a dress rehearsal for the show on Monday night, Nov. 29.

Graduating Communication seniors are requested to turn in a brief resume and a 2x3 black and white glossy for the annual Job Placement Prospectus to be mailed out to around 400 media businesses the first of the year. The English Department must have the information before you leave for Christmas break. Graduating seniors are: Erika Allion, Gina Cardone, Lisa Davido, Glen Denny, Greg Fox, Delbert Hickman, William Johnson, Jane MacCannell, Tabitha Nance, Tana Parker, Michael Pisano, Art Prillaman, Carol Rogers, and Lionel Rogers.

All Communications majors are requested to fill Dr. DeLeeuw the new Information Sheet on majors. The information is needed for future placement in SCIP and for full-time and parttime employment.

CHESS TOURNAMENT -Nov. 4-14 in the Student Center, Meeting room 1; no entry fee. The tourney is sponsored by the Student Union. See Dana Gilbert for more information - phone 889-1014 or drop him at note at P.O. Box 3334.

Elon College is sponsoring an afternoon seminar on alternative careers in Communications on November 18, 1-5 p.m. Information on Communications E Board in Cooke Hall. Bulletin romance of erotic passion, a glorious film to love and linger over."

-Gene Shalit, NBC-TV (Today)

"Shining.

Meryl Streep provides new life to a cinem for shining stars

Tempestuous.

A romantic blockbuster... one of the most rovocative movies of the year. Impeccably crafted, beautifully mounted and acted.

"Beautiful.

An astonishingly beautiful film looingly re-enacted by Karel Reisz, Harold Pinter and their performers.

Meryl Streep has never been more in command of her talent."

- Yarcni Cook, Nor York Times

The French Lieutenant's

MERYL STREEP JEREMY IRONS KAREL REISZ HUM "THE FRENCH LIEUTENANT'S WOMAN" LEO McKERN HAROLD PINTER JOHN FOWLES CARL DAVIS LEON CLORE KAREL REISZ RI THE SHOET PARENCE TECHNOLOGY SAND CASSETTES

School Kids Records

551 S. Mendenhall Street, Greensboro
Rock - Country - Jazz - Classical - Soul
LP & Tapes

45s - Blank Tapes - Accessories
Open Daily - Mon. - Fri. - til 9:00
Listen for Less

Listen for Less 275-1226 *********

Hours: Part-time Salary: $3.35/hr. Address: Contact the Financial Aid office

On-Campus employment Title: Stagehands Description: Need students to work on stage construc-tion and general work. Hours: ?

Address: Contact Kay Stroud in the Financial Aid Office; phone 885-5101, ext.

Off-campus employment: Title: baby-sitter Description: needs babysitter for a one-year-old child. Hours: one or two times per Address: Mrs. Terri Knight.

Off-campus employment: Title: Dog-sitter

Description: Lady who breeds small dogs and shows them is looking for a person to house and dog sit. Prefers female who loves animals. Hours: mostly weekends Address: Mrs. Gloria Blackburn, 883-7734

High Point College's

"Working for a better informed campus"

High Point, N.C. 27262

November 17, 1982

Vol. 55

INSIDE

Editorials. pp. 2-4 Greek Week. p. 8

Literary festival scheduled

BY CHARLES BURTON

Sports Editor
The Phoenix Literary Festival sponsored by the Department of English will be held this Friday, November 19. Contests and workshops will be held in poetry and short fiction. Stephen Smith (The Bushnell Hamp Poems), Linda Bragg, Karen Helgeson and Tom Walters will be visiting the campus to moderate the workshops, with faculty members Dr. Marion Hodge and Mrs. Alice Sink also leading workshops. All students interested in writing are encouraged to attend. Awards will be given for outstanding poetry and fiction judged on originality, quality of ex-pression, and skill in handling the particular genre.

The schedule for the Festival is as follows:

SCHEDULE 8:15-8:45 Registration and Coffee/Juice McPherson Campus Center 9:00 Session I - Poetry and Fiction Workshops Session II -- Poetry and Fiction Workshops 11:30

Poetry Reading --Linda Bragg and Stephen Lunch 1.15 Rock and Roll and Presentation of Poetry and

Fiction Awards Refreshments in the Governor honors Tingle

BY PEGGY DRAPER

HI-PO Reporter Bruce B. Tingle, Dean of Students was awarded the Governors Volunteer Award 1982, Friday evening, November 5, 1982. North Carolina's governor James B. Hunt Jr. presented the award to Tingle.

The Governors Volunteer Award is awarded annually to an individual showing exemplary community involvement and outstanding accomplishments in one's com-

Tingle said that being a volunteer is very rewarding. He has met many people through his volunteer work and has also received 5 or 6 internships from these peo-

Tingle is presently working with juvenile offenders (people in the 12-17 year-oldage bracket) who have been arrested for some sort of crime. Most of the juveniles are arrested either for shoplifting or alcohol abuse. This program requires the individual to be counciled by a volunteer, such as Tingle, for one year, which in turn removes their criminal

Tingle is also a volunteer for the Piedmont Epilepsy Association, the American Red Cross Blood Service (High Point Chapter), member of the High Point Jaycees and a member of the Guilford County Involvement Council.

BRUCE TINGLE

Nominees Selected

CRYSTAL L HEDGECOCK Editor-in-Chief

Nominees for WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES have been chosen and voted on by the faculty, according to Mr. Earnest Price, chairman of the Student Personnel Com-

Those chosen are: Joyce Bacik, Charles W. Burton, William D. Costello, Christopher Lee Henson, Mary Jonell Hunter, Mary Jonell Hunter, Yvonne D. Hurley, Tabitha Nance, Charles Lee (Chan) Shaver, Nancy Joan Siersted, Theresa H. Spittel, Michael Louia and Mark

The selection process started with 65 students selected by faculty and student leaders. After careful scrutiny of biographical material by a committee of five faculty members, four students and the Student Life office staff, the list was narrowed to 12 nominees. Price said.

The final vote for nominees was taken by the

"We were highly selective and we choose the ones who are unquestionably deserving of this award." Price said.

According to Price, these nominees will be submitted to the national program committee, where the final election process will take

Enrollment figures down from last year

TANA PARKER

HI-PO Reporter Are there fewer or more students attending High Point College this year in comparison to last year? According to Registrar, Mr. David Holt, enrollment is down this year. Mr. Holt explained two main reasons why the decline of student oc-cured. "Academic reasons is a major one." Mr. Holt explained that students may have been ineligible to return because their grade point average was far below what the college demands. Other students have dropped out for reasons varying from sickness, and general dissatisfication of college, to

Comparing last year's enrollment figure of 1385 students to this year's 1355, Mr. Holt stated that See Enrollment, p. 8

Bulla announces resignation

Dr. Charles R. Lucht, President of High Point College, announced today that Kenneth A. Bulla, the college's business manager, will be leaving his position December 31 of this year to accept an offer from Abrams Fixture Corporation of Atlanta, Georgia to become involved in their administrative operations.

Bulla has been business manager of High Point College since December of 1981. He is a 1968 graduate of the college and previously served as the college's assistant business manager for two years. He also was the Assistant to the Vice-President for Business and Financial Affairs from March to December of 1981

In announcing Bulla's decision to leave High Point College, Dr. Lucht said: "We are very reluctant to see Ken leave us. His sound management of the financial resources of High Point College has kept our budget healthy even in these difficult economic times. Ken's contributions will be missed not only by myself and the Board of Trustees, but by all of the faculty, staff, and students at High Point College. We certainly wish him the very best in his new Commenting on his plans, Bulla said: "I feel that this new position will offer me more of an opportunity for professional advancement. I value the relationships I've established here at the college and wish High Point College well in the future."

No decision has been made on the appoint-ment of Bulla's successor.

Security problems have decreased

BY PAMELA YORK

News Editor

According to Mr. Ed Cannady, Director of Public Safety at High Point College, campus security pro-blems have been few over the past two weeks. While no major thefts have been reported, he said several wallets have been stolen in Roberts Hall during business hours. Also, $30 was taken from a drawer in Women's Residence Hall. However, no arrests have been made in the incidents.

Cannady noted that an increase in unescorted visitors may be related to the thefts on campus: "I think they are partly responsible for some of the incidents reported. He stressed the importance of students bringing the presence of suspicious people on campus to his atten-tion. He added, "I would hope we could get more help from students and faculty in challenging these people to explain why they are on campus."

Mr. Dave Powell, a night security guard for the Col-lege, said, "Usually the biggest run of thefts or larcenies occurs right before breaks and graduation." Cannady stressed the impor-tance of securing valuables before leaving for the upcoming Thanksgiving break. He said the best prevention of theft is to not leave any valuables on campus. He said the major security emphasis during break will be the dorms. "We're going to watch the campus," he said. "We'll be primarily concerned with the residence halls."

Noting that parked cars are targets for theft and vandalism, Cannady said, "If you aren't taking your car during the holiday, move it to the parking area near the security office. Here more people will be moving around, and the cars will be less likely to attract van-

EDITORIALS Reader feels denial of "rights"

Is there anybody in there? I've often wanted to write an editorial to this paper, but I've fallen into a state of apathy like the rest of campus, but thanks to Crystal, I've been inspired.

Once a week, usually on Wednesday while waiting in line for lunch, I pick up the HI-PO. It's a great way to pass the time while waiting for Mr. Watley to unlock the door. At this time, I usually set it next to the trays. Today I had a good laugh reading about October sports, You see, I was born and raised in Maryland and I have a turtle on my bumper. I'd rather watch the Terps than go to church. Sorry Charlie, I guess I'm a traitor.

I really don't mean to be such a pessimist, but when is this campus going to step into reality? When are college students going to act like college students? I sit in my room with my friends in Millis "Residence Hall" and laugh at this school. I laugh at the office of public safety. Come on, that sounds like an execution squad from the French Revolution. Why does everyone think the students here should live in a make-believe environment? Is this going to help us face the cruel world? I'm twenty years old and have been waiting all my life to exercise the responsibilities society thinks I can handle at this age. I can vote, register for the draft, but I can't have a girl in my room after 11:00 P.M. on weeknights, This, I am told is for my safety!! Personal"rights" ly, I hope to be attacked by a group of rowdy young freshmen women. Sometimes, my roommate and I like to drink "beverage" or beer (thanks to Tom Leech) late in the evening. This is, theoretically, not conducive to a good study environment. We had one of the highest GPA's of any room in Millis, a 3.3 cummulative. Some people think we are just apathetic and never do anything constructive with our time. Well, they are right. This campus is not exactly the social center of the Pied-spare energy, and I don't think decorating our dorm doors for the holidays is the answer. We are no longer in high school. I like to raise a little hell now and then, sow a few wild oats. I don't mean I want to tear down the buildings and terrorize those who want their peace and quiet. Maybe if we brought some of our off-campus parties on campus, a few of our finer students wouldn't have been seriously injured enroute to a party in Thomasville. Maybe if we were treated like real students, we would really get involved.

The reason I never wrote this before is because I feared it would be edited to suit the school's views. But this time you asked for it. To tell the truth, I doubt I'll ever see this in print.

Doff Fleshman P.S. I did enjoy the football

Hi-Po

Crystal L. Hedgecock . . . . Editor-in-Chief Lewis Wheless . . . Associate Editor Scott Morgan . . . . Advertising and

Business Manager
Charles Burton Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO.

The H1.PC/welcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed, and an address must be included. If warranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The H1.PO reserves the right to edit letters as seen necessary.

EDITORIALS Students fail to earn "rights"

Dear Editor,

For four and a half years I have been a student at High Point College. During my stay here, I have seen many acts of vandalism, childish pranks, and other senseless acts of immaturity. It never ceases to amaze me that everyday I hear students complain that the administration doesn't treat them fairly, "We are adults, and we should be treated like adults!" is the frequent cry. Why then, don't the students act like adults? Such acts as the recent overturning of the planters on the path to Cooke Hall and the destruction of the Halloween pumpkin in Roberts Hall are the type of situations that prompted this editorial. Don't students realize that these very actions are what is preventing the administration from treating us as we wish to be treated? Students are ready to be up at arms at the slightest indication of "administrative terrorism," yet, they do not understand why the administration becomes upset at such occurances and perhaps even retaliates with crackdowns in security, dorm regulations...

Students want alcohol on campus; they want no attendance policy for classes; they want less restricted dorm visitation; they want, they want, they want; yet, they are unwilling to give, even in the area of civilian decency to act like mature and responsible members of the college community. They are unwilling to take their part in making things happen. A prime example of this is the student elections last year. Many of the various offices had only one candidate for the positions. Apathy is strong in classes, in the dorms, in the S.G.A., in the Student Union and almost every other area of campus life. Why then do these very students expect so much for See "Right," p. 4

We need an outlet for our "Hodgepodge" angers committee

This open letter is in response to the commentary on college policy regarding class absences written by Dr. Marion Hodge and featured in the November 3 edition of Hi-Po.

From comments I have heard made by students regarding Dr. Hodges' classes, I have the impression he is a stimulating and challenging instructor. He also is a lucid writer. In consequence of such commendable qualities, he should be appreciated as a member of the learning community which is High Point College. The reader is asked to keep this in mind in persuing the paragraphs which follow.

this in mind in persuing the paragraphs which follow. In his "Hodgepodge" of November 3, Dr. Hodge wrote, "The Director of Student Life would like also to direct faculty life, it seems". In my role as Chairman of the Student Personnel Committee of the faculty, I was deeply - yea profoundy disturbed by that statement. Knowing as I do, the limitation of staff time and other resources available to the Office of Student Life for directing student life, I was aghast at the thought that

See Student p. 7

-Cutting corners-

The moral basis of humane thought and action is tolerance, which is even an important aspect of what we call

Our greatest failure as a species is our intolerance. Too often we do not respect each other's differences.

Sometimes the motive for our own intolerance is the intolerance we perceive in others. Sometimes our friends, colleagues, subordinates, and superiors do us an injustice, we think. The student is hurt by the professor, the professor by the chairman, the chairman by the dean, the dean by the president, and so on, up and down, in and out, and all

Intolerance in education is especially dangerous because so much of what we do is based on human relationships. Hopes, dreams, egos, and careers tan be crushed even unwittingly by the spontaneous word, the misunderstood directive, the thoughtless action.

We must be tolerant of each other and supportive of each other for economic reasons, certainly, but more importantly, we must recognize that the failure of one is the failure of all, that the success of one is the success of all, that the suffering and heartache of one is the suffering and heartache of one list of the suffering and heartache of all. If one department is in danger, we must make a collective effort to save it. If there is a personality or philosophical conflict, we must all do what we can to eliminate it. For the most part, we at HPC are tolerant of one another, but we can, and must, destroy what intolerance

At a college where we stress the values of the humanities (which include the sciences), we cannot afford to be inhumane. When we feel ourselves backed into a corner, let us realize that the corner is there at all largely because we ourselves have built it. Let us turn with love and the corner will have disappeared. Let us turn again with love and he who has pushed us there will have become our brother. Together, let us turn again with love and walk the open road, if not hand-in-hand, at least side-by-side, toward the green pastures and still waters.

Marion Hodge

Assistant Professor of English

EDITORIALS

Unemployment problem examined and answered

With unemployment today in the United States averaging 10 percent, there are approximately ten million workers not doing just that.

The question we must ask is, naturally, why? Is it Reaganomics? The national debt? Foreign competition? Well, to Reaganomics and foreign competition the answer is probably yes. So should we vote Kennedy President and tax Toyotas to the point where the Japanese couldn't sell a hubcap in New York? The answer there is probably no.

What people, especially recent college graduates, must learn is that products and services cannot be sold in a market where there is no demand for them. Sorry, but even a Ph.D. in a subject such as Ancient Greek Astronomy won't make it in today's market.

Those who graduate with degrees which offer no specific skill, only ideas and concepts which may be rather abstract, won't be able to sell those ideas directly. Rather, they must formulate concrete units from the abstract ideas and sell them, or set up outlines for saleable commodities to be sold or manufactured.

For those already unemployed, there needs to be a selfevaluation by those people based on sound, objective reasoning. For example, a laid-off auto worker in Detroit must understand that he can't keep on working at 18 dollars per hour and expect his company to sell the car in a depressed market to someone earning only 10 dollars per hour. A steel plant laborer must understand that his company. which more than likely uses out dated methods of production can't compete in a free market in which the Japanese have created much more energy and cost-efficient means of steel production. Small farmers who can't keep in pace with the large-crop producers shouldn't be given government price supports. If the products they produce cost them more to produce than they can sell them for - too bad. They must find an efficient means of production, or do something else.

And the final, and probably most horrendous example of non-productive, unsaleable positions are those in governmental beaurocracy. When our federal, state, and local governments give jobs to people, the employees don't produce any income. Without going any further into that, it needs only to be said that people with non-income producing skills shouldn't look to the government for employment or support. Instead, they need to acquire income producing skills or products and sell such in the marketplace. Law enforcement agencies and other public safety personnel should be exempt from this, naturally.

In other words, if we in America want to keep unemployment to a minimum, we must realize that what we want to do has to be a saleable service, with minimal unnecessary government employment. This must be done in order to keep the people of America employed in the free enterprise world marketplace.

John R. Smith

Involvement dominated by Greeks

Being a junior at High Point College, I have seen many changes here. The beginning of the new library, the refurnishing of Harrison Hall, and the improvements in the parking situation are a few of these changes. However, one thing never seems to change. It is apparent to many Greeks and myself that the attitude of the College, as a whole towards the Greek System, is negative.

I feel that the Greek concern for the welfare of the College is seen in the amount of Greek involvement. This is just a small sample of Greek involvement at High Point College: 1981 - SGA (3 of 6 Executive Council, 21 of 28 Legislative Body), 5 of 6 Junior Class Officers, 6 of 6 Sophomore Class Officers, 4 of 6 Freshman Class Of-ficers, 30 Presidential Scholars, 22 of 24 Orientation Committee, 8 of 12 Student Union Officers, 8 of 16 Who's Who appointments.

1982 - SGA (6 of 6 Executive Council, 21 of 28 Legislative Body), 4 of 6 Senior Class Officers, 3 of 6 Junior Class Officers, 5 of 7 Sophomore Class Officers, 5 of 7 Freshmen Class Officers, 23 Presidential Scholars, 23 of 36 Orientation Committee, 6 of 10 Student Union Officers, and 9 of 12 Who's Who appoint-

Also athletics, RA's, RC's, Junior Marshalls, Presidential Advisory Council, Alpha Chi, WWIH, Delta Mu Delta, and many others have been infiltrated by Greeks, Even after Greeks have graduated they become a large majority of the most active alumni. I feel, as an individual and as a Greek, that High Point College should open its eyes and realize how much the Greek System here really means.

A concerned and Frustrated Greek. Don Stewart

Harm extends past veto

The general campus community may not be aware that the S.G.A. Legislature passed a proposal submitted by Paul Lundrigan, Cultural Programs Committee Chairman, to allocate $500 toward a performance of "The Fan-tasticks." A week later, the President announced that he had vetoed the proposal. When it was re-introduced in hopes of receiving a twothirds majority necessary to override a veto, it was defeated. Did the the Legislature assume the President is infallable There has been more harm done than what is on the sur-

The Cultural Programs Committee had allocated $600 in student discounts at the High Point Theatre. These discounts save students $2 off all performances, from Community Theatre and the North Carolina Shakespeare Festival to touring companies such as the Cincinatti Ballet and symphonies. Due to the action by the S.G.A., some students may be unable to attend these performances, as $500 of the $600 usually allocated for these discounts were used to pay for "The Fantasticks."

If anyone should doubt that these discounts are usthat there have been times in the recent years (such as 80-81), when this money ran out early due to a large turnout to these events.

And some insist that High Point College students have no appreciation for cultural

Perhaps the S.G.A. should consider allocating $500 for student discounts at the High Point Theatre, This would be of more benefit as more students would be able to attend a greater variety of

> Respectfully. Scott Morgan, Tower Players President

S.G.A. veto criticized in theatre matter

Dear Editor:

The opportunity to be culturally motivated and the acquirement for its taste has been lost in High Point College due to an in-balance of activities. A perfect example is the voting down towards the provision of $500.00 towards the cost of presen-ting the musical The Fantasticks.

Mr. Paul Lundrigan, Chairman of the Cultural Programs Committee, re-quested the money and Mr. Mashburn vetoed the bill and unconsciously influenced the student representatives into turning down the proposed bill because "students do not attend cultural events and the proper procedure was not taken upon requesting the money." This clearly demonstrates you that you that student reprsentatives are thinking for themselves and not for the College or the Community.

Mr. Lundrigan is very concerned about the cultural values on this campus because it is possible for a student to be four years in college and not be required to take an arts course. He said, "a cultural alternative should be pro-vided for the students. This is the purpose of this com-mittee but with the budget it is impossible and that is why they asked the SGA to

How will you ever find

Student Government is not giving H.P.C. the opportunity to cultivate cultural taste. Taste is cultivated and by all means High Point College has the money and the equipment to advertise such events.

Mr. Porter told me he does not understand why High Point College students do not attend cultural events as they did years ago. He said, "H.P.C. students had interest for the arts. Their's was fusion between activities and discipline. Now this fusion is fragmented."

I personally feel it is the Student Government's responsibility to investigate what has caused the camsuch activities, and somehow try to get the campus together. Also the administration should take into consideration the proposal of integrating fine arts as a requirement in the schools curriculum.
Afterall this is supposed to be a "liberal arts college."

Evidence has been shown by the Association of American Colleges that 'todays college students who are specializing in career-oriented majors because they think that's what businesses want, are shortchanging themselves." A fact had been stated and that is that some businesses are finarts graduates do better in many ways than those who concentrate on technical

So High Point, lets get our act together and learn how to cultivate yourselves. We have the means to let the campus and community know of such cultural activities. I am positively sure that the radio station, the Com-munications Department, and the newspaper will offer to help in any way. Let us learn how to regain our suttle pleasures. Not everything in life has to be loud or flashy!

> Sincerely, Karen D. Hernandez

EDITORIALS. .

Rewards few and small

Thespians sacrifice luxuries

My friends and I are fortunate, indeed gifted with the privilege of uniting in a common interest and sharing a common goal. It is a goal which forces us to use every last drop of energy and each scrap of courage.

What are we doing? We're sacrificing virtually all of our free time to make High Point College Theatre work. Why? That's an easy answer, one which may sound alien to many of our students here. We're doing it because the theatre is in our blood. This love of theatre may even be called an addiction. It certainly is for me. When I've given my all for a show, whether as a performer, crew member, or, at present, Stage Manager, and see that show grow and become complete, when I stand with my friends and hear the applause, catch scattered laughter from the audience, or even see one smile, I get a rush. Anyone who really tries at anything, really tries, and sees such fulfilling results, is going to get a rush.

I love our theatre. David Appleton and Paul Lundrigan are wonderful teachers and directors, and they care. Got that? They really care about us. They cease to be merely faculty and become friends, trusted and necessary parts of our lives. And they give up almost every spare minute of the day to work in the Fine Arts building, directing, coaching, phoning, even arguing with us, anything to help us fulfill our dreams, to lead us toward the realization of our talents, however large or small they may be.

And the students? Well, take Scott Morgan, the President of Tower Players who can find any prop west of the Mississippi and make something out of nothing. Or William Dills, our Shop Foreman And Master Carpenter, who devotes the same enthusiasm to a production as to his studies in Religion major defends profs

Religion. And there are many, many more, Math Majors, English Majors, Communications Majors, joining with the Theatre Majors to come up with a show of which we have a right to be proud, like "Butterflies Are

But where were you, student body, when we brought "Butterflies" to the stage? I know some of you had press-ing bowling dates, showers you simply had to take, or you just couldn't miss "Dynasty" or something on T.V. Well, I watch "Dynasty" too, folks, but I prefer live theatre. I may be a freak, but I do put away my punk rock cassettes and Michelob Light now and then to take in something cultural. Yes, cultural. Read my lips. We're doing this for you -Where are you?

Cat Burton Stage manager for the upcoming "Scrooge", and member of Tower Players

Despite thefts ZENITH meets deadlines

BY JEAN WILLIAMSON to be delayed. To avoid fur-Special to the UI DO

The Zenith staff is happy to report that the first deadline was met. A total of 32 pages have been completed, including the color nages

Presently, the staff is working on the class and organization sections. The faculty section will also be submitted for next deadline. This section will consist of faculty candids, rather than the traditional posed pictures. The next deadline is November 29, in which 32 pages must be submitted. The Zenith staff is optimistic in being able to submit approximately 50 pages for the next deadline.

Unfortunately, a box of approximately 200 pictures has disappeared from the layout room located upstairs in the Old Student Center. These pictures are needed to complete the pages which are to be submitted for deadline. Unless these pictures are found or returned. production of the yearbook could be set back consideraly. This could cause the book ther problems, Dr. Deleeuw has requested the locks be changed to the layout room and the darkroom.

If anyone has any information regarding the pictures, please contact Jean Williamson, 889-7371, or Dr. DeLeeuw, It is not the staff's intent to prosecute whoever took the pictures, so no questions will be asked if the pictures are returned.

The Zenith staff members are: Jean Williamson. Editor; Shannon Moore, Layout Editor; Susan Durbano, Business Manager: Susanne Zuroff, Anne Murphy. Charlene McDaniel Pam Sanchez, Darnita Peeler, layout artists, and Claire Hall, Laura Idol, Loy Sherrill, Liz Crawford, photographers. If anyone sees someone other than the staff members in the Zenith workroom, please contact campus security.

NOTE: Any organization who did not have their picture taken during the alloted week (Nov. 1-5) will not be in the 1983 Zenith.

"Rights"

so little?

I realize that this article is extremely negative, yet it is a fact that the good is often overlooked when one has the chance to see the bad. The students who participate actively in the affairs of the college are not only demonstrating their own maturity, but they are learning as well. They are getting a better picture of life as it really works, and they are to be commended! It is sad that on a campus the size of High Point that there are relatively few who take advantage of the many opportunities available. Thus, I can only challenge those who have the time and the inclination to burst pumpkins, push over planters and destroy campus property to put this energy to more constructive use and maybe some of the much sought-after goals can be accomplished. A Student

APO raises funds

The Alpha Phi Omega fraternity congratulates its Fall '82 Pledge class for a successful fund raising project held over the weekend.

Words of encouragement oes out to our brother Tom Burgess for an insightful presentation of "The Keys To The Kingdom" at the campus chapel on Nov. 14.

Alpha Phi Omega is also very happy with its volleyball team that went out to UNC-G on Nov. 6, the National Service Day, and won a trophy for coming in first place for raising the most contributions for the Easter Seals Volleyball Marathon.

As the semester draws close to the end, APO would like to remind the students about the APO book exchange whenever they are considering selling and/or buying used books. Many students have made and saved money using this service.

the department's record speak for itself. There is no other department on campus that shows as much love and concern among faculty and students. To us, these three men have become examples of commitment and dedication. They have shown us how to truly love someone in a Christian spirit. And even though the situation seems almost hopeless. nothing could destroy or lessen the love and Lucht. I am offended by his apparent apathy shown toward the students of these majors. We have made our concerns known to the administration by sending Lane Sapp and Wendy Fishel to meet with the President, yet our outcries have fallen in vain. It outrages me that after we have invested so much time, money, and effort toward a quality education here at High Point, our viewpoints have gone unheard. Don't our views count at all? Since my Freshman year,

I've heard so much on student apathy on campus. Is it any wonder that the students feel unimportant when their opinions are ig-

Throughout this unfortunate crisis, let respect we have for these men. In closing, let me clarify that I know of many student's reservations toward the department. They charge that it is too liberal and does not present the fundamen-tal viewpoints enough. However, claiming this is like saying the math department teaches too much linear algebra and not enough addition! Like the math majors, we know the basics, and in order to grow and learn we must expand and learn new con-

Tony Matthews

Ellington's Florist

1122 EAST LEXINGTON AVENUE 889-4748

Specializing in cut flower arrangements, corsages, and boutonnieres.

Friday Flowers - $3.00 FREE DELIVERY TO HIGH POINT COLLEGE

While reading the recent article concern ing the religion department in the November 3 issue of the HI-PO, I became infuriated by an insinuation by President

Lucht. The President stated that in order to strengthen the relationship between the College and the Western N.C. Conference, he must search outside of the department for its new chairman. Foul! Not only was this an insult to the department's more that competent professors, but it was untrue as well. Lucht obviously underrates the department's reputation with the church.

Four years ago, I personally investigated numerous religion departments before making my decision concerning a college. After much consideration, High Point was my favorite. Wishing to make sure my choice was a wise one, I contacted three United Methodist ministers for their opinions. All three commented that not only did High Point have the best religion program in the area, but the state as well. To me, this clear

Info series. . .

Grants, scholarships fill financial voids

The following is the third installment in a three-part informational series concerning the student's responsibilities and option with regard to financial aid at High Point College. The series is intended to be an educational tool to make students more aware of what aid is available and how it can he obtained

BY LEWIS WHELESS

Associate Editor

The financial void many students must face during dire economic times can often be filled by the availability of Federal and State grants and scholarships and college work-study programs.

According to Kay N. Stroud, Director of Financial Aid at High Point College, there are two Federal and three State grant programs for which students may apply. The Federal grants include the Pell Grant and the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG).

The student automatically applies for a Pell Grant (the largest Federal student aid program) by applying for financial aid. Eligibility will be determined by the computing of income information on the student aid forms. When the student receives his or her Student Aid Report (SAR), he or she then gives it to the financial aid office. Using the "regular disbursement system," the aid officers credit the student account from money placed in a bank by the Department of Education.

The maximum amount that can be awarded to a student through the Pell Grant program is $1,800, and students must be enrolled at least half-time to be eligible. The deadline for the Financial Aid application is

The SEOG is a grant program available to undergraduates only, and students can receive up to $2,000 annually, depending on need. Like the Pell Grant, the SEOG is applied for through the financial aid applica-

However, the SEOG is not an entitlement grant, which means that it carries no guarantees. Money is alloted to schools each year by the Department of Education, but when the funds are used there will be no more SEOG's for the year.

The three State grant programs include the North Carolina Contractual Scholarship, the North Carolina Legislative Tuition Grant, and the North Carolina Incentive

The North Carolina Contractual Scholarship, which Mrs. Stroud says is actually a grant, is awarded to eligible students each year by funds from the College Scholarship Foundation. Eligiblity requirements include need, North Carolina residency, and full-time status as a college student. The maximum award through this grant is $1,200.

The North Carolina Legislative Tuition Grant is available to full-time undergraduates who are North Carolina residents. The award is not based on need, so it "comes in handy for those who do not qualify for other types of aid," Mrs. Stroud said. Application for the NCLTG should be made in the fall, and the applicant must be considered full-time by October 1. In the spring, a student must be enrolled full-time Student Aid Application: Deadlines March 15, 1983. Your Federal student aid application or Special Condition Application must be received by this date.

May 5, 1983. Corrections to your SAR must be received by this date

May 31, 1983, or your last day of enrollment in 1982-83, whichever comes first. Deadlines for submitting your SAR to a financial aid office - if you enrolled before May 1.

June 15, 1983. Requests for duplicate SAR's must be received by this date.

June 30, 1983, or your last day of enrollment in 1982-83, whichever comes first. Deadlines for submitting your SAR to a financial aid office - if you enrolled for the first time in the award period (July 1, 1982 - June 30, 1983) on or after May 1.

by the tenth class day to be eligible. The maximum award for the NCLTG, to date, is

To apply for the North Carolina Incetive Grant, the student should request that a copy of his or her Needs Analysis should be sent to the College Foundation when he or she applies for financial aid. The award is based on substantial need, and is awarded by the state. Eligible state residents may be awarded as much as $1500 per year through

Mrs. Stroud said that any student whose parental contribution is $600 or less is a prime candidate" for the Incentive Grant. 'I advise them (students) to apply even if their parental contributions are more than $600. Every North Carolina Student should apply," Mrs. Stroud said. The deadline to apply for this grant is March 15, 1983.

Mrs. Stroud said students may apply for number of institutional or endowed scholarships. Some of these scholarships are based on academics, and some are based on based on academics, and some are passed on need, but every scholarship goes toward meeting need; accordingly, scholarhips are a part of the financial aid package. Mrs. Stroud said that $127,000 was awarded through endowed scholarships last year at High Point College.

ROTC scholarships, civic organization scholarships and scholarships offered by various businesses are also sources of additional aid. "If a student will go to the library and get a list of the various scholarships available, it would be well worth the time spent," Mrs. Stroud said. Various businesses also offer scholarships for employees' children.

Another type of financial aid students may be eligible for is the college work-study program. Under this plan, students may work up to 20 hours per week at minimum wage in a campus position.

Mrs. Stroud said that all students should check by the student aid office in Roberts Hall before going home for Christmas to see if the 1983-84 Financial Aid forms have arrived. If the forms have not arrived before Christmas, they will arrive by the time students return in January.

St. Louis meeting offers new ideas

Special to the HI-PO On October 14, 15, 16, and 17, Bruce Tingle, Wendi Hora, and Mark Mashburn attended the 4th Annual National Leadership Conference on Student and University Government. In a continuing series of articles about several of the workshops they attended. this week the topics of "Ef-fective Committee Work" and "Election Procedures" will be addressed.

Dr. Bosco, the leader of the conference, led the discussion about "Effective Committee Work". He emphasized that a big part of committee work was learning how to take responsibility and how (and when) to pass it on. There were six main ideas

1. Establish contracts -this means writing down exactly what the committee is to accomplish. Be specific and realistic.

2. Establish a time table -again, be realistic and always stick to your due

3. Supervise - The chairman should make sure each person is doing his job - but don't step in and do it for him. The chairman should not be afraid to reassign a task if you find the person is not suited for the work he's

4. Be aware of hidden agendas - know why people are really there. Do they just want something to put on their resume? Are they there impress someone? Be alert to those who are sincere. . . they are the best

5. Learn how to come to a consensus doing something just because the majority says to does not always make it right. Try to discuss things and come to an agreement. This can be much more effective.

6. Reward - Recognize who the hard workers. Do this publicly and be creative about it. (But if it is necessary to criticize, take the individual aside and do so in private)

Dr. Bosco also led the workshop on "Election Pro-cedures." He puts the whole election process on a time table.

First, the positions that are available should be posted and job descriptions should be publicized. Second, an information session should be held for everyone interested. It is important for student leaders to invite many people to this. Third, the candidates will file for the office for which they are seeking.

Next, an election workshop will be held. This should be mandatory for all candidates. This workshop should familiarize the candidate with various rules. procedures, and communication skills. Next is the election. The elections and filing are done by a separate election committee so that the committee members are not involved personally with candidates.

After the elections the next important thing to do is follow-up on those who lost their bid for election.

Hi-Po Staff

Features Editor ..... Karla Green Pam 10.... Tana Parker News Editor . . . Reporters . . . . . Erika Allion, Peggy Draper, Thomas Grana, Karen Hernandez, Mark Phelps, Tabbie Nance Susan Warrick

Photographers .... Marisa Firpi, Bill Johnson

High Point College

Page 6 - HI-PO - Wednesday, November 17, 198

SPORTS

Steele uncertain about team

Several players injured

MARK PHELPS

Wait and see. This is about the feeling that Coach Jerry Steele has concerning this year's basketball squad. That is not to say the team's talent is in doubt, but that much of the talent is not playing at this time. All four of the team's senior starters are out with injuries and when they will be able to return to action is uncertain.

"Right now I cannot say when they will be able to play or if they will be ready for our season premier on November 20," commented Coach Steele. "It all depends on how each player can recuperate from his injury."

Two of the injured performers have been starters their entire college careers. Butch Bowser, a 6-5 guard. and Roosevelt Brunson, a 6-6 forward, have started together since arriving three vears ago.

Brunson, who has not practiced all year, has had the movement in his right leg affected by a slipped disc. Bowser recently had car-tilage removed from his knee and is just getting it

The other senior guard, six-footer Jackie McNeill, also has had problems with his knee. It will be at least a week before anything will be known on his playing status.

The injured senior most capable of playing soon is 6-8 forward Jimmy Robertson. Recovering from a knee operation performed over the summer, Robertson came down with viral pneumonia which delayed important conditioning. He is just now beginning to take part in practices but still feels some pain and must wear a knee brace.

Without these starters, Coach Steele has only seven players that he can use.

A lot of experience is lost without those guys. If we had to play tomorrow, the starting lineup would in-clude two freshmen, two sophomores, and a junior. It would be a very young team and I'm not sure how they would perform together."

Many teams would fold under these obstacles, but Coach Steele said he feels that his players have reacted favorably.

"I think the team has coped as well as can be ex-pected. If there is an optimistic point about the situation it is that they guys have an incentive to play harder to make up for the

The two players that pressure is having to step in are the freshmen. Jim Hoffman, a 6-7 center from Oakland, N.J., and Terry Samuels, a 6-6 forward from Ambler, Pa., have both shown they have what it takes to make the transition from high school to college

'Jim has been a pleasant surprise. He has worked hard in practice and proven that he is a battler. Terry is a very gifted athlete. He has quick feet, good leaping ability, and just an overall good athletic talent. I think that in time he could turn out to be an excellent player.

Over the preseason, a couple of rules changes were implemented for conference play. The 30-second clock and the three-point shot were both installed in order to make the game more exciting. These additions could have an effect on a younger

"We will have to make some changes in our offense if we have to play with lessexperienced players," said Coach Steele. "We'll switch up on defense more and play a much more cautious game than normally.

Coach Steele, along with the assistant coach Richard Hoffman, have their work cut out if they are going to compete with some of the top teams in the Carolina's Conference. With High Point's first conference game on November 24, Coach Steele sees this year's competition to be as tough as last year's. "I think Catawba ought to be the toughest conference team. They didn't lose a single starter from last year. Pfeiffer and Pembroke will also be tought.

COACH STEELE (in center) says team "depends on how each player can recuperate from his injury." (Photo by B.J.)

All of High Point's home games will be free admission to students with school I.D.'s. They can also get in tree to away conference games at Elon, Pembroke, Atlantic Christian, Wingate, Guilford, and Pfeiffer. This does not include games in tournament play.

Team en route to finals

CHARLES BURTON

Sports Editor The volleyball team won against the College of Wilmington with a score of 15-6, 15-5, 15-4. They will now go to national competition in Regis, Colorado.

The itinerary of the tournament is grueling. "Wednesday we practice and have a banquet; Thursday, four teams will play off an on until noon Friday. On Friday, the top eight teams-two from each bracket-will play. . . Saturday is the day for finals and consolation matches," Coach Nancy Lit-

The team will return

Saturday. Be listening for news reports and other bulletins on the team's record at the tournament.

The HI-PO congratulates the team on their record so far, and wishes the players good luck...and the National Championship vic-

1982-83 Basketball te

Junior Ursula Watt, a standout performer for the girle colleyball team, was recently selected to tryout for a spot on the United States' representative team in the World University Games. Ursula had previously been chosen for All-Conference and All District honors.

NAME
Tommy Bishop
Butch Bowser
Roosevelt Brunson
Mike Everett
John Hamilton
Jim Hoffman
Robert Hutson
Jackie McNeill
Danny Murphy
Jimmy Robertson
Terry Samuels
•

NO	POS	HGT	WGT	CLASS
40	F	6-4	175	Junior
22	G	6-5	185	Senior
32	F	6-6	195	Senior
52	F	6-3	190	Junior
20	G	6-2	170	Sophomore
50	G	6-7		Freshman
12	G	6-3	180	Junior
4	G	6-0	175	Senior
10	G	5-11	160	Sophomore
44	F	6-8		Senior
24	F	6-6	200	Freshman

am
HOMETOWN
Greensboro, N.C.
Seat Pleasant, MI
Lillington, N.C.
Greensboro, N.C.
Cullowhee, N.C.
Oakland, N.J.
Ellicott City, Md.
Asheboro, N.C.
Richmond, Va.
Eden, N.C.
Ambler, Pa.

High Point College SPORTS

Steele uncertain about team

1982-82 Funkethull team

HPC hosts field hockey tournament

BY CHARLES BURTON

High Point College hosted the southeast field hockey tournament this past weekend, with sixteen teams competing from Washington, Georgia, and states in between.

The Deep South College Team with members Lou Taylor and Helen O'Brien were on the championship team in a game that went into double overtime and double strokes. Taylor and O'Brien scored two goals in the game.

"By virtue of the Deep South College team winning the championship, players Carol Bidermann, Carol Williams, Abneli Kiviniemi, Lynn Whitaker, and Sharon Packen received certificates," Coach Kitty Steele said. "Lou Taylor qualified for the National Tournament to be held in Orlando, Florida, over Thankegiving. We're really happy for her."

It's becoming a regular thing - congratulating our teams and players - that is. Congratulations to Ana Medina and Deedee Ettus who combined forces to win the Polar Bear tournament recently held in Greensboro.

Also, as noted in the article about field hockey, Lou Taylor qualified for the National Field Hockey Tournament to be held in Orlando, Florida, over Thanksgiving. Congratulations, again, c these outstanding players.

HPC HOSTED the southeast field tourney last weekend. (Photo by B.J.)

Student Personnel Committee voices anger

cont. from p. 2

perhaps the director would like to direct faculty life as

Armed with my new insight about aspirations of the Director of Student Life (courtesy of Dr. Hodge), I sallied forth to interrogate the Director. In response to my questioning Mr. Pittman assured me that he had not at any time expressed to Dr. Hodge or any other person the desire to direct faculty life. In fact, he even stated that Dr. Hodge had not bothered to discuss the matter with him. With a great sense of relief but an impelling need to pursue the matter further, I inquired of the Student Personnel Committee members what they knew of Mr. Pittman's interest in directing faculty life. Their response confirm-ed what I had begun to suspect, namely, that taking steps in this instance to ensure that his journalistic indictments are based on facts is not among the qualities for which Dr. Hodge is to be commended and appreciated. He had not bothered to discuss the thesis statemetn of his "Hodgepodge" with com-"Hodgepodge" with mittee members either.

If Dr. Hodge had taken the time to inquire into the background of the proposal to which he refered in his commentary he would have learned that the proposal did not originate with the Director of Student Life. The concept originated with the Chairman of the Student Personnel Committee. It was discused at length by committee members and developed by the committee into a proposal for testing with the faculty.

Dr. Hodge stated that, "Faculty members are being asked to approve a plan whereby individual professors instead of the Student Life Office would approve student absences from class". Again Dr. Hodge did not bother with facts. The faculty was not asked to approve a plan. The last paragraph of the communication which went from the committee to faculty began with the sentence, "We would greatly appreciate your kindness in reviewing the enclosed proposal and sharing with us your reaction to it". Asking for feedback is hardly the same as asking faculty members to approve a plan.

The communication about which Dr. Hodge apparently became quite exercised did not state as he indicated, nor of 1 think it implied, that the Office of Student Life has "Neither the time nor the personnel to handle excuses any longer". We said very clearly in that communication that the proposal had grown out of both philosophical and pragmatic consideration. The pragmatic consideration indeed does relate to the drastic reduction in administrative staff. At issue is the question of how Student Life staff time may be used to serve most effectively the best interests of students.

It is the judgement of members of the Student Personnel Committee that at present too much of the time of staff members in the Student Life Office is spent enforcing rules and regulations and administering the consequences of infractions of rules. Our interest is in finding ways to enable those staff members to develop and promote co-curricular programs designed to enrich student life and contribute to a campus environment which maximizes the potential for learning.

It is this which has motivated the committe to examine the current policy related to class absences and conclude that some modification of the policy, or the way the policy is implemented, should be carefully considered. In the communication about which Dr. Hodge wrote in his "Hodgepodge" we raised several questions, one of which was, "Should we consider eliminating all college-wide restrictions on class wide restrictions on class absences?". Doing so would put all responsibility for class attendance on the student. Perhaps that is where the responsibility should rest, although it is recognized that judgment about the wisdom of such action will vary widely.

It appears obvious that more study and discussion of our class absence policy is needed. If Dr. Hodge's commentary has stimulated critical thinking and discussion of the matter it has served as useful purpose even if some of his comments were based on unfounded assumptions. Readers of this missive are invited to convey their thoughts, suggestions, recommendations, etc. to the Student Personnel Committee.

Sincerely, Earnest Price, Jr. Chairman Student Personnel

-Strictly Classified-

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads. services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad. type the ad double-spaced and turn it in to the HI-PO by Friday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ads turned in after this deadline will be held until the next lasue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no designation, the ad will run for only one week.

Employment

On-Campus employment Title: Stagehands Description: Need students to work on stage construction and general work.

Hours: ? Address: Contact Kay Stroud in the Financial Aid Office; phone 885-5101, ext.

Off-campus employment:

Title: Aetna Service Station Attendant Hours: 12:30-3:30 Contact: Danny Spencer, 885-4923 or 883-0690

Off Campus Employment:

Title: Church organist
Description: One weekly
Sunday worship service,
choir rehearsal, seasonal services and funerals.
Part-time

Contact: Pastor Simmons (292-4984) or M/M Jim Coleman (292-7896) or Mr. Jack Peterson (852-7087).

Services

TYPING SERVICE. Can pick up and/or deliver. Must have three days to do work. Paper must be supplied by student. Call Maria Hale at 869-6462.

TYPING DONE ON CAM-PUS. Reasonable rates. Call Tabbie at 889-9814.

Announcements

All residence halls will be closed over the Thanksgiving break. According to Michael Pittman, Director of Student Life at High Point College, the halls will be closed at 6 p.m. on November 23 and will not reopen until noon Sunday, November 28.

ALL SENIORS are urged to pick up their placement packets prior to Thanksgiving holidays. Please complete these and return to Career Planning office or to Mr. Tingle. After your packet is completed, secure your recommendation sheets and distribute to your faculty members of previous complements.

All organizations, clubs, fraternities, and sororities on the college campus need to submit a copy of their charter and constitution to the Office of Student Life. Your cooperation in this endeavor will be greatly appreciated.

Baptist Student Union, Tuesday 7:00 p.m. Intervarsity Christian Fellowship.

Thursday 7:30 p.m.

Lobby of Student Center

Student Union will sponsor a talent show contest to be held on Tues., Nov. 30 at 8:00 p.m. in the Old Student Center. Pizza and drinks will be served. Please leave notice of your act in the office of student life. Also, there will be a dress rehearsal for the show on Monday night. Nov. 29

Coffeehouse with Kenny Shore!

Free Admission from 6:30-8:30. Free pizza, subs and soft drinks. Don't miss this opportunity for great food and great entertainment Thurs., Nov. 18.

Elon College is sponsoring an afternoon seminar on alternative careers in Communications on November 18, 1-5 p.m. Information on Communications Bulletin Board in Cooke Hall.

STUDENT INTEREST SURVEYS are being distributed in the residence halls. Please complete and return to your R.A. or Resident Counselor.

See Amsterdam, Milan, Florence, and Rome Dates: July 27th-August 10th (Summer School 1983) Credit: Three hours art credit Cost: $1666 from New York

Cost: $1000 from New York $1799 from Atlanta Reservations and payments: $250 due February 1, 1983 $250 due March 31, 1983 Balance due six weeks prior to departure. For more information, see Jane Burton in Art Dept.

Greek week starts today

BY KAREN D. HERNANDEZ HI-PO Reporter

Greek Week '82 officially started today. Enthusiasm, celebration and unity is the overall feeling on the campus. I.F.C. and Panhellenic have planned a series of events plus dances in recognition to all the Greeks for the excellent outcome during RUSH and for helping the needy and unfortunate in various ways.

A Putt-Putt Tournament is scheduled for tonight as the starting event of Greek Week '82. The time has not been scheduled, but go out there tonight and support your teammates as they try to play 36 holes.

Tomorrow afternoon at 4 pm. the most hilarious but dangerous game among women will be played at the soccer field. Its the Second Annual Powder Puff Football Game. If you want to have a blast watching the game and the special feature of the Greek men dressed as theerleaders, be there tomor-

The teams this year have been mixed. The reason, according to Karla Thornhill, Activities Director for Greek Week, "we are working for a better Greek relation." Brad Miller and Karla work to organize the Powder Puff. They decided that the girls needed coaches and the following were selected: Team 1's are Kenny Douglas, Mike Duffy, and

Don Stewart. Team 2's are Tom Leech and Steve Fir-

Following the Powder Puff Game, the Greeks will gather from 8-12 p.m. at Tom's Brass Rail.

Friday afternoon, the men will show the "Godesses" how well they are physically fit and their body structures in the Ultimate Frisbee Game. Following this strenuous game, a celebration feast will be held at the J.C. Fairgrounds starting at Sp.m. The theme of the party will be to wear your Greek letters. Beverages will be provided and the admission is free for Greeks only.

the events during Greek Week are not of eating and drinking. Greeks always work on their saying that one has to keep their mind, body, and soul sound. Greeks will be working Saturday morning in a Food Drive. They will be collec-ting canned foods for the needy and unfortunate who need a good sound mind, body and spirit. During the afternoon they will have their Greek games which will be held in the soccer field. Some of the events will be the egg toss, three legged race, mattress carry, soft-ball toss, basketball drill and others

To conclude a week of fun and work the Greeks will have a semi-formal dance at the Elk's Lodge from 9-1 p.m. Greeks must bring their own beverage, and are allowed to bring a date.

Enrollment

cont. from p. 1
transfering was the second major factor. "Students decide that they don't like a small college atmosphere anymore," said Mr. Holt.
Large universities or colleges closer to students homes are what some prefer. The state of the economy will always play a part in our lives

Loans are becoming harder to attain and without these, students have financial difficulties. One solution to the enrollment decline Holt stated was "retention". "If we could retain the students who already attend, we could ensure a strong base for the next school year."

St. Louis

These people are important because they've shown interest. Appoint them to a position. Seventh, plan a retreat for the new office holders. This should be holders. This should be and opportunity for every one to get to know each other. Finally, in-service training should be held periodically. These training sessions can be about current problems, communication skills, how ow rite legislation, etc.

High Point College's

"Working for a better informed campus"

High Point, N.C. 27262

December 8, 1982

Vol. 55

Hoch accepts position with the state

RY CRYSTAL L. HEDGECOCK Editor-in-Chief

After seven and one-half years at High Point College, Dr Frances Hoch, associate professor and chairman of the modern foreign language department, will be leaving to accept a position with the North Carolina Dept. of Public Instruction.

Hoch will become one of two foreign language con-sultants in the N.C. Dept. of Public Instruction, she said.

She will be working with the local school systems to help design programs and will help in the training of foreign language teachers. Hoch begins her job on Jan. 3, 1983, "...I'll miss all my friends at HPC..."

Dr. Carole Head, professor at the college, will replace Hoch as chairman of the modern foreign language department.

Hoch came to High Point College from Greensboro College seven and one-half years ago. She received her doctorate in 1976 and was promoted to Assistant professor during that same year. Hoch said she was promoted to Associate professor in 1980 and has been Chairman of the department since Dr. Inslee Grainger's retirement two and one-half years ago.

"I am looking forward to my new job, but I know I'll miss all my friends at High Point College," Hoch said.

DR. FRANCES HOCH retrospectively thinks on her years at High Point College. (Photo by Marsia Firpi)

Colorado hosts netters

Investigation of theft underway

PAMELA YORK

News Editor An internal investigation is being conducted concerning a recent theft of food from the High Point College cafeteria

According to Mr. Dave Powell, an HPC safety of-ficer, the theft occurred the afternoon of Nov. 22. "We caught a suspect in the act of removing food from the cafeteria," he said. Powell added, "The food-a conadded, "The food-a considerable amount-has been taken out of the freezer and placed outside to be picked up."

"The investigation of the incident," said Powell, "is being conducted by the Business Office and the cafeteria personnel." Powell added, "At present no warrants or disciplinary action has been taken, and because the investigation is continuing, we are not at liberty to discuss it further.

In regard to other security-related problems, Powell said, "We're very well pleased that we have had no complaints during the since Thanksgiving

TANA PARKER Staff Writer skiing and...volleyballs? On November 16th, the HPC Women's Volleyball team

was Colorado bound for a chance at the NAIA Na-tional Volleyball Champion-ship. Coach Nancy Little explained the long, hard road which the 13 girls had to travel before they could begin to think of a national berthe.

After finishing the regular season with a 21-11 record, the Lady Panthers went on to claim the Carolina's Conference title. Beating Lenoir Rhyne and St. Augustine, made the team District Champions. Their next step on the ladder was the Tri-District XII Championship, which they easily won against the College of Wilm-ington, Delaware. ington, Sophomore team member Susie Ramirez said, couldn't believe that we achieved the goal we thought was impossible." That goal...a chance to become the National volleyball champions.

The first day saw the team practicing and adjusting to See Colorado, p. 7

Writers Club completes FLY SPEC publication

BY PEGGY DRAPER

HI-PO Reporter
The FLY SPEC, a literary publication of the Writers Club, will be available, free of charge, beginning this week to all faculty and students on campus.

This literary publication consists of poems and short stories written by both students and faculty. This year there are 24 pages and works from four faculty members. The editor is Miss Kim Higgins a student at High Point College, and the advisor is Dr. Edward Piacentino, English professor at the College.

Higgins encourages nyone to submit work in future issues and also for students to join the Writers Club which meets weekly on Thursdays at 2:30 in Cooke Hall. Higgins also adds a special thank you to Dr. Wiliam DeLeeuw for the electronic copy machine and to Charles Burton for all his help and suggestions.

GREEKS COLLECTED 1820 cans during the recent Canned Food Drive. The Knights of Columbus distributed the food to the needy. The food drive was in conjunction with Greek Week. (Photo by Marisa Firpl)

Fritan Chil mepher LT SPEC publication

EDITORIALS. .

Striving for excellence

There seems to be some confusion as to what the Hi-PO stands for and what its duties include.

The HI-PO is the college newspaper "working for a better informed campus." "Better informed" does not mean the HI-PO is here to better inform the college of the nit-picky, petty things that go on between students, organizations, faculty or administrators.

The HI-PO is designed to search for the facts and, if warranted, bring the facts to the attention of the campus.

No professional newspaper of media will publish stories without facts. The HI-PO follows these same guidelines.

THe HI-PO appreciates the efforts of many who inform us of events or possible stories needing coverage. We try our best to offer an overview of life at HPC. He do not play favorites. If one department sends the paper more information than another, then that is the reason we cover more of that department's events. But the HI-PO is not a gossip column, nor is it a particular department's newsletter.

The HI-PO is not omniscient either. Just keep that fact in mind. The HI-PO is run by people and people do not know everything. We must be informed. We must also have full cooperation. When searching for the facts, if someone refuses cooperation, our peropagitive is to assume facts are being hidden. Then we have no facts, and without facts, the HI-PO will not publish a story.

the HI-PO will not publish a story.

The HI-PO strives for complete coverage, showing all sides to a story. Therefore all sides must cooperate.

Perhaps the purposes of this college newspaper are becoming clearer. With cooperation from all, the HI-PO can continue to strive for excellence.

CRYSTAL L. HEDGECOCK

SGA needs support

I would like to express a ted words concerning the editorials criticizing SGA. I have been a member of SGA for the past two years. There is a lack of support from the student body concerning SGA. The only successful meeting which attendance was very high, and everybody wanted to voice their opinion concerning the faculty shake-up at HPC last year. Students cannot sit back and criticize SGA for not passing a bill when they sit back all year and do not attend a SGA meeting unless a major bill concerning something that involves them directly is brought in front of SGA. Students need to attend more SGA meetings before they can criticize us for not passing one bill. I want to encourage more people to attend SGA meetings and to speak out. SGA needs the support from everyone!

Denise Metivier Sophomore Class President

Here for an education

HPC is an institution of higher learning, not a country club. I am here to get an education and not to be a social butterfly.

During fall break, while you were at home in MARYLAND guzzling beer and entertaining young women in your bedroom after 11:00 P.M., I was on campus working in the sculpture lab. I was able to do this because of Ed Cannady, Dilly Jones, and the office of Public Safety. I was checked on from time to time by these employees and felt very safe and comforted.

table, being virtually alone on a deserted campus. Twenty I'm not, but reponsible I am. I appreciate the concern and good work of the Public Safety office.

More than adequate activities are provided and the "real" students participate in them. An example is the theatre. The entertainment is the highest quality and most enjoyable. But you, Mr. Fleshman, would be satisfied with nothing less than orgies in the residence halls and a campus bar. I will admit I would prefer to see you fall down and skin your knee while trying to make it to your room, rather than drive your automobile and injure me. I do not make school policies and neither do you, but as responsible adults both of us are obligated to abide by Dr. Lucht's decisions.

If you are so unhappy with HPC I strongly suggest that you pack your worldly possessions and go back to Maryland.

Sylvia Beck P.S. I'd like to send your parents a copy of your editorial and have them react to it.

Parent reacts out of concern

Dear Editor:

I am writing this letter as a concerned parent whose daughter graduated from High Point College, and a son who is presently a junior.

On the several occasions I have visited the campus in the past. I was extremely impressed and pleased with the warm friendly attitude of some of the faculty I spoke to, and the excellent rapport they had with the students. Now I understand that many of them are no longer with your school.

In recent conversations with my daughter, she mentioned her contact with many of her former classmates and they commented if they were now high school seniors looking at perspective colleges, they would not select High Point College.

Additionally, I understand that a lot of students have similarly changed their minds about remaining at High Point, transferring to other schools. My son is soon to become one of them. Their reasons are many changes in faculty, the lack of activity for students and the strict regulation of alcoholic beverages on campus.

One major point of this ban is highly hypocritical because all any one has to do is walk thru any dorm and they will see enough evidence that drinking does exist at the school - I myself have seen this to be true. Because of this ban, students go off campus to have their social parties. This is extremely dangerous. Not only do they endanger their own lives, but that of others. I do not condone excessive drinking, but if they are going to drink, it would be better to allow it on campus where they will not be a nuisance to others.

Please note I do not drink but the choice should be made by each individual adult. These young people in college are sent not only to get an education, but to get an education, but to become an adult and make adult decisions. They are not elementery school children to go to a punch and cake gathering. How many parents of students go to parties and not have social drinking - how many faculty

See Parent, p. 7

- Hodgepodge. . .

Evergreen

P.O. Box 3510 Room 200 Campus Conta

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO.

The HI-PO welcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed, and an address must be included. If warranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as seen necessary.

Christmas! I am aswirl with images, adrift in time. I have no identity: I am metamorphosis itself. I sway, I tremble, I become other creatures in other worlds.

Struggling to keep up with the big man, father, carrying saw or hatchet through a field of cedars. The joy of felling, dragging one to the car.

An older boy's girlfriend teaching me what happened under mistletoe. My heart nearly burst, encompassed the universe. Holy plant. Healer. Drawer of lightning. Mystical - between earth and sky.

Just returned from Christmas at Grandma's. My father answers the phone, listens for a few moments, then weeps. Then we all gall night through rain. The lights on Grandpa's tree still burn, but they are no longer bright.

Five thousand years ago on the longest night of the year, I light a bonfire and chant with the others, "Return Sun, source of warmth and light Bring back life, O Lord, to this freezing desert. Be born again. Birth, birth, birth."
"Do you know what the real meaning of Christmas is, Daddy?"

"What is it, Lara?"
"Jesus' birthday."

We have forever dreamt of the sacred birth on the longest night of the year.

Awakening in the dark shimmering morning, the blood mad with anticipation. Has he come? He always did, even where there was no chimney. He didn't bring much then, to those little cinderblock houses we lived in one present usually, but it was a treasure. Born again under the tree.

Such a strange custom to bring a tree into the house. Why? It's evergreen, like our hope, our draum of the sacred birth. Adorn the symbol, adorn the dream, adorn the life with lights, candles, stars, shining baubles that reflect our faces. Place presents under it. Place sacrifices on the evergreen altar of Love and Hern.

Love and Hope.

I am abashed before the awesome power of the season. All praise.

Marion Hodge Assistant Professor of English

Fleshman stresses stance

Dear Editor

In the last issue of the HI-PO, my editorial response was printed and since that time I've received mixed feelings from the people who have read it. So, as Richard M. Nixon said, "I would like to make myself perfectly

I came to High Point College in the fall of 1980 because as a high school graduate, I was very unsure of what life held in store for me. The idea of "a quality education with a personal touch" really appealed to my uncertainty. I did not come to college for the sole purpose of expanding my knowledge in the arts and sciences, but also to learn about life and people from different geographical regions. I immediately became involved in Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and learned priceless lessons and made everlasting friendships. (Every fraternity and sorority on this campus offers the same opportunity.)

I also made many friends outside of the fraternity. Bruce Tingle, Bob Lowder-milk and Diane Hansen always seemed to be around when I had problems, or in a few cases, when I caused problems. It was their understanding and all the other friendships which made me come to love this school.

But somewhere between then and now the personal touch seemed to have slipped away. Every spring we fill out questionares telling how we feel we can improve the campus. The most touchy issue was that of drinking on campus. Eighty percent of the studerats were in favor of this. When we came back this fall we were greeted by new ad-ministrators who proceded to tell us why we shouldn't drink and what to do in its place.

I'm not advocatirag a 24 hour keg party or group sex in the fraternity lou nges. I am asking for a respect, and for people here to relax. We should be working together not agai nst one another. I cannot believe a student feels we fail to earn rights. We shouldn't have to earn rights. I pay nearly $6,000 a year to come here, that's all the reason I need to complain. What's the big attraction for all the money? Outside of the class rooms. we have six basketball goals and one beat-up weight machine. Most other schools, private or starte supported, at least have a pool or one racquet ball court. Well dear concerned student, I feel I have more than payed my dues over the last 21/2 years, and feel the least I deserve in return is a little respect. Compared to our surrounding colleges, our student behavior reflects that of a Sunday School.

Finally I'd like to say that everyone has an opinion and this one is mine. If anyone doesn't like it, that's too damn bad!! Crystal Hedgecock, the editor of this paper, (one person even had to ask me who she was) asked for students to get involved and express their feelings. When I do express my feelings, a few people try to chastise me by telling my friends I'm childish and immature. My response to all of you is that you are in college and its about time you grew up. If you cannot accept my opinion for what it is, I'm sorry. There is no more room for me to grow within the system of this school. I am transferring to the University of Maryland at the end of this semester. I'm sure many will say that's where I can go and live out my evil thoughts. It's time these people stepped out of their shells and realize there is life beyond High Point College. I am leaving here with happy memories of good times and good friends and also with hope that one day this school will be on the same course as the rest of the na-

Doff Fleshman

Continuing Education students are "overachievers"

To The Editor:

If there is one common denominator for students in the Continuing Adult Education Program, that denominator could probably be summed up in one word -overachiever.

A further unifying factor for the majority of these students is their apparent love of business courses, which fulfills that ambitious practicality inherent in the American dream, and religion courses, which usually features a relaxed syllabus. Allow my interjection on behalf of a minority of students who would like to see more literature courses

The coordinators for CAEP understandably attempt to offer those classes wherein lies the greatest in-terest. Nevertheless, I feel cheated when a literature class fails to make because only three people signed up for it. I feel a genuine despair when fellow students wrinkle up their noses with distaste at the thought of reading and then writing a paper on some thought-provoking poems, short stories and essays.

The excuses of literature taking too much time or being too difficult to understand are as trite as Phyllis Wheatley's poetic diction. Time is a premium commodity for evening students, but isn't one of the lessons of college the transformation of timewasters into cherishers?

When one considers the implication of being time cherisher, an entirely new perspective is brought into focus from which management, accounting, and, yes, even religion courses pale. This perspective is the basis behind Thoreau's meaning when he wrote "The mass of men lead lives of quiet desperation."

Literature classes cannot turn everyone into Platos or William Wordsworths, but more of these classes can provoke an active participation and, hopefully, an en-thusiasm which can free man of the bonds forged within the constraints of formulas and principles. And, like Prometheus, man would thus be better equipped to wrestle with the attitudes and practices of daily life.

Unfortunately, freedom and non-conformity found in the works of men such as William Blake or Walt Whitman will never become reality for many students. Rather, they will stay wrapped snugly in their defined business and crip courses, intent only on their grade point average, an important quality for an overachiever.

As for me, although I am almost finished with my undergraduate work, I feel a responsibility to speak out. The reason is quite elemental. I want my children to appreciate great literature over comic books. I want my children to prefer Rossini and Beethoven over Police and Screaming Chicken. I want my children to beg to watch a sunset rather than "The Dukes of Hazard."

A knowledgeable, albeit idealistic, foray can rattle the bars of conventionality. As Oscar Wilde, in his succinct fashion, stated, "We are all in the gutter, but some of us are looking at the stars.

Overachievers - realize the true essence of that term and try to care less for quality points and more for the quality thoughts provoked after serious study of literary greats.

Jonnie L. Shore

Schlimmer thanks students

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all students who helped the Ad-missions Office in hosting prospective students for our recent visitation program. Your generous response to our requests for overnight host and hostesses was appreciated. Twenty-six students spent November 18th in the residence halls. The high school students were pleased with their accommodations, especially your willingness to show them a little bit about stu-dent life at High Point Col-

I am always pleased to have prospects visit our campus and talk with current High Point College students. Your friendliness and enthusiasm for the college is felt by many of our guests we have on carrapus. with housing, campus tours.

entertainment and special arrangements a "Thank you" is deserving. Your extra efforts were appreciated by our guests.

Campus visitors do sense a feeling of closeness at High Point College. The entire college community needs to be thanked for maintaining this type of environment.

> Jim Schlimmer Director of Admissions

It's the holiday season of the year. And Dr. and Mrs. Charles Lucht invite each of you to attend the student you to attend the student reception at their home on Deep River Road, Wednes-day, Dec. 8 from 6:30-10:00 p.m. Two vans will be shuttl-ing from the campus center every thirty minutes for those students who need a

Hi-Po Staff

Features Editor. . . . . . . . . . . . . Karla Green News Editor Pam York
Reporters Erika Allion, Tana Parker Peggy Draper, Thomas Grana, Karen Hernandez, Mark Phelps, Tabbie Nance Susan Warrick

Photographers .... Marisa Firpi, Bill Johnson

Summer school planned for Europe

An alternative to the classroom

PAMELA YORK News Editor

If you are considering attending summer school in 1983 but would rather avoid the classroom, "Art in Europe" provides an alter-

Sponsored by High Point College, this art-oriented program provides one the opportunity of viewing leading museums and cathedrals in Europe and can be taken for college credit. The trip-which is scheduled for July 27-Aug. 10-includes Holland, Germany, Switzerland, and Ita-

According to Mrs. Jane Burton, assistant professor of Art at HPC and a director of the tour," a lot of people have never traveled to the extent of the tour. It exposes one to different people and different foods-just a whole different way of life."

The cost of the trip is $1666 if leaving from New York and $1799 if leaving from Atlanta. Included in the price are international air transportation (round Atlanta) and European land arrangements (transportstion by private motor coach. accommodations, breakfast and dinner each day, an English-speaking tour escort, and tips).

Gina Cardone, an HPC senior who attended the tour last summer. said, "It's the most facinating trip I have ever went on. It was so worth the money. My parents paid more than I did for a similar trip 10 years ago." She added that the exposure to Europe is extensive. "In 14 days we saw 53 cities and traveled 2300 miles."

Among the cities to be toured in this summer's trip are Amsterdam, Cologne, Heidelberg, Milan, and Rome, Burton added that among the highlights of the trip is a possible audience with the Pope. She also said it will be possible to attend an annual festival held in Sines at the time of the tour.

"Every time we go," said urton, "we see something Burton, ' different. Something exciting always happens.

For more information concerning the tour, see Mrs. Burton in the Fine Arts

Phoenix XII Literary festival held recently

BY PEGGY DRAPER HI-PO Reporter

The Phoenix XII Literary Festival was held at High Point College on Nov. 19. 1982. Overall there were 254 participants representing and Academies in the one hundred mile radius. The categories in which writings could be entered were fiction and poetry.

The festival began on Friday with registration at 8:15 in the Campus Center. At 9:00 the participants attended various workshops on fiction and poetry. These workshops were conducted by Jeffrey Mills, Alice Sink, Stephen Smith, Linda Bragg, Debbie Ferrell, Marion Hodge, Karen Helgeson, Susan Scott and Thomas Walters. After the first session of workshops, they broke for lunch and continued afterwards.

The winners from High Poing college in Fiction

1st -- Renee Henry-Marsh -"Two Minutes"

2nd - April Callahan-"The Red Leather Diary" · In Poetry:

1st - Renee Henry-Marsh-"Soft Ash" 2nd - David Matzko-"Sufficient Exposure Festival. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

LINDA BROWN BRAGG conducted a workshop during the

Legislators attend meeting

CRYSTAL I HEDGECOCK

Editor-in-Chief In conjunction with a meeting held here Nov. 30, students are urged to write their legislators next semester.

The North Carolina Association of Independent Colleges and Universities met with representatives from High Point College, Greensboro College, Ben-nett College, Guilford College and Elon College to discuss the upcoming vote on the increase of the North Carolina Legislative Tuition

Grant with state legislators from Guilford county.

Those legislators attending were Representative Mary Jarrell, Represen-tative Mary Seymour, Representative Burnley, Representative William Grimsley, Senator Bill Martin, and Senator Rachel Gray.

Mr. Charles Hayworth presided Chairman of the Board of Trustees at High Point College, presided over the meeting.

The North Carolina Legislative Tuition Grant consists of $650 given to NC students who choose to attend NC private colleges and universities. The NCLTG is not based on need. The bill to be voted on in June will increase this amount by $175 for the fiscal year 1983-84 and an additional $175 for the fiscal year

Because of the everpresent need to economize, the chance of rejection of this bill is greater. Twentyeight thousand students receive this grant annually. Therefore, students need to write their legislators and express a sincere plea for an increase in the NCLTG.

lenks chosen as program director

Mr. Steve Jenks is to be at vanguard of a new campaign in the Continuing Adult Education Program. Jenks has been named Program Director for short-term, noncredit seminars, according to Mrs. Shirley Rawley, CAEP Director.

Jenks will try to discover what kind of instruction businesses in the Triad might need, and will try to find the teachers prepared in this particular field. Jinks graduated in 1970 from Hobart College with a B.A. in economics. In 1972 he took his M.B.A. at the University of Chicago. He was employed for seven years by the United States Department of Education, processing Pell Grant applications. For the past three years Jenks has been a consultant, helping educators and data process ing people understand each Jenks said that after ten years in student aid, "It was time for a change." He said he was especially happy to be back in an academic environment because he wants to be "involved in training."

The seminars Jenks will coordinate, Rawley said, will be short, probably no longer than three weeks, and will not lead to an academic degree for the participants. She said Jenks would be working basically in business, but would also be trying to coordinate seminars in the Humanities Rawley thinks the new program will help HPC professors make more money and make contacts with local businesses. She said that if an HPC professor was unable to teach a particular seminar, however, Jenks would seek a teacher who was not working at the college. Furthermore, Rawley feels that the program will provide local businesses with expert training for their employees.

Jenks will also teach business courses in the CAEP, Rawley said.

At Nov. 18 meeting SGA discussed old, new issues

BY DENISE METIVIER Special to the HI-PO

On Nov. 18, 1982, SGA met in meeting room 2 in the Student Campus Center. Under old business, the bill to allocate $750.00 to the Zenith staff for additional pages was untabled. After much discussion the bill was passed.

Under new business, four bills were introduced, one was tabled, one was voted down, and two were passed. The bill that was tabled concerned SGA allocating $500.00 toward the Theater Discount Program. The bill will allow for student dis-counts at the High Point Theater, was tabled because bills concerning large amounts of money must be tabled for two weeks.

The bill which did not pass dealt with amending the Ethics Code of the Student Government Association, Article II, Possession of Alcohol. The change concerned the phrase: Physical possession when the defendent is in the space of so-meone's room. If it was passed, the article would have read: in one technical possession while anywhere

The two bills which passed dealt with allocating Lou Taylor $100 and eliminating the fee of $1.00 for overnight guest. The $100 dollars was to help Ms. Taylor with the expenses encountered in the field hockey tournament in which she was selected to play. The second bill, which deals with the elimination of the $1.00 fee for overnight guest must be approved by administration and then passed by two thirds majority vote of the student body. If this bill is approved failure to register a guest will result in a $5. fine.

SGI discussed old gave income

Bulla resigns to join corporation

BY KARLA GREEN

Features Editor
One year to the date of his replacing his successor as the college's business manager, Mr. Ken Bulla will be leaving High Point Col-lege, Bulla has accepted an administrative position with Abrams Fixture Corp. in Atlanta, Georgia, He previously worked with this company as Operation Manager before coming back to HPC, his alma mater, to replace Mr. Earle Dalbey who retired last

According to Bulla, "I will be working with Abrams in sales as well as in office management."

During his year here Bulla has served on several committees. According to Bulla, he has served as assistant secretary to the Board of Trustees since November 1981. Bulla commented, "saying that was an in-teresting office." He also served as a member of the Executive Committee to the

Bulla stated that "one of the most interesting things' that he has been involved with since coming back to HPC is serving as advisor to the APO service fraternity. Bulla talked about his decision to leave HPC to resume a career in the field of Business Administration. "When making the decision I had to evaluate the total situation; the cir-cumstances, the people involved and the opportunity for advancement." Bulla stated that this decision was due to the fact that "this job would offer me more overall."

Bulla also commented that though he enjoys the work in the business field of management, he will "miss the exposure to the students that he gets here at HPC." Bulla said, "the decision making comes quicker in business, but the students are more fun."

Bulla and his family plan to relocate to Stone Mountain, outside of Atlanta, where he will commute to work daily. He said that he will ironically be working closely with his past HPC college roommate, who is also a High Point native. Bulla commented that this former roommate was in-strumental in his "getting back into this company.

MR. KEN BULLA will leave the College to accept a position in Atlanta. Bulla's resignation is effective Dec. 31, 1982. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

Looking back over the year here, Bulla recalls the somewhat easy transition he had moving into the position he currently holds. "I had some apprehensions about replacing a man like Mr. Dalbey, who had been serv-ing in this position for 17 years." He added. "The fact that Dalbey himself was involved in getting to come back to HPC made it easier

Mrs. Ethylene Charnock. who had served as secretary for the two men, said that "Mr. Bulla did an excellent job in making it the smoothest transition."

CAEP graduates speak out Life after graduation

ALFA GUNZENHAUSER Special to the HI-PO

This year's graduating class included approximate-ly 30 CAEP students who had attended classes at R.J. Reynolds Headquarters and the Piedmont Aviation Training Center, For these graduates, the rigorous schedule of attending college while maintaining fulltime employment has finally ended, and they are now the proud possessors of that long-sought-after college Patti Itterman, the first Communications Major to graduate from the CAEP held at Reynolds Headquarters, remembers how she felt on graduation day, 'I could not believe it 'til I had the diploma in my hand. It was the impossible dream. lt was very exciting. I don't think the day students were half as excited as I was."

But Patti also remembers experiencing a let-down.
"Afterwards, it was kind of anti-climactic," she added. "You have this goal for so long...I don't remember what I used to do, and I wasted a lot of time at first. but then I started writing," she said.

So far she has a collection of rejection slips, but some publishers have taken the time to comment on her work, and she finds that encouraging. One of her poems was accepted for publication in the "American Poetry Society 1982 Anthology.

In addition to writing more stories and poems, she plans to audition for the Little Theatre's production of "The King and I." She is also considering graduate studies at UNC-G.

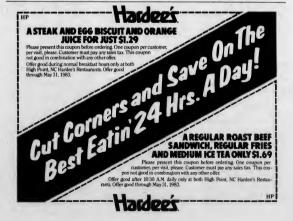

Robert Ransom, who recently received a promo-tion at R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., considers the CAEP as "one of the most advantageous things a person could do." "The schooling has helped me in my job, in life, and given me a better foundation from which to view life," he said. He also commented, "it's a benefit that Reynolds' employees should not overlook - my degree was a major factor in my recent promotion - I graduated with honors, and it was that extra effort that people recognize--it pays off." College work and fulltime employment is not an easy road," he added, "you have to be a good manager of time, but you don't have to be a hermit - you can still have time for other things." On the subject of time Susan Hayes said, "I haven't figured out yet how I managed to go to school." Somehow my free time got absorbed by other things-a busy work schedule for one thing," she added. Susan commented that she had been seriously considering graduate school while she was in the CAEP, but that she seems to have lost motivation since gradua-tion. She feels it was the flexibility of the CAEP that contributed to its success. "We had the best of it allstarting classes at 5 o'clock. and if you had a time period when things were too busy at work, you could drop to one course or plan to take a less demanding one," she said. "There's no flexibility in the Appalachian MBA program," she added.

See CAEP, p. 7

High Point College Page 6 · HI-PO · Wednesday, December 8, 1982

SPORTS

Panthers fall behind in final minutes of game

BY MARK PHELPS HI-PO Reporter

HI-PO Reporter

If a little more time could be added to each of their games, High Point's men's basketball team could easily have a record of 4-1. But instead, Coach Jerry Steele's Panthers have not had things go right in the final minutes of play and have dropped four of their first five games.

"We have played four of our games hard and smart," said coach Steele, "and we played well in the first five minutes of the last game too before falling off."

In their season opener, High Point was able to remain even with Belmont Abbey during regulation play only to lose in overtime 81-69. After losing another close game to Wingate 57-54, the Panthers were able to defeat Pembroke 83-77 for their first Carolina's Conference win. Freshman Terry Samuels added to the victory with a 26 point performance. High Point next played in the Kiwanis Classic basket-ball tournament held in the Greensboro Coliseum from December first through the fourth. In the first contest, the Panthers narrowly lost to a tough Guilford squad 70-65. The Quakers were able to pull away in the final minute of play on a three point shot with 42 seconds remaining. Danny Murphy led all scorers with 23 points.

In Saturday night's contest, High Point lost to conference rival Elon 104-77 in the only game the Panthers have not kept close. Freshman Jim Hoffman scored a personal high of 10 points to aid in the losing effort.

A major contribution to the losses has been the absence of some top seniors. Both Jackie McNeil and Rosevelt Brunson have missed all five games so far and it is doubtful they will play any the rest of the season. Butch Bowser's performance in the Elon game was the first time he has really centributed to the team since being injured.

Both freshmen, Samuels and Hoffman, have played well in replacing these players. "Terry has played better than we expect at times and not as well at others, said coach Steele,

"Jim has performed with inconsistency also, but this sort of play is expected of freshmen."

Perrone selected to '82 NAIA All-American soccer team

High Point College center midfielder Pepe Perrone was selected to the NAIA All-American soccer team for 1982. The 5-7 senior from Centereach, New York, was named to the honorable mention group of the NAIA team.

Perrone was selected All-Carolinas Conference and All-District 26 four times during his career and was the Co-Player-of-the-Year in District 26 as a junior.

For his career Perrone tallied 23 goals and 28 assists, placing him second on the all-time assists list for the Panthers.

High Point soccer coach Woody Gibson said, "Pepe has been a real leader on and off the field for four years. I think he is highly deserving of this honor. Although his statistics were off a little this year as compared to past seasons, he had a great year directing our predominatly freshman and sophomore team. I'm happy for him."

Perrone is the first player to be named to an NAIA All-American soccer team in the ten-year history of the sport at High Point.

December sports...

BY CHARLES BURTON Sports Editor

Of all the issues I have wanted to cover as ports Editor, few are as important to me as the one in this column. Although it may sound trivial to some, one of the greatest cruelties in physical education is having a captain pick his team members. Someone is always going to be the least one picked giving him a feeling of undesirability and in-feriority even before he starts playing. The goal of school sports is a building of confidence among the players and an exaltation of self-worth and value. No other activity can cause these things to increase - or diminish - like a positive approach would be to have the team members number off and to form two or three teams from these people. The psychological strikes are against you before you even play if you are the last one chosen. Coaches and coaches-to-be. please think about it, anyway.

With this column, I end my tenure as sports editor. Mark Phelps, a talented and adept writer, will take over the job. I think the paper has covered some important issues in sports - the wins, the losses, yes but more importantly, though, sports grants and attendance at home games, to mention only two. I believe that the area of sports grants deserves much closer administrative watch than it now receives. Beyond that fact, I believe that grants are worthwhile and serve their purpose when properly administered. Even though several people remarked to me that they disagreed with the article, I received no letters (and the paper received no letters) stating such. I did receive, however, two clarifications from Woody Gibson, who has had as much to do with these sports pages as I have. As sports information director, the extra duties he has seen only to improve his ability to be of assistance. I thank him for his help.

If there is something that you don't agree with anytime, anywhere, the only way you can ever hope to change it or make it different is if you write. If you don't write, things will stay the same, and only the reader can decide whether sameness is good or had.

Honors to be given

Jim Speight, Ken Carter and Jim Holloran will be honored at halftime of the High Point-Atlantic Christian basketball game on Wednesday, December 8.

Speight was named the NAIA Area 7 Coach-of-the-Year by the Diamond Baseball Company, Inc., the second time he has won that award.

Carter, a 1982 graduate of High Point College earned Second-Team All-American honors in baseball last season as he helped lead the Panthers to a 29-13 record at the Area playoffs. Carter hit...382, drove in 23 runs and stole 24 bases during the year and helped anchor the Panther infield at his second base position.

Holloran, a senior at High Point, was named to the Academic All-American tennis team by the NAIA. He also was the Carolinas Conference Player-of-the-Year and was selected to the All-District 26 team.

He won the number one singles fight in the conference tournament in 1982.

Spirit Stick contests resume

The High Point College Spirit Stick Competition resumes tonight.

The Spirit Sticks, and additional gifts, are awarded to the men's and women's campus organizations (fraternity, sorority, independents) who demonstrate the men's upport at the men's and women's basketball games. Two Spirit Sticks, and additional gifts, are awarded at each game, and the organizations winning the Sticks the most number of times throughout the season will hold the Spirit Sticks until next season. The pictures of last year's winners, APO Fraternity and Phi Mu Sorority, can be seen in the 1982-83 edition of the Athletic Yearbook.

Following is a schedule of this year's events: Wed., Dec. 8 Men vs Atlantic Christian 7:30 p.m.

7:30 p.m.
T-shirt Night. T-Shirt donated by Triad Screen Printing of High Point, will be given to the Spirit Stick winners.

Wed., Jan. 19 Women at Elon, 5:45 p.m.

Men at Elon, 7:30 p.m.

Take a Hike Night. Bus leaves from Student Center.

Sticks awarded to groups having most students riding the bus. Student ID admits you to game.

Sat. Jan. 22 Men vs Pfeiffer, 7:30 p.m.

Adopt a Player Night. Stick awarded to group which shows most appreciated to their assigned player. Mon. Jan. 31

Mon. Jan. 31 Women vs Pfeiffer 7:00 p.m. Adopt a Player Night. (same as above)

Mon., Feb. 7

Women vs Wingate,

7:00 p.m.
Pizza Night. The Spirit
Sticks and six "$5 off" gift certificates, donated by Pizza Hut on Main and Montlieu, awarded to Spirit
Stick winners.

Sat., Feb. 12
Women vs Guilford,
6:00 p.m.
Men vs Guilford,
8:00 p.m.
HOMECOMING

Film Night. The Spirit Sticks and one roll of 35mm, 24 exposures, color film will be donated and developed by High Point Photo Supply Company. Your organizations pictures of the Homecoming Events could cost vou 80. See Spirit Stick, p. 7

Speight named NAIA Area 7 Coach-of-year

High Point College baseball coach Jim Speight has been named the NAIA Area 7 Coach-of-the-Year for 1982. The award is sponsored by the Diamond Baseball Company Inc. Speight was selected as a result of belloting among area coaches. Area 7 of the NAIA consists of North and South Carolina, West Virginia and Kentucky.
The Panthers posted a

The Panthers posted a 29-13 record last year, winning the District 26 title and advancing to the Area finals befgore losing to Costal Carolina

This marks the second time Speight has been thus honored, being named Area Coach-of-the-year in 1979 as well.

Of foreign language dept. Head named just that

Dr. Charles R. Lucht, President of High Point College, announced Monday the appointment of Dr. Carole Head as chairman of the modern foreign language department, effective January 1, 1983. She will replace Dr. Frances Hoch, who has accepted a consulting position with the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction.

Dr. Head has been a member of the High Point College faculty since August 1978 and has taught French, German and Spanish at all levels. She has served as chairman of the President's Task Force for Advancement since August of this

In addition to her duties at the College, Dr. Head has been active as a translator for international furniture officials during the fall and spring furniture markets.

Dr. Head received her bachelor of arts degree in French from the University of Oklahoma in 1967. She earned her master's and doctoral degrees from the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill with a specialization in medieval languages and literature. She has traveled extensively in Europe, accompanying student gorups and undertaking further study at the Goethe Institute and the University of Salzburg.

Attorney General

In the past week two students were found to be in violation of school policy. Each accepted an administrative decision. One student was charged with the following:

Disorderly conduct
 Public drunkeness

3. Deliberate, unwarranted discharge of a college fire extinguisher CO<sup>2</sup>, Millis Hall, second and third floors.

4. Violation of administrative probation. He was suspended from the College for one week or five school days, fined $50.00, paid for the clean-up of Millis 2nd and 3rd floors, and assessed for the recharge of the fire ex-recharge of the fire extinguisher, left on Administrative Probation for the 82-83 academic year, and was referred to the Alcohol Education Center. The second student was

The second student was found guilty of alcohol possession and he was fined $25.00.

they rank Nebi lege.

altitude changes. Coach Littitle explained that jet lag, among other adjustments, were small factors in why "we (the team) didn't haveit together." On Nov. 15th, they were defeated by #2, ranked Kearney State of Nebraska and Winthrop College. After evaluating the day's performance, the team went on to defeat Fort Hayes on the 16th. The Lady Panthers finished the tournament with a 1-2 record and ranked 10th in the nation.

the new environment and

Colorado cont. from p. 1

Coach Little said even though the girls missed their classes, the trip was also a learning experience. "Four of the girls had never flown on a plan' before! There were girls from all parts of the country who shared their different customs including the University of Hawaii Hilo, which won the championship pionship.

Senior Vivica Wingfield explained, "I don't know a better way to end by college career then by going to nationals." "Team Unity," as the saying goes and the girls agreed upon, was "the key to their success."

"Scrooge" opens tonight

PAUL LUNDRIGAN will play the lead role of "Scrooge' tonight, Dec. 8 thru Sat., Dec. 11 in the HPC Memoria Auditorium. The play begins each night at 8 p.m.; studen lickets can be purchased at the ticket office for $2.

Spirit cont. from p. 6

Tues., Feb. 15
Women vs Elon, 7:00 p.m.
Art Night. A wall hanging, screened with the High Point College Panther, will be given to the groups winning the Spirit Sticks.

Wed., Feb. 16 Men vs Elon, 7:30 p.m. Art Night (same as above

Art Night (same as above) Wed., Feb. 23 Men vs Gardner-Webb 7:30 p.m.

Pizza Night (same as above)

Perenticent, from p. 21

It really is sad we will now lose contact with your college. Our family enjoyed visiting the area of your school and thought seriously of moving there sometime in the future.

Doff T. Fleshman Sr.

CAEP

cont. from p. 5

Joann Sprink's motivation is still riding high. She plans to begin work on an MBA at UNC-G by the summer of '83. Joann expressed a tremendous sense of personal pride and accomplish-ment for having earned her degree. "It has prepared me on a formal basis to meet the daily challenges of the business world," she said, "and has broadened my base of knowledge so that I feel that I am more objective and have a less narrow point of view." Joann said it took about four months to adjust to being at home at 5 o'clock. "When I walked in the house," she said, "I didn't know what I was sup-posed to do." Through her contacts as a student, Joann was invited to become a member of the International Studies Advisory Board of High Point College and she recently spoke to teachers from the state of North Carolina at a seminar conducted by HPC on international trade.

Gail McElroy, a nurse at the North Carolina School of the Arts has expanded her activities since graduation, also. She is presently teaching two introductory psychology classes at Forsyth Technical Institute. She said she now has a better awareness of the problems teachers experience in the classroom. "It's a lot easier to make a good grade in a class than to teach a class," she said.

Gail expressed the same sense of pride and accomplishment that the other graduates spoke of, and she summed up the sentiments expressed by everyone when she said, "The fellowship among the students is what you miss the most about the CAEP."

Taking notes for money

Campus Digest News Service
Taking notes in lecture classes no longer has to be boring process of dulling pencils to a short stub. For a small fee, a professional will do the dirty work while you let your fingers do the resting somewhere else.

Not all colleges, however, will offer you someone to sit in on your lectures, but at institutions such as Stanford University, the University of Oregon and the University of Washington, professional note-taking services are ready and eager to do the painful work.

Most of the services find a great demand for their help in large general courses which enroll hundreds of students. Not all professors will let a professional note-taker, usually a senior or graduate student, sit in on a class, but those that do are finding their seats less filled.

Black Lightning Lecture Note Service at the University of California, Berkeley, gets a 65 percent response from each class it sends a note-taker to.

Black Lightning charges $10 per term for notes. Last year demand was so great that the service profited $180,000, after paying note takers about $36 per class.

Usually, Black Lightning workers can get the notes, type them, and have them copyrighted and distributed to subscribers within 60 hours after the lecture class. During mid-terms and just before finals, service is even quicker.

Strictly Classified-

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad, type the ad double spaced and turn it in to the HI-PO by Friday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ad turned in after this deadline will be held until the next the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no signation, the ad will run for only one week.

Employment

delivery

(maintenance)

Attendant

Hours: 12:30-3:30

Off-campus employment:

Title: Aetna Service Station

Contact: Danny Spencer, 885-4923 or 883-0690

Off Campus Employment:

Description: One weekly

Sunday worship service, choir rehearsal, seasonal ser-

Contact: Pastor Simmons

(292-4984) or M/M Jim Col-4

Title: Church organist

vices and funerals.

Peterson (852-7087).

Part-time

Off-campus employment: Title: Drivers for pizza

Title: Organist Hours: weekends only Contact: 883-1913 or 869-5228

Services

TYPING SERVICE. Can pick up and/or deliver. Must have three days to do work. Paper must be supplied by student. Call Maria Hale at 869-6462

TYPING DONE ON CAM-PUS. Reasonable rates. Call Tabbie at 889-9814.

has a LIMITED supply of ACT Family Financial Statements forms for 1982-83. Students can come by the aid office in Roberts Hall before Christmas vacation and pick up only one packet. These CANNOT be completed until January. It is recommended that applicants have a completed 1982 10-40 Federal Income Tax Return.

See Amsterdam, Milan, Florence, and Rome Dates: July 27th-August 10th (Summer School 1983) Credit: Three hours art credit Cost: $1666 from New York $1799 from Atlanta Reservations and payments: $250 due February 1, 1983 $250 due March 31, 1983 Balance due six weeks prior to departure.

For more information, see Jane Burton in Art Dept.

The placement office would like to remind graduating seniors that deadlines for the GMAT, GRE and LSAT tests are coming up. Please stop by the office to pick up an application or check on test dates and locations.

Announcements

Description: Deliver pizzas; 18 yrs. or older, own car, in-CASH FOR BOOKS surance on car Hours: Part-time, flexible Salary: $5-$7 per hour Address: Scott Cox, Domino

Cloth or paper - whether us-ed on this campus or not we buy all titles having resale market value! Sell them at the HPC COL-LEGE BOOKSTORE, Tues. Pizza, #3, High Point Mall Phone: 869-1115 - call for thru Thurs., Dec. 14-16, 8 appt. and info.; apply in pera.m.-4 p.m.

> All organizations, clubs, fraternities, and sororities on the college campus need to submit a copy of their charter and constitution to the Office of Student Life. Your cooperation in this endeavor will be greatly appreciated.

Baptist Student Union, Tuesday 7:00 p.m. Intervarsity Christian Fellowship, Thursday 7:30 p.m man (292-7896) or Mr. Jack Lobby of Student Center

Hospice of High Point aids the terminally ill

BY KARLA GREEN

"Hospice" to the weary medieval traveler meant a place of refuge after a tiring journey. In High Point today, Hospice still means aid and comfort to the weary. The weary, however, have a much heavier load to bear. . . they are terminally ill.

Hospice of High Point has been a "dream in the planning" for the past three years. On September 1, 1982, Hospice became a reality to the High Point citizens who required aid.

Dr. Vance Davis, Professor of Religion and Philosophy at HPC also serves as President of the Board of Directors of Hospice. He remembers the many steps that it took to establish the agency because he helped make it happen.

Davis said that three years ago the planning began with the help and influence of the Hospice agen-cies in nearby Winston-Salem and Charlotte.

Hospice basically pro-vides services of aid and comfort to the terminally ill and their families. Their concept is one which seeks to alleviate fear, isolation and hopelessness felt by the patients (and their families) who choose to spend their final time at home.

Davis reported that "these patients are not charged for the services provided by Hospice." He added that Hospice was accepted as an United Way agency for 1983, which will provide for 2/3 of its fun-

Davis stressed that this is "medically directed program." The Medical Director of the program is Dr. Steve Uhlin, Kitty Boone serves as the Executive Director.

The care begins after a terminally ill patient is referred to Hospice by the attending physician. Davis said that the next step is to make 'an assessment of the patient's case" from which a team of professionals and volunteers are assigned. Davis said, "the object of the team is to provide 24 hour-a-day care to the pa-tient and family, making them as comfortable as possible.

According to Davis, the team consists of one Hospice staff member, a public health nurse that regularly visits the patient, his or her attending physi-cian and two Hospice volunteers (and other professional persons as needed).

Davis also commented that at the "time of assessmuch thought is ment" given to the needs of each patient. "If the needs arises a counselor and minister may be assigned to the patient and their family.

Though Hospice follows the patient and family through to the end, the service does not end there, according to Davis. A period of bereavement up to 1 year following the death is also a time when continued service for the family is given.

Davis reports that Hospice presently has five patients. He added, "We are anticipating one to two new patients by next week." He also commented that there is "no age stipulation" for the patients taken on by the program. "The youngest patient is in his thirties and the oldest is in his seventies, said Davis.

In speaking of Hospice volunteers, Davis said that he hopes High Point College students will consider get-ting involved in the pro-"Volunteers gram. "Volunteers can benefit just by being able to relate to these patients," commented Davis. He added that the students could do "anything from grocery shop for the family or sit with the patient" during their volunteer hours.

Davis said that some in terest has already been shown by HPC students. "A group of students are planning to get together and rake leaves at Hospice next week." Davis commented that any of the students' time could be useful to the We program. "We want students to become trained volunteers'' said Davis. Hospice offers a eight week training class that meets one night a week.

To find out more about

Hospice and becoming a volunteer, see Dr. Davis in Roberts Hall.

High Point College's

"Working for a better informed campus" January 26, 1983

High Point, N.C. 27262

Vol. 55

INSIDE

Computers, p. 3

Sports, p. 6

Tingle accepts position with health foundation

CRYSTAL L. HEDGECOCK Editor-in-Chief

Bruce Tingle, assistant director of student life, left High Point College Jan. 7 to begin work with the Area L. AHEC staff, a subsidiary of the UNC school of medicine.

Tingle will work for the Health Education Foundation of Eastern North Carolina, Inc. He will be the Associate Director for Special Projects.

According to Tingle, he will provide and promote quality health care centers and provide educational opportunities for doctors, in his new position.

"I regret the timing deeply," Tingle said of his leaving between semesters.

"But this was too good an opportunity to turn down, he said. "It is a better move professionally and I will have an opportunity to go back to school and get a Master's in Hospital Administration."

With the office of Career Planning and Placement empty, Mr. Michael Pitt-man, director of student life, said "I will be doing as much as I have time to do in Career Planning and Placement, but it will be very difficult maintaining what we have right now."

"I have to fill the position as quickly as possible, but with the most qualified per-son," Pittman said.

"I will be working with the new dean in finding someone to fill that position and there will be student involvement in the interview process," Pittman said.

"If I could leave anything to the student, Tingle said, "it would be to do the best you can and don't sit in the dorms and complain.

BRUCE TINGLE resigned from HPC on Jan. 7 (Photo by

Winfield Bearce fills academic dean position

DR. WINFIELD BEARCE became academic dean on Jan. 10 (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

BY KARLA GREEN Features Editor

High Point College has a academic dean. Dr. Winfield Bearce arrived January 10 to fill the position that had been vacant since the reassignment of Dr. David Cole to a teaching position last spring.

During the vacancy, Dr. E. Roy Epperson acted as temporary dean of the college. President Lucht reported earlier this fall that there had been "over 100 applicants for the job." The decision on the appointment of Bearce was announced last December by Lucht.

Bearce comes to High Point from Missouri Valley College where he served as dean of that college. Bearce was with the school for a total of 17 years, during which he took a leave to serve with the Peace Corps of Africa. Bearce went to Kenya, Africa as chemistry lecturer at Nairobi University for two Bearce is married and has two children. In an interview Wednesday, he commented that his family would be joining him in High Point in March. He also commented that he is looking forward to making his home here, having visited this part of the country for conferences in Bearce also feels comfortable with the size of HPC. He said that the school he came from is "very similar in size" to HPC. He said the students also seem similar.

the past.

Bearce further commented that his primary emphasis would be on the high quality education offered by the college and its faculty."

His previous school was located in a small town with many of its students being from other parts of the coun-

Bearce, himself, attended a small college in Maine, Bowdoin College, where he received his A.B. degree. He recalls being active in his student life program, also being involved in the Greek system as a Kappa Sigma Alumnae of that college. Bearce at this point, showed personal interest in the development of the Student Life program at High Point. 'I feel this is where we can implement the personal touch of the college." Commenting on his prior ex-periences with programs such as the Greeks, he said. "I feel that such grouping gives an opportunity for a lot of strength within a college." "Thus, it can promote dedication to ones institution." With enrollment at mall colleges, such as High Point decreasing, Bearce felt that the student life development may be a factor to keep students happy with HPC. Bearce further commented that his "primary emphasis would be on the high quality education offered by the college and its faculty.

Overall, Bearce seems to be very excited about joining the staff here at HPC, he says he will start by "getting to know about he traditions and relationships that make High Point College."

Filling positions, admissions head Lucht's concerns

CRYSTAL I HEDGECOCK

Editor-in-Chief Beginning the semester with a new dean, no business manager and an active admissions office are among the concerns of Dr. Charles R. Lucht, president of the Other concerns, according to Lucht, include the appointment of a director of library services, the construction of the new library and the replacement of Mr. Bruce Tingle, assistant director of student life.

Dr. Winfield Bearce, the new academic dean began work Jan. 10.

"I would like students to meet the new dean," Lucht said. "The dean is the head of the academic program and often a student only meets the dean under adverse conditions, but I would like all students to meet the new dean.

The replacement of Mr. Ken Bulla, business manager of HPC, is being directed by a search committee, Lucht said. Members of that committee are: Mr. James L. Nelson, associate professor of Business Administration Economics; Mr. Manyon Economics; Mr. Manyon Idol, assistant professor of Mathematics; Mr. Clete Kruyer, vice-president for college affairs; Dr. E. Roy Epperson, dean for ad-ministrative affairs; Mr. Fred Peele, superintendent of buildings and grounds

"We have received over 70 applications," Lucht and Lucht.

said, "and have interviewed 12 applicants. We have now reduced the number to eight to ten callbacks for second interviews.

Lucht said after the second interview, the top two or three candidates would be brought back one more time.

"I don't expect it will take long to arrive at the number one person," Lucht said.

See Lucht, p. 4

Snow: The terror of innocence

What better word describes the cold white residue that offly blankets the ground and anything else left unguard-ed? The small particles trickle out of the clouds and quietly turn the ugly grime of winter coldness into a virginal ex-

Yes, its innocence prevails, as long as we stay intact. Yes, its innocence is appreciated, as long as we can watch from our home windows and not from our car windows as we move recklessly down the road at 10 m.p.h.

How can we be so deceived by this tiny culprit we call a snowflake? Alone, the snowflake matters little. It flitters to earth for its melting death. (It's true --just try to catch one of those critters!) But somehow, this insignificant snowflake, when gathered by many, fights harder for its survival and soon triumphs. And a triumphing snowflake is nothing but trouble!

What better word describes the cold white residue that swiftly devours the ground and anything else left unguarded. The small particles gush out of the clouds and quickly turn the safe streets of yesterday into death traps.

Yes, its terror prevails, as long as we venture away from the warmth and security of home. Yes, its terror is evident, as long as we effortlessly try to steer our cars (or even our bodies) and realize we are no longer in control.

Oh boy! I can't wait -95% chance of snow! I just love snow -- all the fun we'll have! Maybe we'll make snow cream, or go sledding, or fix popcorn and hot chocolate, or fall down on the sidewalk, or run the car into a ditch, or ...

Crystal L. Hedgecock . . . . . Editor-in-Chief Lewis Wheless ...... Associate Editor Scott Morgan ..... .. Advertising and

Business Manager Mark Phelps ...... Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the ex-pressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO.

The HI-PO welcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed, and an address must be included. If warranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as seen necessary.

To be missed by many

His mischievous grin was always there to greet whoever came by. He always had a friendly word to brighten one's day. He was always there when anyone needed him - night and day. But what single quality real ly captured the essence of Bruce Tingle? Bruce cared.

As students returned to campus after Christmas break, many noticed the absence of a familiar face. Bruce Tingle, assistant director of Student Life, had resigned.

Tingle left the college on Jan. 7 to begin work with the Area L. AHEC staff, a subsidiary of the UNC school of medicine. He will be the Associate Director for Special Projects.

The mark Tingle made on the college and community will not soon be forgotten. He spent countless hours helping students find jobs and he was always available for counselling when a stu-dent had a problem. Tingle's affiliation with the High Point Jaycees and the local epilepsy association are just two examples of the fine work he gave to the com-munity. He was recently honored with a special award from Governor Hunt his outstanding volunteerism.

Why was Bruce Tingle so able to help others? Bruce had a true understanding of what it is like to have to overcome obstacles in life, so he knows that no problem is too large to overcome.

Another great thing about Bruce that will be missed at HPC was his desire to know each student personally. When he would see someone around campus, he usually knew his or her name and something about that person. Bruce truly cared about his work and those who he had to work

To fill the space Bruce Tingle left at High Point College will be impossible. However, it is impossible to erase the outstanding mark he left on our college and community.

LEWIS WHELESS

New year's resolutions

To live to be two-hundred years old.

To change my name legally (some computer somewhere has already changed it extra-legally) from M.C. Hodge to M. Chodge. I might as well go along. How can you fight the Big Chodge. I mignt as well go along. How can you night the significance of the control of the contr South Carolinians, Green Berets all, had bayoneted half the guys around the bar.

To find at least one worthwhile thing at every faculty meeting.

To floss more often. The first time a dental assistant told me that. I thought she was perverted, you know how they look at you when they've got you strapped into that torture chair-and then she says, "You haven't been flossing regularly, have you?" Not only had I been failing to floss regularly, I had been failing to floss period. And the way the word sounded, I wasn't so sure I wanted to start. But I bought one of those little rolls of floss. And it said something like "500 yards." How do they get five-hundred yards of thread on that teeny roll? A computer must do it.
To be cost-effective, and to find out what "cost-effective"

To avoid being inter-faced by anyone, unless I'm wearing my old catcher's mask.

To preserve, within my limited capacity, the artistic integrity of the literature, and the integrity of the English-American language.

To read at least two pages of Finnegan's Wake.

To go into the cafeteria and talk to students. The Committee on the Retention of Students was advised last semester that we could keep more students at HPC if faculty members went into the cafeteria more often. I don't know if that works too well. I went in there a couple of times last year, but not a single blamed kid gave me a bite of anything to eat, and one guy got real mad when I asked him if I could have one of his spare ribs. He said the only spare one he'd ever heard of was Adam's, and it had already been used for something else. Smart-aleck religion major.

To stop leaving my kids out at Westchester Mall on weekends. They say it's okay during the day, but they get awfully bored at night, with only the night watchman to talk to and all.

To teach the past as an instrument, a resource, and a root source of knowledge, to be active in historical observing, in cultivating a perspective on the present.

To sink my hands into a mound of clay!

Never to leave home without it.

To make peace with the Big C.
To remember that the whole fight is for the conservation of the individual soul.

Marion Hodge Assistant Professor of English

Computers at HPC prepare students for the future

Students, faculty learn computer use

BY LEWIS WHELESS

Associate Editor
As today's world is becoming more and more advanced by computer technology, colleges and universities are striving to give students experience in using technological

High Point College is no exception.

HPC currently owns 24 Apple II+48k computers that are being used in the math, science, business and human resources depart-

Dr. Roy Epperson, Dean of Administrative Affairs, said the college initially purchased three Apple computers (Apples) at a cost of about $10,000 for the math department in the fall of 1981. This funding came from the High Point College Rawley Fund. Epperson said the Apple II is not very old — it first came to the Epperson said the business department and the Continuing Adult Education Program (CAEP) requested the purchase of more computers. Dr. David Cole, former Dean of the College, wrote a proposal to market in 1976.

HPC President Charles Lucht for a request of about $50,000 to purchase 20 more Apples. The request was approved by the board of trustees and the computers were purchased last spring. The business department made a request to the Mobile Corporation for a $5,000 grant for a micro computer, software, and a card for Cobol computer Epperson said there are 10 Apple II+48k computers in room six of Haworth Hall that are equipped with Pascal language for use in the math and science departments. There are also two Apples equipped for basic language in the physical science department. Nine Apples are being used for courses in the business department, and one computer is stationed in the psychology department.

Dr. Richard R. Bennington, chairman of the business department, said the department purchased one micro computer, software (computer accessories), and one card for Cobol language from the Mobile Grant. Cobol language, according to Bennington, was the first business-oriented computer language for management of information.

Students using the Apples will have the capacity to forecast markets and price movements. The computers also have the capacity to help in production marketing, as in laying out plans for a factory.

Bennington said the only business-computer course offered this spring is the fundamentals of data processing. He said no further courses will be planned until an institutional-wide study is completed. The study will determine what computer courses are necessary for the business curriculum and it will seek ways for the faculty to be trained in using the computers.

Mrs. Iris Mauney, Assistant Professor of Business Administration Economics, is currently the only business instructor to teach a computer course (Business 352, Intro. to Data Processing). Mauney herself has been a computer student, as she is completing a data processing gree at Davidson County Community College. She has already completed 37 hours and will complete the full 60-hour degree by May while simultaneously teaching a full course load at HPC.

Mauney said there are three basic goals for the date processing course: the introduction to data processing, the use of computers and an introduction to programming and basic computer use. Mauney said she wants to "let the students see how the computer can be used in a particular area. They (the students) need to demonstrate use of the "App know how to program (a computer) themselves." Mauney also said that "in today's world every student needs a computer," and the business department needs to offer more computer courses because a large percentage of the CAEP students are majoring in business.

SEAN RUSSELL (L) AND VERNON HEDGECOCK demonstrate use of the "Apples". (Photo by Marisa Firpi) know how to program (a was developed as a result of

Dr. Epperson said that Dr. Nelson F. Page, Chairman of the Mathematics Department, taught himself to use the Apple II computer. According to Epperson, Page was allowed release time to use the computer at home. Page developed and implemented four programs. Epperson said students in the computer programming course wanted to take an advanced course, so a new program les". (Photo by Marias Firpi) was developed as a result of student demand. Epperson said the computer courses in the math and science departments are geared to teach three things: How to write programs, and how to problem solve.

As for the future of computers at HPC. Epperson said at this point there is "no active written proposal for micros (Apple computers) - this does not say we do not need them or we are not going to move that way." He said the Educational Policies Committee asked the Dean's office to determine "the total philosophy of the utilization of computers in the undergraduate curriculum before any requests for additional computers are made.

Computers help run HPC

Not only are computers being implemented at High Point College for educational purposes, but they also play a major role in the operations of the school.

Dr. Epperson said the college is now using a "main frame" 1BM 32 Batch System computer for printing class roles, grade reports, etc. He said the computer has definite limitations because it has no on-line capabilities. The computer has the capacity for data entry, but cannot perform any other function while printing.

Epperson said the collegeneeds to move to an interactive system so data entry is done by the office that is making the entry. He said, "In the calendar year 1983 we will purchase a new central computer." The new computer will "probably not be an 1BM."

Student apathy (to be continued in the Feb. 9 issue reduction planned of the HI-PO

Hi-Po Staff

Features Editor......Karla Green

Mark Phelps

Photographers .... Marisa Firpi, Bill Johnson

Fall 1982 Dean's List

The following were recent-ly named to the HPC Fall Semester 1982 Dean's List:

Vickie Jeanne Addertion Cynthia Carol Allen Arthur Alexander Amos Gail E. Lynch Arnette Karen Denise Ashley David Herman Baity Robin D. Certer Barker David Eugene Barnes Sandra Dawn Barnes Caroline Cory Bastable Tony Edward Beck James Edward Bolling Sharon Graves Bolton Jennifer Rene Boroughs Faith W. Bowman Jane Croyle Bowse Tanya Barnes Boylen Jerri L. Brady William O. Brandon, Jr Annabelle M. Brandt Patricia D. Brewer Allison Leigh Brown Teresa Lynne Brown Charles W. Burton Jr. Regina Marie Cain Karen Smith Carl Cynatha Carroll Sherry Jean Cheek Charles P Childers Alice Fay Childress Charlie Wayne Clark Anita Kelly Brisentine Ethel Lenora Compton David P. Connelly, III James Francis Conno Emily Michale Cooke Virginia M. Cooper Donald Edward Corrvell, 111 William E. Cotham, Jr. Vaden Eugene Cox Shelia Marie Craig Elizabeth Anne Daisey Patricia Haigler Danie Connie Hopson Delbove Mary Carlene Dix Bonnie Bradner Dixon Sandra Sherdina Douglas Karen Lynn Dowell Samuel Christopher East Sandra Mitchell East Iris Warner Edwards Jacqueline E. Elliott Melanie Kirk Epperson Marja Lynn Erickson Suzette Julia Ferrand Ruth Claire Fiege Marisa Firpi Jimmy Franklin Fox

Carrie R. Fulbright Barbara Harrill Fulp Mary Beth Garlow Marcha Dala Garner Ginger Dawn Green Inett Graves Tamara Moss Greenwood Gary Guffey Alfa Majorie Gunzenhauser John Gurney Karen Leigh Gurney Debora A. Hagar Johr. Whitfield Hamilton Linda Hammett Steven Warren Hatt Kenneth W. Hauser Tammi Lynn Hedrick Homer Eugene Hendrix Eric Allen Herrin Judy Richardson Hiatt Karen Aldridge Hicks Delia Kimball Higgins Larry Dwayne Holloman Brenda Kiser Holloway Betty H. Howington Marilyn T. Humphrey Judith Ann Hutchins Mary Hunter Donna Jean Hyde Theodosia S Jackson Anne Marie Jarrett Linda Kay Johnson Donald Allen Jones Kimberly Anne Jones Cheryl Denise Joyner Glenda K. Kale Felicia Graves Kellam Barbara Flowe Kelly Emery Arliss Knouse Janis Myers Morrison Krebs Paul Douglas Langley Sandra Butner Lanie Jean Pratt Lee William Edward Lee Thomas Moore Leech, Jr Tamara Smoot Leonard Penny Rae Lewallen Michael Keith Louis Gwendolyn I. Lynch Rhonda Leigh Mabe Ronna Yevonne Mabe Denise Y. Machamer Selma Renee Henry Marsh Peggy Mastbrook David Matthew Matzko June Allgood McDowell Cinda W. McGowan Julie Anne McLamb Barbara Stewart Merritt Cecil Craig Mock Richard W. Morgan Lynn Willhite Mo

William D. Morse Annette Stutts Murphy Ted James Nifong Helen Patricia O'Brien Mary Darnell Pardue Thomas Arthur Payne Wanda Johns Priddy Robert J. Rapp Krich Ratanaphruks William H. Reavis, Jr. John Howard Reeves, Jr. Annette Santemerie Lane Allen Sapp John Savas Gregory S. Sayers Charles Lee Shaver, Jr. Mary Teresa Shively Jonnie Jean Shore Nancy Signated Bobby Gene Simps Sharon L. Sink Michael Craig Slack Joseph G. Smith, Jr. Kathleen Smith Lynne Ellen Smith Tammy Chilton Snow Ruth Roberts Stewart Lisa Dawn Staton Melinda Denise Stroud Teresa Lynn Sweatman Sharon Lynne Sweeney James Arnold Taddeucci Cynthia Renae Talley Kathie Overby Tally Stanley Edward Taylor Carolyn Denton Thomas Judy Ellis Thompson John Kenneth Tisdale Patsy Skidmore Trim Judy Vassar James Jerry Vassey Martha Ball Warner Marilee Kay Warrer Susan Annette Warrick Rose Tuttle Weaver Paul Lewis Wheless, Jr Melissa Dawn Williard Carol Ann Williams Ronald Eugene Williams Sharon J. Williams Pamela Wil Thomas A. Wolf Kimberly Anne Woolsey Connie Martin Wright Laura Alica Wright Paul Edward Yates Pamela George York Roger William Younts Joanne Felts Yuhasz Debra Zeiters Jill Yarboro

College Bowl gets underway Mon.

BY LEWIS WHELESS

Associate Editor The first round of College Bowl will take place Mon., Jan. 31 with seven to ten teams competing in the "battle of knowledge.

The competition will consist of a round robin in which each team plays every other team twice. The finals will be double elimination (two losses in each round).

April Callahan, the coordinator of college bowl, said she was surprised by the fact that many people out-side of fraternities and sororities developed teams. She said she expects seven to ten teams to participate. Callahan said the HPC college bowl team is not eligible for tournament play because of a very limited budget. She said the teams have a swap-off set with UNC-G in order to get question packs for the games

College bowl is a sport of knowledge and is very similar to the high school "High IQ Bowl". Rounds are played in eight-minute halves. A reader-moderator, scorekeeper, and timekeeper will all be present to run the games

Callahan said that if up for college bowl they can possibly be placed with a team. If a whole team wishes to enter competition, they must provide Callahan with a roster containing no less than four names and no more than 10. A designated team captain and his or her post office box must also be sent to Callahan at P.O. Box 3134, phone 889-7806.

Bowling Club lists scores

BY DONN KESTER

Special to the HI-PO Four members of the club have earned special awards this season: Liz Crawford earned a 200 Game patch for a high score game for women of a 206; Susan Durbano earned a 500 series patch for a high series for women with a 502 series; David Tomlinson earned a 600 series patch for a high series for men with a 604; and Donn Kester earned a 100 over average patch for a high game for men with a 256 game and also has the high series with a 679.

The club currently has ten active members. We lost five members last semester due to graduation and members not returning. The club has their own league which bowls on Saturdays at 1:30 p.m. The cost is $3.25 per week. But also included are some free bowling lessons. WE NEED SOME NEW MEMBERSU

The club has four foreign students who have never bowled before and are learning during league play. Pat Victoria's average has improved almost 50 points within five weeks of bowl-

Don't be scared to come out and have fun with us and learn to bowl at the same time. This semester we are bowling on February 5 & 26, March 19 & 26, April 9, 16, 23, & 30 at High Point Lanes. If you have any questions, see Gerry Hill in the Bookstore.

Lucht

Meanwhile, Lucht said "the operation is well-run. There is no problem, no emergency situation. Instead of going to Bulla, they Lucht expressed concern about enrollment, because the trend has been a decline every year since 1979.

The decrease in enrollment was not as steep a decrease that might have been expected," Lucht said. With only one exception, the other private schools were down more.

Lucht praised the admissions department, saving 'Under (Jim) Schlimmer direction, the college could do as well as any college in this situation (decrease in enrollment).

"The three admissions counselors are intelligent highly motivated, energetic and well-trained, "Lucht said, "and with Mrs. (Joan) Betsill and the other office staff, we will do as well as anyone.'

Since Mr. Larry Keesee, director of library services, left in June 1982, Mrs. Carol Aderholdt has been the acting director of library services, Lucht said.

"I told Dean Bearce to make the librarian search a number one priority, said, "With the new library scheduled to open early next fall, a new director of library services needs to be ap-pointed so to be ready for the move."

"The library construction is right on schedule," Lucht said, "and the latest completion date is Sept. 27, 1983.

With the completion of the library, Lucht said it is 'likely we will add some personnel, because of the size of the building.

Concerning the replacement of Tingle, Lucht said "Mr. (Michael) Pittman (director of student life) has a committee set up to find someone to fill the position. Mr. Pittman said the earliest he could fill this position is the week of Feb.

Lucht added, in connection to enrollment, that the College can use "any positive help by the students by referring good students to High Point Col-

"We need to attract people who will make grade," he said.

1122 EAST LEXINGTON AVENUE 889-4748

> Friday Flowers - $3.00 FREE DELIVERY TO HIGH POINT COLLEGE

Pikas donate $500

(l. to r.) Brown. Tomlinson, Efird, Van Horn with "check" for $500. (Photo by Donna Burton)

The Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity presented a check for $500 to Big Brothers/Big Sisters, a United Way agen cv. on Jan. 20.

The check was presented to Rick Brown, executive director of Big Brothers/Big Sisters by John Van Horn, Pi Kappa Alpha president and David Tomlinson. Pi Kappa Alpha treasurer.

Also present , in addition to the other Pi Kappa Alpha brothers, were Robert Gates, HPC Pi Kappa Alpha alumnus who is a Big Brother, and Keath Efird, Gate's Little Brother.

The money will go toward the agency's normal operating income. Since the agency is an United Way agency, one-fourth of the $46,000 annual budget comes from the United Way. The other three-fourths comes from private con-tributions, such as the one given by the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Now is the time to apply for financial aid

BY LEWIS WHELESS

Associate Editor Kay N. Stroud, Director of Financial Aid, is encouraging all students to file for 1983-84 aid as soon as possible. Students applying for aid should be certain to apply for the Pell Grant (BEOG) and N.C. Grants when filling out financial aid

Mrs. Stroud said students should see someone in the financial aid office in Roberts Hall if they have any additional problems, etc. after the needs analysis is returned from the ACT.

Mrs. Stroud also said the outlook for student aid in 1983-84 is encouraging, as no cutbacks are foreseen at this time. The same levels that applied in 1982-83 will probably apply for 1983-84. We are encouraging everyone to apply for aid, Stroud said.

The various deadlines for aid applications are listed

National Direct Student Loan, Supplemental Educa-tional Opportunity Grant, and College Work-Study. Complete the ACT Family Financial Statement (FFS), the CSS Financial Aid Form (FAF), or the Application for Federal Student Aid (AFSA) by March 1, 1983 for priority consideration.

PELL Grant. Complete the FFS, the FAF, or the AFSA by March 15, 1983. (Students are encouraged to complete one of these forms by March 1, 1983.)

North Carolina State Contractual Scholarship Fund (Available to NC residents only). Complete the FFS or the FAF by March 1, 1983 for priority considerations.

North Carolina Legislative Tuition Grant (Available to full-time, undergraduate students: NC residents only). Complete the NCLTG application form available in the Financial Aid Office. (The NCLTG application form for 1983-84 should be available by April

North Carolina Student Incentive Grant - (NCSIG) (NC residents only). Complete the FFS or the FAF. Students must have a copy of the results of the FFS or the FAF sent to College Foundation by March 15. 1983 to be considered for Academic Scholarships -Complete the scholarship application form available in the Financial Aid Office by March 15, 1983. (These forms should be available by mid-February.)

mid-rebruary.)
Guaranteed Student
Loans and PLUS Loans
-Obtain a loan application form from your state agency. Most state agencies sug-gest that a complete application be received by June 15 for priority consideration.

On-Campus employment -Complete an application form available in the Financial Aid Office. (Students with a demonstrated need will receive priority in place-

Other Scholarships Start checking in your community for civic organizations, churches, clubs, employers, or foundations offering scholarships. Students should apply for as many as possible and as early as

Organization of 1983 Homecoming underway

BY KAREN HERNANDEZ

Staff Writer "Homecoming '83 will be very fancy this year. High very fancy this year. High Point College students deserve something more than just a dance with plain candles and a band," said Mr. Art Prillaman.

Prillaman and Ms. Tabbie Nance are in charge of organizing this year's Homecoming. They are planning to have hors d'oeuvrs served for the first half of the dance, decorations and flower center pieces

Entertainment for the Feb. 11 dance will be presented by "The Hollywood Brats". The band will play a variety of music, ranging from the Stones, Ray Parker Jr., Rick Springfield, Rick James, Gap Band, to Men At Work & The Steve Miller Band.

the "Top of The Mart," from 9:00-1:00 a.m.

As far as drinking is concerned, students will be stamped either "OVER" or "UNDER" at the entrance. There will be an open bar (pay bar) which will serve mixed drinks for those over 21 years of age, and beer and wine for those under 21 years of age.

"But don't get scared money wise because tickets this year will only be $5.00 per couple if purchased before the dance and $6.00 per couple if purchased at the door," said Prillaman. This is the one dance for all HPC students and alumni and everyone should be proud of it much time and money (over $3000) has gone into it to make it the best of all previous Homecomings. Tickets for the dance will and the next on Mondays & Wednesdays ONLY during lunch time. During the week of Homecoming, tickets will be sold throughout the entire week during lunch time. Because of limited tables please try to purchase your tickets beforehand so an approximate number is available for seating arrangements. For further questions, contact Prillaman

Sigs sponsor party for underprivileged

BY GREG FOX

For the Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity and nearly two dozen High Point children, 1982 Christmas celebrations came three weeks early.

The Sigs, in cooperation with the city's Parents Annonymous Group, sponsored a yuletide party for 22 underprivileged kids on Dec. 4. Cake, cookies, punch and other refreshments were provided while the youngsters enjoyed various games in the fraternity's lounge.

Debra Shaver and guitarist Anna Brady cap-tured the crowd's attention with an array of Christmas Afterwards. carols. everyone got into the musical mood and joined in the singing.

A visit from Santa Claus (David Morse) highlighted the evening and all of the youths received candy gifts. "All of the brothers enjoyed the event very much and we're looking forward to doing this on an annual basis," Sig President John McDonald said."

Everything went better expected." originally

Christmas activities for Delta Sigma Phi didn't end here, though. The brothers, pledges, Alumnis and their dates gathered for a holiday season party at the Holiday Inn Four Seasons on Dec. 6.

SANTA CLAUS visited the Delta Sigma Phi Christmas party.

High Point College Page 6 · HI-PO · Wednesday, January 26, 1983

SPORTS

Panther cagers having down seasons

Men drop four of five games Women's record 2-7

BY MARK PHELPS

Sports Editor men's basketball team got the new year off to a good start with a victory ver Lenoir Rhyne on January 8 but since then the Panthers have lost four of their last five. For the season, the Cagers are 4-11 overall and 2-5 in conference

In the Lenoir Rhyne victory, the Panthers were able to take the lead with 7.48 left in the first half and never looked back as they grabbed a 72-62 win. Robert Hutson led all scorers with 18 points while Terry Samuels and Butch Bowser hit for 16 and 11 respective-

High Point lost to Belmont-Abbey on Jan. 10 in a game that saw the Panthers trail most of the game before tying it at 48 with 4.50 remaining to play. Abbey then was able to regain the lead and never relinquished it as they hit on seven of eight foul shots in the final minutes.

After a 78-57 loss to S.C.-Spartanburg, the Panthers fell victims to conference foe Catawba 97-79. The contest had the Indians take an 18 point lead in the second half before High seven with six minutes left Catawba then hit 12 of 17 free throws in the closing minutes to take then win Hutson led 11 scorers with 23 points while Danny Murphy added 18.

High Point then defeated Elon 86-79 to gain their fourth win of the season. Murphy led a balanced attack with 24 points while Mike Everette and Samuels combined for 22 and 16 respectively. On Saturday night, the Panthers lost to Pheiffer 85-65. Hutson paced the losers with 16 points, Everette added 12 and Bowser scored 10.

BY MARK PHELPS

Sports Editor With a lackluster record of 2-7 overall and 1-4 in conference play, coach Nancy Little's goal for the rest of her women's basketball season is to improve on each game, particularly at two major aspects of the game.

"The problem is not that we aren't working hard, revealed coach Little, "but that we are making too many mental mistakes and are not getting the shots to drop." Against conference opponents, the Lady Panthers are shooting just 36% from the floor and 52% from the foul line.

A major reason for the poor shooting is the loss of three possible starters at the beginning of the year. Third team all-American Becky Coles did not return to High Point, while two key recruits, both expected to attend the college this year, did not come.

In addition, Ursulla Watt. the leading scorer returning, broke her hand a few days before the season began and did not begin to play until after Christmas.

After opening the 1983 part of the season with a 83-60 loss to Lenoir Rhyne. on Jan. 8, the Lady Cagers See Women's p. 8

Track team begins season Thurs.

MARK PHELPS

With the 1983 Track season getting underway Thursday at an indoor meet in Lynchburg, Virginia, coach Jim Davidson is hoping this year's team can match the fourth place finish in the district of last year's squad. This will undoubtedly be a challenge as quite a few of the top performers from the '82 team are now gone.

"On paper, we look to be weaker than last year because we lost some really key people," said coach Davidson. "We have many question marks in the runn ing events because three of our top runners will not be returning."

Two of these performers were lost through transfers while one dropped out of school. Jeff Doerr, the school. Jeff Doerr, the leading hurdler, was also lost because he did not return for the second

To compensate for this, coach Davidson will have to get a big year in the field events, which look to be the events, which rook to be the strongpoint. "Overall, the field events look pretty good, particularly in the long and triple jumps. We are going to be solid in the high jump, the javelin, and the pole vault."

The key to the team's success will lie in how well the returnees are able to produce. Leading the veterans is defending conference champion Jon Richardson in the javelin, Ralph Barnes in the triple and long jump, and Phil Dickerson, who placed in the conference in the pole vault. Other returnees include 6-8 high jumper Jack Songster. Dan Wiborn in the field events. distantmen Jeff Norris and Mike Duffy, and sprinter Kent Sides. Coach Davidson said he expects a big year out of Sides.

The story of the newcomers is transfer Chris Brown. Brown has been out of athletics for two years while attending a junior col-lege, but coach Davidson says that he is an outstanding triple and long jumper.

With the exception of Brown, we really don't know much about the new kids, but if some of them come through and produce, it would be a real shot in the arm for us."

Among the newcomers are distantmen Joel Moebius, Jeff Henry, and Steve Hatt. long and triple jumper Terry Aiken, long jumper Jeff Col-lins, sprinter Mike Lemmo, and Tom Scott and Barry Peronteau in the shot and Asked about the competition in the Carolina's con-ference this year, coach See Track p. 8

Panther scoreboard

WOMENS BASKETBALL 1/17 lost to Winthrop 56-65 lost toElon 43-77

Overall: 2.7

MENS BASKETBALL Beat Elon

1/22 lost to Pfeiffer 65-85 Overall: 4-11 Upcoming games:

BASKETBALL

Men Atlantic Christian 1/26 Lenoir Rhyne East Tennessee State

1/27

1/31

1/27

*H.

Indoor meet at Lynchburg, Va.

January Sports. . .

Rule changes spark controversy

BY MARK PHELPS

Sports Editor

Amidst the controversy surrounding the proposal for new standards for athletes, I decided to begin my stint as sports editor with yet another opinion on the issue.

For those of you who are unfamiliar, Proposition, which it is called now, is a set of rules drafted by an all-white committee of university presidents which has been called by its supporters as "the answer to the deterioration of American higher education." The proposal says that athletes education." The proposal says that athletes of Division I schools (High Point in Divi sion) must have completed a core curriculum of three English courses, and two of Math, social science, and natural science. They must also have kept a 2.0 average and scored a minimum of 700 on the S.A.T. or 15 on the ACT exam.

I must first state that I agree with the proposal in that something had to be done about the evident lack of concern many col-leges have shown toward the athletes' educations. Those opposing the new rules, many of which are black educators, argue that blacks and rurally isolated whites will be hurt by them because of their economic backgrounds and the opportunities these youths have. I do agree that if the rules were put into effect now, this would be true. But the new proposal will not become into effect until 1986, which allows adequate time for the school systems to upgrade themselves. In my opinion, it is going to take two things to make No. 48 work. First, the subject requirements are going to put more responsibility on the high schools. The schools are going to have to get themselves to the level where they can prepare perspective athletes, white and black, to do well in the classrooms. The second thing lies with the students. I think that if a kid really wants to attend a top school, he will work hard enough to maintain a 2.0 average. I don't see any reason why a C student should have any trouble getting a 700 on the SAT.

Even if the student cannot meet the requirements, he still has the opportunity to attend a Division I school with what some have viewed as a loophole. The committee voted, in addition to Proposition 48, to allow athletes not meeting the new requirements to obtain an athletic scholarship but they cannot play during their freshman year.

In closing, I would like to add that I do not understand why the committee of university presidents was all white. With all the top black colleges around the country, there surely should have been some respresentatives for them.

★ SOPHOMORES ★

INVEST 6 weeks this summer during one of the periods listed below

1st cycle - 16 May to 23 June 2nd cycle - 23 May to 30 June 3rd cycle - 31 May to 7 July 4th cycle - 27 June to 4 August 5th cycle - 5 July to 11 August 6th cycle - 11 July to 18 August

Return on Investment

- Approximately $600
- •Free Round Trip Transportation
- •Free Room & Board
- •Outdoor Adventure Training
- •Chance to try ROTC with No Obligations
- •Qualify to Enter Advanced ROTC, Earning $100 per. mo.
- •Compete for a 2 year scholarship

Apply now to reserve a space in the cycle of your choice

Contact Captain Janney RM 34, Haworth Hall ARMY ROTC BASIC CAMP

$25 Off any Josten's gold ring = =

HPC Bookstore February 9 & 10 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. ONLY $15 Deposit

Strictly Classified

Employment

Off-campus employment: Title: Babysitter Description: Sun. A.M., 1 or 2 persons Hours: 9:15 a.m.-12:15 a.m.

Salary: $3.50 Contact: Nanci Motsinger, Emerywood Baptist Church Phone: 885-5161

Off-campus employment: Title: Delivery person Description: Make general deliveries around town and will pick up items. Involves lifting and moving fairly heavy and bulky items. Must have station wagon or small truck.

small truck.
Hours: Part-time, flexible
Salary: Minimum wage
Contact: Receptionist, Edward Ferrell Limited
Address: 318 N. Wrenn St.,
High Point, N.C.

Phone: 885-1149
*Please identify yourself as a High Point College student

Off-campus employment: Title: Water Safety instruc-

Description: Must be qualified instructor with some experience.

Hours: Part-time
Contact: Sherri Hill,
Thomasville YMCA,
Mendenhall St.,
Thomasville, N.C.
Phone: 475-6125

Services

TYPING SERVICE. Can pick up and/or deliver. Must have three days to do work. Paper must be supplied by student. Call Maria Hale at 869-6462.

Announcements

Discount tickets to all Martin Movie Theaters are available in the Career Planning Office Monday, Wednesday, and friday from 1-5. The cost is $2.00 per ticket and they are good through May 1983.

Keep an eye out for interview dates coming up on campus in February.
Seniors, don't forget to Seniors, don't forget to get your Placement Packets. Employment applications for summer camps are available in the Career Planning Office.

The High Point Parks and Recreation Department is accepting applications for summer lifeguard positions. See the Career Planning Office for more information.

Women's

cont. from p. 6 lost 74-61 to Mars Hill in what was a foul-ridden contest. The score was close for most of the game but the difference was at the foul line, where Mars Hill hit 18 of 32. There was a total of 54 fouls called.

The Panthers then lost a double-overtime heartbreaker to conference for Pheiffer in a game which saw High Point hold a two point lead with 29 seconds left. "The Pheiffer loss was a game which we should have won," coach Little said. "We just made too many mental errors.

Against Catawba, the Lady Panthers were able to rebound and gain their second win of the season with a 51-50 victory. This was a big win for the team because Catawba has previously beaten Lenoir Rhyne.

Poor shooting was the key to the loss to Winthrop on Jan. 17. High Point shot only 33% from the field while their opponents hit on half of their attempts, including 75% in the second half. On last Wednesday, the Pan-thers suffered their worst defeat of the season as they were blitzed by Elon 77-43.

Track

cont. from p. 6

Davidson said defending-champion Pembroke is the team to beat. "Pembroke should be the odds-on favorite to win the conference. Elon and us will probably be the ones to fight it out for second place.'

Dance Friday, game Saturday

1983 Homecoming activities planned

BY TANA PARKER Staff Writer

annual 59th Homecoming activities at High Point College will officially start for the students on Fri., Feb. 11. It will be marked by a formal dance at the Top of the Mart, from 9 p.m.-1 a.m. Entertainment, sponsored by Student Union, will be the "Hollywood Brats" and beverages will be sold at a cash bar.

Tickets, $1.50 per per-son/$3.00 couple, will be sold this week during lunch and dinner in the cafeteria. Gart Evans, in charge of Alumni Affairs, has invited alumni a chance to show off their "talent" in the Hi-Pro Show to attend.

During the dance, the 1983 Homecoming Queen nominees will be introduced. eight finalists viaing for the crown will also be recognized. The alumni will find themselves very busy on Sat., 12, with an Executive Committee meeting and memorial service. Denise Watts, Vice-President of the and will judge the annual banner contest which will be displayed in the Alumni Gymnasium. The students, faculty, and alumni will have at 2:30 p.m. The 20 acts, with openings for more, will gather together in the High Point Memorial Auditorium. First, second, and third place plaques will be given out by

Mr. Evans and alumni who will be judging. At 5:15 a "Pig-pickin" will be held for alumni and the eight court members. Debbie Shaver and Bob Clark will sing during the dinner.

Certain groups will have open-houses for the alumni to attend between lunch and the Hi-Pro Show and after the night's basketball games.

At 6:00 p.m. the women's basketball team will host the Guilford Quakers. During half-time the court members and their escorts will be introduced. Immediately following the women's game, the 1983 Homecoming Queen will be crowned. At this time, it is not certain that the reigning queen, Jan-nell Welsh, will be crowning the new queen. President Lucht will present the new queen with a bouquet of roses

During half-time of the men's basketball game, visiting alumni queens, dating back to the first Homecoming Queen at HPC, will be honored, The annual "Rowdy Crowdy" plaque will also be presented at that time to the rowdiest crowd. The Spirit Stick, which is given out at every game to the organization with the most spirit, and the winner of the banner contest will be announced.

To end the memorable weekend, a special worship service will be held on Sun., Feb. 13 at 11:15 a.m. in the Hayworth Chapel.

High Point College's

"Working for a

High Point, N.C. 27262

February 9, 1983

Vol. 55 Issue 11 INSIDE

Admissions, p.4 Homecoming, pp. 6-7 better informed campus'

4 years in the planning

WWIH increases to 100 watts. listenership expands to 100,000

CRYSTAL L. HEDGECOCK Editor-in-Chief

Friday, Feb. 4, 1983, at 2 p.m., WWIH's possible listenership increased by 100,000

The increase occurred when the changeover to 100 watts finally became reality. The general managers at WWIH have been working on the change from 10 watts to 100 watts for the past three or four years, Pat Connelly, current general manager of WWHI said. 'It's a shame it took so long, but now we're there," he said.

The increase in wattage allows the station to be heard to the outskirts of Greensboro. Kernersville, Archdale and the outskirts of Thomasville, Connelly said. Before, the sta-tion could only be heard to the Rail in Five-Points, High Point Mall and southern High Point, he said.

Connelly said when WWIH went off the air at midnight Thurs., Feb. 3 he, Dana Gilbert, programming director of WWIH and Tom BonDurant, chief engineer at WGLD worked until 6 a.m. Fri, Feb. 4 in order to be prepared for the 100 watts take-

Now that the possible listenership has increased. Connelly said the station is in the process of getting out in the community and letting them know the station is there for the community.

Gilbert said that several new programs were underway. "Closer Look" is a program where the WWIH staffer interviews a person on the spot, such as a ex-convict or a policeman. "Your View" contains community people's opinions on a subject. Gilbert encourages listener response to the programs.

Another program which is still quite new is the "Roll-your-own" program. Connelly said that the listener should write down 20 favorite songs by 20 different artists that they would like to hear played on the radio. After Spring Break, an entry will be randomly chosen and the one person chosen will be invited into the WWIH studio to "roll their own". He also said the winner would receive an album of his/her choice and a WWIH t-shirt. Connelly said the station would keep all entries to help with future programming.

According to Connelly, program scheduling is as follows:
"Wake up to WWIH" from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. on weekdays.

Other weekday hours are 2 p.m. to 2 a.m. Weekend hours are 8 a.m. to 2 a.m. Block programming of soul is Fri., 6 p.m.

to 2 a.m. Block programming of classical is Sat., 8

Block programing of Contemporary Christian music is Sun., 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

"The Contemporary Christian music is not gospel music," Connelly said, "It is soft rock with a message."

Along with the increase to 100 watts, WWIH has a new logo and bumpersticker design. The new logo, Connelly said, is "I-91, Your road to Music."

"We want more people to call up and tell us what they think," Connelly said, "We want more input with music and

RECENT SNOW left the College campus white and peaceful. (Photo by Marsia Firpi)

Gabriele to present paper

BY BOB ROSSI Staff Writer

Dr. John Gabriele, professor of Foreign Language, is flying to Tulane University Thurs., Feb. 10, where he will present a paper at the Louisiana Conference on Hispanic Literature, and Language.

Gabriele will present his interpretation of a famous Spanish play. His paper, entitled "The Grotes-Self-Denial and Psychological Deterioration in Los Cuernos de don Friolera" deals with the effects of existentialism caused by the Spanish American War in 1898.

The High Point College professor will read to a number of experts on twentieth-century Spanish literature. Gabriele's paper was selected from over one hundred other applicants who also submitted papers about the Generation of 1898.

Over six hundred Specialists in Spanish will attend the conference and about four hundred will have

Gabriele stressed that professional development and a chance to keep up with what is happening in his specialty are the main objectives for going to the conference in New Orleans.

These conferences are nothing new for the Waterbury, Connectucit native See Professor p. 3

EDITORIALS. .

Student Union seeks student involvement

Students at High Point College are some of America's worst investors it seems. Each year they spend $60 for a "Student Activity Fee" and then exercise no control over how this money is spent. The majority of this month (about $30,000 per year) is allocated to the High Point Student Union to plan activities for everyone at the college. However, few people attend Union meetings, and even fewer are active participants. The answer to the question "Who spends your activity fee?" is easily answered - the High Point College Student Union does.

Student Union is one of the easiest organizations on campus to join. There are no sign-ups, no monthly dues, no RUSH periods. All you have to do is be a full-time student at High Point College (that means you are enrolled 12 or more academic hours). Voting privileges are almost as easy to obtain: attend three consecutive meetings, work activity on one of the standing committees, and receive a majority vote of the present voting members. That's it.

Many may ask, "Why should I join the Student Union?" or "What does Union have to offer me?" Well, the main reason students should join is to suggest how their activities fees are spent and to help decide what activities will be planned. They need to meet to plan and execute activities that all students can enjoy. The question "What does Union have to offer me?" doesn't need an answer. What is more important is "What do I have to offer the Union?". With more people involved in Student Union, more excite-ment is generated, more creative and diverse ac-tivities can be planned, and less time is required by each person for the activities successful competition.

When I came to HPC, I went to Student Union as a curious freshman. At that time there were about 100 members, or 10% of the student body. The next year, that figure dropped to a whopping 12, or .01% of the student body. That year each member had power over $1,250 -- the same amount High Point College offered as its highest academic scholarship, So, a recruitment campaign was undertaken. This campaign helped boost membership to about 36. But now there is another problem.

The main issue we now face is the fact that no one wants to run in the upcoming elections. (Last year, all positions were filled without opposition). The main reason no one will run is that they have no one to support them as committee members. Without a Chairman or Business Manager, the SGA will not fund Student Union next year. Even if these positions are filled, funding is impossible for every com mittee that has no chairman.

So now the decision is in your hands. Will you idly sit by and watch Student Union fold? If you do this means: NO $1 movies, NO concerts, NO ski trips, NO dances (including Homecoming), NO campus skates, NO activities planned by and for students! Does this mean the administration will drop your activity fee? NO!

But you have another choice: become involved in Student Union, I: only takes about 45 minutes a week. Then you have influence as to what movies we see, how many and what types of dances we have, who we see in concert, and when and where recreational activities are planned. You, the student, must save Student Union, or there will be a day when you can truthfully say "There's nothing to do at High Point College.

The decision is up to YOU

> Mike Louia, Chairman

See more editorials, p. 3

verheard

In Zayre's: "That's the one who plays on Hee-Haw." In a song: "When the bullet hits the bone, uh-huh, when the bullet hits the bone.

On a New Year's Eve TV show: "isn't this great?"

At a New Year's Eve party: "Isn't this a great party?" In Hardee's: "The older I get, the harder it is to figure

In a freshman writing class: "Looking on other students' tests is often done by the most honest students in the class.

In Burger King: "You lousy bitch. That ego and mouth of yours is gonna land you in hell one of these days."

In MacDonald's: "Isn't this a great hamburger?"

At City Hall: "I don't know; I guess politicians are trying to do the best they car,"

On afternoon TV: a child says, "There will be more cartoons, but now, these important messages." The one important message is a record-album commercial which begins with Merle Haggard singing, "Think I'll just stay here and drink.

In a movie theater: "Isn't this a great movie?" "It's okay, but this sure is great popcorn."

In the Army: "When I tell you to get on the truck, I want on the Army: "When I tell you to get on the truck, I want you to get on the truck. Okay, get on the truck."

An astronaut on the last shuttle flight: "Isn't this great?

A TV anchorman during the last shuttle flight: "That's great! In Cooke Hall: "He's a good teacher, but he don't know what he's talking about."

In Eckerd's: "The reason so many people are unemployed is, they won't go out and look for a job."

On a TV commercial: "Here it is! The Bible -- on tape...
And give someone else this treasure of God's spoken word."

In a freshman writing class: "Teen mothers are on the rise and there may not be any way to stop it."

In Roberts Hall: "It is necessary to prioritize our priorities, prioritize and maximize, prioritize, maximize, formalize our goals.' In the Army: "When I tell you to dismount the vehicle, I want you to dismount the vehicle. Okay, get off the truck At a funeral home: "I don't know much about him, but I think he was a member of the Moose Lodge. At a twenty-year class reunion: "Larry Miller? No, I don't know what ever became of him. He made good grades,

At an HPC social function: "I tond him High Point College was a good little school, but it's located in a bad part of town.'

In Kentucky Fried Chicken: "This chicken is great!"

At a hardware store: "This grate is great."
At Westchester Mall: "Shut up! Shut up! Shut up!" In a freshman writing class: "Knowledge and wisdom are hardly good qualifications for most jobs today."
On TV: "Carolina is looking for its biggest lead."

At an art show: "I tried a still-life one time, but I gave

Assistant Professor of English

Room 209 Campus Center

Crystal L. Hedgecock . . . . . . Editor-in-Chief Lewis Wheless ..... Associate Editor Scott Morgan ..... Advertising and Business Manager Mark Phelps . . . . . . . . . . Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO.

The HI-POwelcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed, and an address must be included. If warranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as seen necessary.

EDITORIALS. . .

Editorials...

Student apathy reduction planned

Do we have student apathy here at High Point College? Most students, faculty, and administration here at HPC agree that apathy is a big problem. Students do not get involved in campus organizations such as the SGA or Student Union, consequently we all suffer. Last spring for example, 25 out of 28 offices in SGA were unopposed in the elections. Student Union ran into the same problem only to a larger degree. They did not have enough student participation to fill their chairmanship positions. To make matters worse, after talking to Mike Louia, President of Student Union, the organization will probably fold next year because of the lack of student participation. What's wrong?

Webster defines apathy as a lack of emotion or feeling. Apathy is NOT the pro-We, the students, have plenty of emotion and feeling about what's going on around here. All one has to do is mention the alcohol or attendance policy, living conditions, social life. the lottery, or almost any other concern and it becomes quite evident that these are emotional and highly motivated issues! Our problem is attitude and motivation. Often tasks seem entirely too large for us to do anything about, but that's not the case. The case is that most problems are too big for three or four students to do anything about them. To do something major requires support. Not your friend or roommate, but YOU!

Our problem is lack of effective planning and leader-ship. I am the first to admit that this has been one of my weaknesses, but I am attempting to work on it as I many other leaders will. It is quite difficult to have planning sessions because it involves extra meetings and most of us are already tired of so many meetings. I suggest to the leaders, simply use a regular meeting and use your entire group to plan; it is much more effective and everyone feels like they are con-tributing. This is important in keeping good people in-

How do we solve the problem? First we must take a list of problems - all pro-blems! Then select two or three which are related to what the group needs or wants. Develop a means by which one can get feedback as to how others feel about the problem or concern. It might be possible for several groups to work on the same problem if they have the same interest or goals.

The next step is where the effective planning comes into play. Talk about the problem as it is NOW. Follow this up by discussing what the ideal or goal of action would be. It then becomes necessary to develop two lists, one of positive forces and contacts as well as one of negative forces and contacts. Have the group analyze these lists and determine a plan of action, the procedure to be followed and those whom need to be contacted for revelant information. Finally, begin to work on the problem with everyones help. HELP is the

The reason many of us get turned off to being involved is that we often do not see immediate results. Secondly, the whole problem is dropped on one person and it is up to them to address the problem by him/herself. This case is neither realistic nor fair. It results in being overwhelmed and oftentimes followed by feelings of

I employed a few of the techniques I have just outlined at the last SGA meeting and was exuberant at the results. I contend that it was the hest SGA meeting we have had all year. We are going to do something besides hand out money in the future. So you organizations who want money. Look

SGA is going to be doing some exciting things in the near future. I hope that many of you will want to become involved. Elections are coming up soon, so start thinking about running for office in both SGA and Student Union. Our future is in our hands. It is up to us, the students, to make the difference in what we've got and what we want. For too long we have sat on our rear ends and not had the impact the time for change! I challenge each student on this campus to get up and help determine the future.

> Mark Mashburn SGA President

Writing Center remedies English difficulties

At the end of the 1982 Spring Semester a survey was taken which showed that students felt they had been helped greatly by the tutoring service offered by High Point College at the Writing Center. To show that this service is increasing from semester to semester, Mrs. Alice Sink, Director of the Writing Center, made an attendance chart from August-October 14, 1982, which showed that 108 freshman English students used the Writing Center (this is the first half of the first semester).

Sink has developed worksheets on grammar skills for students who have special problems with such matters as capitalization, subject-verb agreement, comma splices, run-on sentences, and fragments. Plus, paragraph and essay development and essay revi sions are perfected there. Even if you have problems with vocabulary or spelling, the Writing Center is there

BY KAREN HERNANDEZ for you. It doesn't matter if you are not a student from the basic English courses. whenever you need help writing a paper for another class just feel free to go to the W.C. The W.C. helps prepare students for the High Point College Proficiency Examination and also helps students who need to write job applications, and resumes.

The W.C. also has pecial program called TRIP (Toward Reaching Intellec-tual Potential) which is designed to help students who have very low SAT scores or need extra help in

So, if you need help come by the Writing Center. You will find Lisa Stowe, Sharon Williams, Charles Burton, and Jennifer Buroughs who are your lab assistants, willing to help you. The High Point College Writing Center (Room 22 of Cooke Hall) is open from 11:00-12:00 on Tuesdays and Thursday mornings and from 2:00-4:00 Monday-Thursday afternoons.

Professor to present paper

cont. from p. 1 who tries to attend at least one each semester. In the past year he has traveled to the Governor's School in Winston-Salem, Kentucky, and Wake Forest to do presentations.

His paper at Wake Forest will be published soon in a professional journal called the University of South Florida Language Quarter-

Dr. Gabriele will go to Baltimore in April and to Virginia in October to present scholarly papers.

Gabriele, who has been at High Point College for two years, shows immense enthusiasm toward conference of this type. "It's a time for someone who has a specialty to do something with it."

Corrections

In the Jan. 36 issue of the HI-PO, the name of Judy Dixanne Jones was in-advertently omitted from the Fall 1982 Dean's List.

In a story entitled "Computers at HPC help prepare for future," Mrs. Iris Manney was quoted as saying she thinks every student should have a puter; in actuality, Mauney said she thinks "each student should have access to a computer.

The HI-PO regrets these

Hi-Po Staff

Features Editor. . . . . . . . . . . . . Karla Green

Reporters . . . . . . Karen Hernandez. Terri Livingston Tabbie Nance, Tana Parker, Michael Pisano

Photographers

Bob Rossi ... Marisa Firpi, Bill Johnson, Karen Hernandez

Editorials...

12,000 inquiries received

Schlimmer: Admissions outlook is positive

BY KARLA GREEN

Features Edito

Jim Schlimmer, Director of Admissions, has a positive outlook on the enrollment for the coming year. High Point College has attracted 12,000 inquiries concerning application to our college. Schlimmer said that the growth of the outreach of the admissions department comes through a three-fold plan started by the admissions team last

The points of the admis-sions plan for development includes the areas of 1) publications, 2) personal contacts, and 3) postapplication communications. The plan was developed after the staff conducted a marketing survey last fall. Results indicated that prospective students today were looking for "a small personal college which provides a quality education and responsive feel," according to Schlim-

By implementing this plan the "inquiry pool" has increased from 8,000 to 12,000 since last year. "Inquiry pool" is the term used for the number of students who have responded positively as being in-terested in knowing more about HPC, according to Schlimmer.

The increased number of inquiries came through the expansion of admissions contacts in the northeastern "More inquiries states. came from New York, New Jersey and Maryland," according to Schlimmer.

Admissions counselor June Forcum, David Hope and Neil Teague, working under the direction of Schlimmer, have been energetically following up on the inquiries.

The first step was the mailing that went out before the end of the year, according to Schlimmer. The prospective students received four publications from the Admissions Office concerning campus visitation, campus prospectus, a parent brochure and a departmental brochure. These publications helped to acquaint students and their parents with the school and what it has to offer. In the visitation booklet the student was encouraged to visit the campus. The students who had a special interest also received a departmental publication from the major area.

JIM SCHLIMMER

The second step was to increase the number of personal contacts as a follow up to the inquiries received. The counselors spent many weeks this fall on the road visiting the various states, attending college night programs and visiting area high schools. This is one the main ways of reinforcing the personal touch of HPC, according to Schlimmer, who stressed that the private visits to the high schools were made especially to talk shown interest by mail.

The third step in Schlimmer's plan involves more contact directly with the students. After they have been accepted, the counselors' job is not finished. This is when they continue to contact the students by phone. "The first phone contact the first phone contact is a congratulatory one to let the student know that they have been accepted and they they made a good choice,' savs Schlimmer. This contact is to help them "feel a part of

This step may include visits here to familiarize the student with the college. Schlimmer has started a new program involving current students who serve as "admissions associates" serv-ing as tour guides. The students who were chosen last week include 10 to 15 students who talk with the prospective students and 'make them feel at home" at HPC during their tour and visit to the campus.

Schlimmer is very impressed by such student involvement in his program and said that he intends to use students in the future to promote the admission at the college. "The current students are our best sales people," said Schlimmer. Schlimmer has also expanded the number of prospective students who may compete for the Presidential Scholarships offered by the college. He said, "We are expanding the amount of names that will be con-sidered for the scholarships." He also said that letters were being sent to Methodist ministers for their nominations of students to be considered. "They will also be asked for their input on the selections for the higher scholarships,' added Schlimmer.

Part of the reason Schlimmer has changed the approach of the admissions department is to encourage not only more inquiries but also to keep in contact with those students who have been accepted, because he says that "50 percent of all students accepted do not go to that institution." By encouraging involvement with the accepted students as well as prospective, he feels enrollment can be increased.

Now is the time to apply for financial aid

Editor's note: The following is reprinted from the Feb. 2 issue of the HI-PO.

BY LEWIS WHELESS

Associate Editor

Kay N. Stroud, Director of Financial Aid, is encouraging all students to file for 1983-84 aid as soon as possible. Students applying for aid should be certain to apply for the Pell Grant (BEOG) and N.C. Grants when filling out financial aid

Mrs. Stroud said the outlook for student aid in 1983-84 is encouraging, as no cutbacks are foreseen at this time. The same levels that applied in 1982-83 will probably apply for 1983-84. We are encouraging everyone to apply for aid, Stroud said.

Mrs. Stroud said students should see someone in the financial aid office in Roberts Hall if they have any additional problems. etc. after the needs analysis is returned from the ACT.

The various deadlines for aid applications are listed below:

National Direct Student

Loan, Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant, and College Work-Study. Complete the ACT Family Financial Statement (FFS) the CSS Financial Aid Form (FAF), or the Application for Federal Student Aid (AFSA) by March 1, 1983 for priority consideration.

PELL Grant. Complete the FFS, the FAF, or the AFSA by March 15, 1983. (Students are encouraged to complete one of these forms by March 1, 1983.)

North Carolina State Contractual Scholarship Fund (Available to NC residents only). Complete the FFS or the FAF by March 1, 1983 for priority considerations.

Carolina Legislative Tuition Grant (Available to full-time, undergraduate students; NC residents only). Complete the NCLTG application form available in the Financial Aid Office. (The NCLTG application form for 1983-84 hould be available by April

North Carolina Student Incentive Grant - (NCSIG) -(NC residents only). Com plete the FFS or the FAF. Students must have a copy of the results of the FFS or the FAF sent to College Foundation by March 15, 1983 to be considered for this grant.

Academic Scholarships -Complete the scholarship application form available in e Financial Aid Office by March 15, 1983. (These forms should be available by mid-February.)

Guaranteed Student Loans and PLUS Loans
-Obtain a loan application form from your state agencv. Most state agencies suggest that a complete application be received by June 15 for priority consideration.

On-Campus employment -Complete an application form available in the Financial Aid Office. (Students with a demonstrated need will receive priority in place-

Other Scholarships Start cnecking in your community for civic organizations, churches, clubs, employers, or offering foundations scholarships. Students should apply for as many as possible and as early as possible.

Service fraternity reports on progress

During Christmas break, Alpha Phi Omega sent Tim Craven to serve as a representative to the fraternty's National Con-vention held in Kansas City. Missouri. Craven voted on important changes to APO's National By-Laws. High Point College APOs are now setting aside a special fund for the next National Convention in Washington, D.C. in 1984.

On Thursday, January 20, 1983, the fall pledge class of 1982 was formally inducted. The new brothers are Beth Bitcon, Colleen Farrell, Diedre Fleenor, Karen Ford, Marsha Manos, Art Payne, Eddie Snider, Lisa Staton, and Sandra Swoboda.

Alpha Phi Omega has four pledges in its spring pledge class. They are Claire Hall, Ray Hotz, Shazad Peters and David Riddle.

The fraternity has a busy schedule planned for this semester. In addition to service projects, Brothers are planning the fraternity's 25th Anniversary which will be the weekend of April

College guide for blacks

us Digest News Service Everything a black pro spective college student wants to know about over 100 colleges will be available this spring in print. The book, "The Black Students Guide to Colleges" was written from research compiled by Barry Beckham of Brown University. Beckham's ratings of colleges are the results of questionnaires he distributed. The 100 campuses included in the book are mostly predominantly schools but some all-black institutions are also includ-

Early criticism of the research says that the guide is too subjective, thus possibly misrepresenting a school because of one or two students' feelings. But much of the information is objective, providing details such as tuition costs, black faculty-student ratios, and financial aid opportunities at each school.

HOLLYWOOD BRATS will be performing at the Homecoming Dance Fri., Feb. 11 at the Top of the Mart.

Government getting tough on defaulters

Look out deadbeats! According to the U.S. Department of Education's Office of Student Financial Assistance, student loan collection efforts are being increased. A new law passed in October allows officials to report a defaulter's delinquent loan status to credit

The government is increasing its efforts by hiring collection agencies, as well as suing debtors, to attempt to recover over a billion dollars worth of defaulted student loans. Over $60 million is owed by federal employees, and the Dept. of Education is threatening to withhold 15 percent of those employees' paychecks til their loans are repaid.

Counterfeit proofing jeans designed move to crack down on counterfeit Levis jeans.

A new tagging program will allow manufacturers to check goods in stores to see if they are authentic namebrand merchandise.

The tags contain invisible industry.

Levi Strauss is making a fibers that can be checked against a central computer bank. The tag cannot be duplicated by counterfeiters. Levi Strauss is hoping the new system will help crack down on the huge name brand counterfeiting

Homecoming Court selected from 19 nominees

The 1983 Homecoming Court consists of eight representatives chosen from the 19 representative nominees.

The four classes are represented.

Luanne Blair, 18, from Thomasville, NC is representing the Freshman class. She is a Panther cheerleader.

Representing the Sophomore class is Rhonda Swaim. Swaim is a Human Relations major from Wallburg, NC. She is a cheerleader and involved with American Humanics and the International Language Club.

The Junior class is represented by Miriam O'Malley. She is a member of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, Panhellenic Council, Theta Chi Little Sisters and the Student Government Association. O'Malley . is president of Theta Chi Litthe Sisters and vice-president of Panhellenic Council. She is from Nutley, NJ.

Deborah Shaver, Education major from Miami, FL, is representing the Senior class. She is involved in Presidential Scholars, Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, Theta Chi Little Sisters, Student Union and intramural sports. Shaver is second vice-president, pledge class president and song chairman of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. She was the 1981 Theta Chi Dream Girl, a member of the 1982 Homecoming court and a double-time winner in the

Theta Chi Bong Show. Three fraternities are represented on the Court. Theta Chi fraternity is represented by Tana Parker, a senior from Howell, NJ. Parker is involved in Phi Mu sorority, Theta Chi Little Sisters and the Cultural Programs committee. She is president, membership director and pledge director of Phi Mu sorority.

Kathy Schaefer, a senior Biology/Pre-Med major from Seaford, NY, is representing Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. Shaefer is in Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, Resident Assistant, a member of the Dorm Council, Panhellenic Council and Student Union. She is president and treasurer of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. She is the Valedictorian of the Senior class and a Presidential Scholar. She is a member of the Alpha Chi Honor Society, a 1982 Junior Marshall, a 1982 Homecoming representative and was nominated to WHO'S WHO.

Mondays

Representing Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity is Kara Tamaccio, a freshman from Fort Lauderdale, FL. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, Student Union publicity committee and High Point College Singers. Tamaccio is an International Business major.

One sorority represented on the court. Lynn Fortaleza, sophomore from Fort Lauderdale, FL, is the representative for Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, Pi Kappa Alpha Little Sisters, the volleyball team and P.E. Majors Club. She is corresponding secretary of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and secretary of P.E. Majors Club.

Ellington's Florist

1122 East Lexington Avenue

Specializing in cut flower arrangements, corsages, and boutonnieres.

889-4748

FREE DELIVERY TO HIGH POINT COLLEGE

Formal House of Archdule 2911-A ARCHDALE ROAD HIGH POINT, N. C. Anniversary Sale now in progres Come by and let us help you get ready Formal Wear for that special occasion..... Norma Smith, Owner

434-3974

Eight women compete for Էջիան հանահանանական հանանական հանանական հանանական հանանական հանանական հանանական հանանական հանանական հանանական հա

DEBORAH SHAVER Senior Class

RHONDA SWAIM

.

MIRIAM O'MALLEY
Junior Class

LUANN BLAIR Freshman Class

r 1983 Homecoming crown

KATHY SCHAEFER Pi Kappa Alpha

TANA PARKER

KARA TAMACCIO Lambda Chi Alpha

LYNN FORTALEZA
Zeta Tau Alpha

Karen Hernandez

"Godspell" production to stress "dramatic values"

BY TERRI LIVINGSTON Staff Writer

Wonderful music, uplifting songs, and high quality entertainment are only a few qualities which combine to make the musical GODSPELL the exciting show its reputation demands. Paul Lundrigan, the director, has seen the show performed many different ways and was at one time part of a GODSPELL cast. Lundrigan feels that the "dramatic content" has been overlooked when por-traying the GODSPELL theme. The show is filled with wonderful music and fast-moving action which can keep your attention. However, the theme is based on the Gospel according to St. Matthew and carries many "dramatic values," Lundrigan explains.

Auditions for the performance opened in December exclusively to High Point College students, the turnout was small. In January a second session of auditions began, this time open to the community. During the auditions Lundrigan was looking for combined talents of acting, singing and dancing. This combination of talent, which Lundrigan refers to as a "triple threat," was difficult to find. This problem was solved by casting an enough people to ensure these areas were strong. The final cast was decided upon after three series of call-backs. show, which usually calls for 10 actors, will portray 12 personalities. Out of the 12-member cast, 9 are High Point College students. Lundrigan describes the auditions as "long and drawn out.

The cast includes: Jim Kilby, Erik Lundrigan, Anthony Jenkins, Anna Minear, Bonnie Pachasa, Tana Parker, Gary Stirewalt, Kim Thomas, Irene Tivald, Phil Yalente, Kim Woolsey, and Donald

Wright

The role of Jesus, played by Phil Yalente, remains constant while the other characters trade roles throughout the production.

The costumary set for GODSPELL is a chain fence. Lundrigan does not like this set, describing it as "a combination prison or school yard, which is not consistent with the theme of celebration the production presents. The set for High Point's production will be a circus tent. The characters' costumes will be colorful to represent clowns, which will contribute to the feeling of celebration felt at a circus.

Preparation for the show involves 4 hours a night, with additional vocal rehearsals. Due to the apathy of the December auditions, the cast has a limited time to prepare the show, according to Lundrigan.

Lundrigan reports that rehearsals are going well and that the actors are picking

GODSPELL rehearsals are actively underway. The show will be presented in the Memorial Auditorium Mar. 25, 26, 31 and Apr. 1. (Photo by Marisa Firpi) up their individual songs easily. The songs will be emphasized by a live band which will be part of the scene, on stage.

Production dates are set for Friday, March 25, and Saturday, March 26. The following weekend shows will be Thursday, March 31, and the final performance will fall, coincidentally, on Friday, April 1, which is Good Friday. Good Friday represents the Resurrection as does the Godspell theme.

Writer's Club to hold "Worst Poem" contest are too rotten to be seen? Do you think you don't have enough talent to submit poems for publication? Then we have a contest for you. The Writer's Club is having a "Worst Poem" contest. The prize is ten dollars fo the absolute worst poem. the absolute worst poem. poem so they don't even try For those who are in- it." But why don't you try?

Do you think your poems terested in the contest but can write, Dr. Piacentino has a copy of "How to write a rotten poem with almost no effort" to get you to get you

> As "How to Write a Rotten Poem" says, "Most people find it difficult to write a

You have nothing to lose. If it's good you can submit it to the Apogee. If it's awful, send it to us. You could win ten dollars.

The deadline for the contest is February 25. Send entries to The Writer's Club, Box 3008.

SOME OF THE MOST IMPORTA IS BEING DONE ITSIDE T

It's being done in automobiles and living rooms. Over coffee and cake. By people like Madeline Mitza and Theresa Barbieri.

They met when Madeline was in treatment for breast cancer and Theresa was the volunteer who drove her to her therapy appointments. Now, like Theresa, Madeline is bringing help and hope to other women as a Reach to Recovery volunteer.

Madeline and Theresa are living proof that it's people who give people the will to live. The work in the lab must continue. And so must the work outside. We need your help.

A breath of dusty death

Campus Digest News Service

Dormitory residents at the University of Georgiaathens are sure that it's not raindrops that are falling on their heads. In fact, they have a sneaking suspicion that the fine white dust which is dropping from their dorm room ceilings may be

Even though the university housing department spent over $93,000 this past mmer to remove asbestoslaced ceiling material from several campus dormitories, frightened residents of Brumby, Creswell and Russell halls on the Georgia campus and an Environmental Protection Agency official believe that sufficient quantities of the cancercausing substance still exist and could pose a serious health threat to student residents.

According to the University of Georgia student newspaper, The Red and Black, University officials first learned of a possible asbestos hazard three years ago when tests taken by the University Public Safety Division showed that 10 percent of the ceiling material in seven residence halls contained asbestos. Although not required to do so by law, the Housing authorities replaced those ceilings which they felt to be "most damaged.

University of Georgia freshman Lisa Massey and her roommate Susan Agan initiated the complaint when they reported the presence of a "baby powder-like" substance which fell from their Creswell Hall ceiling. They first noticed the pro-blem of dust covering everything in their room after moving into the dorm in the fall.

Dan Hallenbeck, University Housing director, said he believed the dorm was he believed the uoin safe, and the building

But Dwight Brown Southeastern regional coordinator of the Environmental Protection Agency, said that if any breathable fibers are falling into the air as Massey nd Agan claim, then a potentially serious health hazard exists, regardless of whether that material is asbestos or not.

It has been determined that asbestos only poses See A Breath p. 11

collegiate camouflage

0	Х	Υ	М	Н	T	Υ	T	S	E	P	Α	N	Α	R
N	P	0	S	Т	Υ	R	0	L	Α	S	S	N	0	R
С	0	Α	I	Ε	Α	P	Α	P	Т	Z	0	X	T	Υ
М	Ε	F	R	G	Н	M	Ε	Α	T	I	F	Ε	D	Α
s	Т	I	E	0	P	С	N	R	Т	Ε	0	E	М	P
I	R	D	N	0	D	Z	0	Α	В	P	М	I	Υ	Α
Р	Υ	U	0	X	Α	Υ	R	D	X	0	D	Υ	N	R
0	Υ	N	0	R	I	Ε	0	0	С	D	L	Т	0	Α
Ŕ	0	Н	P	Α	Т	E	М	X	Т	Ε	I	Ε	D	В
P	Α	Ε	S	I	P	R	Υ	R	E	T	N	F	U	L
Α	N	Α	L	F	I	L	Х	0	Н	s	Н	Υ	Ε	Ε
L	Z	L	С	I	s	χ	0	Ε	T	Υ	D	P	S	Ε
A	Α	Х	Ε	т	М	Υ	s	Т	I	F	Т	Υ	P	М
М	S	Ε	Т	0	Т	I	L	Ε	P	0	D	Н	С	0
G	I	Т	0	М	S	0	S	Н	Ε	Α	L	Α	M	С

Can you find the hidden literary terms?

See answers p. 11

ALL ITERATION ANAPEST ANTITHESIS COMEDY EPITHET EPODE HYPERBOLE IRONY

LITOTES LAMPOON MALAPROPISM METAPHOR MOTIF OXYMORON PARABLE

PARODY PLOT POETRY PSEUDONYM RHYTHM SIMILE SPOONERISM STANZA SYNECDOCHE TRAGEDY

Campus Paperback Bestsellers

PARADOX

Hitchhikers Guide to the Galaxy, by Douglas Adams (Pocket, $2.95.) Companion to the PBS TV series

- 2. A Few Minutes With Andy Rooney, by Andy Rooney. (Warner, $2.95.) Humorous essays by the TV personality
- The Restaurant at the End of the Universe, by Douglas Adams. (Pocket. $2.95.) Successorto "Hitchhikers Guide."
- 4. Items from our Catalogue, by Alfred Gingold. (Avon, $4.95.) Spool of the L. L. Bean catalogue
- Real Men Don't Eat Quiche, by Bruce Feirstein. (Pocket, $3.95.) A hilarious guide to masculinity
- 6. The Legacy, by Howard Fast. (Dell. $3.95.) The saga of the San Francisco Lavette family reaches the 80's.
- 8. An Indecent Obsession, by Colleen McCullough.
  (Avon. $3.95.) Ms. McCullough's latest work of fiction.
- 9. The Valley Girls' Guide to Life, by Mimi Pond. (Dell, $2 95.) How to live San Fernando Valley style

New & Recommended

The Dean's December, by Saul Bellow. (Pocket, $3.95.)
The latest novel by the winner of the Nobel prize Getting to Yes, by Roger Fisher and William Ury (of the Harvard Negotiation Project). (Penguin, $4.95.) Negotiating disputes without getting taken.

The Electronic Cottage, by Joseph Deken. (Bantam, $3.95.) Everyday living with your personal computer in the 80's

SGA posts survey

Please fill out and return to ballot box in the cafeteria at lunch or dinner.

"Do you care about HPC?" SGA wants to know! Each year the student body elects officers to represent their class in SGA. This vear SGA is really concerned with the apathy towards High Point College. We realize that a lot of you are very unhappy with some of the policies maintained at this school. SGA is interested to become more aware of this subject. We ask that you please fill out the following survey and let your voice be heard in student government.

1. What is your opinion of SGA?

- 2. When can you attend a meeting of Student Government? (day, night, time - be specific)
- 3. What is your reason for attending High Point College?

4. Do you care about the atmosphere at the col-lege? (social or academic)

5. Does anything at HPC interest you? If so, what?

i. extension in visitation hours. j. other (specify)

7. Are you considering transferring? If so,

6. What would you like to see...(circle renovation of buildings such as Mc-Culloch and the old student center.

b. The second floor of the campus center turned into a recreation room. c. A student evaluation of the faculty. d. a meal plan for the cafeteria. e. a uniform grading scale for all departments. f. typewriters and a copy machine placed in the campus center. g. a change in the absence policy. h. a change in the 8. What are some of the negative attitudes that you have toward HPC? What are the basis for this feeling?

9. What can we do to improve overall communications for the school?

10. Other Comments. . .

any Josten's gold ring

HPC Bookstore February 9 & 10 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. ONLY $15 Deposit

Cagers get ready for Homecoming battle

BY MICHAEL PISANO Staff Writer

The High Point College Panther basketball team will be battling for more than just a Homecoming victory this Saturday night...hey'll be scrambling to settle a conference score with Guilford College. In the previous two meetings between these teams, the Quakers have defeated the Panthers. "Guilford is a quick team," High Point College Coach Jerry Steele said in a recent interview. "They like to run the ball."

A big crowd is usually expected on Homecoming, which will be to the Panther's advantage.

"Emotions will be high, especially in front of a big crowd," Steele said. "But the players will approach the game as any other."

The rivalry between these teams is evident and High Point has played two tough games against the Quakers despite all the Panther injuries

We play well when we play Guilford," Steele said.
"We've played hard all year and we'll continue to do so in this game. "The Homecoming game is a motivating factor to the senior players because it's their last homecoming game in front of their families and friends," Steele said.

Some senior girls will also be playing their final Homecoming game. The Lady Panthers will take on the Quaker women before the men take the court (5:30).

This year's Homecoming Queen will be crowned during the halftime ceremony of the men's basketball game.

High Point College

Page 10 · HI-PO · Wednesday, February 9, 1983

SPORTS

Samuels' three-pointer gives HPC win

BY MARK PHELPS

Sports Editor
The High Point Men's basketball team dropped two of their last three games over the recent week, both of the losses coming at the hands of conference foes.
The lone victory, a 72-72 win over Lenoir Rhyne on Feb.
19, was only the fifth for the Panthers this season and leaves them with a 5-14 record overall, 2-8 in conference play.

The Lenior Rhyne victory might possibly have been the most exciting game of the year for the visiting Panthers. High Point had to come from behind in the second half and got their only lead of the game on freshman Terry Samuels' three point shot with nine seconds remaining.

The Bears had earlier gotton off to a fast start as they held leads of 16-3 and 29-13 before the Panthers close the gap to nine points at halftime.

During the second half, High Point got under control and were also helped by the late poor foul-shooting of L.R. as they hit on only 14 or 21 attempts. Danny Murphy led all scorers with 25 points, while Samuels and L.R. transfer Robert Hudson added 12 each.

On the following Wednesday, the Panthers fell victims to Pembroke 92-76, a team they had earlier beaten in the year. Pembroke's Ricky Melvin and Gray Davis combined for 46 points to lead the onsalught.

Murphy again led the Panthers in scoring with 23 points. Jimmy Robertson pumped in 15 while Samuels added 14. Melvin led Pembroke with 24.

On Saturday night, the Panthers lost to Catawba 90.71. The Indians, ranked 118th in the NAIA, hit on 10 of 24 attempts behind the three-point circle while placing six of their players in double figures.

For the season, High Point in shooting .457 from the field and .744 from the charity stripe. Murphy leads the team in scoring with a 14.2 average, hitting 38-48 three-point shots. Samuels is the leading rebounder with 120 boards and guard John Hamilton leads in assists with 60

BUTCH BOWSER (22) goes up for two in a recent game. (Photo by Karen Hernandez)

Guess Who?

The man standing in the photo above is a well-known figure on the HPC campus. Do you recognize this former Wake Forest Basketball team co-captain twenty-two years later?

Record is now 2-14

Lady Panthers extend losing streak

BY MARK PHELPS Sports Editor

Coach Nancy Little's Womens basketball squad lost all three of their games over the week, extending their losing streak to seven in a row. The Lady Panthers are 1-8 in the conference and 2-14 overall.

On Jan. 31, High Point feel victim to Pfeiffer 87-72. The Panthers fell behind early and trailed at halftime by ten, 48-38. In the second period, they were able to rally and kept the score close for much of the last half.

The Falcons, however, were able to hold on with fine foul shooting as they hit on 25 of 40 attempts. Melanie Hamilton led the Panthers with 15 points.

The following Thursday, saw High Point lose to Campbell 61-52. The Panthers were able to stay within two points at halftime but could never get any closer. High Point was led by Jacki Gandy, who scored 14 points, and Ursualla Watt, who hit for ten.

The Lady Panthers lost to conderence rival Catawba 73-59, on Saturday night.

Sandra Swaboda led all scoreres with 14 points while Gandy scored 12. This was particularly disappointing to the team because they had beaten the Indiancs by one earlier.

As a team, High Point has shot only 36% from the field while being outscored by opponents 584-911. Ursulla Watt leads the Panther scoring with 14.4 average despite having missed flye games earlier in the year because of injury. Sandra Swoboda holds the lead in rebounding with 139.

looing streak

Panther scoreboard

	Results: Basketball MEN				Schedule:
Lenoir-Rhyne	74-72	w	5-12		Basketball
					•
*Pembroke	76-92	L	5-13		MEN
*Catawba	71-90	L	5-14	7:30	Feb. 9 at Wingate
	WOMEN			8:00	Feb 12th Guilford
*Pfeiffer	72-83	L	2-12		WOMEN
Campbell	52-61	L	2-13	7:00	Feb. 9 Atlantic Christian at Wilson
*Catawba	59-73	L	2-14	6:00	Feb. 12 Guilford

Sports Quiz

Campus Digest News Service
1. In the 1968 "Game of the Century" between Houston and UCLA, which team won?

2. Name the high scorer in the 1968 Houston-UCLA game.

3. Virginia coach Terry Holland played from 1961 to 1964 at what southern college? 4. Georgetown coach John Thompson played from 1961 to 1964 at what college?

5. Only two colleglate players in history scored over 2,000 points and collected over 2,000 rebounds. Name

6. Pete Maravich scored over 1,000 points in each of three seasons in college. Only one other college player ever topped 1,000 in two seasons.

7. Which player holds the NCAA record for the most consecutive games scoring in double figures?

8. Name the active college player who holds the NCAA record for highest free-throw percentage in a season.

9. Ralph Sampson was AP "Player of the Year" for the last two seasons. Name the last player before Sampson to be "Player of the Year" in consecutive seasons.

10. Sampson has also been UPI's "Player of the Year" the last two seasons. Name the only two players to win three UPI awards as "Player of the Bill Walton, 1972-74, CINCINNALI 10. Oscar Robertson, 1958-60, 9. David Thompson, North Carolina St., 1974-75 %0.26 Young-112 games 8. Rod Foster, UCLA 1981-82

and Holiup from 1953-56

6. Austin Carr, Notre Dame
7. Danny Ainge, Brigham
Young-112 sames Cola played from 1952-55 spunoqəı Washington 2226 pointseW 'dnloH 106 5. Tom Gola, La Salle 2462 points-2201 rebounds

3. Davidson 1. Houston (71-69)
2. Elvin Hayes, 39 points

4. Providence

A breath of dust

Cont. from p. 8 threat when the fibers are released into the air.

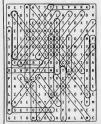

Since Massey and Agan's initial complaint, other dormitory residents, some from other halls, have reported similar worries. These students have banded together to form Students for an Asbestos-Free Environment (SAFE) in an effort to pressure the university into action.

The group has asked for the resignation of Housing director Hallenbeck for refusing to recognize the potential hazards of asbestos-laced ceilings.

Student attempts to arrange a meeting with University of Georgia presi-dent, Fred Davison, have been unsuccessful so far.

Hallenbeck's official response has been to suggest that unhappy residents transfer to other rooms. SAFE members are encouraging a "mass-transfer request," feeling that such a request by the 3,000 students housed in the halls under question would sufficiently demonstrate student concern to the institution.

Answers to Collegiate Crossword

Scoring for adults only

Campus Digest News Service

Scoring has taken on a different meaning in video games lately. There was the time when a high score was earned by shooting all the alien ships or choming through a maze of dots. But now things, have changed, for scoring has become something like running the bases on a first date with the action taking place on a television screen rather than the backseat of a car.

The names of the new video game cartridges, or "software," don't reveal very much about their adult content. "Bachelor Party," "Custer's Revenge" and "Beat 'Em and Eat 'Em' are a few of the early entries into this rapidly expanding market. And just as X-rated videocassettes became big in that industry, "for adults only" game cartridges are sure to make a dent in the home video game field.

Supporters of the X-rated ames say sales should score high like the X-rated taped movies have done. With a retail price of $49.95 each, the maker of the games,

American Multiple Industries, stands a good chance of reaching its first year sales goal of $1.3

AMI's entrepreneurial spirit is not without its detractors, however. The big boys in the business, Atari, are not happy and are filing suit to prevent AMI from marketing the games. Atari spokesmen say the company doesn't want the public to confuse the adult games with their own. They say AMI's campaign promotes compatibility with Atari computer systems and this will lead some people to think that Atari has something to do with making pornographic video game cartridges.

A spokesman American Multiple says the games are just meant for a change of pace and to provide fun through cheap sexual jokes. AMI says the games are not meant to arouse anybody and they would wonder about anyone who did get turned on by the action on the screen.

20% DISCOUNT HIGH POINT COLLEGE STUDENTS

Good on all Hair Care Services for Guys and Gals - except Advertised Specials. Please present College I.D.

Westchester Mall

Strictly Classified

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads. services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad, type the ad double-spaced and turn it in to the HI-PO by Friday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any adsured in after this deadline will be held until the next issue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no designation, the ad will run for only one week.

Announcements

Seniors, don't forget to get your Placement Packets.

Employment applications for summer camps are available in the Career Planning Office.

The High Point Parks and Recreation Department is accepting applications for summer lifeguard positions. See the Career Planning Office for more information.

会会会会会会

Following are dates for on-campus interviews: Feb. 16 - Wachovia Bank -9:30 am-4 pm Feb. 24 - First Citizens Bank

Sign up for appointments in the Student Life Office.

*****

Student Union is sponsoring a ski trip to Sugar Mountain, Sunday, Feb. 13. The price is $10 for the lift ticket, $5 for the ski rental. If 35 people or more sign up, and additional $3 will be required for the bus. Those going will leave the school at 2 p.m. for night skiing.

Discount tickets to all Martin Movie Theaters are available in the Career Planning Office Monday, Wednesday, and friday from 1-5. The cost is $2.00 per ticket and they are good through May 1983.

The bookstore will be taking orders for corsages for the Homecoming dance until Thursday morning Feb. 10. These flowers will be provided by Ellington Florist and will be delivered Friday afternoon to the customer's room. Orders for Valentine flowers will be taken also. Fraternities and sororities may also order flowers for

*****

Student Union is sponsoring a Pool and Ping Pong Tournament Feb. 14-20. Prizes include pool cues and gift certificates for sporting goods stores. The tournament is free for any HPC student.

*****

$2 HPC student discounts are available for attractions at the High Point Theatre. Coupons are available on the Bulletin Board, upstairs in the Fine Arts Building/ Memorial Auditorium.

morial Auditorium

"Effective February 15.
1983, there will be a $10.00 charge for all checks returned by the bank to High Point College. We regret having to take this action, but the increased incidence of these bad checks, combined with the large amounts of some of them leaves us no alternative. We sincerely hope that no one will have to pay this charge."

Duopiantists Sara Bencini and Troy Lee will present a benefit concert for the High Point Arts Council on Wednesday, February 16, beginning at 8:00 p.m. in the High Point Theatre. The concert is the first in the four-part 1983 Spring Concert Series presented by Piedmont Artists, Inc. of High Point. For ticket infor#### mation, call 889-1183 in High Point.

The North Carolina Shakespeare Festival will present "The Hollow Crown" Feb. 7-9 at 8:00 pm at the High Point Theatre. The show is a dramatized presentation of the Kings and Queens of England as seen by contemporary writers of the time. Tickets for HPC students are $4 with the discount coupon available in the Fine Arts Department. For further information, call the High Point Theatre at 887:3001.

****

The High Point Community Theatre will present Neil Simon's Broadway smash "The Odd Couple," Feb. 17-19 at Kepley's Barn, located on Highway 68 towards Greensboro. With the student discount coupon available in the Fine Arts Building, tickets are $10 which includes dinner. For further information or to purchase tickets, contact the High Point Theatre (200 E. Commerce) at 887-3001.

*****

Employment

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-

TITLE: Ladd Furniture distribution data processing.Needs freshman or sophomore
PART-TIME
HOURS: 4-5 hours per night

(4 a.m.-8 a.m.) SALARY: $4.25 CONTACT: Jerry Elkins PHONE: 889-0333

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-MENT

TITLE: Radio Air Talent/Commercial Produc-

DISCRIPTION: Regular Airshift, heavy commercial production, occasional public appearances, other tasks (Radio experience needed).

FULL-TIME
CONTACT: Mike Finley, Operations Manager
ADDRESS: WYYD Radio.

ADDRESS: WYYD Radio, P.O. Box 12526, Raleigh, N.C. 27605, phone (919) 851-2711

Send resume and air checks

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-

MENT TITLE: Radio personality DESCRIPTION: Regular Airshift, commercial production, third class license needed and understanding of FCC. FULL-TIME

CONTACT: Mike Finley, Operations Manager ADDRESS: WYYD Radio, P.O. Box 12526, Raleigh, N.C. 27605

N.C. 27605 PHONE: 919-851-2711 Send resume and airchecks

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-MENT TITLE: Need babysitter

three afternoons per week (Mon., Tues., Thurs.) HOURS: 4-5:30 CONTACT: Joy Allen, 1817 Lazy Ln., High Point, 885-9646

Off-campus employment: Title: Babysitter

Description: Sun. A.M., 1 or 2 persons Hours: 9:15 a.m.-12:15 a.m. Salary: $3.50

Contact: Nanci Motsinger, Emerywood Baptist Church Phone: 885-5161

Off-campus employment: Title: Delivery person Description: Make general

Description: Make general deliveries around town and will pick up items. Involves lifting and moving fairly heavy and bulky items. Must have station wagon or small truck.

Hours: Part-time, flexible Salary: Minimum wage Contact: Receptionist, Edward Ferrell Limited Address: 318 N. Wrenn St., High Point, N.C.

Phone: 885-1149
*Please identify yourself as a High Point College stu-

Off-campus employment: Title: Water Safety instruc-

Description: Must be qualified instructor with some experience.

Hours: Part-time Contact: Sherri Hill, Thomasville YMCA, Mendenhall St... Thomasville, N.C. Phone: 475-6125

A STEAK AMD EGG BISCUIT AND ORANGE
JUCE FOR JUST $1.29

Please present this coupon before ordering, One coupon per customer, per two files combination with any other offer.

Offer good during formal breakfast bour only at both High Phat, NC Hardee's Restaurants. Offer good through May 31, 1963.

A REGULAR ROAST BEEF SANDWICH, REGULAR FRIES AND MEDIUM ICE TEA ONLY $1.69

Please present this coupon before ordering. One coupon per customer, or one of good in combination with any other offer.

Offer good after 1030 AM, daily only at both High Point, NC Hardee's Restaurants. Offer good through May 31, 1963.

The Hi-Po is distributed on campus by Alpha Phi Omega, a National Service fraternity. This is the fifth year they have provided this service.

Call for Daily Specials 882-2919

1616 N. Main St. Mon-Thur 11-11

High Point Fri & Sat 11-Midnight CLOSED SUNDAY

High Point College's

"Working for a better informed campus"

High Point, N.C. 27262

February 23, 1983

INSIDE

"Book Talks." p.4 Track, p. 6

Nominees attend Presidential Scholarship Weekend

DURING PRESIDENTIAL SCHOLARSHIP WEEKEND, Jerry Min and Lance Jarrett welcome a prospective scholar. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

Junior Marshals selected BY TERRI LIVINGSTON Janis Myers Morrison

Staff Writer The following students were nominated to the Faculty to be JUNIOR MARSHALS for the 1982-1983 academic year. The grade point average of the students ranges from 4.0

Chief: David Matthew Matzko Co-Chief: Annette Stutts Murphy Vicki L. Merriaman Ball David Eugene Barnes Jerry Ray Bell Mary Carlene Dix Karen Lynn Keeton Dowell Sandra Mitchell Johnson to 3.50.

Ginger Dawn Green Anne Marie Jarrett Jacqueline Diane Knotts

Krebs Michael Keith Louis Matthew Bryan Marceron Tony Allen Peele

Brian James Sarnecki William Edward Sass, III Mary Teresa Shively Kathleen Gail Smith Tamara Lynn Smoot Leonard

Robert N. Weckworth, Jr. Joseph R. Budd

The duties of a Junior Marshal consist primarily of ushering and leading processionals at the Baccalaureate Graduation Exercises which will take place on May and May 8, 1983 respectively, Honors Day on April 1983 and Convocation held on April 30, 1983. Mr. Raiford Porter is the Faculty Marshal

Plansmade for snow day compensation

Classes dismissed because of inclement weather on Fri., Feb. 11 and Mon., Feb. 14 will be made upon Tues., Mar. 22, the day formerly designated as "Spring Fling," according to Dr. Winfield Bearce, Academic Dean of the college. Students will attend Monday classes on this day. The decision on when/if to make up the remaining day has not yet been made

Schaefer named Queen

BY TERRI LIVINGSTON Staff Writer

During Homecoming festivities Kathy Schaefer, representing Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity was crowned Homecoming

Schaefer is a senior Biology/Pre-Med major from Seaford N.Y. She is in Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, a Resident assistant, a member of the Dorm Council, Panhellenic Council and Student Union. She serves as president and treasurer of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. She is valedictorian of the senior class, a Presidential Scholar, a member of the Alpha Chi Honor Society, a 1982 Junior Marshal, 1982 Homecoming representative and was nominated to WHO'S WHO.

Schaefer described her condition before receiving the crown as nervous; so nervous she jokingly recalls almost "falling while lining up with the court." After acBY KAREN HERNANDEZ Staff Writer

During the weekend of Feb. 18-20, there were approximately prospective Presidential Scholars around the campus. These scholars were selected out of 450 other students, and out of these 60 students only 30 scholarship awards were available to be given. Each of these awards will be ranging from $1,000-$1,500, provided they keep a grade point average of 3.0, Mike Louis. executive chairman of Presidential Scholars, said. In order to give these prospective students a clear picture of HPC, a series of activities were planned for them and for the student body, he said. Feb. 18, an ice cream social was held in the cafeteria and following this the movie "TAPS" shown in the auditorium. Feb. 19 the prospective Scholars went through a series of interviews, tours, and meetings with faculty nembers. A dance was held that same day at 8:00 p.m. in the cafeteria

The feedback received from the prospective students was very positive and honest. One prospective Scholar said, "I learned about HPC through a letter which asked me to come down and tryout for the Volleyball Team. When I saw the town of High Point I found it to be very pretty, but what impressed me the most was the campus. IT'S GORGEOUS! About the dorms, I'd say they are O.K. but the heaters are too noisy." Another prospective Scholar added: "I was surprised about High Point, I had no idea how it would look like. I found the organization was good, the people were nice, and people were there whenever I needed help. The only thing I didn't like were the auditorium seats; they are too hard."

The Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity provided the music for the dance

KATHY SCHAEFER, representing Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, is the 1983 Homecoming Queen. John Van Horn escorted Schaefer at the Homecoming game on Feb. 12. (Photo by Donna Burton)

cepting the crown, Shaefer says she now feels "surprised and flattered." Of all the honors she has been awarded in her four years at HPC she said this is the "nicest because it shows how people feel about you.

Also receiving honors were first runner-up Lynn Fortaleza, a representative for Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. And second runner-up Deborah Shaver, representing the senior class.

Schaefer said she would like to thank the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity for sponsoring her and John Van Horn for escorting her."

EDITORIALS.

Non-greeks react

To the Editor:

Apparently there has been much concern recently regarding student apathy. But has anyone stopped to think that some of us who have not chosen to join social Greek organizations have been discouraged from participating in supposedly "campus wide" events?

We are the non-Greeks, members of honorary and special interest groups. True, we may not be the most popular social circles, but we remain a vital part of campus life. Yet when we attempt to display school spirit and participate, we are either ig-nored or shoved to the back because we aren't wearing the proper "labels" on our

One annual event is "Greek Week," which one would assume included any organiations whose names are comprised of the letters Alpha through Omega. Wrong. Alpha Chi, Alpha Psi Omega, Kappa Delta Pi, Delta Mu Delta, and Sigma Delta Pi all have Greek names, as do Alpha Delta Theta and Alpha Phi Omega. But are they included in the festivities? No. The Inter-Fraternity and Panhellenic Councils do not include them, and this is a possible cause of the apathy problem - it's almost like "If you don't wear OUR letters, you don't belong." Why bother to try to fight it? High Point College tends to cater to the Greek system. Instead of having a unifying effect, this divides the student body into two distinct little worlds.

A more recent example is Homecoming. We members of one such group wanted to participate in the banner contest and had kicked around ideas for it. When did we find out about the contest? In the last issue of the HI-PO. We were later informed that this Homecoming activity is a contest between the social fraternities and sororities. So that knocked us out of the Rowdie Crowdie contest, too. But the service organizations weren't excluded even though they are not recogniz-ed by IFC and Panhellenic. There are twice as many honorary organizations on campus as service, yet they receive hardly any attention. Is it because membership is selective that we are left out? But that's what makes it a honorary group - we have worked for usually two years to earn membership. That's right, EARN. But don't think for a minute that we stand perched on a pedestal in an ivory tower somewhere. No, we cram for tests, party, occasionally cut classes, and sometimes struggle for grades just like the rest of Perhaps one solution to the apathy problem would be to make campus-wide events even to the entire campus. Go ahead, invite the Day Students, Black Unification Movement, TV station - and if they don't choose to get involved, okay. Just give us a

Ten concerned students

Crystal L. Hedgecock . . . . . Editor-in-Chief Lewis Wheless ..... Associate Editor Scott Morgan ..... Advertising and Business Manager Mark Phelps . . . . . . . . . . . . . Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the ex-pressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO.

The HI-POwelcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed, and an address must be included. If warranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as seen necessary.

Please, Dave...

Let's all go process some words. Maybe the result will be as good as processed

Oh, I know I'll get behind the times if I don't learn to program a computer - input some input and all that.

some input and air that.
I'm put out with all that.
I think I'll read some books and write some poems and contemplate my navel.
Oh, I know I won't be trained to teach
The Collected Poems of Apple II, but there will be many who will.

But we'll be able to check out books faster. Yeah, when I'm in the library, there's a real battle for position in the line at the circulation desk.

But we'll be able to improve the fledgling CPA's imagination. An admirable goal, but a machine won't do it. He's got to do it

But we'll have all the knowledge in the world at our fingertips. I don't want it at my fingertips; I want it in my mind.

But it's the wave of the future. Heck, I haven't got my intellectual surfboard on the wave of the past yet. (Remember how you felt when, in "The Graduate," the man told Dustin Hoffman that plastics was the wave of the future?)

But if we don't know how to use a computer, the government will control us easier. Friends, it's too late to worry about that now. I mean, it scares me thinking about what the computer in the Registrar's Office has on me. And won't it be grand when anybody can find out everything about anybody? Just one big family.

But the Russians have it. The balance of terror. The balance of input. The balance of processed words. The balance of most profound ignorance Here's D.H. Lawrence's creed:

That I am I. That my soul is a dark forest. That my known self will never be more than a little clearing in the forest. That gods, strange gods, come forth from the forest into the clearning of my known self, and then go back. That I must have the courage to let them come and go. That I will never let mankind put anything over me, but that I will try always to recognize and submit to the gods in me and the gods in other men and women.

Here's a poem by D.H. Lawrence: For God's sake, let us be men not monkeys minding machines or sitting with our tails curled while the machine amuses us, the radio or film or gramophone. Monkeys with a bland grin on our faces. Everybody at a liberal arts college must understand these things.

(By the way, the title of this piece is taken from "2001: A Space Odyssey." It is the plea of the computer as it is being deinputted/ de-outputted by a human being.)

This is the last regular "Hodgepodge." Back in the fall, I intended to write two or three until our editorial page contained editorials. Now it does. Also, a student newspape, should be written by students. Finally, the column has become something of a habit, and the worst thing a man can do is make a habit of something. Habit is machine-like. I mean, I need a new program. I need more bits. Remember what Goethe said as he died: "More k! More k!"

Marion Hodge Assistant Professor English odgepodge

Communications SCIP internship expands

Communications majors are required to complete at least 6 semester hours of the SCIP Internship in a media business within the Triad Area. In the past, majors have interned at WGHP-TV (High Point), WGLD/WOKX (High Point), Greensboro Daily News, High Point Enterprise. Winston-Salem Sentinel, Thomasville Times, Mabe Realtors (High Point), Now four new media businesses are available for the intern-ship: WXII-TV (Winston-Salem), WFMY-TV (Greensboro), WGGT-TV (Greensboro, and Dayidson's Advertisers (Greensboro). In the fall. WMFR Radio of High Point will also be available for news and production.

This semester, Gina Cardone and Jane MacCannell are interning at WGGT and WXII in production and general management. Pamela York is working at Davidson's Advertisers writing copy, training on the phototypesetter, and design-ing basic ad layout. Art Prillaman also completed a short observing internship for the Good Morning Show at WFMY, Channel 2, in WGGT, WXII, and WFMY do not offer an extended time for internships as does WGHP-TV in High Point for news and production. Students at these businesses must split the semester time among the three but will receive a much wider exposure to different production and news formats

This past fall semester.

the following students com-pleted their internships: Lisa Davido (WGLD/ WOKX), Greg Fox and Tana Parker in news (WGHP-TV), and Delbert Hickman (production, WGHP-TV)

The media businesses used in the past will still be available to students, par-ticularly WGHP-TV which has been most cooperative in the intern program. Because of the increasing number of majors and the solid reputation of the Communications program, many of the other media businesses are becoming aware of High Point College and are beginning to participate in the internship program.

Students planning to intern summer or fall of 1983 should contact Dr. Leleeuw before February 28.

JANE MACCANNELL, Communications intern at WGGT-TV, Channel 48, concentrates on her job. (Photo by Dr. W.L.

Four greas covered

Task Force studies underway

BY TABBIE NANCE Staff Write

Four areas have been chosen by President Lucht for the 1983 Task Force for Advancement to study. These areas are ad-ministrative evaluation, community and college relations, space utilization, and long range planning.

According to Dr. Head, who chairs this year's Task Force, the Task Force divided into sub-committees to address each area. After each area had been studied, the Task Force summarized the reports from the subcommittees and sent these, along with recommendations, to Lucht.

Reports on the administrative evaluation and community and college relations have already been turned in to Lucht. The subcommittee committee on ad-ministrative evaluation interviewed all administration members and learned that the faculty would like to be evaluated. From this a committee was formed and are seeking help in this evalua-tion process from a consul-

A community out-reach committee was formed bas-ed on the findings of the community and college relations sub-committee. The reason, Head said, was to have a central focus on events that are community and college oriented.

After studying all the space on campus, the space utilization sub-committee drew up a set of recommendations for the Task Force. The Force sent a copy of these recommendations and a questionnaire to department heads to get their reactions. Based on the replies, the Task Force recommended that Lucht use the report as background material and consider making changes in phases. "Space utilization is a very complex problem, Head said. "My personal feelings are that this study should be considered and used as background information. I feel a professional consultant should be hired to study the situation. In long-range planning, the Force adopted a plan bsed on a workshop attended by Mr. Bulla, past head of Financial Affairs. This includes a method and time frame for long-range planning on a small campus and setting up a council for longrange planning. At this time, Lucht is in the process of setting up such a council.

DR. CAROLE HEAD

MICHAEL CONLEY (L), Vice President and Gen. Manager of WFMY·TV, and David Hedrick, Art Director display a stat machine donated to the HPC Communications pron. The machine will allow art and layouts to be reduced or enlarged. (Photo by Dr.

The Hi-Po is distributed on campus by Alpha Phi Omega, a National Service fraternity. This is the fifth year they have provided this service.

Hi-Po Staff

Features Editor ..... Karla Green

Reporters ..... Karen Hernandez,

Terri Livingston Tabbie Nance, Tana Parker, Michael Pisano

Bob Rossi Marisa Firpi, Bill Johnson, Photographers .

Karen Hernandez

Speaking of books. . .

BY KARLA GREEN Features Editor

Everyone is talking about Book Talks. "Book Talks" have become a very successful event at High Point College. According to Mrs. Charles Lucht, who was one of the originators of the programs, the book talks are a review of current books. The reviews are presented by a different speaker for each program. The programs not only present a book but also an entire program with visuals and refreshments from the on Sundays at announced dates at 3 p.m.

"Book Talks" began out of interest shown by Mrs. Lucht and some other members of the High Point Twentieth Century Study Club. Mrs. Lucht said that the idea originated "in view of the new library going up on campus." The idea of reviewing books on campus also "brings the community on campus and acquaints them with the college and its staff."

period represented. The programs are held

"Book Talks" programs are put together by a committee which helps choose the book to review, the speaker, the program format and what visuals and refreshments will be according to Mrs. Lucht, different community and campus persons are chosen to serve on these committees which change with each program. The committee chairperson is Mrs. Joseph Hayworth, who serves as a "liason with the community." according to Mrs. Lucht.

Some of the people serving on the committees in the past have included Mrs. George Lyles, Mrs. Leonard Cashion, Mr. Raiford Porter, Dr. Edward Piacentino, Dr. James Stitt, and Mr. Paul Lundrigan. Mrs. Lucht also said that the Wrenn Library staff serves on each program setting up the visuals and the refreshments.

The first "Book Talk" presented a program of Russian literature with refreshments russian tea and "imitation caviar" according to Mrs. Lucht, who was asked to be the first of the speakers for the talks

"I was asked to review a Russian spy novel entitled "Gorky Park". According to Mrs. Lucht, Ms. Shirley Rawley, head of the English department, also spoke on "Criminology in Russian Literature." Lucht said that there were about 60 people in attendance for the first program which was held at Wrenn Library. On Oct. 2, Dr. Carole Head presented "The Last Unicorn." This is a fantasy novel which was recently made into an animated movie. According to Mrs. Lucht, over 100 people attended this second program and it had to be moved into the second floor of the Campus Center where they are currently held.

Mrs. Lucht said this particular program was "very well received" and said the visuals were 'the best so far." Dr. Head used two medieval tapestries from her own personal collection which displayed unicorns as the theme of the program, according to Mrs. Lucht. Mrs. Lucht said that many of those attending this program brought unicorn paraphenalia from home.

Dr. James Stitt presented "The Murder of Appoleon" for the next program with an increasing audience of 120 people. Refreshments were french biscuits and visuals included a display of books from the Napoleon era. As the popularity of "Book Talks" continued to increase, Dr. Stitt was asked to present this talk again at Westchester Academy.

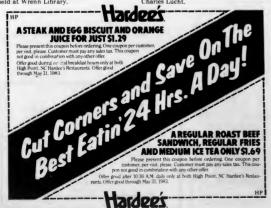

According to Mrs. Lucht, most of the people who have attended the programs so far have been community and faculty from HPC. However, Mrs. Lucht said that "students are welcome to attend."

She said "many of those who attend are donators and supporters of the college" and they "enjoy intermixing with the college students faculty, and administrators."

Lucht also said the reasons for choosing speakers from the different departments such as English, Foreign Language, History and Art was to familiarize the community with the faculty. According to Lucht, future programs will serve to introduce all faculty to the High Point Community.

The upcoming "Book Talk" will be presented by another member of the HPC faculty. Mr. Raiford Porter will be the speaker for the March 20 review. His topic will be announced at a later date. According to Porter, he is considering speaking on the subject of art investments in today's society, calling his topic "Wall Street Art."

The programs are announced in newsletters sent out to various book clubs and community people who have attended past programs. This semesters programs with the talk "Heroines in Shakespeare" to be presented on May 1 at 3 p.m. by the President of the College, Dr. Charles Lucht.

As spring approaches...

SPRING IS HERE...or at least this squirrel seems to think so, as he basks in the sunshine. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

******

The Southwestern Company is already hiring students for

SUMMER JOBS

in its 115th year of operation.
Our sales & management training program is perhaps the best in the nation, and our students last year average nearly $4000 in summer earnings. For information write:

SUMMER JOBS, Box 11202, Winston-Salem, N.C. 27106

HPC Community TV to broadcast in March

BILL SLEDGE, station director of HPC Community TV. works diligently with the station's equipment. (Photo by Marisa Firo)

HPC Community TV will begin broadcasting March 22 after spring break. In the fall, students in English 142, TV Practicum, taped the dress rehearsal of "Gresset" by High Point Community Theatre. By permission of Sharon Robinson, Manager of the Theatre group, HPC Community TV was allowed to edit selected songs for a half-hour program. This half-hour program will be aired along with half-hour programs of selected student reports from English 140, Introduction to Mass Media.

Last spring, HPC TV made its debut with six halfhour programs advertising the programs of the College. Over the summer, twelve half-hour programs for a onehour course in religion were taped and edited. Religion 83, Christian Denomina-tions, was the first college credit course aired by the College over Cable Channel 19. This spring will mark the airing of the first program of a community event. Programs are limited somewhat on this public-access channel because of restricted editing facilities, but WXII-TV Channel 12, and WFMY-TV Channel 2, have been cooperative in allowing use of their editing and titling facilities.

Programs will be aired three times a week - on Tue-day and Thursday after-noons from 4-5 p.m. and Wednesday evenings from 7-8 p.m. The edited version of "Grease" will air the first half hour.

At other times of the day, public service an nouncements will be aired on the screen. Any campus organization can send a public service announcement to Cablevision of High Point-Jamestown two weeks before the event, but all announcements must concern an event to which the public or the community is invited.

Featured on the half-hour programs of Media Topics will be Communications majors Mary Gagner, Bob Rossi, Brent Holshauser, and Lisa Davido who taped 10-minute reports for English 140, fall, 1982. Other majors in English 140 in the CAEP PAEDA program will also be presenting reports. The last two weeks in April, interviews with CAEP students at High Point College will be featured.

lege will be featured. HPC TV plans to tape selected portions of the college presentation of "Godspell" on Wednesday, March 23. The program may be edited in time for airing in the summer or fall, 1983.

In addition to working on this basic programming, students in English 142, TV Practicum have been working on the Senior Job Placement Prospectus, compiling material on the Communications major for an admissions mailing, talking with visiting prospective students, and preparing the studio set for production work in English 354. Broadcast Production. Current members in the practicum include Bill Sledge (Station Director), Glenn Groseclose, Karen Hernandez, Brent Holshauser, William Holshauser, William Johnson, Terrance Lomax, Jerry Min, Art Prillman, Janet Temple, Craig Vansteenburgh, Anthony Watson, and Chris Heenan.

HPC Community TV is available on Tier II to approximately 8,000 subscribers. Cablevision of High Point allocated the use of this public-access channel to High Point College for programs of community in-

See TV, p. 8

Homecoming blends old, new

BY TANA PARKER Staff Writer

Old faces, renewed acquaintances and memories were shared when High Point College celebrated its 59th Homecoming, Despite the snowy weather, the alumni who returned were greeted by banners and open houses.

The weather did not stop any of the activities though. HPC students, faculty and alumni "rocked" the Top of the Mart to the music by "The Hollywood Brats" on Friday night. To help avoid any accidents on the icy roads, the Student Government Association sponsored a shuttle bus service for students to take to and from the dance.

On Saturday afternoon, students and faculty showed their "semi-professional" talent in the First Annual Hi-Pro Show. The nine acts provided a good source of entertainment, ranging from six "Ugly Girls" to singers and piano players. The team of Irene Tivald and Anthony Jenkins won first place. They sang "It's Over" and "With You I'm Born Again," as Jenkins played the piano. Deborah Shaver was first runner-up She played the piano and sang "Wandering Stranger." Second runner-up, John Higgins, made some of the audience shed a tear as he sang "One in a Million" and "Even Now."

The alumni and 1983 Homecoming Court members enjoyed a Pig-Pickin dinner Saturday in the Campus Center while Anna Brady and Deborah Shaver entertained.

At 6:00 p.m., the Lady Panthers hosted the Guilford Quakers. During half-time, the eight court members were introduced. The Lady Panthers showed their dominance with a final score of 72-68.

Immediately following the game, excitement flared as the 1983 Homecoming Queen was crowned. The queen, representing Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity, was Kathleen Schaefer. Lynn Fortaleza and Deborah Shaver, were first and second runner-up, respectively.

The men kept the crown going as they also battled the Quakers. During the men's half-time, three previous Homecoming Queens were recognized and awards were given out. The Phi Mu's, all in their 'pink' shirts, won the Spirit Stick Award again. The annual Rowdy Crowdy Award went to the Alpha Phi Omega service Fraternity. All the organizations showed their artistic ability by making banners, but the Alpha Gamma Deltas had that extra touch to win the Banner Award.

The men defeated the Quakers 82-79.

Denise Watts, vicepresident of SGA, who is in charge of Homecoming, said this was one of the most successful

Fowler featured at Finch Lectures

The Finch Lectures, an annual event held in conjunction with Ministers' Appreciation Day, features Dr. James W. Fowler as guest lecturer.

Ministers' Appreciation Day starts today at 11 a.m. in the Charles E. Hayworth, Sr. Memorial Chapel. According to information provided by the HPC department of Religion and Philosophy, Fowler will speak there on "Stages of Faith and the Evangelization of Children."

Following the lecture, ministers and guests will have lunch and presume with more lectures by Fowler at 1:15 p.m. in the Campus Center.

Ministers' Appreciation Day will conclude with a lecture by Fowler in the chapel at 7:30 p.m. The topic is "Covenant and Calling: Adult Development and Christian Vocation."

Fowler, a native North Carolinian, is a professor of theology and human development in the Candler School of Theology at Emory University in Atlanta. He has held the following positions during his profes sional career: associate pro fessor of theology and human development at Boston College; associate professor of applied theology at Harvard Divinity School; assistant pro-fessor and chairperson of Harvard Divinity School's Department of the Church; Director of Continuing Education and Lecturer in that same department; and associate director at the Interpreter's House in Lake Junaluska, North Carolina.

Ellington's Florist

889-4748
Specializing in cut flower arrangements,
corsoges, and boutonnieres.
Friday Flowers — $3.00
FREE DELIVERY TO
HIGH POINT COLLEGE

Call for Daily Specials 882-2919

1616 N. Main St. Mon-Thur 11-11 High Point Fri & Sat 11-Midnight CLOSED SUNDAY

Defeat Quakers, 82-79

Panther cagers take Homecoming win over Guilford

BY MARK PHELPS Sports Editor

After being beaten by Guilford on two previous occasions this season, the High Point Men's basketball team gained revenge on Homecoming as it defeated the Quakers 82-79 for the victory. The Panthers, which were led by Danny Murphy's five three-point shots, combined this win with two losses during the week to increase their record to 6-15 overall. 3-9 in conference play

In the Guilford win, High Point held a 77-67 lead with 2:17 left to play and it look-ed like the Panthers had a win sewn up. Guilford, though, had other ideas as they rallied to score the next seven points. With the lead only three, Murphy went to the line and hit one of two foul shots. The Quakers responded with a follow shot to make the score 80-78.

With 16 seconds left, John Hamilton was fouled but missed the front end of a one-and-one. Freshman Jim Hoffman fouled Quaker forward Darryl Dozier on the rebound, and he went to the line with 14 seconds left.

Dozier made his first free throw to bring his team within one, but missed the second and Robert Hudson grabbed the rebound. With only eight seconds remaining, Murphy was fouled and sank both free throws to insure the win.

Murphy, who hit for a season-high 27 points, had previously made a 25-foot three-pointer at the buzzer in the first half to give the Panthers monentum and an eight point halftime lead.

For the game, High Point shot 50 percent from the field and hit on 24 of 34 foul shots. Two freshmen, Hoffman and Terry Samuels, scored 13 and 12 points respectively. Mike Everette also added 12.

On Wednesday night, High Point dropped a nar-row loss to Pfeiffer, 68-67 Four Panthers accounted for 57 of the teams points in the losing effort. Hoffman continued his torrid scoring pace as he led High Point with 16 points. Everette and Murphy each hit for 15 while Jimmy Robertson scored 11.

On Saturday night, Elon outscored the Panthers to take a 83-77 conference win. The Christians hit more three-point shots than twopointers as they converted 14 or their attempts. Both Mel Melton and Steve Page made six three-pointers, Melton leading Elon scorers with 26 points

Murphy led HPC with 27 points and was able to convert three three-pointers. Hoffman again played well and added 16 points.

n Point College

Page 6 - HI-PO - Wednesday, February 23, 1983

SPORTS

HPC runners take fourth in Lynchburg relays

BY DON WILBORNE

High Point College's track team finished fourth in the seven-team Lynchburg relays on Sat., Feb. 19.

The Panthers finished with 28 point. Christopher Newport won the meet with 54, followed by Lynchburg with 361/2, Francis Marion with 31, High Point with 28, Roanoke Bridgewater with 161/2 and Emory with nine.

Coach Bob Davidson's crew took four first places. Ralph Barnes took individual honors in the triple jump, setting a meet record with a leap of 46'3". Jack Songster won the high jump with 6'4", and two relay teams won. The 880 relay team of Kent Sides, Barnes, John Richardson, and Ian Lewis won in 1:36.8, and the triple jump relay team of Barnes, Songster and Angelo Stewart also won.

Second place finished for the Panthers included the sprint medley relay team of Lewis, Stewart, Richardson, and Mike Duffy and the 440 relay team of Sides, Barnes, Richardson and Lewis.

This meet concludes the Panther indoor season. The team's next challenge will be at Campbell College on March 15, followed by their first home meet on March 17, hosting Towson State and J.C. Smith.

RALPH BARNES set a triple-jump record at the recent Lynchburg relays. (Photo provided by Don Wilborne)

Netters' veteran lineup looks solid

BY MARK PHELPS

Sports Editor
For coach Dr. Charlie Futrell's men's tennis team. the upcoming season looks very promising. The squad has a nucleus of starters from last year's team which finished third in the conference and fourth in the

"We have some people back so we should be strong all the way through the lineup," coach Futrell said. "That is something we haven't had in the last few

Senior Jim Holleran, the defending conference cham-pion, will be playing in the number one position. He was named as an academic All-American last year.

Playing at the no. 2 position will be sophomore Pekka Makela of Finland. He, like Holleran, was a semi-finalist in the district last season in singles.

There will be a battle for positions 3, 4, and 5 between sophomore Matt Lange, sophomore Sami Narhi of Finland, and senior Griff

We could play any of the top five players at the first position and would not be hurt because there is not a lot of difference in skill among them," revealed coach Futrell. "We probably will do some switching around throughout the season '

There will be several players competing for the no. 6 position. These can-didates are freshman Roy

Heilbron, sophomore Kevin West, a transfer student from Florida, and freshman Francisco Bloch from Bolivia

Sophomore Clint Osborne played the sixth position last season, but he has been hindered with back problems recently and cannot play right now. Senior Greg Fox, who also played last year, has been unable to practice much because of his job. Osborne has been the only player on the team who has suffered an injury.

High Point will face 25-game schedule tough which includes such bigname colleges as Wake Forest, N.C. State, Virginia Tech, and West Virginia. The season gets underway with the Panthers traveling to conference-rival Wingate on January 24 and coach Futrell gave his feelings on the Carolina's Conference

"I think Atlantic-Christian is the favorite to

MEN'S TENNIS SCHEDULE

- 24 at Wingate at Wake Forest 2 Winthrop
- at N.C. State 15 at Elon
- 17 Appalachian 18 at Catawba 19 Wingate
- 20 Virginia Tech 22 at Guilford
- 23 at Pembroke East
- Stroudsburg West Virginia UNC-Asheville
- 28 at Pheiffer

win the conference cham-pionship this year. Guilford and we ought to battle for second place, although, if we play well, we could surprise

Atlantic-Christian,

- Apr. 5 Pheiffer Atlantic
  - Christian 8 CAROLINAS CONE TOURN.
  - 9 CAROLINAS TOURN.
  - 12 St. Augustine's 13 at Appalachian 15 at Campbell 16 at UNC-Wilmington

  - 18 Greensboro
  - at Belmont

Abbey 22-25 DISTRICT 26

Parcher cogest take Hornecening win over Guillerd

Harton Colege SPORTS

HPC runness tohe fourth in Lynchburg relays

Netters' veteran lineap looks solid

THE RESERVE AND THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN TWO IS NOT THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN TWO IS NAM

THE THE

Speight looks for banner year in '83

BY BOB ROSSI

Sports Writer
High Point College
baseball coach Jim Speight forsees this year's Panther team going all the way, provided they can strengthen the infield and put the ball over the plate.

After a trip to the Area finals, a District 26 title last year, and a 29-13 record, Speight sees little reason not to match or surpass the team's record of a year ago.

Despite the loss of three outstanding infelders in Neil Van Asch (.335, 17 HRS), Ken Carter (.382, 23 rbi), Bob Hearon (.299, 47 rbi), and starting pitcher Tony Moody (9-3), Speight feels he can compensate for this by "Making do with what we have and what we have is someting we can make do with pretty good."

Pitching can be a major factor in the success of this year's Panther team if control problems are eliminated.

Leading the staff is All-District senior lefthander Craig Humbert (8-1, 1.59) and junior righthander Andy Dupree (4-2, 3.56). As for the remaining pitchers, Speight says he'll "Flip a coin," to determine the rest of the rotation. Returning righthanders Barry Tilley (1-1, 4.19), Danny Mizell (5-2), transfers Jim Scott, from Montgomery C.C. (Md.), Jeff Collins, from Pasco-Hernando C.C. (Fla.), and freshman Rick Thompson are battling for the other open spots.

Regardless of who gets the jobs, the Panthers have excellent pitching depth which is a plus down the stretch and for late-inning relief.

Catching is a solid plus with the return of AllConference catcher Stan Crews (276, 2 HRS, 28 rbi), who Speight calls, "The best catcher I've ever had." Behind Crews is junior transfer Lee Whitney from Ferrum J.C. (Va.), who is hitting well this, spring and should see plenty of action behind the plate as designated hitter or in the outfield.

The infield is solid at first base and shortstop but second and third base are giving Speight some concern. "I do have some concern about second and third right now in that I haven't made up my mind who's gonna be star-

Andy Dupree starts at first when he's not pitching. Keith Rowand, a freshman, or Craig Humbert will play first when Dupree is on the Second base is up for grabs by sophomore Bob Barra, and juniors Mike Hornisk and Jim Sprinkle.

Shortstop belongs to senior Mike Pisano (274, 23 rbi), who Speight calls, rbi), who Speight calls, the best defensive player in the conference. Pisano could see a professional career in his future if he swings the bat with some authority this season.

Junior Ronnie Lucas, sophomores Doug Shields and Rodney Speas, and freshman Mark Barnes are battling for the starting role at third base.

The outfield is returning strong with Charlie Waynick (.339), John Carty (.258), Mike Russell (.254), Steve "Weed" Furman (.193), Darrell Barber and freshman Neal Wilbourne.

Speight sees the thirtytwo man Panther team strong up-the-middle, in pitching depth and bench strength.

Names to look for in '83 are senior catcher Stan Crews, junior outfielder Charlie Waynick, senior shortstop Mike Pisano and junior Andy Dupree, who

Feb. 23 Gardner-Webb

7:30

Feb. 21 at Radford, Va.

7:30

Backethall:

IN RECENT BASEBALL ACTION, a HPC player runs toward the base as ASU player jumps for the ball. (Photo by Marisa Firoi)

Speight says will see more action this year than he's ever seen before. "His bat will be in the lineup at all times and I'd be very surprised if he doesn't hit .350", said Speight.

The official season opens Saturday, February 26, at home against Virginia Tech. Sunday, February 27, takes the team to Duke and they return home on Monday for a doubleheader against Sus-return home on Monday for a doubleheader against Susquehanna. The Panthers will play a 42-game schedule in '83, with thirty of those games being played at High Point College. There is a period of twenty-one consecutive games at home during the middle of the season. Coach Speight feels that this twenty-one game homestand will not have too much of a bear on the season, as the Panthers have had a tendency to play better on the road in recent vears.

Providing the Panthers' pitching is under control and the infield holes are filled adequately, look for High Point to be right in the thick of things this spring.

Intramurals

Basketball concludes

BY MICHAEL PISANO Sports Writer

The men's intramural basketball "A'" league wound up their regular season games last week and start an eight team double elimination playoff tournament this week with the Lambda Chi "A" team as the number one seed.

Other strong contenders are Team X and the Pika "A" team.

The B league regular season will wind up this week and playoffs will begin at the beginning of next week. The strong teams in the "B" league are the Mc-Cullochs and Team XII, followed by the Delta Sig "B" team.

Intramural Bowling is in its third week of competition with many of the teams vying for the first place posi-

The basketball games begin at 7 p.m. and 8:15 p.m. at Harrison Hall. The bowling teams roll on Tuesday and Thursday nights at 9:30 at High Point Lanes.

Men Feb. 24 at Wingate 2:00 Feb. 28 at Wake Forest

Women Feb. 26 at Appalachian State 12:00

Baseball

Feb. 26 Virginia Tech 2:00 Feb. 27 at Duke 2:00 Feb. 28 Susquehanna 1:00

CHEERS!
Opening Scon

featuring new lighting and Sound Systems • Backgammon Tables • Dart Boards • Updated Video Arcade

CHEERS!

formerly Scarlett O'Hara's

(only the name has been changed)

Strictly Classified

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad, type the ad double-spaced and turn it in to the H1-PO by Friday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ads turned in after this deadline will be held until the next issue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no designation, the ad will run for only one week.

Announcements

Seniors, don't forget to get your Placement Packets.

Employment applications for summer camps are available in the Career Planning Office.

The High Point Parks and Recreation Department is

The High Point Parks and Recreation Department is accepting applications for summer lifeguard positions. See the Career Planning Office for more information.

****

Following are dates for on-campus interviews: Feb. 24 - First Citizens Bank Sign up for appointments in the Student Life Office.

The following on-campus interviews will be conducted during March. (Students may sign up for these inter-during March: (Students may sign up for these interviews in the Career Planning office).

March 2 -- Radio Shack

March 2 -- Radio Shack will be interviewing for store managers and computer

March 17 - Milliken Textiles will be interviewing for production managers; a background in chemistry is stressed. Discount tickets to all Martin Movie Theaters are available in the Career Planning Office Monday Wednesday and Friday from 1-5. The cost is $2.00 per ticket and they are good through May 1983.

ATTENTION: loan reci-

pients:

Those who have borrowed from College Foundation must attend a borrower's conference that will be held on April 7, 1983 at 3:15 or 4:15 p.m. in the Campus Center Conference room. Attendance is mandatory.

*****

$2 HPC student discounts are available for attractions at the High Point Theatre. Coupons are available on the Bulletin Board, upstairs in the Fine Arts Building/ Memorial Auditorium.

*****

All students planning to enroll in SCIP for summer or fall, 1983, need to sign the sheet on the Bulletin Board before February 28. There will be a general explanatory meeting on Monday, February 28, at 2:30 p.m. in Cooke 23. Any other majors are encouraged to attend for an explanation of procedures for the internshin.

*****

Theta Chi Bong Show applications now available. Pick up applications from any Theta Chi (2nd floor Millis). They must be turned in by April 1. The show is on April 8. All types of talent welcome. There will be more information later.

The Piedmont Artists Spring 1983 Concert Series continues on Monday, March 7 with a performance by the Piedmont Artists Trio. Flutist Linda Brown, violinist Betty Fouts and violoncellist Charles Medlin will present their concert beginning at 8:00 p.m. in the Chas. E. Hayworth, Sr. Memorial Chapel on the campus of High Point College. For ticket information, contact the Piedmont Ar#### tists at 889-1183 in High Point.

Services

Typing done on campus. Reasonable rates. Call Tabbie -- 889-9814.

BUTTONS!! Do you have a special picture, saying, logo, etc. you would like on a 2½" button? If so, call Tabbie - 889-9814. Reasonable prices.

*****

FOR SALE: 1982 Honda Prelude. Low mileage, great gas mileage, power surroofmoonroof, automatic transmission, am/fm cassette stereo, power steering/power brakes. Asking 93300, Call 869-0223. Ask for Colleen Neider.

Employment

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-MENT:

TITLE: Stock clerk and bag boys, experienced

CONTACT: Mr. Wyatt ADDRESS: Big Star Food Store -- corner of Montlieu and Main, apply in person

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-MENT TITLE: Radio Air

TITLE: Radio Air Talent/Commercial Production

DISCRIPTION: Regular Airshift, heavy commercial production, occasional public appearances, other tasks (Radio experience needed).

FULL-TIME

CONTACT: Ed Owens at WGLD

ADDRESS: P.O. Box 2808, High Point, N.C. 27262, Phone (919) 869-0101 Send resume and air checks

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOYMENT

TITLE: Radio personality DESCRIPTION: Regular Airshift, commercial production, third class license needed and understanding of FCC.

FULL-TIME CONTACT: Mike Finley, Operations Manager ADDRESS: WYYD Radio, P.O. Box 12526, Raleigh, N.C. 27605

N.C. 27605 PHONE: 919-851-2711 Send resume and airchecks OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOYMENT:

TITLE: Southern Furniture Market

DESCRIPTION: Six students per shift to work Southern Furniture Market (April 14-18), handing out newspaper for Professional Furniture Merchant

HOURS: Shifts are 8:30 a.m. -12:30 a.m. and 12:30-4:30 p.m. at $4 hour. Students are to be neat, pleasant and willing to do the right job.

CONTACT: Sign up in Student Life office between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Off-campus employment: Title: Delivery person Description: Make general deliveries around town and will pick up items. Involves deliveries around town and will pick up items. Involves lifting and moving fairly heavy and bulky items. Must have station wagon or small truck. Hours: Part-time, flexible

Salary: Minimum wage Contact: Receptionist, Edward Ferrell Limited Address: 318 N. Wrenn St., High Point, N.C.

Phone: 885-1149
*Please identify yourself as a High Point College stu-

a High Point College student.

Off-campus employment: Title: Water Safety instructor

Description: Must be qualified instructor with some experience.

Hours: Part-time
Contact: Sherri Hill,
Thomasville YMCA,
Mendenhall St.,
Thomasville, N.C.
Phone: 475-6125

IRS seeks qualified applicants

The following is a letter sent to Michael Pittman by the Internal Revenue Service:

"We are recruiting to fill several Revenue Officer positions and since the Professional and Administrative Careers Examination has been abolished, we have been authorized to accept applications directly from qualified persons.

If you have six to eight 1982 graduates who are still seeking er-ployment, we would be pleased to receive their applications. We are enclosing a supply of the forms that each applicant should complete. The application must be received by February 21, 1983, in order for the person to be considered. We are also enclosing a brief description of the duties of a Revenue Officer.

We prefer Business Administration majors with strong academic records; those with 3.0 averages will be given priority consideration. Accounting is not a requirement.

The positions will be located in various locations throughout North Carolina with the possibility of relocation after approximately one year of training. It is unlikely that any positions will be filled in the Greensboro area."

Applications are available in the Career Planning Office.

VALUABLE

20% DISCOUNT

HIGH POINT COLLEGE STUDENTS
Good on all Hair Care Services for Gals & Guys
...except Advertised Specials. Please persent college I.D.

Westchester Mall 880:1149

SERVICES
PROJECTION

PRO

cont. from p. 5

terest, particularly the performing arts and any other organizations which could not afford paid time on commercial television.

The TV Lab will be open on Tuesday and Thursday from 4-5 beginning March 22 and through April 28 for viewing of the programs. Although cable extensions are available in the Campus Center, none of them as of yet have Tier II because of viewing restrictions by American Telecommunications Corporation, the parent company of High Point Cablevision and the owners of HBO and Cinemax.

551 S. Mendenhall Street, Greensboro Rock - Country - Jazz - Classical - Soul LPs & Taj es 45s - Blank Tapes - Accessories Open Daily - Mon. Fri. 'ti. 9:0 Listen for Less 275-1226

*****

High Point College's

"Working for a better informed campus"

High Point, N.C. 27262

Vol. 55

Issue 13

March 2, 1983 Basketball, p. 6

INSIDE

Infirmary, p. 4

Few damages, no casualties

Arson suspected in McColloch fires

BY LEWIS WHELESS Associate Editor

Arson is suspected in two small fires that caused minor damage in the third floor lounge and bathroom of McCulloch Dormitory at 6 a.m. Saturday, according to Ed Cannady, Director of Public Safety at High Point College.

"We (the safety office) have suspects" who are under investigation for setting the first, Cannady said. He did not specify whether or not the suspects are estudent of the salters.

of not the college.

Cannady said the fires caused "very minor" damages because two dorm residents detected the fires before they spread. Damage includes the loss of a towel and the charring of a wall and part of a wooden stall.

Mark Cunningham, a Mc-Culloch resident, heard the sound of a smoke alarm around 6 a.m. Saturday and discovered a fire in the lounge. He then ran to the room of a resident assistant, Keith Pierre, for help.

According to Pierre, he ran to the lounge and extinguished the flames "by beating them with this) bare hands. I used what was there (to put out the fire), and what was there was me."

Upon returning to his room to call the security office, Pierre heard a second alarm nearby. He then discovered a towel burning on a wooden stall in the bathroom. He extinguished this fire by pulling the towel off the rack and stomping on the flames. "It was Mark's alertness" and Pierre's actions that stopped the spread of the fires, said Pierre.

"After putting the fires out, I pulled the alarm down and ran out and down the length tof the building," Pierre said 'Pierre said 'Pierre said' exevacuate the building, "I guess they figured it (the alarm) was a prank." he said. Pierre cut off the alarm after making sure the fires were out. Fire fighters were not dispatched to the scene, but fire officials are investigating to determine the cause of the fires.

"Thanks to the college's investment in fire alarms and smoke detectors," the fire caused very little damage and, "at the bottom line, no loss of life," Cannady said.

Cannady attributed the work of Cunningham and Pierre to the brevity of the fire. "They did a fantastic job (in extinguishing the fire)," Cannady commented.

McCOLLOUCH LOUNGE was the site of a small fire Saturday, Feb. 26. Scott Williams, one of the two janitors at McColloch dorm, cleans up. (Photo by Marisa Firpi.)

After months of stake-outs

Suspect arrested in six cases

BY CRYSTAL L. HEDGECOCK Editor-in-Chief

Following months of stake-outs, police arrested Douglas Ray Honeycutt as a suspect in six indecent exposure cases on the High Point College campus.

The arrest occurred Feb. 22, after Campus Security officer Ginger Foy observed a white male peep into three different windows in the courtyard area, Mr. Ed Cannady, director of Public Safety at HPC said.

According to Cannady, Officer Foy was on stake-out duty when she observed the suspect. The stake-outs began last semester after the first case if indecent exposure was reported on campus. Within three to four weeks of that first report, four other cases were also reported, Cannady said one other case of indecent exposure and several peeping tom cases have been reported this semester.

When Foy observed the male, she approached him and identified herself, Cannady said. She asked him his name and he said "Honeycutt." She told him she had seen what he was doing and used her radio to call the High Point Police.

ED CANNADY

According to Cannady, Honeycutt ran as the police cars were enroute towards the tennis courts. Cannady said he arrived at the scene at the same time the police did.

At this same time, a black '73 Monte Carlo was discovered in Belk parking lot. The car was identified as belonging to Honeycutt, Cannady said. The College impounded the vehicle pending the subject's arrest.

Honeycutt got away and according to Cannady, the subject went to the Magistrate's office and turned himself in Officer Foy signed a warrant for the arrest of Honeycutt and the High Point Police added three additional warrants. Six HPC female victims positively identified Honeycutt's photograph out of a group of seven, Cannady said.

Honeycutt posted his own $1000 bond and was releas-

"I would like to commend all of our officers and the High Point Police for a fine job," Cannady said in reference to Honeycut's ar-

Cannady also said "Even though we feel this person is responsible for all the indecent exposure activity and peeping tom cases, we have not stopped staking out and patroling Women's dorm."

A court date has been set for April 8, Cannady said.

Tuition posted

BY LEWIS WHELESS

The 1983-84 tuition rates have been announced recently by the college. The new rates were approved at an October, 1982 Board of Directors meeting, according to Mrs. Ethylene Charnock, Secretary in the Financial Affairs office.

Tuition rates will be increased to $3300 per year. a $300 increase over 1982-83 rates.
Board prices will also be increased, from $1000 to $1100. Room rates are being increased as well. Fees (general, Campus Center and Student Activity), however, will remain at the 1982-83 level.

Following is a list of the new tuition rates

	1982-83	1983-84
Tuition	$3000	$3300
General Fee	100	100
Campus Center	90	90
Student Activity Fee	60	60
Commuter		$3550
Infirmary	80	90
*Board	1000	1100
*Room
McCulloch Womans,
Wesley	410	435
North, Yadkin,
Houses	500	535
Millis	520	570
Belk	600	675
*Board and Room Cha	rges are su	biect to change at any time with	out notice.
Private Room Charge -	$125.00 ac	ditional per semester.

Editorials

Fire alert goes unnoticed

What happened to the little boy who cried wolf? Did the wolf eat him? No! He burned up in McColloch dorm.

Such could have been the case when all, but a few, slept through the fire alarm that went off Saturday around 7 a.m. What possesses a person to hear a fire alarm and not react? Is the apathy (there's that word again) towards fire drills so prevalent that one chooses to ignore rather than react to an element as dangerous as fire? Have there been so many false alarms in the past that one naturally assumes another is taking place when the alarm is heard? This could be true, but why risk life by not finding out for sure?

The fire officer investigating the fire said, "The apathy problem that occurred when the fire alarm was pulled is serious. If it (the fire) had been more serious, the Nation would have known about it - the fire could have spread up and down the hall and many could have died."

Fortunately, the fire was very small and easily extinguishable, but that may not be the case the next time. The conditions of McColloch dorn are not conducive to fire safety. Persons living there should be especially sensitive to fire hazards and fire prevention. One type of fire prevention is fire drills. When taken seriously, they offer practice escapes from a serious situation. Ideally, Saturday morning each person should have gotten out of bed and filled slowly outside and away from the building. Instead, all, except the few who got up, rolled over in bed and left their fates to the blaze.

CRYSTAL L. HEDGECOCK

The Hi-Po is distributed on campus by Alpha Phi Omega, a National Service fraternity. This is the fifth year they have provided this service.

Crystal L. Hedgecock	Editor-in-Chief
Lewis Wheless
Scott Morgan	Advertising and
	Business Manager
Mark Phelps	Sporte Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO.

The HI-PG welcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed, and an address must be included. If warranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as seen necessary.

ROMEMBER THE GOOD OLD DAYS WHEN WE HAD TO SMOKE CHARETTES AND EAT SACCHARIN?

Ruminations

Injustice' describes reaction to Watergate security officer verdict

"Ruminations" is a new column of the Hi-Po editoral page. The column will strive to comment on novel, interesting and noted events around the campus, community and nation.

It is somehow an injustice that the very man who discovered the Watergate break-in is now being sent to the penitentiary for a longer period of time than any of the men who carried out a conspiracy against the whole U.S. of A. Frank Wills, the semi-famous security guard who noticed tampering in the Watergte office building in 1972, lifted a twelve-buck pair of tennis shoes from a department store recently. How he's been sent to prison for a year. The maximum amount of time served by any of the Watergate conspiratiors was six months. Justice? Hardly.

Another injustice that has come about recently is the closing down of the 4077th. M*A*S*H has departed to syndication paradiae, it seems. Millions of people became caught up in the hoopla Monday night as the last episode of the immensely popular t.v. show was aired. And a lot of tears were running down a lot of cheeks around the country (and world?) as T.V. audiences said goodbye to Hawkeye, B.J., Hot Lips and Klinger. After 10 years of superb programming, M*A*S*H created quite an impression on the tube. Goodbye to the 4077th..so long to tolerable television.

The last remnants of winter have been hanging around a lot this week, but warmer temps are bound to be on the way. Make it a great spring break, and get in gear for the last few months of the semester-summer vacation is just 1354 hours away!

P. Lewis Wheless, Associate Editor

Spring break begins Fri., Mar. 4 at 5 p.m.,

Dorms close at 5 p.m. Fri. and will reopen Sun., Mar. 13 at noon.

Rodriguez joins Foreign Language Department

BY BOB ROSSI Staff Writer

Anne Rodriguez is High Point College's newest addition to the Spanish program of its Foreign Language Department.

The New Jersey native

has been instructing at the college since January when Dr. Frances S. Hoch accepted a position with the state department of educa-

Mrs Rodriguez is entering her sixteenth year of teaching and her third year as a college instructor.

The list of schools which she has instructed at before joining High Point College is an extensive one: Indiana University, South Bend, In-diana; St. Mary's College, Notre Dame, Indiana; and the University of North Carolina in Greensboro.

The instructor stated that she was very impressed with High Point College and its language department. "High Point compares very favorably with the other institutions. It's wonderful to be in a department where so many students are involved with language, where a major is offered, and I love the tie-up with the business department. It's very pro-gressive and very practical."

Rodriguez is also strongly in favor of High Point College's mandatory year of foreign language. "I think it's excellent. Everyone needs the experience of putting himself in someone else's position language wise. We are so insular in the United States geographically. I think that through the classroom it gives the teacher a chance to spread the horizon a little bit more for the student."

High Point's newest staff member received her Bachelor of Science Degree in Spanish from Columbia University in New York. She continued her Masters work at Teachers College of Columbua University, Mid-dlebury College in Vermont and at the University of Madrid in Spain.

Mrs. Rodriguez has spent a lot of time in Spain and is married to a Spaniard. Because of these experiences, she feels she can create interesting and informative situations that sometimes cannot be found in a textbook, Personal experiences, cultural insights, relationships with the family units and human reactions are all found in Senora Rodriguez' style of teaching.

"The more the student is involved, the more meaning it has for the student. I know the material already," she laughs. "The student is the important one in class.

MRS. ANNE RODRIGUEZ is a new faculty member in High Point College's Spanish program. She comments, "(The department is) very progressive and very practical." (Photo by Marisa Firpi.)

Sponsored by SCI

Day of Celebration" planned

BY TANA PARKER Staff Writer

On Mar. 24, 1983, over 110 high school students will be visiting the High Point College campus. The occasion?...The Society of Collegiate Journalists' "Day of celebration."

President of the Society. Art Prillaman, described the day as a journalism festival for high school and campus students. The students register from 9:00 a.m.-9:30 a.m. and attend various workshops throughout the day. The workshops include journalism, yearbook and photography work, news and copy writing, and layouts. In the afternoon, two workshops will be directed towards the college students. The first, or broadcast journalism, will be conducted by Carol Rogers, a graduated High Point Col-lege Communications major. Another alumna, Kim Darden, will discuss print journalism. There will also be a number of influential people conducting workshops. They include Wilford Kale, the past presi-dent of the National SJC.;

Point Enterprise; and representatives from the Greensboro Daily News and Winston-Salem Sentinel.

'The function of the society is to promote effective and ethical mass media," said Prillaman. The purpose for the day is to draw students, interested in the major, to HPC. Prillaman said the day is also an ad-missions tool to try and get more people to attend HPC and with more people, "we could probably get better facilities." Another purpose is to give students an angle

See Day p. 8

The Varsity Sport of the Mind

Pika Gold, Lambda Chi's take lead

BY TERRI LIVINGSTON Staff Writer

Vice-President of Alpha Chi Omega and head of the College Bowl program, April J. Callahan, describes the games as "fun and exciting." This year there have been eight teams in competition. In regular play, the leaders are Pika Gold and Lambda CHi Alpha with one loss each. Holding second place are the Simpletons, with Pika Garnet in third.

The questions for College Bowl have been taken from Time Magazine and cover the areas of literature, physics, biology, history, politics, current events, movies, and many other subjects, according to Callahan.

The regular season for College Bown will wind up on February 28. A double elimination tournament will begin on Wednesday, March 2 at 6:30 p.m. in Meeting Room #1. All students are encouraged to attend.

For more information about College Bowl, see April Callahan or any member of the Alpha Chi Scholastics Honorary

Hi-Po Staff

Reporters . . . . . . Karen Hernandez,

Tabbie Nance

Tana Parker,

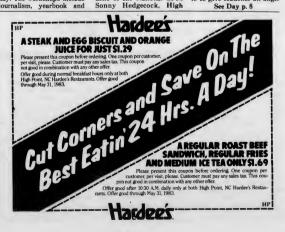

Tana Parker,

Michael Pisano

Bob Rossi

Photographers ....Marisa Firpi, Bill Johnson,

Karen Hernandez

However, facility remains busy Infirmary operations spark complaints

BY KARLA GREEN Features Editor

High Point College provides on-campus health service through the College infirmary. Do many students use the infirmary? Mrs. Joyce Isenhour, RN, says that they do. However, the infirmary continues to be a subject the students disagree upon.

Isenhour said that the patient load varies from month to month, but that the first month of school is usually the busiest, with last September's patient count up to "900 students." She attributed the large number to the athletic physicals that are required at the beginning of the school year. Isenhour said that the estimated monthly average of patients seen by the infirmary is "around 350 students per month."

Although many use the infirmary facilities, students continue to complain about them.

One student commented about the school attendance policy, saying, "If I felt like walking across campus to be excused by the infirmary, I could go to class."

The infirmary staff maintained that the school attendance policy is an issue of the administration rather than the infirmary, whose main purpose is to "treat the patients as needed." Nurse Isenhour said, "If we see a patient that has an elevated temperature or is said to be too ill to attend classes by the physician, then the patient is excused by the infirmary."

Convenience to students is considered in the making of the infirmary policy. One such service is the daily delivery of needed prescriptions to the college. According to infirmary staff member Judy Green, "The Rite Aid pharmacy delivers all needed medications not on hand in the infirmary to the campus daily so as to provide a more convenient service to the students, many of which do not have transportation." Green remarked that the fees for the medications is then charged directly to the students' account. "These medications are usually antibiotics not available in our office, and can be picked up around 4 p.m. on the same day in the infirmary." commented Green.

This brings about another question asked by many students: "Why are these charges not covered by the Health Services fee that is paid by all dormitory students at the beginning of each school year?" Green agreed that this fee is used to help support the infirmary and staff in order to provide continuing medical care within limitations on campus. However, Green said that "there are many lab tests that cannot be done on campus (such as the blood work for mono) and must be done at the hospital." The students are responsible for such bills aside from the fee previously paid to the college. The medications that are kept on hand at the infirmary include the basic treatments for colds; other medications must be purchased by the student through the phar-

Another student complaint was that "the infirmary is only open during times when most classes are held, conflicting with the students schedules." According to Nurse Isenhour, "there is someone on-call 24 hours a day to aid the students."

1 m m

THE HIGH POINT COLLEGE INFIRMARY is the subject of student complaints.

Isenhour said, "If someone gets ill after hours, they need to contact the infirmary for advice," Mrs. Rice, the night receptionist, is available by phone in the infirmary after hours to advise any student who wishes to be seen. According to Isenhour, "She will talk with the student and then call the nurse and/or doctor on call if the patient needs to be seen," But this is the procedure to be followed only during the week. The infirmary closes on Friday afternoons at 5 p.m. until hours on Monday morning, according to Dr. Alan Fortney, director of Medical Services. He advises that anyone with a serious illness should go the emergency room at the nearby hospital. "The student does not need to go through the infirmary in this case," said Isenhour. In the event that the student needs treatment, they are responsible for any fees acquired.

According to Judy Green, an optional insurance policy is offered through the college by the Pilot Life Insurance Company. She said that the students should be aware, however, that "this is optional and is only a hospitalization and accident policy."

Dr. Fortney also felt that the students should be more aware of the importance of their pre-college physicals required for entry to HPC. He said that the staff's 'biggest problem is gettig adequate information on the students medical history prior to their entry of HPC.' He stressed the importance that this has in giving the students effective health care while on the campus.

According to Fortney, the college infirmary formally sees patients during the hours of 8 a.m. until 12 p.m. and then again from 3 p.m. until 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Fortney said that he is available to examine patients beginning each weekday morning around 9 a.m. According to his nurse, Ms. Joyce Isenhour, RN. "Anyone who is ill should be in the infirmary by 9-9:30 to see the doctor."

According to Fortney, he stays in the infirmary each day until the staff is "through seeing the patients," times which vary from day to day. On days when Fortney is unavailable, patients are treated by his physicians' assistant, Paul Craft.

Campus sorority celebrates 130th birthday

(Atlanta) -- Phi Mus from High Point College will celebrate the founding of this social sorority as the national organization reaches its 130th birthday on Mar. 4.

This celebration will be acknowledged sometime after spring break in conjunction with the new Phi Mu Chapter over at Appalachian State University. The theme for the party wou imagine how our founders looked like." A special ceremony will be conducted to welcome the 85 new sisters. Phi Mu, one of the nation's oldest college organizations for women was found on March 4, 1852 at Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga. The principles of the sorority, upheld for over a century of change, remain as the ideals of truth, honor and love.

Although classified as a social sorority, Phi Mu emphasizes individual and collegiate chapter attention to high academic achievement. In 1982, the sorority and the Phi Mu Foundation, a philanthropic arm of the sorority, awarded over $22,222 in graduate and undergraduate scholarships and grants.

Phi Mu has been a consistent leader among national sororities, implementing a Career Development Department and being the first social sorority to publish an extensive Professional Directory designed for placement of college seniors as well as alumnae re-entering the Phi Mu denounces hazing of members and pledges in any form, and encourages individual social, leadership and personal development through group involvement.

One such aspect of Phi Mu leadership growth is the training of approximately 25 collegiate chapter officers, each one responsible for one facet of chapter operations. In addition, leadership training and fraternity business is conducted annually throughout the country. Future leadership training conventions are planned for Oxford, Mississippi in 1983.

Writing hints given

Resume - pathway to a career

Resume -- a French word meaning "summary" or an English word meaning probably the only way you'll ever get a job.

A resume is a way to advertise yourself on paper. A resume won't get you a job, but it will get your foot in the door for that all-important job interview.

There are four items you should keep in mind when writing your resumes: it should be brief -- one or two pages; it should be neat, with no errors; it should be easily understandable and it should be honest.

Most students use the chronological formula for their resumes in which they list their education and work experience in reverse chronological order. The chronological resume should begin with the student's personal data.

Included in this section should be your name, ad-dress, and the school and permanent phone numbers. You also may wish to incorporate such data as sex, age, height, weight and marital status. You should not attach a picture with their resumes, and it is illegal for an employer to ask for one.

Career objectives should follow personal data on the resume. List both your shortand long-term career objectives. Make sure your professional objectives are relevant to the job you are applying for, while keeping them broad enough for several job possibilities. Education information should be the next section. You should list their educational background in reverse chronological order, starting with the highest level of formal education. The years of attendance at each institution should appear on the resume as well as the de-grees earned. Your GPA and any special courses taken which pertain to career objectives should be included if they are impressive.

Following the educational background should be a work history section. Don't only list where you worked, but what you did while you were there. Use action words like "directed" and "assisted with," when describing your duties at a particular job. Although some employers are mostly interested in work experience that pertains to their job, others think parttime or volunteer work shows initiative.

The next section should include whatever related professional experience you have, including membership in professional organizations, internships, extracurricular activities and any honors, awards or scholarships earned.

The final section of the resume should have three or four references. Previous employers and professors are the best references because they can provide the work performance evaluation that future employers want to have

It is a good idea to always send prospective employers an individually typed cover letter with the resume. You should send the cover letter and the resume to the department where you want to work, since the department, rather than personnel, will probably do the hiring.

The cover letter should contain an opening paragraph stating why you are sending the resume. The middle paragraph should briefly describe why you are qualified for the job, perhaps by highlighting education or skills that pertain to that particular job. Do not include all education or work experience because then employers won't bother to read the more detailed information in the resume.

Close the letter by thanking the employer for his time, and suggesting an interview in the future. Follow-up your resume with a phone call requesting an interview. Some firms wait for prospective employees to call them, reasoning that no call means no initiative. . . and no job.

Ellington's Florist 1122 EAST LEXINGTON AVENUE 889-4748

Specializing in cut flower arrangements, corsages, and boutonnieres. Friday Flowers - $3.00 FREE DELIVERY TO HIGH POINT COLLEGE

Title IV policy chang

On February 17 the faculty of High Point College ap-proved the revised policy for satisfactory academic pro-ress for Title IV financial aid recipients. Simply stated the policy is:

•A full-time day student must successfully complete 12 credit hours per semester or 24 credit hours per aca-

•A half-time day student must successfully complete 6 credit hours per semester or 12 credit hours per academic

· A full-time CAEP student must successfully complete 12 credit hours per year (July-June).

· A half-time CAEP student must successfully complete 6 credit hours per year (July-June).

•The student must also be in good academic standing.

·A full-time student may receive Title IV funds for five years, and a half-time student may receive aid for eight years. ·Students not meeting the minimum standards have options to regain elibility, and students always have the right to appeal. Students who appear (after a review of

See Policy Changed, p. 8

Process from pledgeship to initiation comes to an end

BY KAREN HERNANDEZ

Staff Writer The long pledgeship of the majority of the greeks has finally come to an end. Some pledges were seen carrying sticks, others carrying bricks, others carrying flowers. Another group had to dress up as their "Big Sisters", and others were seen with mud all over their "butts." All of the pledges who went through initiation are proud to be called "brother" or "sister" because they have gone through a long period of memorization, fund raising. and serving the community.

The Alpha Delta Thetas had 12 girls intiated. They are: Karen Bishoff, Kelly Brisentine, Jennifer Burrroughs, June Craft, Sheila Craig, Ginny Dunn, Marja

Erickson, Selwyn Heintz, Kelly Lambert, Lisa Swing, Susan Warwick, and Alicia Wright.

The Alpha Gamma Delta's were proud to tell us that their pledges, as service altruistic project, visited the Mayfield Nursing Home. After every "kid" completed their requirements they became part of the sisterhood of Alpha Gamma Delta. They are: Jennifer Austin, Carol Biderman, Karla Green, Kelli Greene, Teile Hadsock, Melissa MacKenzie, Robin Pheiffer, and Janet Temple.

The Kappa Delta's are proud to welcome seven sisters into their chapter. They are: Jackie Barner. Camille Davis, Wendi Hora, Lee Kroches, Jennifer Linquiest, Kim Manness, and Pam McHone.

The Phi Mu's this year have been involved in many services. After these activities were completed, 10 out of the 13 Phi's were ready to become "Part of the Sisterhood." They are: Julie Beatty, Janet Freeman, Claire Hall, Terry Hender-son, Ann Osterhout, Jennifer Palmer, Lolita Spencer, Grace Still, Ursula Watt, and Nancy Young.

The Theta Chi's might be few but they are proud to have initiated Matt Kohne and Steve Hatt. They are now part of the brotherhood and speaking of a few, the new Theta Chis Little Sisters are: Melissa Duncan, Mary Gagner, Dana Holmes, Millie Price, Sharon Sweeney, Lou Taylor, and Kathy Williamson.

·Beginning a new career?

 Looking for an apartment home that offers. luxury and privacy at an affordable price. . .

Then let us introduce you to...

Townhouse Apartments

Perfect For 3 Career-Minded Individuals

· Who Want The Best!

Three Bedroom 21/2 Bath,

1 & 2 Bedroom Apartments Available

"Just 7 Minutes from Downtown High Point"

-CALL OR COME BY TODAY-2231 Shadow Valley Rd. . . 869-6515

High Point College Page 6 + HI-PO + Wednesday, March 2, 1983

SPORTS

Lady Panthers looking for sixth conference title

BY MARK PHELPS

To improve on the previous season is the goal of any collegiate coach, but for coach Kitty Steele and her womens tennis team, there is not a whole lot of room for improvement.

The Lady Panthers have won five consecutive conference championships and taken fourth place in the NAIA national tournament over the past two years. This season, the team will be without the services of MVP Leslie Gianoplos. A freshman walkon last year, Gianoplos finished with a 19-3 record and won the conference championship at the number four position. Though her presence will be missed, coach Steele feels that her team has the capabilities to take a sixth title.

"Other than Leslie, last year's team remains intact. Losing her will effect us some, but the girls gained a great deal of experience last season and that should compensate for her absence."

Ana Medina, a junior from Bolivia, has played at the number one position over the past two years and she will be working to maintain that spot. Challenging her is junior Anneli Kiviniemi of Sweden, who played at the second position last year.

"Anneli is more motivated for this season and is better prepared physically as well as mentally," said coach

Steele.

The next two spots are filled by junior Lynn Sharkey at the third spot and senior Helen O'Brian at the fourth position.

The rest of the lineup will be challenged for by a number of players. Sophomore Dori Johnson played the number sixth spot last season but has been sidelined recently by illness. She is expected to return to the court after spring break.

Teresa Sweatman played some matches last year at sxith and teamed with Gianoplos to win the conference championshp at third doubles. "Teresa is one of the most improved players that I've had since I have been at High Point" recalled coach Steele.

Newcomer Anne Maryse

Lopez, a freshman from Puerto Rico, and sophomore Theresa Regnante will also be vying for a position.

"I am pleased with Annes strokes and attitude. She might well challenge for fifth or sixth," said coach Steele. "Theresa has a very strong serve, smooth strokes, and a good knowledge of the game. It will strengthen us throughout if she can fit into the top six and continue to play well at doubles."

The strongest competition in attempting to dethrone See Lady Panthers, p. 7

Lady Braves take conference tournament in Alumni gymn

BY MARK PHELPS Sports Editor

Pembroke State defeated Wingate 83-80 in overtime Saturday night to win the Carolinas Conference tournament held in Alumni gymnasium. The Lady Braves, regular season conference champions, outscored their opponents 12-9 in the overtime period after ending regulation play in a 71-71 deadlock.

Dee Major led all Pembroke scorers with 20 points while Donna Moody added 19. For the Lady Bulldogs, Harriett Suber hit for 25 points and player-of-the-year Dianna Monroe added 24.

High Point's Lady Panthers earlier lost to the eventual champion Braves in a first round game Thursday, 71-53. Pembroke had five players to score in double figures. Barbara Green, a 6-0 center, led the Braves with 15 points. Sandra Swaboda and Ursulla Watt led HPC scorers with 15 and 11 points respectively. Freshman Lisa Jones had a game-high 15 rebounds for the Panthers. This was the first time in seven years that High Point hasn't reached the finals.

The all-tournament team included Major and Moody of Pembroke, Suber and Monroe of Wingate, and Atlantic-Christian's Tyra Boyd.

BATTER UP! The High Point College baseball team defeated Duke, 7-2, in Sunday's game. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

Inside HPC sports

Carolinas Conference Tournament gets underway

BY MARK PHELPS Sports Editor

The Mens Carolinas conference tournament began last night at Elon College as High Point played regular season champion Catawba. The Indians came into the tournament with a perfect 14-0 conference record and the favorities to take the championship. Tuesday's second game pitted second place Pfeiffer and host Elon.

Tonight at 7:00, defending champion Pembroke State plays Atlantic Christian. Pembroke has won the tournament championship the last two years. Wingate and Guilford play the second game at 9:00. These two teams finished in a tie for fourth place in the conference standings.

The winner of the HPC-

Catawba game plays the Wingate-Guilford winner Thursday night at 7:00. The ACC-Pembroke winner plays the Pfeiffer-Elon victor at 9:00. The championship game is Friday night at 8:00.

SORRY-Due to an early press deadline, Tuesday's results of the HPC-Catawba game could not be covered.

App downs Lady Panthers

High Point's Womens tennis team opened its spring season with a 7-2 loss to powerhouse Appalachian State University in Boone. The Panthers two wins came in singles play. Anneli Kiviniemi, playing at the number two position, took a 6-3, 6-3 win over Francie Robinson. Theresa Regnante, playing at the number six position, defeated Melanie Riley, 6-1, 6-3. The lady Panthers' next match is with Elon on March 16.

HPC netters take opening win

High Point College's men tennis defeated Wingate on February 24.

Winning for the Panthers in singles were Pekka Makela, 6-4, 6-2; Sami Narhi, 6-1, 6-0; Matt Lange, 6-2, 6-0; Griff Thompson, 6-2, 6-3; Roy Heilbron, 6-3, 6-4; Francisco Bloch, 6-1, 6-3; and Kevin West, 6-4, 7-5.

Combining for doubles, the Panthers boosted three winning pairs: Makela and Thompson, 7-5, 6-2; Narhi and Lange, 6-1, 6-0; and Heilbron and Bloch, 6-4, 4-6.

Panthers drop season finale

High Point College dropped its final regular season game Wednesday night to Gardner-Webb 89-79. The defeat left the Panthers with a 6-18 overall record going into Tuesday's Carolinas Conference tournament.

High Point led in the first half by as much as eleven and held a 45-36 halftime lead. But the Bulldogs roared back in the second period behind the scoring of 6-10 center Eddie Wilkins. Wilkins finished the game with 34 points, three of his shots coming on spectacular alley-oop dunks.

High Point trailed by only one with about three minutes left to play, but the Panthers then went cold on their three-point attempts and Gardner-Webb was able to hit eight of its last 12 free throws

Robert Hudson, Mike Everette, and Danny Murphy led High Point scorers with 13 points each. Freshmen Jim Hoffman and Terry Samuels also contributed with 11 and 10 points respectively.

Panther Scoreboard

			SKET				WOMEN	,						Carolina	as Conferenc	e Tou	rnament
		TALL O	IAII	31100	,		NAME	GM	FG PCT	FT			PT	Women:		Men:
MEN							Watt	18	.363	.710	71	22	14.5	first round		Tues	and Wed.
NAME	GM	PCT	PCT	REB		AVE	Swboda	23	.395	.575	187	10	12.4	ilist iouliu		I ues.	and wed.
Murphy	23	.456	.779	69	31	14.5	Gandy	23	.349	.625	90	35	9.6	High Point	53	7:00	Catawba vs.
Samuels	22	.415	.613	137	17	12.2	Jones	23	.313	.351	159	23	8.2	Pembroke	71		High Point
Everett	24	.508	.613	142	57	11.8	Hamilton	23	.349	.539	135	36	7.5
Hutson	24	.416	.845	79	17	8.4	Vestal	20	.404	.346	98	6	4.5	Atl-Chr	80	9:00	Pfeiffer vs.
Robertson	24	.437	.703	122	4	7.9	Ramirez	21	.378	.706	14	18	3.5	Catawba	69		Elon
Bowser	18	.475	.545	69	1	5.7	Compton	23	.338	.615	19	28	2.4	Wingate	80	7:00	Atl-Chr vs.
Hoffman		.641	.659	59	1	5.7	Buechette	13	.182	.333	2	1	0.3	Pfeiffer	67	1.00	Pembroke
Hamilton	24	.404	.589	60	76	2.6	Tucker	14	.400	.000	1	0	0.3
Bishop	15	.538	.428	14	1	1.1	Bowser	1	.000	.000	0	0	0.0	Elon Guilford	100 77	9:00	Wingate vs. Guilford
Fotals	24	.459	.428	805	237	69.4	Totals	23	.356	.544	837	178	58.4
Орр.	24	.489	.696	900	-	76.0	Opp.	23	.444	.600	1209		74.2	second round	Thur.
														Atl-Chr		7:00	Catawba-HPC vs.
TENNIS					3 at N.C. State							Wingate			Pfeiffer-Elon
Women:							BASEBA	LL						Pembroke	84	9:00	ACC-Prmbroke vs
Feb. 26 le	ost t	о Арра	alacian	2-7										Elon	65		Wingate-Guilford
_							Feb. 26 de	efeat	ed Dul	se 7-1							0
Men: Feb. 23 defeated Wingate						28 played Susquehanna (DH)							championship	1	Fri.
28 at Wake Forest				Mar. 1 played Susquehanna (DH) 2 Susquehanna (DH)							Pembroke	83	8:00	Championship
Mar. 2 Winthrop					3 N.C. State (DH)							Wingate	80	5100	Game

Lady Panthers Basketball

the conference champions looks to be Guilford, even though they lost the national champion in the NAIA from last season.

"Guilford will be our biggest threat. They did lose their number one player but two excellent Steele.

"Wingate and Catawba

newcomers," said coach will be improved and both should prove to be tough op-ponents."

SOPHOMORES

INVEST 6 weeks this summer

1st cycle - 16 May to 23 June 2nd cycle - 23 May to 30 June 3rd cycle - 31 May to 7 July

4th cycle - 27 June to 4 August 5th cycle - 5 July to 11 August 6th cycle - 11 July to 18 August

Return on investment

Approximately $600 Free Round Trip Transportation Free Room & Board Outdoor Adventure Training Chance to try ROTC with No Obligations Qualify to Enter Advanced ROTC, Earning $100 per mo Compete for a 2 year scholarship

GRAND OPENING LADIES' NIGHT

THURSDAY. MARCH 3 8:00 p.m.-until

Night Life as High Point has never known before

Featuring the Dancing Sounds of Dr. J.

Memberships available at the door 83 with HPC ID - proof of age (18) also require

Strictly Classified-

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads. services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad. type the ad double-spaced and turn it in to the Hi-PO by Friday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ads turned in after this deadline will be held until the next issue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no designation, the ad will run for only one week.

Announcements

Seniors, don't forget to get your Placement Packets.

*****

Employment applications for summer camps are available in the Career Planning Office.

The High Point Parks and Recreation Department is accepting applications for summer lifeguard positions. See the Career Planning Office for more information.

*****

The following on-campus interviews will be conducted during March: (Students may sign up for these interviews in the Career Planning office).

March 2 - Radio Shack will be interviewing for store managers and computer sales.

March 17 - Milliken Textiles will be interviewing for production managers; a background in chemistry is stressed.

Discount tickets to all Martin Movie Theaters are available in the Career Planning Office Mondav. Wednesday and Friday from 1-5. The cost is $2.00 per ticket and they are good through May 1983.

ATTENTION: loan reci-

Those who have borrowed from College Foundation must attend a borrower's conference that will be held on April 7, 1983 at 3:15 or 4:15 p.m. in the Campus Center Conference room. Attendance is mandatory.

*****

$2 HPC student discounts are available for attractions at the High Point Theatre. Coupons are available on the Bulletin Board, upstairs in the Fine Arts Building/ Memorial Auditorium.

*****

High Point College will hold the next meeting of "Book Talks" at 3:00 p.m. March 20 in the Holt McPherson Campus Center.

Mr. Raiford Porter, associate professor of art at the College, will discuss the purchase and sale of art for investment.

Refreshments will be served. The public is invited to attend.

*****

Theta Chi Bong Show applications now available. Pick up applications from any Theta Chi (2nd floor Millis). They must be turned, in by Aquil 1. The show is on April 8. All types of talent welcome. There will be more information later.

The Piedmont Artists Spring 1983 Concert Series continues on Monday, March 7 with a performance by the Piedmont Artists Trio. Flutist Linda Brown. violinist Betty Fouts and violoncellist Charles Medlin will present their concert beginning at 8:00 p.m. in the Chas. E. Hayworth, Sr. Memorial Chapel on the campus of High Point College. For ticket information. contact the Piedmont Artists at 889-1183 in High Point.

I WANT THE ENLARGED DIPLOMA!

The college may offer a 12"x15" size diploma along with the regular college diploma.

My name is _____ and my I.D. number is #_____ I will pay about $3.50 for the copy of my High Point College Diploma. I understand that this offer is only available if enough seniors are interested. Return all forms to:

Sean Russell P.O. Box 3783 Campus Mail "OR"

P.O. Box 3783 High Point College High Point, NC 27262 RETURN BY TUES-DAY, MARCH 16, 1983.

Employment

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-MENT:

TITLE: Chauffeur DESCRIPTION: 5-15 persons needed to drive a 1958 Cadillac limousine as needed.

PART-TIME HOURS: Flexible nights, days and weekends SALARY: $5 per hour, plus tips CONTACT: Gary or Lowell

Michalove ADDRESS: Annex Furniture, 616 Greensboro Rd., past the Presbyterian Home, towards Jamestown. APPLY IN PERSON

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-

MENT: TITLE: Stock clerk and bag boys, experienced CONTACT: Mr. Wyatt ADDRESS: Big Star Food

ADDRESS: Big Star Food Store - corner of Montlieu and Main, apply in person

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-MENT TITLE: Radio Air Talent/Commercial Produc-

DESCRIPTION: Regular Airshift, heavy commercial production, occasional public appearances, other tasks (Radio experience needed).

FULL-TIME CONTACT: Ed Owens at WGLD

ADDRESS: P.O. Box 2808, High Point, N.C. 27262, Phone (919) 869-0101 Send resume and air checks

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-MENT TITLE: Radio personality DESCRIPTION: Regular

Airshift, commercial production, third class license needed and understanding of FCC.
FULL-TIME

CONTACT: Mike Finley, Operations Manager ADDRESS: WYYD Radio, P.O. Box 12526, Raleigh, N.C. 27605

N.C. 27605 PHONE: 919-851-2711 Send resume and airchecks OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOYMENT:

TITLE: Southern Furniture Market

DESCRIPTION: Six students per shift to work Southern Furniture Market (April 14-18), handing out newspaper for Professional Furniture Merchant

HOURS: Shifts are 8:30 a.m.-12:30 a.m. and 12:30-4:30 p.m. at $4 hour. Students are to be neat, pleasant and willing to do the right job.

CONTACT: Sign up in Student Life office between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Off-campus employment: Title: Delivery person Description: Make general

Description: Make general deliveries around town and will pick up items. Involves lifting and moving fairly heavy and bulky items. Must have station wagon or small truck.

Hours: Part-time, flexible

Salary: Minimum wage Contact: Receptionist, Edward Ferrell Limited Address: 318 N. Wrenn St., High Point, N.C.

Phone: 885-1149
*Please identify yourself as a High Point College student.

Off-campus employment: Title: Water Safety instruc-

Description: Must be qualified instructor with some experience.
Hours: Part-time

Contact: Sherri Hill, Thomasville YMCA, Mendenhall St., Thomasville, N.C. Phone: 475-6125

Policy changed

Cont. from p. 5

the fall 1982 grade reports) to be in danger of not meeting the minimum standards to receive Title IV aid for 1983-84 will be counselled by the Financial Aid Office as to their options and their right of appeal. A copy of this revised policy is available in the Financial Aid Office, and all students are encouraged to pick up a copy to become familiar with the requirements.

Students who are planning to apply for Guaranteed Student Loans for 1983-84, should remember to:

1. Complete a needs test.
2. Provide the Financial Aid Office with a signed copy of parents' 1982 federal income tax return.

 Provide documentation confirming registration for the draft or providing exemption from registering. 4. When you are requesting an application from the applicant's state agency, please specify that this will be application for 1983-84.

 Take the completed application to the Financial Aid Office by June 15, 1983.

Day of ### Celebration

Cont. from p. 3

The "Day of Celebration" started last year, the society's fifth anniversary. "We've made a great accomplishment compared to last year's 30 participants," said Prilliman.

at improving their publications. The final purpose is to reward one of the 12 high schools attending, for their efforts on their newspaper/ yearbooks.

High Point College's

"Working for a better informed campus"

High Point, N.C. 27262

March 23, 1983

Vol. 55

INSIDE Mascot, p. 4 Golf, p. 6

Elections to be Mar. 30-31

Vacancies dominate SGA elections

BY CHRIS HEENAN Special to the HI-PO

As SGA Election Day draws closer, there are still a lot of vacancies in many of the SGA positions.

In one of the few contested races of the election, the office of SGA president is being sought by Mark Mashburn and Tom Leech, Judy Jones seeks the office of vice-president without opposition.

In the race for Senior Offices are Miriam O'Malley and Denise Watts for president and John Brown for vice-president.

In the Sophomore class elections, Peggy Draper is running for president and Tammy Riggs is running for vice-president.

In the race for class legislators, for the Senior class; Pat Connelly, Teriann Cleary, Wendi Hora and Sharon Sweeney. For the Sophomore class, Mary Van Horne is the only candidate running.

There are however, many positions still open in the elections. SGA President Mark Mashburn said, "Sean Russell, Chairman of the Election Committee, reported thre are no candidates running for the following offices: SGA treasurer, four Junior legislators, three Sophomore legislators, Senior, Junior and Sophomore judicial representatives.

Mashburn called these vacancies a possible lack motivation. Miriam O'Malley, a candidate for Senior class president, said, "The only way things will change around here is if people get involved."

ple get involved."
Anyone interested in these positions must be a write-in candidate. According to Mashburn, this must be specified on any campaign material.

The elections will be Mar.

The elections will be Mar. 30 and 31 at lunch and dinner in the lobby of the campus center.

Lucht announces graduation speakers

Dr. Charles R. Lucht, president of High Point College, has announced that Bishop L. Scott Allen and Dr. Nicholas T. Goncharoff will be the college's 1983 baccalaureate and compressional productions of the college's 1983 baccalaureate and compressional productions.

mencement speakers.
Bishop Allen is the resident bishop presiding over the Western North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church. Dr. Allen has a bachelor's degree from Clark College in Atlanta, a divinity degree from Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta, and a master's degree from Northwestern University.

He was elected and consecrated as a bishop of the Methodist Church in 1967. Bishop Allen is a member of the boards of trustees at High Point, Brevard, Greensboro and Pfeiffer colleges.

Dr. Goncharoff is director of special programs for the YMCA of the United States. Born in Kiev, U.S.S.R., he studied at the Universities of Heidelberg, Marburg and Zurich, and in 1952 was awarded a doctorate in philosophy and history from the University of Munich.

He is an educator and specialist in the fields of political science, comparative history and international affairs. As a Danforth and McKinley Scholar, Dr. Goncharoff has been invited to more than 600 colleges and universities in the United States and Canada to address convocations, give lectures, and organize seminars and workshops.

Dr. Goncharoff serves as an advisor and consultant on foreign policy matters for the U.S. State Dept. Through 1981, he served as the permanent representative to the United Nations for the World Alliance of YMCAs.

The baccalaureate service will be conducted in Wesley Memorial United Methodist Church at 8 p.m. May 7. Commencement exercises will take place in High Point College's Alumni Gymnasium at 11 a.m. May 8.

March 29

Proficiency exam date set

The Academic Dean of the College has announced the Spring date for the HPC Writing Proficiency Examination; it will be administered at 11:30 on Tues-

of Haworth Hall
All students who enrolled at High Point College during or after September, 1980, and who plan to graduate from HPC must take and pass the HPC Writing Proficiency Examination. Those who must take the test this Spring include 1) those currently enrolled in English 102, 2) mew transfer students, and 3) those who have failed the exam but now have permission from the Writing Center to retake it. Any student who enrolled prior to a semester must also sit for the exam.

"GODSPELL" REHEARSALS are drawing to an end as the show prepares for its opening performance. Performance dates are Mar. 25, 26, 31 and Apr. 1. Showtime is 8 p.m. All tickets purchased at the door on the night of the show are $5. Advance ticket prices are $4 for adults; $3 for students, senior citizens and groups of ten or more; and $2.50 for church groups of 20 or more. Reservations can be secured by calling the Theatre Dept. at 885-5101, ext. 32. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

Math, science teachers in demand

Campus Digest News Service

There is a serious shortage of math and science teachers across the country as potential teachers choose the private employment field instead of the classroom. Higher salaries and more advancement potential are the main reasons.

Another reason is found with the students themselves. Teachers have difficulty maintaining classroom behavior, and many teachers are afraid to teach in certain school districts. Some teachers say that parents are not strict enough with their kids at home, and the rowdy behavior continues in the

So with increasing problems of finding teachers, the city of Houston came up with a good (and simple) way to attract math and science teachers—offer them more money. They decided to implement a bonus system to lure applicants. Math and science teachers receive a $2000 bonus if they teach in one of the poorer neighborhoods. If their school's test scores rise, they are eligible for an additional bonus of $1300. The bonus plan has two objectives: fill See Teachers, p. 3

HOPO

Editorials

HPC senior questions tuition increase

To the Editor:

As a concerned senior, I feel I must protest High Point College's recent decision to raise tuition for next year. Although economic conditions in the country are said to be improving, the move to raise tuition and fees seem particularly callous to me. Moreover, the areas of enrollment, campus activities, and lack of personnel in several areas calls for a decrease in tuition, rather than an increase.

An issue of the Hi-Po in February proclaimed that many new students (over a thousand) had been recruited, and that many had made definite plans to attend High Point College in the fall of '83. Now, even if only half of those students came, and if only half of the additional revenue from their tuition was applied to operating expenses and faculty and administration salaries, we would be well ahead of this year in terms of money on hand, or income. To use an analogy: if a drug store is selling alcohol at 69 cents a bottle, then runs out of stock and has to order more at 79 cents a bottle and passes that ten cents and donate a pint.

provided this service.

along to the consumer because, well – we ran out and that's not our fault. — This is an admittedly roundabout way of saying that the logic isn't there for a tuiton increase just because more people are coming to High Point College. Clearly, because more people are coming, there will be more money at the old tuition cost of $3,200 per year (The basic cost for day students). It seems a greedy windfall to expect more money from more students.

Secondly, it doesn't seem that we are getting what we're paying for at High Point College. Don't get me wrong - the quality of instruction is high, and most professors care about academic progress and students' growth as people and citizens of the communi-ty. However, we have nothing like UNC-G's Con-cert and Lecture Series; our well-planned and diligently supported movies from the good intentions of the SGA are poorly attended; we have no official Library Director, no official head of the Religion Department, no official Chaplain, no person to fill Bruce Tingle's job. We're severely understaffed where it hurts - in the student services. Yet. I've heard of no cutbacks in duplicating paper or supplies, no personnel cutbacks in order to save money, and no less flowers or bushes planted to save money. It seems to me as though the students and their families are being relied upon to finance High Point College's attempt to beat inflation and make money when families' costs of living are themselves at an all-time high. The education we get is superior again, our teachers are some of the best. As far as administration and student services are concerned,

however, we aren't getting what we're paying for. Many of the people who filled those positions have quit.

According to their 1982 catalog, it costs $2,925.00 for tuition at Columbia University, compared to our tuition costs of $3,200. In other words, it costs $275.00 less to attend Columbia this year than what we're paying to attend High Point College. But in 1983, it would be $575.00 cheaper to attend Columbia (that is, unless Columbia raises their tuition drastically for next year). All of this is to say that those of us who care about High Point College and who want to see it survive and prosper (and prosper both intellectually and monetarily) had best raise our voices and urge that tuition rates be frozen at their 1982-83 level, that cutbacks in the purchasing of non-essentials be implemented, and that important positions be filled quickly. We have delayed too long with empty chairs in important jobs, while those who have important jobs at HPC often have empty minds about students' being able to afford the tuition here. I am ready to stand corrected on any matter on which I am unaware. . . My greatest hope of all, though, is that High Point College doesn't price itself out of the market.

> Sincerely, Charles Burton

Student Life Committee submits alcohol policy to Board

After many hours of discussion and committee work by the Student Life Committee, a proposal was given to the Board of Trustees which would permit the individual student the right to make his/her own decision about the use of alcohol. The proposal was initially submitted to the sub-committee on Student Affairs by Mr. Pittman and Mr. Price. Following discussion, the sub-committee unanimously approved the proposal and it was then placed on the agenda of the full Board.

Mr. Price made the presentation of the proposed policy to the Board and then the floor was opened for discussion. Bishop Scott Allen, present presiding

Bishop of the Western North Carolina Conference, wanted to add another paragraph to the proposal which would precisely affirm the position of the United Methodist Church and the college's position to that statement in conjunction with the goals of the institution.

There was some opposition to the policy, as might be expected. The result of which is that the proposal has been deferred indefinitely. The proposal for changing the alcohol policy is not defeated! It is simply going to be edited and altered by the Board before being ap-

After speaking with several administrators, the opinion is that the policy will possibly be changed either by the Executive Committee of the Board or at the next full meeting of the Board in October.

This effort on the part of the Student Life Committee is in the hopes of bringing the college into the real situation of the 1980's. It affirms the fact that students should face current social, moral, and ethical dilemmas and make their own decisions about them. It is believed, at least by this committee, that this is one of the primary functions of the college.

I hoped that I would have seen this policy change by the end of my term in office, but must realize that it is a major decision which

See Alcohol, p. 4

F.O. Box 3510 Room 209 Campus Center

APO will sponsor a bloodmobile on Monday, Mar. 28 from 10 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. You are invited to come by anytime

The Hi-Po is distributed on campus by Alpha Phi Omega, a National Service fraternity. This is the fifth year they have

> Crystal L. Hedgecock. Editor-in-Chief Lewis Wheless Associate Editor Scott Morgan Advertising and Business Manager Mark Phelps Sports Editor

> The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO.

The HI-POwelcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed, and an address must be included. If warranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as seen necessary.

Yellow journalism?

To the Editor:

In response to your recent editorial entitled "Fire Alert Goes Unnoticed" concerning the fires in McCulloch Hall and to only slightly change an old Waylon Jennings song: "Don't you think this apathy thing done got out of hand?" Now you are alleging the poor response to the fire alarm on Saturday Feb. 26 was due to the lack of concern of residents of the building. Perhaps this is the case in some instances, but not all.

By the time I had gathered my wits as to what was happening, closed my window, turned on the light, unlocked my door, and got halfway down the stairs, the alarm had been turned off. Several other people were in the stairwell with me, and when the alarm stopped blaring, we decided it was a prank and returned to our rooms. Perhaps the alarm should have been left on longer to facilitate the exit from the building. To say that the unsatisfactory reply to the fire alarm was due to apathy is a half-truth. Yellow journalism such as that should be left to William R. Hearst.

Sincerely, Lewis Lawrence McCulloch Resident Box 3383

Hi-

chose two Pika's to coach them in their events. In one event, one of the coach's participated by letting the sorority dress him up in whatever they chose. The ZTA's showed their creativity by dressing coach Jeff Collins as a Chinese woman in a Kimono to win first place. With all their enthusiasm and velling they also won the Spirit Award. The KD's used their muscles to pull a first place in the Tug-of-War event. By the looks of the Egg-Toss race, one would have thought hard boiled eggs were used. The ADT's claimed 2nd place with their egg that would not break even though it dropped, bounced, rolled throughout the event.

The Phi Mu's showed their coordination and speed by pushing their way to a first place in the shopping cart relay. Despite the vandalism to the Alpha Gam's banner on Saturday night, they retouched it and took first place. The theme of the rally was "Greek Relations" and by the Gam's winning banner it can all be summed up as "HPC Greeks ... A Package Deal."

JOANNA HUDSON entertained an audience at the recent "Book Talks." She is corporate art collector for R.J. Reynolds in Winston-Salem, N.C. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

SCI holds convention

BY MARIO WATSON

Special to the HI-PO The Society of Collegiate Journalists, the nation's oldest collegiate journalism honorary organization, held its 1983 biennial national convention on the campus of William and Mary March 10-12.

According to Wilford Kale, advisor to the William and Mary SCJ chapter and convention director, representatives from 53 SCJ's from as far as Kansas attended.

Approximately students participated in the three-day program of seminars, workshops, and speeches.

Helen Thomas, senior White House reporter for the United Press International, was the convention's keynote speaker Mar. 10 in the Campus Center Ballroom.

Miss Thomas joined UPI in 1943 as a cub reporter. She held a variety of assignments with the service until 1961 when she was assigned to the White House to cover Kennedy's ad-ministration. She has remained at that post for the last two decades.

As one of the most experienced women journalists, Miss Thomas has initiated a number of "firsts". During Kennedy's presidency, she was the first woman to close a press conference with the traditional, "Thank-you, Mr. President." She was the first woman accepted into the prestigious Gridiron Club, the first woman officer of the National Press Club and the first woman president of the White House Correspondents' Associa-

"Always remember peo-ple are important," said

See SCJ, p. 5

Alpha Gams win Spring Rally '83

BY TANA PARKER Staff Writer

An egg toss, suitcase relay, mattress carry and the three-legged jug race are just a few of the events in which over 150 girls comcompeted this past Sunday. The event. . . The 3rd Annual IIKA Spring Rally sponsored by the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

The rally is a time in which the five High Point College. sororities: Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Delta Theta, Kappa Delta, Phi Mu and Zeta Tau Alpha, get together and compete in various events. This year, the Alpha Gam's showed a little more strength and claimed the championship. Close behind in 2nd place were the Phi Mu's and the KD's, ZTA's and ADT's took 3rd, 4th, and 5th places, respectively.

Art Prillaman, coordinator of the rally, said, "The rally ran smoothly in that it was well organized and everyone had a good time."

The majority of the events were worth up to 15 points and were judged by some of the fraternity brothers. Each sorority > few of today's college students are majoring in math and science education. Business is a much more popular field. And, as the economy improves, more current teachers may be attracted to other, more

Teachers

cont. from p. 1 the critical shortages, and improve the students' profi-

Both the math and science teachers shortage will probably get much worse, regardless of bonus plans. That's because of how

Order of the Lighted Lamp announced

SUBMITTED

BY DONNA BURTON Every year since 1935, High Point College has honored fifteen juniors and seniors who have distinguished themselves through their scholarship, leadership, service and character. To attain this honor, a student must maintain a high scholastic average for five consecutive semesters, render outstanding service and provide leadership in such collegiate activities as student government, religious life, athletics, theatre, departmental organizations, professional societies, and social organizations. Additionally, the student is recognized for excellence of character.

Nominated by members of the Order in residence, candidates are elected by the faculty. Those elected to membership in the Order of the Lighted Lamp this year from the class of 1983 are:

Charles Burton Ronnie Chapman Jimmy Lee Davis, Jr. Gregory Fox Dana Gilbert James Holleran Mary Hunter Yvonne Hurley Tabitha Nance Charles Lee (Chan) Shaver Nancy Siersted Teresa Ann Spittel Denise Ward Elected from the Class of 1984 area: Michael Louis Mark Mashburn

ORDER OF THE LIGHTED LAMP members are: (back row, 1-r) Dana Gilbert, Ron Chapman, Charles Burton, Chan Shaver, Jimmy Davis, Jim Holleran, Greg Fox, (front row, I-r) Mike Louia, Denise Ward, Mark Mashburn, Yvonne Hurley, Art Prillaman, Terry Spittel and April Callahan. (Not pictured are Mary Hunter, Tabbie Nance and Nancy Siersted.)

ipho Gens wi

CCI balds assessed as

Order of the Lighted Laxup assessment

Who's inside the Purple Panther?

BY BOB ROSSI

Staff Writer
This year's High Point
College basketball games had something new and exciting to watch beside the action and the cherleaders.
It's purple, stands well over six feet tall, and parades around the gym stealing balls, teasing children, messing the referees hair and most importantly, sending the fans home smiling despite the outcome of the

This is, of course, the Purple Panther, the official mascot at High Point College. Inside this harmless beast lives twenty year old junior Mike Horniak.

junior Mike Horniak. Sophomore class President Denise Metivier proposed the entire mascot idea early last fall. She went to cheerleading coach Richard Hoffmann for assistance, Hoffmann loved the idea but financially it seemed like something for the future. Metivier refused to give up and together with Hoffmann and cheerleading crew proposed this request to the Student Union who fronted twothirds of the money while the cheerleaders picked up the remaining one-third on the tab. How does Mike Horniak feel about this, "I know it was expensive but it's worth every penny."

Charlotte-born Horniak approached Coach Hoffmann's secretary last semester when he heard the news about the possibility of having a mascet for the upcoming basketball season.
"I told her that I'd like to do it and she said tryouts were based on interviews, personality and grades, and I said to myself, well, I guess that counts me out. Obviously it didn't and Mike received the job. Mike was inspired to do this because of the lack of enthusiasm of other mascots that he'd seen on college basketball games on television. "Some mascots would just be standing and cheering. Nobody knows who you are and you have an opportunity to make people smile. I'd give anything to do that. I was just so happy I got chosen for the job.

Horniak practices and travels with the cheerleaders but he insists that they are two different components. Horniak has few limitations as to what he can to to get the crown motivated as long as he keeps it in the good nature of High Point College. What looks like all fun games can be excrutiating pain for the man inside the purple mask. "It's super hard work. I lose between five and seven pounds a game. On some occasions I got on a roll and became so exhausted that I almost passed out."

Horniak seemed to adjust to his job well, so well in fact, that he began to give addict to some of his fellow mascot-competitors. At an Elon College road game Horniak noticed Elon's Fighting Christian not getting motivated and crazy like himself. Horniack approached him at halftime and said to the three year mascot, "You're gonna have to loosen up." He replied to Horniak, "How do you get the nerve to do all the crazy stuff you do?" Horniak smiled from inside of his mask and said, "Hell, nobody knows who I am."

knows who I am."
The fans at High Point College certainly know who the Purple Panther is and the reaction has been extremely favorable according to Coach Hoffmann, who has received many compliments from fans at both home and away games.

Horniak transferred to High Point College from Harford Community College in Belair, Maryland last August. He is a member of HPC's baseball team and also played football, basketball and soccer in high school and junior college. He regrets not having the ability to play basketball for High Point College but as the team's mascot he tries to contribute as much as possible. Sometimes too much.

Take for example one home game last season when Horniak noticed that the flashbulbs from some photographer's cameras seemed to be bothering the shooting of High Point's players. I yelled, "C'mon ref don't you see those guys down there? They're throwing our shots off. I just wanted to call it to his atten-The next time the referee came down court he stopped the game, walked over to Horniak and said, "Listen son, I'm reffing this game and if you don't cut it out I'm giving both you and your team a technical foul. "That shut me up real quick," commented Hor-

Mike Horniak's future as the Purple Panther seems

ON HIS DAYS OFF, the Purple Panther mascot is Mike Horniak, a HPC junior baseball player.

well-in-hand but what can we expect from him after High Point. "I'll probably end up teaching for awhile and I'd like to go to grad school. I have dreams of ficer in the Air Force. I'd like to like to learn how to fly. Its always been a dream of mine. And if I make it that far, I'd like to get into politics."

If perserverance, sense of humor and a warm heart are the keys to success, then Mike Horniak will have no obstacles on reaching his plateaus

"I feel I have something to give. I'm a non-confor mist. I like to make people smile and be happy because the world needs a lot more of that."

Alcohol

cont. from p. 2
will affect High Point College, the institution, for probably the rest of its existence once the policy is passed. My primary goal when I assumed the office President of the SGA was to address this issue. I feel that I have done my best and now it is just a matter of time.

In the past, many have talked about the policy but have done little in concrete terms to change it. I, on the other hand, took it to Mr. Pittman, who in turn took it to the sub-committee of the Board. They then asked the Student Life Committee to examine our present policy and make a proposal to them to either affirm our present policy or recommend changes. The committee did so and consequently the Board now has a concrete proposal on which to act.

Finally, I wish to express my sincere thanks to the Student Life Committee for all its diligent time and work on the proposal. You, the students, are indebted to them as well. The members of this committee are: Mr. Ernest Price, Mr. Mike Pittman, Dr. John Ward, Mrs. Kitty Steele, Mr. Woody Gibson, Mr. Bill Cope, Mike Louia, Debbie Hutter, Victor Kosenski, and myself. Thanks for a job well done!

It's now up to the Board of Trustees!

Mark Mashburn President, SGA

Correction

The name of Regina Marie Cain was inadvertantly omitted from the list of Junior Marshals in the last issue of the HI-PO.

The HI-PO regrets the error.

Ellington's Florist

1122 EAST LEXINGTON AVENUE
889-4748
Specializing in our flower arrangements,
corsages, and boutonnieres.
Friday Flowers — $3,00
FREE DELIVERY TO
HIGH POINT COLLEGE

Hi-Po Staff

Features Editor ...... Karla Green

Reporters . . . . . Karen Hernandez,

Terri Livingston Tabbie Nance, Tana Parker, Michael Pisano

Photographers ... Marisa Firpi, Bill Johnson,
Karen Hernandez

SCJ convention

DAVID ADAMS, SCJ National President, distributes publication awards during a convention in Williamsburg, Va. (Photo by B.J.)

Thomas. "People can handle the truth, but not false information. It's worse if people know less about what is hanpening. How can we run a efficient democracy if the American people are not well informed," concluded

Among the persons scheduled to speak at workshop sessions were Ron Edmunds, Pulitzer Prize winning photographer of the Associated Press; Nate Custer, WTKR TV. Norfolk Virginia; Will Molineuh. Williamsburg Bureau Chief. Newport News Daily Press and The Times-Herald. Newport News, Va., and Dale Gauding, News Director, WTAR-Radio, Norfolk. Several other Virginia Journalists and broadcasters were available to discuss their respective fields throughout the convention. Art Prillaman, president of the High Point College SCJ chapter, said his chapter will benefit from the convention. "It has help us to improve on our mass communication by seeing what others are doing across the country. The exposure of the national convention was beneficial to all delegates from HPC," said Prillaman.

The student body and faculty will be exposed to all aspects of effective and responsible mass communication tomorrow as the SCJ of High Point College will present the "Day of Celebration."

The annual event begins at 9 a.m. and will last until 4 p.m. A total of 125 high school students from 11 schools across North Carolina and Virginia will attend.

The focus of the day will be the competition between the various newspaper and yearbooks. It will offer a great amount of information on all areas of communication. For the staff of a high school newspaper or yearbook, the festival will be a source of valuable comparative learning. The celebration stresses talking to others and seeing examples of their publica-tions to help a student improve the quality of his or her work.

There will be seminars exclusively for H.P.C. students and faculty in Cooke Hall on broadcast and print journalism, layout. and design beginning at 1:00. The festival's motto encourages celebrating the power of the written word.

Cartoon characters to be displayed at HPC

If you're hunting for something unusual to do, it's open season on ducks, mice and wabbits -- wacky wabbits, like Bugs Bunny! In fact, more than 250 unique and often humorous cel paintings of cartoon characters like Bugs Bunny are the subject of a special exhibit and sale.

High Point College will host this event Thurs.-Fri., March 31-April 1, 1983 from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m. in the Campus Center Lobby. The public is invited. This event will benefit the Student Union Board, the sponsor. Animation cel paintings, called "cels," are the paintings actually filmed in making animated cartoons. Each character is painted by hand on a clear sheet of acetate, usually 11" x 14" or larger, then placed against a background painting and photographer, one frame at a time, to create the illusion of the cartoon characters in motion. Cels are the culmination of the artistic process -- the final image that is photographed by the camera. Today those cels are highly prized by collectors.

The current exhibit was authenticated by Gallery Lainzberg of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, an organization that specializes in original animation artwork. A representative of Gallery Lainzberg will be on hand to answer

The Exhibit/Sale highlights the work of two superstars in the animation field: Chuck Jones and Friz Freleng. Both animators are veterans of the golden era of cartoons at Warner Brothers - the 1940's. Both have contributed much to American popular culture. Freleng dreamt up Tweety and Sylvester and the irrepressible Yosemite Sam. Jones gave life to Wile E. Coyote, the Roadrunner and Pepe le Pew. Both artists helped to shape Bugs Bunny, Daffy Duck and many others. Now in their 70's, Freleng and Jones have contributed their considerable talents for over half a century. Both have received Academy Awards for their achievements as animators, but their original artwork has rarely been seen.

The Exhibit features signed and unsigned cel paintings by these two superb artists. Also featured is a collection of cels from some of Walt Disney's best-known animated films including "The Jungle Book," "Robin Hood," "Rescuers," and the very recent "The Fox and the Hound." A selection of vintage Disney animation drawings from the 1930's and 1940's, including a few choice drawings of Mickey Mouse, will also be available

Original Disney artwork has been treasured by collectors ever since the late 1930's when San Francisco's Courvoisier Galleries first offered cels to the public.

In recent years, collectors' interest has broadened to include many other studios. According to Charles Solomon, writing in the L.A. Times (June 29, 1982)), "Prices for material from other studios, especially Warner Brothers and the Fleishers, are also rising rapidly. However, it is still possible to obtain first-rate examples of animation art for less than $50.00 - in some cases for less than $25.00

The current Exhibit/Sale provides an exceptionally broad range of animation art. More than 25 different productions will be represented including cels from "The Secret of NIMH," "Gnomes," and "Tom and Jerry." Fleischer enthusiasts will be treated to meticulously hand-inked cels of Betty Boop, Krazy Kat and other popular 1930's stars. For the Fantasy buff, there is artwork from "Hoany Matal" "Heavy Metal.

With the growing interest in original animation art, many people are investing in cels. According to Gallery Lainzberg Director, Edith Rudman, "People love the characters they select. Many people like the idea of owning their own fragment of American film history. And, of course, part of the attraction is the potential for appreciation. A signed Bugs Bunny we were offering at $65 four years ago now sells for $135 to $175.

In addition to the growing number of private collectors, institutions have accumulated impressive collections of animation art for public display and study. Substantial collections can be found at New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Museum of Modern Art. Special exhibits were recently held at the Library of Congress and at important museums such as New York's Whitney Museum of Art and the Montreal Museum of Art. In addition, many universities and colleges including Princeton, Vassar, Syracuse, Johns Hopkins, Rutgers and Oberlin have begun to build cel collections.

That wacky wabbit and his friends have come a long way!

Talent dominates in "Godspell" Gene's A preview

BY TERRI LIVINGSTON Staff Writer

The 12 member cast of High Point College's production of "Godspell" is busy putting final touches on the show which will open this weekend.

The show displays much talent in the areas of singing, dancing, and acting. Each member of the cast adds his own talent which together creates a powerful production and much enjoyment for the audience.

The fast moving production and the energy of the cast keeps the attention of the audience. Each song is complimented by the profes sional choreography of Mallory Graham

The cast is proud of the work they have done and are eager for the opening of the show. Phil Valente, who portrays Jesus, spreads His wisdom through stories and

Paul Lundrigan, director of "Godspell", is also anticipating the opening. "The cast is having a good time which makes it possible for the audience to have a good time as well," Lundrigan said. The stage used for the production is surrounded by cloth panels to create the illusion of a circus tent; the actors being the circus performers, according to Lun-

"Godspell" is thrilling for the audience. The talent may surprise you. Everyone is encouraged to see the show. A good time is guaranteed.

Production dates are Friday, Mar. 25, and Saturday, Mar. 26. The following weekend shows will be Thursday, Mar. 31, and Fri., April 1.

High Point College

Page 6 - HI-PO - Wednesday, March 23, 1983

SPORTS

High Point ups record to 8-3

BY MARIO WATSON Sports Writer

Sports writer
Usually a team feels more comfortable in familiar surroundings and it was evident in March as the High Point College baseball team increased its record to 8-3, only losing to N.C. State twice and falling to Western Carolina last week.

If the familar surrounding of HPC is an asset to the team, Coach Jim Speight could be a very happy man during March.

Sunday afternoon the Panthers defeated Western Maryland 8-2 as they prepared to begin district action yesterday against Gardner-Webb at High Point. Sunday the Panthers will open conference action at home against crosstown

The Panthers, picked to finished 2nd by the Carolina Conference coaches, have played well thus far. "I feel we have won all the games we should have won and some we shouldn't have won," said Coach Speight. "The weather has played a factor not only with us but factor not only with us but other teams also."

Not only has the weather been a factor against HPC, but injuries are its biggest foe.

Panthers Mark Barnes, Steve Furman, Scott McPherson and Neal Wilbourne have all been plagued with early injuries. "If we continue to keep our heads screwed on and get our injured back on the comeback trail, we'll do just fine." Speight said.

Coach Speight said the support of the fans is appreciated and hopes the support of the Panthers will continue.

Sass paces High Point College golf team

BY MARK PHELPS Sports Editor

Three juniors head the High Point golf team as it enters the 1983 spring season that includes three season that includes three tournaments, four matches, and the conference and district tournaments. Third-year men Buddy Sass, Ted Barnhardt, and Jeff Zivic will make-up the top three positions on coach Woody Gibson's ninth Panther squad.

Sass, playing at the number one position, was named to the All-Conference team last year and coach Gibson feels he should be a mid-70's player this year. Barnhardt will be playing

Barnhardt will be playing at the number two position for the second year in a row and Coach Gibson revealed that in time, he can become an excellent performer.

Ted has alot of talent and potential. If he can use this to its fullest, he can become a very good player."

Zivic, of Avon, Connecticut, will be at the third position. His play can be characterized as having been erratic over the past two years, but he should be able settle down this year.

"Jeff hasn't reached his potential yet," Coach Gibson said. "He can be a fine player if he will take the game more seriously and work harder at it."

Freshman Matt Cohen, who was one of the top high school players in Maryland last year, will be at the fourth position. Cohen didn't play as well as expected during the fall matches but has shown improvement since and coach Gibson feels he has the potential to be a solid player.

Senior Todd Hilliard and sophomore Phillip Krimminger will play at the fifth and sixth positions respectively. Coach Gibson said that both have shown much improvement but need experience.

"Todd played baseball his previous three years and since switching to golf has worked hard to improve. Phil is a solid player who has also put in alot of work. Both will get better as they gain experience through competition."

Freshmen Eddie Carpenter and sophomore Greg Shuskey, both newcomers to the team, will also contribute during the season. Carpenter underwent knee surgery during the winter and his play has been hindered somewhat.

The Panthers played an exhibition match with Wingate and UNC-Greensboro last week in preparation for the season. Sass had top honors as heat an 82 while other High Point scores included: Barhardt 86, Zivic 87, Kohn 83, Hilliard 86, and Krimminger 83.

The match was held at Oak Hollow Golf Course, High Point's home course, under high winds and cold temperatures. These conditions caused scores to be higher than normal.

Inside HPC sports

Track team places second in quad meet

BY MARK PHELPS

Sports Editor
High Point College's track team finished second in a four-team meet at Campbell College on Tuesday, Mar.
16

Campbell took first place with 112.5 points. The Panthers finished in the second spot with 56.5 points while Methodist and Elon landed the last two places with 10.5 and four points respectively.

Senior Ralph Barnes broke his own school record in the triple jump as he finished first with a leap of 47'10". Jack Songster gave High Point its only other first place in the high jump with a 6'4" jump.

The Panthers took eight second place finishes. These winners included Ian Lewis in the 400 meters, Kent Sides in the 100 and 200 meter runs, Hatt in the 5000 meter run, Jon Richardson in the javelin, Barnes in the long jump, and Phillip Dickerson in the pole vault. High Point also finished second in the mile relay.

One pleasant surprise for the Panthers was Tom Leech, who set a personal best and finished third in the javelin with a throw of 147'8.

Mens tennis defeats Wingate

The HPC mens tennis team split its two home matches over the weekend, bringing the Panthers' overall record to 3-4, 2-1 in conference play.

On Saturday, High Point took an 8-1 win over conference-rival Wingate. All six singles players took victories as Pekka Makela, playing at the number first position, led the way as he defeated Roy Miller 6-0, 6-3. Other Panther winners included Matt Lange over Mark Mitchell 6-3, 6-2, Sami Narhi over John Nance 6-2, 6-3, Griff Thompson over Kingsley Byerly 6-0, 6-1, Francisco Bloch over Jaun Beaz 6-3, 6-1, and Roy Heilborn over Craig Culbreath 2-6, 6-0, 6-1.

In doubles, Lange and Narhi defeated Miller-Baez 6-4, 7-5, Makela-Thompson defeated Nance-John McDade 6-2, 6-2, while Heilborn-Kevin West fell victims to Mitchell-Culbreath 7-5, 3-6, 6-1, for Wingates lone win.

On Sunday, visiting Virginia Tech took a 9-0 win over the Panthers. Scoring singles victories for Tech wère Jon Romthon over Makela 6-0, 2-6, 7-5, Mark Stephens over Lange 6-0, 6-3, Kimbo Clark over Narhi 6-3, 6-2, Jerry Derenfield over Thompson 6-4, 6-0, Scott Sherman over West 6-0, 6-0, and David Wolfe over Heilbron 6-2, 6-2

Doubles winners were Alan Cannady-Sherman over Narhi-Lange 6-4, 7-5, Romthon-Clark over Makela-Thompson 6-0, 6-2, and Wolfe-Derenfield over West-Heilbron 6-0, 6-1.

Lady netters

7-2

The Lady Panther tennis team took victories in all three of their matches over the past week. The wins improved their record to 7-2.

On Mar. 16, High Point won all nine matches to defeat Elon in a Carolinas conference match. Singles winners were Ana Maria Medina, Anneli Kiviniemi, Lynn Sharkey, Helen O'Brien, Teresa Sweatman, and Dori Johnson.

Doubles winners were Medina-Theresa Regnante, Kiviniemi-O'Brien, and Sharkey-Sweatman.

On Mar. 19, the Lady Panthers defeated Mars Hill. Cory Johnson gave Mars Hill its only win as she defeated Helen O'Brien in the number four singles 6-4, 6-7, 6-1.

On Mar. 20, High Point took 7-2 win over visiting Trenton State. Singles winners for the Panthers included Medina, Kiviniemi, Sharkey, and Johnson.

High Point won all three doubles matches as Medina-Regnante, Kiviniemi-

O'Brien, and Sharkey-Sweatman took victories.

Panther Scoreboard

Farleigh Dick	lina (	rain)		Albrecht		1-0	Thur, 18 T	ownson State, Johnson (	•
ost to W. Car Farleigh Dick	olina			Collins	8.11 9.00	0-1		Smith, HPC (rain)
Farleigh Dick						omici, iii C (talli)
					4.01	2-1		Duke Devilirium at Durham
	Fri. 18 Farleigh Dickerson (rain) Sat. 19 Fairmont State (rain)				0.90	1-0	Sat. 26 G	Gardner Webb Invitational
					3.56	1-0
Tues. 22 at Gardner-Webb						0-0	WINTER and SPRING TRACK SCHEDULE - 1983
				Upchurch	0.00	0-0		(INDOOR)
				TOTALS	4.61	8-3
				Tonnis			DATE	TEAMS	SITE
	2				defeated Elon 9	1-0		Lynchburg Invitational	Lynchburg, VA
								(OLUMDOOD)
	5						Tues, Mar 1
									Campbell
							Thr, Mar 17		III. 1. D
10									High Point C.
1									Durham
									Boiling Springs
		3				Tech 0-9			High Point C.
									Davidson
							Tues, Apr 5
		6		Thur. 24	East Stroudsbu	ırg			High Point C.
		1							Charleston, SC
								2 Lynchburg, Elon	High Point C.
					0 1 11 440			DI	D 1 1.
				Tues. 15					Pembroke
328	99	60	.302		High Point 56.	5	Thr, Apr 21	Conterence Meet	Pembroke
		AB H 10 1 6 1 7 22 0 0 0 39 14 25 5 30 8 1 0 10 6 1 0 3 2 28 14 38 10 15 6 28 11 22 6 35 7 19 4 11 2	AB H RBI 10 1 2 6 1 2 7 2 1 10 0 0 39 14 13 25 5 3 30 8 1 1 0 0 6 5 1 0 0 6 5 1 1 0 0 4 15 6 4 22 8 14 3 38 10 4 15 6 4 22 6 1 35 7 8 19 4 1 11 2 2	AB H RBI BA 10 1 2 .100 6 1 2 .167 7 2 1 .286 0 0 0 0 0.000 39 14 13 .359 25 5 3 .200 30 8 1 .267 1 0 0 0.000 10 6 5 .600 1 0 2 0.667 28 14 3 .500 38 10 4 .263 15 6 4 .400 28 11 6 .393 22 6 1 .273 35 7 8 .200 19 4 1 .211 11 2 2 .182	## AB H RBI	Thompson   9.00   Tilley   8.18   Upchurch   0.00   Tilley   8.18   Upchurch   0.00   Tilley   0.00   Tilley   0.00   Tilley   0.00   Tilley   0.00   Tilley   0.00   0.00   Tilley   0.00	Thompson   9,00   2-1   Tilley   8,18   0-0   Upchurch   0.00   0-0   TOTALS   4.61   8-3   TOTALS   4.61	Thompson 9.00 2-1 Tilley 8.18 0-0 Upchurch 0.00 0-0 Tilley 8.18 0-0 Upchurch 0.00 0-0 Tilley 4.61 8-3  AB H RBI BA TOTALS 4.61 8-3  10 1 2 1.60 Women:	Thompson   9.00   2-1   Tilley   8.18   0-0   Upchurch   0.00   0-0   0-0

ANDA STRAUSS IS MAKING AVIATION HISTORY IN THE ARMY.

"I'll be seeing Germany a way no tourist can. From the cockpit of an Army Chinook helicopter.

helicopter.
"I'm being assigned to a Chinook helicopter unit in Germany as a test pilot and maintenance officer, and I'm proud that I'll be the first woman to have that assignment over there. It's a real thrill for me.

"So was learning how to fly a helicopter. It takes a lot more skill than an airplane. If you think college is demanding, flight school is even tougher. It's not only academically demanding, it's really mentally demanding as well as physically.

"In Germany, I'll have a chance to use some of the leadership and management techniques I learned in ROTC. It's going to be a real challenge having command responsibilities.

2nd Lt. Anda Strauss was a political science major at Wake Forest and a member of Army ROTC.

Contact Capt. Janney-Rm. 34, Hayworth Hall "I'm also excited about living in Germany. I'm looking forward to travelling and doing some skiing. And I really want to learn the language and get to know the people.

"I got into ROTC really just to see what it was all about. For me, it all couldn't have worked out better."

Army ROTC got Anda Strauss off to a good start. Maybe it can do the same for you. To find out, stop by your Army ROTC office on campus. While you're there, ask about our scholarships and $1,000 a year spending money you can earn in your last two years.

And begin your future as an officer.

ARMY ROTC. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

Strictly Classified

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad, type the ad doubleaced and turn it in to the HI-PO by Friday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ads turned in after this deadline will be held until the next issue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no designation, the ad will run for only one week.

Announcements

COLOR CONCERT PHOTOS from recent shows, Joel, Diamond, CSN, Doobies, Springsteen, REO, Taylor, and more. Excellent quality and prices! Tell us your favorites for sample and list. Send $1.00 plus SASE to:

Concert Photos 4 Cates St. Hillsborough, N.C. 27278

FUN FUND

Last day to borrow from the Fun Fund will be March 30, 1983. Please be advised that grades will be withheld if Fun Fund loans are not paid by April 29, 1983.

Business Office

ATTENTION:

N.D.S.L. Loan recipients: If you are graduating, transferring or do not plan to return to High Point College in the Fall you are required by law to have an exit. interview. Please call or come by the Business Office. to make an appointment for this interview.

Martin Movie Theaters are available in the Career Planning Office Monday. Wednesday and Friday from 1-5. The cost is $2.00 per ticket and they are good through May 1983.

ATTENTION: loan recipients:

Those who have borrowed from College Foundation must attend a borrower's conference that will be held on April 7, 1983 at 3:15 or 4:15 p.m. in the Campus Center Conference room. Attendance is mandatory.

$2 HPC student discounts are available for attractions at the High Point Theatre. Coupons are available on the Bulletin Board, upstairs in the Fine Arts Building Memorial Auditorium. *****

The Piedmont Artists Chamber Jazz Quartet will present an evening of pops Wednesday, April beginning at 8:00 p.m. in the Chas. E. Hayworth, Sr. Memorial Chapel on the campus of High Point College. This exciting new ensemble will be performing for the fourth of the Piedmont Artists Spring 1983 Concert Series programs. For ticket information, contact the Piedmont Artists at 889-1183 in High Point

Theta Chi Bong Show applications now available. Pick up applications from any Theta Chi (2nd floor Millis). They must be turned in by April 1. The show is on April 8. All types of talent welcome. There will be more information later.

Services

BUTTONS!! Do you have a special picture, saying, logo, etc. you would like on a 21/2 button? If so, call Tabbie - 889-9814. Reasonable

Employment

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-MENT TITLE: Waitress PART-TIME CONTACT: Kenneth Williams, Food and Beverage Director at Holiday Inn, 263 S. Main St.

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-MENT

TITLE: Telephone surveyor DESCRIPTION: Call retail and businesses and give surveys. Each survey lasts about 1 minute. PART-TIME

SALARY: Paid per survey avg. $15-20 per week CONTACT: Debra Bailey, Advance Retail systems PHONE: 788-7844 or

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-MENT: TITLE: Delivery person DESCRIPTION: 1 person needed to deliver to High Point businesses PART-TIME HOURS: 11-2:30

SALARY: $3.35 plus tips plus 15¢ per mile. CONTACT: Jeff Lentz. Manhattan Deli, Corner Elm and Kivett

PHONE: 883-7939 (Deli) or 887-1866 (office) or 869-3809 DESCRIPTION: 5-15 persons needed to drive a 1958 Cadillac limousine as needtables, counter and take PART-TIME HOURS: Flexible nights, days and weekends SALARY: $5 per hour, plus

CONTACT: Gary or Lowell Michalove ADDRESS: Annex Fur niture, 616 Greensboro Rd., past the Presbyterian Home, towards Jamestown. APPLY IN PERSON

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-MENT TITLE: Radio Air Talent/Commercial Produc-

DESCRIPTION: Regular Airshift, heavy commercial production, occasional public appearances, other tasks (Radio experience needed). FULL-TIME

CONTACT: Ed Owens at WGLD

ADDRESS: P.O. Box 2808, High Point, N.C. 27262, Phone (919) 869-0101 Send resume and air checks

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-MENT

TITLE: Radio personality DESCRIPTION: Regular Airshift, commercial production, third class license needed and understanding of FCC.

FULL-TIME CONTACT: Mike Finley, Operations Manager ADDRESS: WYYD Radio, P.O. Box 12526, Raleigh, N.C. 27605

PHONE: 919-851-2711 Send resume and airchecks OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-

MENT: TITLE: Freight movers DESCRIPTION: 4-5 males needed on 2 shifts to load and unload freight for Colonial Motor Freight (Fred Smith), located on Uwarrie Rd. (Jamestown). PART-TIME

HOURS: 12 a.m.-6 a.m. or 4 .-12 a.m. SALARY: $4 hr. CONTACT: Pick up and return application to Student Life Office, HPC OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-MENT

TITLE: Babysitters
DESCRIPTION: Need babysitters to be called at different times for 6-yr.-old twins.

PART-TIME SALARY: negotiable CONTACT: Gail Crumpler, 314 Weavil St. (off Old Winston Rd.), High Point. PHONE: 869-0827

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOYMENT: TITLE: 1 person to wait

orders PART-TIME HOURS: 11-2:30

(negotiable) SALARY: $3.45 plus tips CONTACT: Jeff Lentz, Manhattan Deli, Corner of Elm and Kivett, Call for appointment. PHONE: 883-7939 (deli or 887-1866 (office) or 869-3809

TITLE: Southern Furniture Market

DESCRIPTION: Six students per shift to work Southern Furniture Market (April 14-18), handing out newspaper for Professional Furniture Merchant

HOURS: Shifts are 8:30 a.m.-12:30 a.m. and 12:30-4:30 p.m. at $4 hour. Students are to be neat, pleasant and willing to do the right job.

CONTACT: Sign up in Student Life office between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

TITLE: Party Host ESCRIPTION: Host parties, run errands - prefer someone in sales, marketing, management. PART-TIME: (temporary) -

HOURS: 10-11 a.m. and 7-9 p.m. CONTACT: Linda Sennet,

MANPOWER PHONE: 869-0172, for application.

Male preferred, good looking, nicely dressed, 20-25 yrs. old

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-TITLE: Stock clerk and

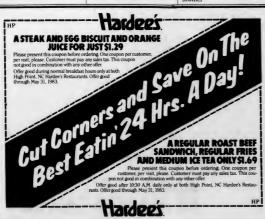

bag boys, experienced CONTACT: Mr. Wyatt ADDRESS: Big Star Food Store - corner of Montlieu and Main, apply in person

DESCRIPTION: Dishwasher needed at Katarina's Restaurant PART-TIME HOURS: M-F 11:30-3:00, M, T 5-12 SALARY: $3.35/hr. CONTACT: Kathy Brown, 882-2919

TITLE: Babysitters DESCRIPTION: Need babysitters that can be call ed for work at different times, for 2-mo. old child. PART-TIME SALARY: Negotiable CONTACT: Ann Purcell, Baker Rd. in Archdale PHONE: 434-3082

379-3276 (office)

High Point College's

"Working for a better informed campus"

High Point, N.C. 27262

Vol. 55 | INSIDE

Elections, p. 4, 5, 8

Intramurals, p. 7

Language students serve as teachers

BY LEWIS WHELESS Associate Editor

In the High Point College Foreign Language Department, students are not always just students -sometimes they are teachers, too.

The Language Department has a two-year-old program in which students who excell in language have the opportunity to teach supplementary language courses.

The courses - French 81, Spanish 81 and German 81 are one-hour credit/no credit classes taken by students on a volunteer basis. Kelley Ahl, Crystal Hedgecock and Anne Jarrett teach the French courses, Pat Connelly, Carmen Cottle and Camille Davis teach Spanish; and Suzanne Zuroff instructs the German class.

Dr. Carole Head, Chairperson of the Foreign Language Department, said the student instructors actually have the roles of "animators," rather than traditional-type teachers. They do not administer tests, but they do give some assignments.

Students who have excelled in language study are chosen to participate in the teaching program. "We try to pick someone who doesn't mind...giving a lot. They (the animators) have to be comfortable with students and out-going." Head said.

"The goal of the courses is maximum communication among students with no great emphasis on grammar. It is gratifying to see the kids communicate. Through peer teaching, students get encouragement from a model and they do not feel they are being judged – the student teachers are motivators," Dr. Head commented.

Dr. Barbara Long, an HPC foreign language professor, said, "Activities in the classes are tailored toward things in regular classes, and the (81) courses give students added practice. We gave 13 A's after spring break."

The courses consist of several activities each class period. No activity lasts over 10-15 minutes, which adds variety to the instruction. Dr. Head said the animators' job is to get the activities going.

Kelley Ahl is one of three

Kelley Ahl is one of three animators for the French 81 course, Ms. Ahl said she was

KELLEY AHL listens to her students as she directs them in French 81, a conversation class. (Photo by Marias Firpil'

"a little nervous at first"
"a little nervous at first"
about teaching her peers, but her students became very receptive" to her teaching. "I like this age group because the students are volunteering to take the course - they start with a good attitude because it (the course) is not a requirement.
I think it's a great program and I want to see it continue," said Ms. Ahl. Sociology is Ms. Ahl's major, and french is her minor, but she says that teaching french is a ''definite possibility" for her career.

Dr. Head said the teaching

Dr. Head said the teaching program is good for the instructor's record if he or she plans to pursue teaching as a profession.

Anne Jarrett, an International Business major and a French 81 teacher, said she enjoys her job because "it helps (her) relate to the students," and it helps her in the language. Ms. Jarrett has had the opportunity to experience the program from both teacher and student viewpoints because she is taking the German 81

See Foreign, p. 3

Writers' Club announces Worst Poem' contest winners

BY KIM HIGGINS

Special to the HI-PO
The Writers' Club would like to congratulate the winner of the Worst Poem Contest, Scott Morgan, for his poem "Fleas". The first place award was $10.00.

Honorable mentions go to Karen Bishoff for "Little Miss Moppett" and Alice Browne for "Mr. Fish's Wish." Honorable mentions received $1.00 each. The poems are printed below for anyone wondering what a really bad poem is like.

Our next contest will be: Funny poems using the vocabulary from your major. Every major has strange terms like "floppy disc" or "corpusal". Next time you crack the book jot down a few words and then just any form. Send them to the Writers' Club, box 3008, by April 15. The prizes are $10 for first prize, $3 for second, and 2 for third.

Scott Morgan - First place: FLEAS

Adam Had 'em

Karen Bishoff - honorable mention Little Miss Moppett

Little Miss Moppett Sat on her toppett, eating her lacto bacillus along came a spider that died right beside her and Little Miss Moppet ate

(for protein procurement)

Alice Browne - honorable mention

Mr. Fish's Wish
There once was a man named Mr. Fish
Who had a wish.
He wished for a pet.
That wouldn't get wet,
So he bought a dog
And he named it Fog.

Correction

In a story entitled "Who's inside the Purple Panther" in last week's issue, the funding source for the costume was errenously reported. The sophomore class donated $100, the SGA gave $300 and the cheerleaders donated $200.

The HI-PO regrets the er-

Editorials

It's that time again! What time? Time for SGA elections! WHOOPEE! Right? Well, it should be an exciting time, but all too often, SGA elected officers are easy shoe-ins for anyone lucky enough to have friends that vote.

The trend for the past two years has been minimum participation at elections and then maximum complaining for the following school year. Complaining isn't the problem. Complaints about SGA procedures should be expressed when dissatisfaction occurs. And believe or not, apathy isn't what I'm getting around to either.

The problem may very well be apathy-related, but isn't everything? Apathy is like cancer - Everything one does leads to cancer, just like everything one doesn't do leads to apathy. But I said I wouldn't discuss apathy, so I will not anymore.

The minimum voting participation at HPC, and also in the United States, is caused by people not realizing what they have. Voting is a freedom, and therefore taken for granted because we have never done without it. But just let the administration ban student elections and one can imagine the rioting, complaining and upset of the students. At least I hope that kind of action would take place. The same is true of our country also. The American people boast of a democracy, but each election shows fewer voters and decreasing interest in the event.

There have been numerous television interviews with people on election day, asking the people if they were going to vote, and if not, why they were not. The excuses are many: not enough time, my vote isn't important, never registered.

et. As one can see - all are valid excuses.

A person would find the time to be seen publicly noticed, and that is what voting is —a citizen giving his opinion to the rest of the country. "My vote isn't important" the poorest excuse yet. Thank goodness everyone doesn't think like that. If they did, there wouldn't be any voters. Not taking the time to register isn't the best excuse in the world either. A person will stand in line for hours to get tickets for a concert or show, and those cost money. Registering to vote is absolutely free, and I can't remember a long line outside the Registrar's office for people to register.

People will still give excuses though when they have to be a little out of their way to vote. That is why no excuses are accepted at High Point College's elections. The student doesn't have to drive anywhere. He or she just needs mosey down the stairs to the cafeteria fon the way to lunch or dinner is a good time) and vote. In fact, elections are going on right now. Now's your chance.

CRYSTAL L. HEDGECOCK

The Hi-Po is distributed on campus by Alpha Phi Omega, a National Service fraternity. This is the fifth year they have provided this service.

P.O. Box 3510 Room 209 Campus Center

Crystal L. Hedgecock	Editor-in-Chief
Lewis Wheless	. Associate Editor
Scott Morgan	Advertising and
	Business Manager
Mark Phelps	Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the El-PO.

The HI-POwelcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed, and an address must be included. If warranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as seen necessary.

Tennessee lives on

Dear Editor:

I dreamed I saw Tennessee Williams walking the ridges of east Tennessee, human dirt sparkling like true love in his wrinkles. Tennessee Williams said some dreams to the folks in my hometown. He looked over them, saw them up high so close to earth where they couldn't see themselves. They looked down, couldn't see him at all on that ancient stage, the mountaintop. Summit! Summits have given us some things we can live by, not rules, but dreams, a tongue, words formed by flesh and saliva, a way of saying and praying, the drama of the struggle up, Tennessee Williams. In Streetear, Blanche says, "Daylight never exposed so total a ruin." That ruin is not the dead Tennessee, but the living Tennessee.

Marion Hodge

Goodbye Sherm, hello pizza man

BY DR. JOHN MOEHLMANN

Special to the HI-PO Roll call. 7:02 a.m. Item 11.

Sherman Potter and his troops having come home from Korea, what? slet of network television for me is Frank and Joyce, Belker, Howard, Bobby Hill, Phil, Faye, and the rest of an odd-ball assortment of characters all urging night to fall gently while minds, bodies, and spirits are still intact. It's not unlike M*A*S*H in that respect, and I look forward to Thursday night at ten like a kid looking for weekly birning the still intact. It is not unlike M*A*S*H in that respect, and I look forward to Thursday night at ten like a kid looking for weekly birning the still interest that the still is the still interest that the still is the still interest that the still interest that the still interest that the still is the still interest that the still is the still interest that the still is the still interest that the s

Yet I won't soon forget nine o'clock Monday nights, the home of M*A*S*H, the tentcity of the sacred and profane. What high comedy! What characters! Henry Blake and his fishing hat; Frank and Hotlips; Radar and his teddy bear; Klinger and his dresses; Father Mulcahy and his forebearance; Charles and his Boston ostentation; and that trio of tricksters: Hawkeye, Trapper John, an B.J. Who's missing, here among others, is ole Sherm Potter. I really liked him. Don't get me wrong. I liked them all; heck. I loved them all - even the ingratiating CIA incompetent, and Sydney, the Jewish psychiartist. I loved Sydney. And I loved Sherm, too, He didn't get much press because of the others' madcap flash and glamour. But there was about him a crusty dignity and a seasoned self-confidence that I liked. More than this though was his administrative panache. Administration? At the 4077th? That circus of malcontents and anti-heros?

Colonel Potter was a career soldier, a veteran of two world wars. Unlike Henry Blake who seemed to have bumped into the birds on his collar while playing golf with some general. Potter seemed to have earned his. Maybe he had gone by the book early on. But at the 4077th going by the book and saving lives — and often psyches — was like harnessing to a surrey a coal black stallion and a brown appaloose mare in heat: it was neither practical, manageable, nor neither practical, manageable, nor aesthetically pleasing. How then did he manage? I doubt this surgeon on horseback knew the Latin surgeon on horseback knew the Latin etymology of administrator, which is "to be an aid to," or "to serve"; yet I sense he was this kind of noble servant, a servant, mind you, not of birds and stars on other collars, but rather a servant of his mission and off his troops. He succeeded not because of a grand scheme, but rather because he was inherently aware of who he was. Bruno Bettelheim says that to know oneself "implies an obligation to change oneself." An obligation. I like that. If anyone knew himself, it was ole Sherm Potter, Army regulations nothwithstanding.

What was Potter's self? He was proud without arrogance. Oh, occasionally, he pulled rank, but ultimately it was to restore human dignity or to save a life. Unlike Frank Burns or Margaret, Potter never demanded unwarranted allegiance either to his rank or to his medical experience. He left narcissism to the others.

He was, moreover, comfortably conscious of his limitations as a surgeon. He was good, mind you, but never as good as Hawkeye, Charles, or B.J., all eminently more talented than he. His outstanding characteristic in this regard was that instead of feeling threatened or inferior, he recognized and respected not only their skill and dedication, but also their unique grifts.

All he had to do – and I say all with some trepidation – was to harness their ideas and energies and talents while giving them their heads only slightly reined. All he did then was to be himself. Even constant insubordination – according to the book or his own vanity – was insulfficient cause to jeopardize the efficient saving of lives and restoring of

If he got angry occasionally, it was to further, not his role as colonel but, the cause of patching the wounded. He made up without grudges, for he recognized not only that his hot-shot band of surgeons was genuinely the best in its profession, but also that each member was a genuinely humane person who needed his self-styled individuality in order to produce under the worst of conditions. To hell with Army regulations and false propriety. The job was getting done. Potter seemed to know that to lose

Potter seemed to know that to lose responsibility was to lose authority. The question was decided to what or to whom he owed responsibility. Not difficult really. He earned authority by being responsible by recognition, acceptance, respect, and clever guidance - of himself (first of all), of his mission, and of his troops, though I hesitate to order them this way. They worked in concert, intuitively.

He may have been gruff, sentimental, boringly aphoristic, quasi-establishment; but, above all, he was smart that old soldier. Who didnt love old Sherm?

What's left for me now is Frank Furillo, who on Hill Street manges a precinct of crazies both in and out of uniform. The opening shot of helicopters flying in the wounded to Potter's hospital is a memory replaced now by Phil's avuncular, "Hey, HEY, HEY., Left's be careful out there," an utterance of compassion as much as it is a statement of warning. You see, he and Frank care about their people. I like Phil and Frank. In fact, I love them. They. but maybe I'll leave that to another night.

HPC TV begins spring operatioins

HPC Community TV began its spring, 1983, programming schedule on Tuesday, March 22, at 4 p.m. over Cablevision Channel 19, the public access channel. Six one-hour programs will be aired each week – on Tuesday and Thursday, 4-5 p.m. and on Wednesday, 7-8 p.m. Each first half hour features edited songs from the fall production of "Grease" by the High Point Community Theatre.

The remaining half hour of each program features reports and interviews from media communications courses. On March 22, 23, 24, 29, 30, 31, reports from the fall class of English 140, Introduction to Mass Media, will be aired. The selected reports are presented by Mary Gagner, Bob Rossi, Lisa Davido, and Brent Holsbauser

Past programming has included six half-hour programs on the station and the unique programs of the College (spring, 1982) and twelve half hour programs for Religion 83, Christian Denominations, taught by Dr. Earl Crow (fall, 1982).

Five national and state organizations have responded to requests for prerecord ed programming, particularly the Social Security office and the national Epilespy Foundation. These programs can be aired later with brief introductions by appropriate College faculty. Students in English 354.

Broadcast Production, taped the dress rehearsal of the College production of "Godspell" on Wednesday, March 23. Selected songs will be edited into a half hour program for possible airing fall, 1983.

When no programs are being aired, public service announcements are programmed on the screen by the character generator at intervals of 20 seconds for each announcement.

The following guidelines apply to programs aired over Channel 19. All material must 1. be consistent with the goals and objectives of the College, the Society for Collegiate Journalists, the FCC, and the American TV and Communications Corporation; 2. not duplicate commercial programming on any of the Triad television stations (channels 2, 8, 12, 45, 48); 3. give credit to any community organization or business participating in programming; 4. be informative and educational - an extension of any public service pro-gramming of commercial stations; 5. offer opportunity for airing of public service announcements by community organizations; 6. be applicable to the communities of High Point-Jamestown.

Present equipment and assistance have been provided by donations and grants from Mobil Oil, the HPC Rawley Fund. WGHP-TV of High Point, American TV and Communications Corporation, Cablevision of High Point-Jamestown, Channel 2, WFMY of Greensboro, and WXII-TV 12 in Winston-Salem.

In addition to being a community service mediur HPC Community TV also trains students in filming, writing, producing, and directing short programs before they enter their SCIP Internship. Auxiliary learning experiences include photography, phototypeset-ting, and ad layout since the station must advertise its programming in written form before programming begins. WFMY-TV in Greensboro recently donated a stat machine which will allow enlargement and reduction of any ad design. The TV station also serves as a small classroom for media communications courses and for foreign language courses in the CAEP Program for airing of lessons on video tape.

HPC Community TV will also air any public service announcements by the College. Any announcement must be received two weeks before date of the event. A maximum of 8 lines and 32 spaces per line is allowed. Mail typed announcements to HPC Community TV. Box 3111, Campus Mail. Only announcements concerning the community or to which the public is invited can be aired.

GLENN GROSECLOSE sets up the camera for an interview on the set of HPC Community TV.

Foreign

course and teaching the

Brian Grieves, a German 81 student, said, "I like being taught by my peers. We play games in German, (such as 'password'.) The course involves a lot of student participation."

Marisa Firpi is a senior enrolled in the German 81 course. "The class is facilitating my ability to express myself clearly and creatively in the German language, not just in using basic expressions, but by manipulating new vocabulary in order to use the language in a new, refreshing way," she commented.

Ms. Firpi said that having a peer teacher helps her to "relate without feeling judged or heavily pressured." She also said the course makes her feel confident in her ability to progress in the language.

The student animators are paid for their instruction through the Foreign Language Department budget. They are paid for an hour in class per week, an ding a workshop.

GIL EAGLES will appear livein the auditorium Apr. 10 at 8 p.m. The Gil Eagles Show presents demonstrations of E.S.P. and Hypnosis to the audience. Eagles has already appeared on more than 600 college and university campuses throughout the U.S. and Canada.

1983 SGA Elec

Two veterans vie for SGA presidency Tom Leech Mark Mashburn

I am Tom Leech and I am running for the office of SGA president. I am a prelaw major for Gaithersburg, Md.

I have served as freshman, sophomore and junior class vice-president. Currently, I am the speaker of the student government legislature. The office of president requires someone who is willing to work for the students. This past year, the SGA has failed to meet this need. As speaker of the legislature, I have seen too much apathy, most of it due to lack of initiative. The SGA president must provide initiative, and if elected, this exactly what I plan to do.

Is exactly what I plan to do.
I am running for office because I think it's time for a change; the students' voice must be respected not as a complaint, but a desire for

TOM LEECH

My name is Mark Mashburn and I am running for re-election in the office of SGA president. I am a religion major from Tobaccoville, N.C.

I am running for reelection for the office of president of SGA because I feel that after a year of liearning the ropes' and establishing good working relationships with the Board of Trustees, the administration, the faculty and most importantly, the students, that I can be effective as president of SGA.

I have attended a conference on university government which has given me a lot of ideas for implementation which need to begin in the Fall. Along with the Student Life Committee, I have attempted to change the alcohol policy and this goal is very near. I might add that it was my primary objective when I assumed office last spring.

I have given SGA a new direction which will make SGA more than a giver of money which has been it's mission in the past. Motivation is the key and the momentum is gaining. We've got a good thing going! Why change now!

MARK MASHBURN

Two vie for senior class president

Jones runs alone for SGA V-P

Talley unopposed for SGA secretary

I am Renae Talley, a secondary education major from Woodleaf, N.C. I am running for the office of SGA secretary.

I am running for SGA secretary because I am interested in the processes of the College. This year I was legislator for the sophomore class. I would like to continue being involved with SGA, and in the position of secretary would give me this chance.

My name is Judy Jones and I am running for the office of SGA vice-president. I am a communications and Spanish major from Boone, N.C.

I am running for SGA vice-president because I would like to work with Orientation and the plans for Homecoming. I want to be active in SGA, and my experience as sophomore class vice-president should be helpful.

Denise Watts

DENISE WATTS

I am Denise Watts, a biology/Spanish major from Kernersville, N.C. I am running for the office of senior class president.

Within my past three years at High Point, I have been extensively involved in the intricate workings of the College. The leadership and experience which I have gained through my various offices in campus organizations is essential for the job of senior class president. I have gained communication skills through my terms as Editor of the ZENITH and co-chairman of Entertainment and Hospitality of the Presidential Scholars. My organizational abilities have grown while serving as vice-president of Alpha Delta Theta and Coffeehouse chairman of Student Union. As sophomore judiciary, I enhanced my aptitude to reason. Active representation in the Retention, the Recruitment and the President's Advisory Committees have each in creased my campus awareness. Presently, I am serving as vice-president of the SGA. I planned, organized and conducted both Freshman Orientation and Homecoming. My realms of leadership have led me to deal with students, staff, faculty and administrators. Thus, for all these various reasons, I know that I can efficiently, effectively and suc-cessfully handle the office of senior class president.

Juniors, this office entails Senior Class Banquet, Baccalaureate, Graduation, reunions and continued work as a class sponsor once an Alumnus. To ensure the success of your senior year and subsequent years as an

Denise Watts for senior

Miriam O'Malley

class president.

I am Miriam O'Malley and I am running for the office of senior class president. I am a sociology major from Nutley, N.J.

Serving in the SGA for the past year has opened my eyes to the situations of the school and its policies. I realize that what this school needs is a sense of unity. I feel that the school must have participations in activities, such as graduation, dances and fund raisers.

MIRIAM O'MALLEY

If I get elected, I will attempt to make the senior class a more unified group of people; working together for the good of the school people; working together for the good of the school. Each year when a class graduated, there really is not a sense of lost. People wonder what that class did to better themselves and the school, and the answer often is "They did nothing." I feel that this can be different and the senior class of 1984 can be a great asset to the school and leave the undergraduates something to remember.

and tomorrow in the cafeteria during lunch and dinner

Vote today

ctions underway

Metivier vies for jr. class president

I am Denise Metivier and I am running for junior class president. I am a sociology major from High Point, N.C.

I have represented the class of '85 as president for the past two years and hope to have the honor of representing my fellow class mates as their president, once again.

As president, in the past two years, the class aided in the purchase of the Purple Panther mascot, set up a fund for new equipment for the foreign language department and had a very suc-cessful night at Cheers. If elected, I will continue to encourage other class officers to do more as an organization and not to let the year fly by without an accomplishment.

Dennis for top jr. class position

I am Robert E. Dennis, Jr. and I am running for the office of junior class president. I am a business administration major from Greensboro, N.C.

Running for class office is new experience to me. However, roles concerning abilities needed to run a class office are assets I have been acquainted with, and have displayed in my previous years of schooling. I strongly feel I can display the vital talents necessary to conduct and operate a class office. The most prestigious example exemplifying these leadership traits was an award I receiv ed my senior year in high school. The name of the award was WHO'S WHO GREENSBORO, GUILFORD COUNTY SECONDARY SCHOOLS. The award was based on numerous things such as academic and athletic excellence and extracurricular involvement. In concluding, I'd like to say I would, and will, if elected, do my best and give forth all possible time and effort in making the junior class of 1983-84 the best High Point College has ever known.

ROBERT DENNIS

Three candiates run for office of senior class legislator

Shoron Sweeney

My name is Sharon Sweeney, a political science and history major from Great Falls, VA. I am running for the office of senior class legislator.

My freshman year, I was a member of Student Union. My sophomore year I held the office of sophomore class president. As a member of SGA, I was elected to chair the Food Service Committee. I very much enjoyed participating in SGA and Student Union.

It is my belief that to have a strong and unified student body, you need to have a strong SGA filled with people interested in the school and the student body. I am very interested in High Point College and would like to have a chance to actively support her student body.

SHARON SWEENEY

Pat Connelly

My name is Pat Connelly, communications major from Fairfax, VA. I am running for the office of senior class legislator.

Having been a member of SGA for the past two years,

I believe my experience will allow me to represent the senior class in a positive way. (The first year that I was a member of SGA, I was the representative for WWIH and the second year I was a junior class legislator) I would like to assume a more active role in SGA, especially in the areas which need the most improvement (Food services or campus awareness). In the past I have been noted for taking on responsibility and sticking with it. If elected, the seniors can be assured that I will work as hard as I can for the class of '84 and

Wendi Hora

My name is Wendi Hora, a intermediate education major from Hendersonville. NC. I am running for senior class legislator.

SHANNON MOORE

PAT CONNELLY

WENDI HORA

My freshman year I was a legislator, sophomore year I was the Student Union representative to the legislature and this year I have been the secretary of SGA. I have been to nearly every meeting of the

Moore vies for ir. class legislator

My name is Shannon Moore, and I am a Communications major from Newtown, Connecticut. I am running for the office of junior class legislature.

I would like to be an active part of the student government here at HPC. In high school I was a class officer and a chairperson of committees.

Legislature since my freshman year so I know what's going on. Last fall, I attended the Student Leadership conference in St. Louis with Mark Mashburn. I believe this was a valuable experience which I hope to continue sharing in SGA.

Although I am unfamiliar with the student government here, I am interested. I think I have many good ideas and would like to share

See Elections p. 8

BILL FRAMPTON

John Brown for Sr. V-P

My name is John Brown and I am running for the office of senior class vicepresident.

In my three years at HPC, I have been very involved with my fraternity, Lambda Chi Alpha. In my senior year I would also like to be involved in the college in general, namely SGA. This is the reason I am running for senior class vice-president. I feel that my experience in my fraternity will help me help the senior class as well as the College. I have held offices as student advisory correspondent, publication chairman, acting treasurer and president of the fraternity. I will do my best to improve the college and myself if I am elected.

Frampton unopposed in Jr. V-P race Although not presently a can, and should, be a vital voting member of SGA, I atpart of the college communi-

My name is Bill Frampton and I am running for the office of junior class vicepresident. I am a religion/Christian Education major from Wilmington, De. tended all of the meetings this year. I voted at all of them, except one, in the capacity of alternate. SGA

ty. I feel however, that its power as a motivating force on this campus has been very limited.

As junior class vicepresident. I intend to work with the president in any capacity needed.

High Point College

Page 6 - HI-PO - Wednesday, March 30, 1983

SPORTS

we we all aga to provide the control of the control

RECENT SPRING RALLY marked the beginning of spring for HPC students.

Medina leads lady netters

BY MARK PHELPS

The High Point College womens tennis team ran its record to 8-3 overall, 5-0 in conference play, as it won two of its three matches the past

Ana Medina, playing at the Panther's top position, won all three of her matches and gave High Point its only victory in a 7-1 loss to Presbyterian on Tuesday, Mar. 22.

Medina defeated Kelly Shackleford 7-5, 7-6, for the lone win. The final tie-breaker was 7-5. On Friday, the Lady Panthers breezed past East Carolina in an 8-1 victory. High Point's singles winners included Medina, Anneli Kiviniemi, Helen O'Brien, Teresa Sweatman, and Dori Johnson. Teresa Regnante subbed at the number three who was out with an ankle injury.

Doubles winners were Medina-Regnante, Kiviniemi-O'Brien, and Sweatman-position for Lynn Sharkey.

High Point blasted Catawba 9-0 for a conference match Monday. Singles winners were Medina, Kiviniemi, Sharkey, O'Brien, Sweatman, and Johnson.

In doubles, MedinaRegnante, Kiviniemi-O'Brien, and Sweatman-Johnson were again victorious. All nine Panther wins were taken in only two sets

High Point is preparing take on conference-rival Guilford on Friday. The Quakers won the NAIA national championship two years ago and finished second in it last year. They are undefeated in conference play this essential.

High Point track team finishes second in G-W Invitational

BY MARK PHELPS

Sports Editor

Sports Editor
The High Point College
track team finished second in the Gardner-Wedd Invitational on Saturday, Mar. 26.

The Panthers tallied 14st points, trailing only Francis Marion, which took first with 183 points. Finishing a close third with 139 points was Presbyterian College, followed by UNC-Charlotte, four points, Lenoir-Rhyne, three points, while Johnson C. Smith participated but did not score.

Leading all High Point individual scorers was Kent Sides, who took blue ribbons in the 100 and 220 meter runs. He finished with times of 9.96 and 22.81.

Other Panthers taking firsts were Ralph Barnes with a 43 5' effort in the triple jump: Jon Richardson with a 117'2' throw in throw in the javelin: Phil Dickerson, with a 11'9' leap in the pole vault; and Jack Songster, with a 6 leap in the high jump. The High added a first place.

At the Duke Devilirium on Wednesday, Mar. 23, Songster led the Panthers as he took first in the high jump with a 6° effort. He also placed third in the triple jump with a 431 leap. Barnes finished just Barnes finished just ahead of Songster in the triple jump with a 45' effort. Richardson's 170' javelin throw landed him a third while Sides added a second in the 100 meters in 11.0 seconds. No team scores were kept.

Intramural bowling coming to an end

BY MICHAEL PISANO

Sports Writer
The intramural bowling season will come to an end this week with either the Lambda Chi "A" team or the Chain Gang emerging as champions:

In the semi-finals last week, the Lambda Chi's defeated the Theta Chi "A" team (who finished fourth), and the third place Delta Sigma Phi "A" team. The finals between the Chain Gang and the Lambda Chi's will take place later this week at High Point Lanes.

The intramural softball league includes nine teams fighting for diamond supremacy.

Leading the league so far are the Chain Gang 3-0, and the Brew Crew 3-1. Team "X", Lambda Chi "A", and Pika "A" teams have 1-1 records. The Delta Sig "B" and "A" are 1-2 and 0-1. The Pika "B" team and the Theta Chi's are 0-1 and 0-2.

Panther Scoreboard

	BASEE	ALL			Pitching					TRA	CK	Friday	25	W. Va.
Hitting					Name Albrecht		ERA W-L 6.87 1-0	Tues. Sat.	29		ivingston (late) on Relays	Sunday Monday	27
Name	AB	R	HR	BA	Collins		8.10 0-1					Wednesday	30	Elon
Barber	14	2	1	.071	Dupree		1.50 1-0			TEN	NIS	Thursday	31	Harvard
Barnes	6	0	0	.167	Humbert		2.77 3-1	Women:				m 1 .	_	De 100
Barra	10	1	Õ	.300	Mizell		4.15 1-1	Tues.	22		Presbyterian	Tuesday A	pr 5
Carter	0	1	0	.000	Scott		3.44 1-0	Fri.	25		l East Carolina	Wednesday	(
Carty	48	9	Ö	.313	Thompso	n	4.09 3-1	Mon.	28		d Catawba	D 14.		Christian
Crews	32	9	1	.188	Tilley		8.18 0-0	Tues.	29		d "B" (late)	Friday	8
Dupree	37	10	ō	.243	Upchurch		.000 0-0	Fri.	1	Guilfor	1			Conf.
Everett	2	0	0	.000	openaren	•	4.37 10-4	Men:				0-4	,	0
Furman	10	2	1	.600			4.01 10 1	Wed.	30	Elon		Saturday	ć
Horniak	1	0	0	.000	Tues.	22	defeated Gardner-Webb	Thur.	31	Harvan	d d			Conf.
Humbert	3	3	1	.667	1000		4-0					m a
Lucas	36	6	0	.444	Sat.	26	lost to Slippery Rock 2-6				r college	Tuesday	12	St.
Pisano	51	9	1	.255		26	defeated Slippery Rock		N'S	TENNI	S SCHEDULE	Wednesday		Augustine's
Rowand	21	9	0	.333			11-3	Friday		Mar.	18 Catawba	Friday	13
Russell	37	10	3	.432	Sun.	27	Guilford (late)	Saturda			19 Wingate		19
Sprinkle	28	3	0	.286		28	Oberlin (late)	Sunday			20 Va. Tech	Saturday	10
Waynick	35	8	1	.200	Tues.	29	Pembroke State (late)	Tuesday			22 Guilford	Monday	12	Wilmington Greensboro
Whitney	27	3	0	.222	Wed.	30	Catawba	Wednes			23 Pembroke	Wednesday	20
Wilbourne	14	6	0	.143		31	Elon	Thursda	ay		24 E.	wednesday	2
Totals	402	87	9	.296	Sat.		Wingate				Stroud- sburg	Fri-Mon	22-2	Abbey 5 District 26

TRY SOMETHING DIFFERENT NEXT SEMESTER LEARN TO LEAD

PRE-REGISTER FOR ROTC

TIME	DAYS M & W	COURSE NUMBER MSC 151A	COURSE TITLE	INSTRUCTOR Staff
1:00-1:50 1:00-1:50	M & W T & Th	MSC 151A MSC 110A	ROTC & The National Defense	Staff
2:00-1:50	M (only)	MSC 111A	Military History	Staff
2:00-2:50	M & W	MSC 212A	First Year Advanced	Staff
3:00-4:30	M (only)	MSC 212L	Lab	Staff
2:00-2:50	M & W	MSC 252A	Second Year Advanced	Staff
3:00-4:30	M (only)	MSC 252L	Lab	Staff
2:30-3:30	T & Th	MSC 151B	Leadership	Staff

First Year Advanced ROTC pays $100 a month. To enroll in this class you must have previously taken 3 ROTC courses, or attended basic camp at Fort Knox, Kentucky this summer.

ALL COURSES ARE TWO CREDIT HOURS - ROTC AND THE NATIONAL DEFENSE, LEADERSHIP, MILITARY HISTORY. Pre-register at the ROTC office, room 34, Hayworth Hall

Strictly Classified

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad, type the ad doublespaced and turn it in to the HI-PO by Friday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ads turned in after this deadline will be held until the next issue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no designation, the ad will run for only one week.

Announcements

Communications reminders

1. The Student Advisory Committee for the English Department will meet on Thursday, March 31, at 2:30 p.m. in Cooke 23 to begin work on contacting past English and Communications alumni.

2. A pre-preregistration meeting will be held on Thursday, April 7, at 2:30 p.m. in Cooke 23 to plan schedules for fall, 1983. Bring a copy of the College catalogus and the class schedule with you. schedule with you. Preregistration will be on

 Communications majors entering the SCIP internship for summer and fall, 1983, should have 5 copies of the application and contract submitted by Monday, April 18. The department SCIP meeting will be held on Thursday, April 23, at 2:30 p.m. in Cooke 23.

Last day to borrow from the Fun Fund will be March 30, 1983. Please be advised that grades ill be withheld if Fun Fund loans are not paid by April 29, 1983.

Business Office **** ATTENTION: loan recipients: Those who have borrowed from College Foundation must attend a borrower's conference that will be held on April 7, 1983 at 3:15 or 4:15 p.m. in the Campus Center Conference room. Attendance is mandatory. $2 HPC student discounts are available for attractions at the High Point Theatre. Coupons are available on the Bulletin Board, upstairs in the Fine Arts Building. Memorial Auditorium.

***** The Piedmont Artists Chamber Jazz Quartet will present an evening of pops on Wednesday, April beginning at 8:00 p.m. in the Chas. E. Hayworth, Sr. Memorial Chapel on the campus of High Point Col-This exciting new ensemble will be performing for the fourth of the Piedmont Artists Spring 1983 Concert Series programs. For ticket information, contact the Piedmont Artists at 889-1183 in High Point.

Theta Chi Bong Show applications now available. Pick up applications from any Theta Chi (2nd floor Millis). They must be turned in by April 1. The show is on April 8. All types of talent welcome. There will be more information later.

BUTTONS!! Do you have special picture, saying, logo, etc. you would like on a 2½" button? If so, call Tabbie - 889-9814. Reasonable prices.

Employment

TITLE: Manager trainees DESCRIPTION Thomasville and High Point Mayberry stores FULL-TIME SALARY: Negotiable CONTACT: Jill Holbert (Thomasville Manager), Southgate Shopping Ctr. phone 476-7296.

Interviews Mon.-Fri., hours TITLE: Domestic workers DESCRIPTION: Need persons on-call for work as babysitters. windows, housework, et. PART-TIME, as needed SALARY: Varies

CONTACT: Patty Reape. Call for appointment, 889-0101 at House Calls. Interviewing at 116 W. Broad St. - one block off Main,

DESCRIPTION: Insurance sales, Administrative duties. Must have interest in insurance career. This is an independent insurance agen-

FULL-TIME CONTACT: Rudy Hinnant Insur. Agency, 889-3033

DESCRIPTION: Someone to work in retail tires and appliance store -miscellaneous

HOURS: 20-28 hrs. per wk. SALARY: $4 an hr. CONTACT: Charlie Carmichael, Carolina Tire Co., English Rd., High Point. Phone 882-6895.

*Prefer upperclassmen and someone from this area.

TITLE: Summer day camp DESCRIPTION: perience for summer day camp. Campers between ages of 7-13. Mid-June through mid-August.

MENT CONTACT: Send resume to Camp Wayside, 400 Radio Rd., Charlotte, N.C. 28216

TITLE: Babysitter DESCRIPTION: Someone needed to keep two children in their home after school. PART-TIME You must have transportation and be available from 3:00-6:00 M·F.

PHONE: 869-6797 after 6 p.m. or on weekends Reference required available immediately.

TITLE: Babysitters DESCRIPTION: babysitters that can be called for work at different TITLE: Party Host times, for 2-mo, old child. PART-TIME

SALARY: Negotiable CONTACT: Ann Purcell Baker Rd. in Archdale PHONE: 434-3082 379-3276 (office)

DESCRIPTION: Dishwasher needed at Katarina's Restaurant PART-TIME HOURS: M-F

11:30-3:00, M, T 5-12 SALARY: $3.35/hr. CONTACT: Kathy Brown, 882-2919

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-MENT

TITLE: Babysitters DESCRIPTION: Need babysitters to be called at different times for 6-yr.-old

PART-TIME SALARY: negotiable CONTACT: Gail Crumpler, 314 Weavil St. (off Old Winston Rd.), High Point.

TITLE: Freight movers DESCRIPTION: 4-5 males needed on 2 shifts to load and unload freight for Colonial Motor Freight (Fred Smith), located on Uwarrie Rd. (Jamestown).

HOURS: 12 a.m.-6 a.m. or 4 p.m.-12 a.m. SALARY: $4 hr

CONTACT: Pick up and required dent Life Office, HPC

ESCRIPTION: Host parties, run errands - prefer someone in sales, marketing, management.

PART-TIME: (temporary) HOURS: 10-11 a.m. and 7-9

CONTACT: Linda Sennet, MANPOWER

PHONE: 869-0172, for ap-

Male preferred, good looking, nicely dressed, 20-25 yrs. old

Elections Zuroff vies for ir. class

My name is Suzanne Zuroff and I am running for junior class legislature. I am from Fayetteville, N.C. and I am majoring in internationai business legislator

I have been one of my class legislatures since my freshman year. I am familiar with how the student government works and enjoy being a part of the organization. I was very active in my high school student council and held a few offices and chairmanships. I have ideas that I want to be heard and the only way is to be a member of the S.G.A.

Three run unopposed for sophomore offices

Peggy Draper

My name is Peggy Draper and I am running for the office of sophomore class president. I am a communications major from

I have served as freshman class vice-president at HPC. In high school I was president of the Student Council and vice-president of the iunior class.

> Tammy Riggs

and I am running for the office of sophomore class vicepresident. I am from Statesville, N.C. and I am majoring in business administration. I was legislator for the freshman class on S.G.A. I feel that we need an in-terested S.G.A. -- people who really care and want to work for the school. I am concerned about the problems at HPC and want to help change things.

Mary Van Horn

My name is Mary Van Horn and I am running for the office of sophomore class legislator. I am from Lutherville, Md.

I have been the secretary of my sorority pledge class and the secretary of two clubs in high school. I would like to be sophomore class legislator, because I feel the need to be involved with activities on campus.

MARY VAN HORN

High Point College's

"Working for an uninformed campus"

HIP PO

Low Stub, N.C. 372436

...

Volume, 1 ltr.

Issue uno

April Fools

OUTSIDE

$1.76 million Pantherdome, p. 089

Terrorists bombard HPC and demolish library construction

BY SENSATIONAL -SEEKING LEW Staff Bum

Terrorists driving bulldozers and armed with wrecking balls, sledge hammers and axes bombarded the High Point College campus early today and destroyed the construction of the new library.

The terrorists, calling themselves the National Bulldozers Association, tore through a construction fence and immediately began demolishing the structure, which was more than 75 percent complete.

Residents in Women's dorm (a building located next to the construction site) said they were awakened at 6 a.m. by voices' screaming "Death to higher education

- ignorance is bliss!"

Ayre Head, a Women's resident, said, "I had just dozed off after a night out at Cheers, and jumped out of bed when I heard a bunch of thunderous motors outside the window. Naturally, I thought the construction crews were getting an early start, but I never dreamed in a million years that it was the demolition crews that were getting the early

Women's resident advisor Sheeza Boss reportedly called the High Point Police Department, but police arrived too late to thwart the terrorist's destruction.

received to the terrorist's destruction.

Police Captain Furmen
Ruff said officers arrested three men and an elderly woman in connection with the incident soon after the officers arrived on the scene.
The three suspects are identified as Ignoe Rance, 27, U.
Sless, 19, Dee Stroy, 35, and Dinah Myte, 97. All the suspects live in Mayberry.
RFD.

The National Bulldozer Association is a group that reportedly wants to wipe out higher education in the United States. The groups motto stresses that "ignorance is bliss, stupidity is divinity."

High Point College President, Dr. Charlie Lucky, labeled the destruction as an "abomination to education. As for the library, we can rebuild it, we can make it better - bigger, stronger, more scholarly than ever before. We will call it the $6 million library," said Lucky.

NATIONAL BULLLDOZER ASSOCIATION destroy the new library. (Photo by arisa-May

million library," said Lucky.
The Library Building Committee plans to raise the funds necessary to rebuild the unbuilt library. HPC Bored member Fuller Mony said the library committee will initiate the fund-raising project by holding a car

Lucky said, "As long as the terrorists remain behind bars our college community will be safe. But if anyone hears even the faintest rumbling of bulldozers in the distance, he or she should call me immediately at 885-RUIN. That-that-that-that's all, folks."

wash in the parking lot of Tom's Brass Rail on Greensboro Rd. "Sure do wish we'd taken out terrorist insurance on the new book palace - I ain't in much of a mood to get out and wash cars til 1999," Mony said.

Two bars to open on campus

BY KARLA "SCOOP" GREEN Wasted Editor

The students in favor of adcohol on campus will be excited to hear this piece of late breaking news...a bar on campus is opening tonight! The Empty Space Theatre will tonight reopen as the Empty Space Lounge.

To raise money for future operation, admission will be charged in the form of membership at $2.00 per person. Students must show their student ID cards at the door. The opening is sponsored by the SGA.

This however, is the experimental project of the SGA under the supervision of the recently appointed Faculty Advisory Committee on Alcohol (FACA). In a private meeting with SGA officers earlier this week, the project was temporarily approved pending student and administration reaction.

The comments of the SGA President was, "If students really care about the success of the drinking on campus ruling, then they must abide by the rulings of the college." The Board felt that this project may bring about "better safety precautions" in the face of the recent publicity of drinking and driving laws in North Carolina.

So everyone come out tonight and support the SGA. Non-alcoholic beverages will be served as well. Tonight should prove to be a good night to open such a bar...being April Fools Day and all! Happy Fools Day.

BY MINNIE MOUSE

Staff Sneak
Following weeks of controversy, President Charles Lucht announced today that

Lucht announced today that a bar for all students will open in the former Faculty Dining room.

The bar, which SGA voted to name the "Wasting Space," will feature a 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. daily Attitude Adjustment Hour, followed by a 7 p.m. to midnight study break. The study break will feature 2 for 1 drinks.

President Lucht expressed relief that the much-discussed alcohol policy was finally resolved.

He said he hoped that the "Wasting Space" will benefit both students and

Special hours for faculty admission are 12 p.m. to 1

One faculty member said he was "delighted the College opened up an area for true enlightenment."

The students at the College have planned the grand opening for the "Wasting Space" tonight at 6 p.m. For one night only, all students and faculty will be admitted into the bar together to celebrate a truly momentus occasion.

Michael Cottage of Harris Cott

Terrorists bombard HPC and demolish library construction

I wo nars to open on campus

Football program returns to HPC in '85

BY BEAU THOMAS

Special to the HI-PO
The High Point College
Board of Trustees and Athletic Department met Monday afternoon in a grueling, five hour session behind closed doors. The result set the pace for some of the most surprising news in the college's illustrious history.

In the fall of 1985 football will return to the sports program at High Point College. This comes after a twenty five year absence of the fall classic on the High Point gridiron.

The return of football is believed to be a catalyst in boosting the enrollment, which has declined drastically in recent years, and most importantly, to give High Point College a firm leg to stand on as far as athletic reputation is concerned.

Opening day will not be until August 28, 1985. This will provide ample time for the erection of the $1.76 million dollar Pantherdome, which will be completed in the early spring of 1985.

The dome will display a two million dollar video screen scoreboard, astro-turf playing surface, and accommodations for fifty thou-sand fans. The Pantherdome will not only be used for athletic events. The dome will be acoustically perfect for concerts and theatre productions. This is a big plus for High Point, which previously had sub-par facilities for major entertainment events. In the past the college lost many reputable accounts due to the poor accommodations for concerts and ridiculously stringent rules on obtaining the gymnasium for anything other than basketball.

A partial list of coaches was announced at the press conference and included. Mike Pittman. former fullback at Bowling Green University who set many NCAA rushing records in the early seventies, will step down from his Director of Student Life post to become head coach of the Fighting Panthers. "It is a great honor for me to receive this position," said Pittman, who was signed only a one year contract. Sources indicate that Pittman will resign from the team after only a year so that he can pursue his lifetime desire. "With one full year at High Point behind me, that should give me the experience I need to fullfill my lifetime dream of coaching a professional football team whose name doesn't end with the letter "s". I've already been offered a job from the Chicago Blitz of the U.S.F.I. and boy am I, excited."

Pittman then tried on the official jersey of the soon-to-be Panthers, raised his right fist into the air and said, "Look out George Allen and go team." Reporters then looked at each other in confusion, wondering exactly what he meant by that last statement.

Ivy league wide receiver James Stitt was named the offensive coordinator. Stitt is most remembered for catching twenty-two passes in one game in 1968 as Boston University defeated Finster College, 107-6. The position of offensive co-ordinator is most appropriate for Stitt, whose offensive and abusive tongue gamered him the nickname "Trashmouth" in the 1969 playoffs at Purdue.

The Reverend Vance "Mad Dog" Davis, who was an All-american tackle at Yale in the late sixties, was named defensive ordinator. Davis was offered one of the most lucrative contracts by the Green Bay Packers in 1970 but elected to enter the ministry because of the guilt suffered when he single handedly was responsible for the deaths of six NCAA quarterbacks (including his own) during the latter part of the 1969 series. Hence the name "Mad

The remaining coaches include James "Fourth down and short yardage" Elson, Faiz R. Faizi, Jumpin John Ward, Frank Whatley, and former High Point College football coach Dr. Louis B. Pope.

When Coach Pittman was questioned about the caliber of his new coaching he responded by raising his right fist in the air and saying. "Look out George Allen and go team."

The students and faculty at HPC are ecstatic since hearing the news of its newest sports team. Elaborate parties and ticker tape parades set the scene on Main Street late Tuesday afternoon as hordes of fans gathered to greet their newest team and coaches. However it was just coaches who rode down Lexington Avenue on the Tom's Brass Rail float since the team is non-existent as of yet. This was evident by all of the

The community was also very happy upon hearing the news. One parade-goer who we'll call Hank stated, "It's good for the college and it's good for the students' morale. I mean what's a college without booze or football?"

empty floats.

Tryouts begin in the spring of 1985 for the Panthers under Coach Pittman who was continuously seen throughout the parade raising his right fist and saying, "Look out George Allen and go team."

The Rolling Stones, others to play at HPC

BY FUNNY FARMER

Staff Comedian

Student Union President Mike Louia today announced the Last Class Bash itinerary.

Because of a limitless bedget provided by SGA, Louia said "For once we can really have what we want!"

The Last Class Bash will take place in Central Park in New York City and Louia said HPC has chartered five Piedmont 747 jets to fly all interested students and their guests there.

Once in Central Park, five bands will entertain throughout the day, Louia said.

The performers featured are Kool and the Gang, Hall and Oates, Toto, The Rolling Stones and Bruce Springsteen.

Louia said the bands were chosen by bidding. The bands bidded to play the job and the lowest bidders were accepted.

Louia said by using this method, more money was saved for "other things."

Steve Lucather of Toto said, "The band has never been more excited about playing anywhere than they are about playing for High Point College. Mick called me up when he found out about the gig and asked me how he could play there too. This High Point gig has the whole music world buzzing. Playing there really means you are somebody."

"We cancelled our European tour so we could play for High Point College," Darryl Hall said. "We wouldn't miss this for the world!"

Louia said the College seems "pretty excited" about this year's Last Class Bash. He expects a turn-out of about 125 people.

people.
"That's a fair amount to expect from High Point College at something like this," Louia said.

According to Louia, plane departures are at 8 a.m., 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. from the Regional Airport.

In defense of the innocent editors

Of course, none of the junk that appears on these pages is true. In fact, we found all this stuff sitting on the floor of the HI-PO office when we walked in this morning, and we got this great urge to go to Somel ayout.

If anyone is to be blamed, it is not Crystal L. Hedgecock of 303-C Belk (phone 889-5883) or Lewis Wheless of 1414 Madison Ave. (Phone 882-4072) because those names do not appear above any of the articles in here.

.........

FREE Coupon

OUR ADVERTISING DEPT., i.e., Scott Morgan, has gone on strike, so you can make your own coupon this week. Just fill in the white space below, and the savings will begin!!

Ty-Po Staff

Blackmail Editor ...... Karla Green

Liars ...

Karen Hernandez, Terri Livingston Tabbie Nance . Tana Parker, Michael Pisano Bob Rossi

Pitcher drawers

Bob Rossi Marisa Firpi, Bill Johnson, Karen Hernandez

The Golden Age

We welcome the administration's recent an nouncement that the entire college will be computerized by next semester. When we return to school next August, say officials, we will find Apple II computers in the residence halls, classrooms, faculty offices, gymnasium, tennis courts, and baseball field. Also, the latest in ar-tifical intelligence, a SuperSlash ZZX-4000, is to be installed in a central location to govern to be installed in a central location to govern the VDT's and a corps of robots, Robots? Yes, when we return next fall, there will robots washing the dishes, mopping the floors, and distributing standardized modules in the Writing Center, among other things. All we'll have to do is watch.

In answer to charges that human beings will be replaced by machines, Systems Analyist Ahab Borgia said, "No. I prefer to think that we will gain efficiency." We must applaud such forthrightness. It's time HPC faced facts. Certain adjustments must be made in response to decreasing enrollment and a continuing poor decreasing enrollment and a continuing poor economy. After all, why should students have to get up at an ungodly hour, put on makeup, get dressed, and get their books together to get to an 8 o clock class when they could roll over, hit the "power" button on their VDT"s and get all the information they need? A computer can read a textbook to students just as well as a human being can.

And the excitement is just beginning. According to Borgia, within a decade HPC will be admitting home robots themselves. Our money problems will be over!

Won't it be simply hypnotizing to watch a robot stand at mid-court and hit every single shot?

Assistant Professor of

Noiram Egdoh Over-Reaction

Crystal L. Hedgecock ..... Muckracker-in-chief Lewis Wheless ..... Sleez #2 Scott Morgan . Moneygrubber

Mark Phelps . . . . . . . . . Enquirer Reject

The opinions herein are probably not worth reading. This paper's only real value lies in the bottom of a bird cage somewhere.

The HIP-PO could really care less what you think, so just keep yur mouths shut, okay? Most letters will probably be ignored whether they are typed, carved, or sealed in gold. The HIP-PO reserves the right to make up stuff as seen necessary.

......

Dear Sleezy Editor,

This apathy thing you keep harpin' on makes me want to puke, but I don't feel like it. Ya wanna know what I think about apathy -well, here's what I think:

Signed, Ike Uld Karelest

-Strictly Satirized-

STRICTLY SATIRIZED is for personal degradation, shady services, stolen merchandise you want to sell quick, and rides to and from your probation/parole officer's office. To submit an add, write it on whatever is handy (old toilet paper, skin, dirty socks, etc.), and return it when the mood hits you to do so. Any ads turned in later than June 28, 2038 will be submerged in lighter fluid and hurned to ashes. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run: otherwise, it might sit on the page and rot.

Announcements

SENIORS, don't forget to come by the Real World Office for your life-time supply of valium. We hear it's a tough world out there after graduation.

EMPLOYMENT applications for summer positions in the State Hospital for the Criminally Insane are available in the Career Risking Office. Attendance at HPC for one semester is the only qualification needed for the job.

The following on-campus interviews will be conducted sometime between now and armageddon:

SOMETIME IN 1984 --Anti-nukes of America will be conducting interviews for protest marchers and signpainters.

JULY 4, 2076 - Interviews will be conducted for anyone interested in helping to inundate the media with a bunch of hoopla about the tricentennial (interviews subject to revolution).

TODAY - The Unemployment Office will be conducting interviews for anyone who LOVES to work but get absolutely NOTHING accomplished.

ATTENTION: Loan recipients - Do you enjoy living? Well, it's just like this if you ain't made complete and we mean complete payment to the Financial Aid Office by yesterday, then don't count on taking any more morning jogs, don't plan on being able to lift a pencil for a while; in fact, just don't plan on feelin' too good for a long, long time...and don't be surprised if you wake up with a horse in your bed one morning.

Services

Need insurance to protect yourselves from those persistent, less-than-friendly, arm-breaking loan sharks in the Student "Aid" Office? Call Bruno or Chico at 555-MONY

Merchandise

PRICED FOR QUICK SALE - 1979 Cadillac limousine, equipped with TV, hotline to Russian embassy, bullet-proof windows, jelly bean canisters, a lifetime supply of Grecian formula, and a Nancy Reagan red interior. Only one owner (an elderly resident of Washington, D.C. who only drove to a retreat on weekends to chop wood and ride horses.) Call 555-PRES (If no answer, call Andro, at 555-IISSR)

Employment

TITLE: Toilet bowl

DESCRIPTION Must answer to "tidy-bowl man," and be able to fit into a very small tank. FULL-TIME

CONTACT: The Sani-Flush Corp., 238 Urinality Dr., Pee Wee, Va. PHONE: 555-FLUSH.

TITLE: Bratsitter

DESCRIPTION: Need sitter for my 10 small yung'uns. They ain't too mannerly, but they'll give ya plenty of good oi' exercise! I'll probably need ya most anytime, and if you and the yung'uns hit it off alright, then ya just might be able to keep the little kirtters.

CONTACT: Snuffy Smith, 333 Poverty Rd., Backwoods, Tenn. PHONE: Ain't got none.

TITLE: Chewin' gum scraper

DESCRIPTION: Need an ambitious young person who has a sharp razor blade and who can fit under small school desks. Intellegence not necessary or desirable, just so long as you can scrap that chew gum.
MOSTOF-THE-TIME

CONTACT: Mr. Wrigley, The Little Red School House, Bazooka, Mich. Phone 555-CHEW.

DEKNING 102 ХЕИОРНОИ HERACLITUS NOWIL EURIPIDES EFTCOROS THOCKDIDES THEOCRITUS DIONAZINZ DEMOSTHENES PYTHAGORAS ARISTOTLE PLUIAKCH PLATO ARISTOPHANES PLADAK VKCHTWEDES HOMEK ANDJAXANA HIPPOCRATES 40STV HESTOD VESCHATOS

Can you find the hidden Ancient Greeks?

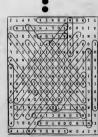

Z	T	d	A	٦	χ	3	N	0	d	Н	0	N	I	1
I	A	Э	S	Э	Н	Y	٦	n	S	0	n	S	I	A
S	3	0	3	n	d	0	S	3	A	W	S	3	N	S
A	n	χ	S	Z	1	d	a	Я	0	3	3	A	a	Э
٦	3	I	3	3	I	I	I	0	N	В	N	a	S	n
d	0	N	S	N	0	S	В	3	I	A	0	3	n	Я
Н	٦	3	0	Y	1	3	Н	Э	X	S	1	3	1	I
2	0	A	Э	0	N	1	M	A	0	A	3	N	I	d
Я	В	N	1	Z	S	0	9	I	В	Э	0	Н	٦	I
A	Н	٦	0	0	3	0	I	Э	Н	M	Н	A	Э	а
1	3	3	M	0	Я	N	0	a	I	Э	1	1	A	3
n	S	3	N	A	Н	d	0	1	S	I	Я	A	В	s
٦	a	A	S	3	d	I	0	n	Я	n	S	A	3	S
d	٦	0	0	· I	S	n	1	0	0	0	В	3	H	3
d	Y	1	Н	A	9	0	Я	A	S	W	0	d	I	Н

eollegiate camougallage

Well, how handy!
--Answers right below the puzzle. These are for thos of you who still depend on mom to tie your shoes each morning.

The crossword answers below are for a puzzle that appeared in the Nov. 18, 1968 issue of the HI-PO. If you run across that issue these answers will surely come in handy.

BUILDING NEEDS?Contact WRENN Construction

CONTRACTORS

High Point College's

"Working for a better informed campus"

High Point, N.C. 27262

April 13, 1983

Vol. 55

Issue 16

INSIDE

Sports, p. 6 Greek activities, p. 3

Five days of activities

Plans underway for Last Class Bash

HERNANDEZ Staff Writer

It's spring time!!! We only have two more weeks of school left and that great celebration called "Last Class Bash" is on a roll.

Jeanine Halverson, an intern working in student activities, has organized series of activities which will go on throughout the week of April 25-29. She said, 'nothing is definite vet but we want to list the possible activities and times so that everyone gets psyched to have a good time.

Possible activities in-

Monday - The group "Camouflage" will be doing mime through the day all

Tuesday - Who knows? Wednesday - Campus Skate in the afternoon and a Laser Show at night.

Thursday - A person will be around the student center drawing caricatures for Friday - The Jammer Frisbee Team will be holding exhibitions through the day. Regional bands will be playing through the afternoon. A lady will be taking old time pictures for $5.00, and a "Picnic" is going to be held at dinner time.

Halverson also said if any sorority or fraternity was interested in selling munchies around the campus during this week, they should contact her by Wednesday, Apr.

SGA election results announced

race against

Mashburn

TOM LEECH

Leech elected as Following are the names of the 1903-1903 OGA

Following are the 1903-1903 OG Renae Talley - SGA Secretary Burt Evans - SGA Treasurer Miriam O'Malley - Senior Class President John Brown - Senior Class Vice-President

Following are the names of the 1983-1984 SGA and class

Scott Morgan - Senior Class Judicial Representative Scott Morgan - Senior Class Judicia 12, Sharon Sweeney - Senior Class Legislator Teriann Cleary - Senior Class Legislator Pat Connelly - Senior Class Legislator Wendi Hora - Senior Class Legislator Robert Dennis - Junior Class President Bill Frampton - Junior Class Vice-President Shannon Moore - Junior Class Legislator Suzanne Zuroff - Junior Class Legislator Todd Harmon - Junior Class Legislator Suzanne Gillespie - Junior Class Legislator David Groseclose - Junior Class Judicial Representative Peggy Draper - Sophomore Class President Tammy Riggs - Sophomore Class Fresident
Mary Van Horn - Sophomore Class Legislator
Stanley Potter - Sophomore Class Legislator

Ted Coryell · Sophomore Class Legislator Chris Moschella · Sophomore Class Legislator Two hundred fourteen students voted in the elections, according to Jeanine Halverson in the Student Life Office.

Hartsoe fills position

CHARLES HARTSOE is the new business manager.

(Photo by Marisa Firpi) BY TABBIE NANCE Staff Writer

Charles Hartsoe became High Point College's new business manager on March 28. Hartsoe filled the position left vacant by Kenneth Although new to HPC, Hartsoe is not new to the area. He has lived in High Point 22 years, employed as a vice-president and treasurer for Adams-Millis Corporation. Before moving to High Point, Hartsoe worked as a Certified Public Accountant in Winston-Salem.

"I am impressed with the business office here," Hart-soe said. "It is very well run and I am fortunate to come into such a department."

Orginally from Maryland, Hartsoe graduated from the University of Maryland with a degree in Business Administration and Accoun-

Back on the air at 10 watts

WWIH's license revoked due to false validity

BY KAREN HERNANDEZ Staff Writer

On March 14 the Student Government Association held a special meeting due to the false validity of WWIH's license to operate at 100 watts on the frequency of 91.5mhz.

During this meeting, Pat Connelly, ex-station explained, manager explained WWIH, like any other station, has a lawyer who deals with the paper work and government agencies in order to obtain an operating license. The lawyer in charge for WWIH's business informed the station that he had received a letter from the FCC commissioning the college to transmitt at 100 watts on the frequency of 91.5mhz.

About two months ago, the FCC came to the station to conduct a routine station check and obtain a copy of the license. Later that week the station received a letter from the FCC informing them that they could not broadcast because:

• The FCC had never commissioned High Point College to operate in the frequency of 91.5mhz at 100 watts.

• The signature of the man who supposedly authorized the application for this change had been an employee of the FCC five years ago, making his authorization illegal.

·The frequency in which the station was transmitting was interferring with WUNC-Chapel Hill.

· A suggestion was made that the college reapply for a license and conduct a frequency search within 50 days or else they (WWIH) would be taken off the air.

This left HPC with no

license to operate on 100 watts, meaning they had to go back into operating on 10 watts in the frequency of 90.3mhz. The FCC acknowledges that High Point College acted in good faith, therefore charges will not be brought against the college. Connelly requested the SGA to allocate $2600 to be used to conduct a frequency search by WGLD's engineer Tom BonDurant and other engineers. A new lawyer who will take charge of the reapplication of a license in order for the station to be able to operate at 100 watts.

Currently WWIH is operating on the frequency of 90.3, airing their shows from 6 a.m.-10 a.m. and 2 p.m.-2 a.m. during weekdays, from 10 a.m.- 2 a.m. on weekends.

Po

Editorials

Name omitted

Dear Editor:

I was deeply hurt and upset over the omission of my name from the article "Language students serve as teachers" (March 30, 1983). As a student instructor of the Spanish language for two years and as a Spanish major, I felt my name deserved to be mentioned at least once in the article. However, I was not mentioned, nor was I even approached for an interview.

Also in order to clarify one point: your article stated that the instructors were paid "four-to-five hours for provided this service.

attending a workshop." We were paid for only three hours.

Please strive for accuracy in the future.

Sincerely, M. Elizabeth Myers

Editor's Note: Miss Myers' name was inadvertently omitted from the list of student instructors in the March 30, 1983 issue. The HI-PO strives for accuracy in its reporting, and therefore regrets any problems that may have been caused by the omission of Miss Myers' name.

Locked out

To the editor:

It seems rather disappointing to me that several times this semester I have prepared myself to go and study in the Campus Center and have found it to be closed or just simply not opened on time. I find this matter extremely irritating, since the dorm is often not a very quiet place to study in. Is this college studentoriented? Or am I a student who has simply failed to keep up with the Campus Center hours?

> Doubtfully, Marisa Firni

Nominations being invited for Slane teaching award

Nominations are invited for the Meredith Clark Slane Distinguished Teaching-Service Award to be presented to the recipient at the 1983 High Point College Commencement exercises. The Award recognizes outstanding classroom performance, interest in students as expressed through availability for advising, sponsorship of student activities organizations, community and church interest and activities, production of descholarly papers, articles, books, or monographs, evident interest in professional growth by attendance of professional meetings and participation in professional organizations. Criteria for Eligibility:

1. Any member of the College community may nominate. The nomination should be accompanied by a description of the activities of the teacher which justifies the nomination.

2. The nominee must be a full-time faculty member.

3. The nominee must have been a member of the High Point College faculty for a minimum of three (3) years.

4. The nominee must have demonstrated intent to return to High Point College the year following the Award.

5. The nominee must not have been so honored within the past five years. The five most recent recipients are: Dr. Moehlmann, Dr. Weeks, Dr. Wheeless, Ms. Rawley, and Dr. Ward.

The selection of the Award recipient will be made by a Distinguished Teaching-Service Selection Committee composed of six persons appointed by the President of the College. The Committee will include two administrators, two omembers of the Faculty, and two students. The successful nominee must receive a majority vote of the six-member committee.

Nominations must be received in the Office of the President no later than 5:00 p.m. on Wednesday, April 27, 1983.

P.O. Box 3510 Boom 209 Campus Center

The Hi-Po is distributed on campus by Alpha Phi Omega, a National Service fraternity. This is the fifth year they have

Crystal L. Hedgecock ... Editor-in-Chief Lewis Wheless ... Associate Editor Scott Morgan ... Advertising and Business Manager Mark Phelps ... Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO.

The HI-PO welcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typolaginged, and an address must be included. If warranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as seen necessary.

Fall pre-registration ends today.
Turn in completed enrollment cards to the registrar's office by 5 p.m.

Editorials
Name omitted

all pre-regi Turn in con ends today

Pi Kappa Alpha to celebrate gala 30th anniversary

BY BOB ROSSIE

The Delta Omega chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha has planned a five day celebration later this month in commemoration of their 30th anniversary at High Point College

Since early April 1982, the Pika 30th anniversary committee began planning and preparing for what is about to be the fraternities most memorable and elaborate occasion thus far.

The committee members include Pete Gibson, Brent Stanley, Bill Johnson, Jeff Norris, Art Prillaman, Jeff Henry, and Dave Tomlinson.

About forty Pika alumni are expected to attend the celebration.

The scheduled activities kick-off on Wednesday, April 20 with a reception for local alumni, followed by a combined brothers meeting, Dr. L.B. Pope, Captain Jenney, Dr. Carl Wheeless and Dr. Everett Smith are special guests for the reception.

Thursday, April 21, there will be a "Night At The Rail". All High Point College students are invited to attend

Friday night April 22 features a "Hawaiian Night Party" at the downtown Holiday Inn. High Point,

Saturday afternoon April 23 has an alumni luncheon scheduled, followed by a golf tournament at Oak Hollow. Saturday night will be the Pika 30th Anniversary Dinner Dance and Dreamgirl Celebration at Market Square. High Point Kellow of Square Biz' will provide music and at midnight, Pika's first president at High Point College Bill Wright, will lead a toast to commemorate the grand occasion.

Pi Kappa Alpha was the first national fraternity at High Point College. Once called Delta Beta Alpha, they received their national charter as Pi Kappa Alpha on March 7, 1953. The scenery was a little different back then with the absence of the McPherson Campus Center, Hayworth Hall, Belk and Millis Dormitories and the Alumni Gymnasium. Meals were served in the basement of Roberts Hall. The Pikes lived in the G section of McCulloch

PI KAPPA ALPHA fraternity is finishing up plans for the fraternity's 30th anniversary on April 23. Activities for the celebration begin April 20.

Dorm and didn't have a lounge until they were given the old Teke lounge some years later. Charles E. Hayworth, another special guest for 30th anniversary, was a major contributor in the development of the present day Pika lounge in Millis Hall.

In the past 30 years, 365 brothers have taken the oath into Pi Kappa Alpha at High Point College and today as the largest fraternity on campus, they continue to serve High Point College and its community in the fine tradition of its predecessors.

Some special highlights of the 1983 chapter include a $500 contribution to Big Brothers-Big Sisters of High Point raised by selling raffles and the successful 3rd annual Pika Spring Rally held on campus last month for High Point College's sororities.

KD holds rock-a-thon

KD's rock away. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

BY TABBIE NANCE

Was it a convention of grandmothers or a league of babysitters? No. It was the KD sorority who were rocking for the American Heart Association in front of the Campus Center April 9 to

While sitting in rocking chairs donated by Chatham County Furniture, the KDs rocked from noon Saturday to noon Sunday. Through pledges and donations, the KDs raised over $700, surpassing their $500 goal. All the money will be contributed to the American Heart Association.

Every two years the KDs take time to sit down and rock for a cause. In 1981 this service project won the High Point College KDs Honorable Mention for the National KD Philanthropy Award

While eating food donated by local restaurants, the KDs rocked and talked, rocked and listened to the radio, and rocked and rocked and rocked.

Student Academy of Science meets

The North Carolina Student Academy of Science District IV recently had its tenth annual spring meeting on the High Point College campus. The day-long meeting, which was attended by 150 junior high and senior high school students and their teachers, was held in the Haworth Hall of Science. Seventy science research papers were presented by the students in various a reas, including biology, earth science, physical science, psychology, and technology and engineering. Members of the High Point College faculty, student science majors, and local high school science teachers served as judges for the paper sessions. In addition to the paper sessions a business meeting was held with election of officers and presentation of awards. The group also toured the science facilities of Haworth Hall.

Dr. John Ward, Professor of Biology, co-ordinated the meeting. Dr. Ward, who is also a co-director of the N.C. Student Academy of Science, expressed his appreciation to the members of the High Point College community, both faculty and students, who contributed to the success of the meeting.

Alpha Phi Omega to celebrate 25th anniversary

Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity will be celebrating its 25th Anniversary this weekend. APO brothers along with approximately fifth alumni will be engaging in an array of activities. Friday will be a day of registration with a Wine & Cheese that night at Kerner's Folly. Saturday afternoon, brothers and alumni will support the new Student YMCA by leading in and helping out with the Organization's New Games Festival. A formal banquet and dance will be held Saturday night at Bryan Park in Greensboro. Sunday afternoon, the APO's will wind up their big weekend with a picnic. Brothers and Alumni will paint the rock as a sign of twenty-five years of service to school and communi-

---

Alpha Phi Omega to

Faculty veterans reflect on tenure at HPC

BY KARLA GREEN

Features Editor Raiford Porter has been teaching at High Point College since before most of us were born. When he came to HPC in 1956, he started what we now know as the Art Department. What changes has he seen in the past 27 years here? "There was a much more formal environment in those days, says Porter.

He talked of days when every party had to have a chaperone. "The group actually had to have sheets signed by the chaperones saying where the party was held and that it had been properly supervised." He laughingly added that he was the "most party-going" of the faculty because at that time he was the youngest faculty member.

He recalled days of faculty/student receptions that were "black tie". He recalls enjoying those somewhat "stuffy" receptions when the faculty would have to form a reception line and introduce the professor to their right. He said, "I used to make up fake names for the people who followed me to entertain the poor students (who were required to attend).

Among his outside interests is his love for sailing. "My favorite pasttime is hopping on my boat, "Lakshmi" and sailing up and down the coastline." During summers he has travelled to Charleston and up to the Cheaspeake Bay

The next senior faculty member joined Porter at HPC in 1958. James Nelson came to the business department as an associate professor and the next year was named Dean of Students. According to Nelson, he spent the next three years being "3/4 teacher" with his added duties as dean.

Nelson is quite familiar with student life at High Point College, not only because he was dean of students, but because he was a HPC student himself. He is an alumni of the class of '48. What changes did he notice during his 10 years away from the college? "I came back to HPC as a teacher and there had been a major physical change." While he was away, the buildings of Wesley, North, Cooke, the gym and the Fine Arts buildings were completed.

Another major change was the accreditation of the college which came after Nelson graduated from

He agrees with Mr. Porter that the dances of that day were "rigidly chaperoned" and much more formal. He recalls that the school had a football team in those days which promoted school spirit. There were also more student academic functions outside the classroom such as poetry readings spon-sored by the sororities on campus.

Mr. Nelson enjoys going to concerts in his snare time. His wife, also a graduate of HPC and a music major, shares his love for music. We like to go to New York to the theatre and the opera." They also attend musical concerts at UNC-G and travel abroad yearly.

In 1962, three new members joined the faculty. Two of those were former High Point College students. Shirley Rawley and Robert Davidson talked about their years here.

"Coach Davidson" as we know him, has been at HPC as a member of the faculty for 21 years. When he was at HPC, he played baseball and basketball, the latter which he was team captain for two years. He also ran track as a student. He was a member of the NDM club, which used to be somewhat of an athletic fraternity here, according to Davidson.

He agrees with Nelson that the buildings improvements was one of the major changes he saw upon returning to HPC. Davidson was a member of the graduating class of 1955.

He spends his time outside of college with parttime officiating, which he says "takes up most of his spare time." Other than that, he says he spends most of his time "on the golf course."

Shirley Rawley is now head of the English department. She came in 1962 as a replacement English teacher after one of the staff left suddenly. She was at that time the youngest member of that staff. She became head of the department in the Spring of 1979.

She is obviously appreciated by the staff she now supervises. Last week, she was recognized by one of the area radio stations as "Boss of the Week" with some prompting from her employees, who nominated

Mrs. Rawley is wellknown for bringing back the night program to HPC. She started the Continuing Adult Education Program in 1978. She comments that the program has "in-troduced the college community to the older student.

During her years as a student of the college, she was a member of the Phi Mu national sorority. She remembers that when she was here "more of the students spent more time doing things together, like weekend trips, etc." She says that she finds today's students to be more serious about careers.

Rawley spends her time reading, which is her first love. She also writes poetry and enjoys cooking. She says that in her spare time she likes to "spend time with (her) kids." She has two children, aged 21 and 18.

Dr. David Cole was the third of the 1962 additions to the faculty. He has served as history professor and as dean of the college during his years here. During the absence of a college president, he served as acting President of the college.

These five people make up the faculty's most senior members. Most of them were HPC graduates and returned here to teach. They all agreed that they have Seen a lot of students "come and go over the years" but generally find that students continue to be "much the

SGA survey results posted

The following are the results of the SGA survey of Wednesday, Feb. 9, 1983: (there were 68 replies-approximately 10-11% of on-campus students.) QUESTION 1: "What is your opinion of SGA?"

"Needs student participation" -"Backs down to administration"

·"Money" -"Don't know about it"

"Administration is a problem" ."Needs more authority

"Don't know what they're doing" QUESTION 2: "When can you attend a meeting of SGA?" -Tuesday (6) -Wednesday (6)

-Thursday (5)

QUESTION 3: "What is your reason for attending

-"To get a personal education"
-"Location" "Academics"

"Scholarship" "Athletics

-"Misled"

"Do you care about the atmosphere at the college?" QUESTION 4:

(social or academic)

'Both are important" "Needs improvement in social area"

"Not any more" QUESTION 5: "Does anything at HPC interest you? If so, what? ·"Greeks"

-"Friends"

-"Faculty/Student relations"

-"SGA" -"WWIH" "Theatre" circled this)

"What would you like to see. . ." QUESTION 6: a. renovation of buildings such as Mc-Culloch and the old student center. (42

> b. second floor of the campus center turned into a recreation room. (21)

(cont.)

c. a student evaluation of the faculty (33) d. a meal plan for the cafeteria (31)

e. a uniform grading scale for all departments (25)

f. typewriters and a copy machine placed in the campus center (42)

g. a change in the absence policy (43) h. a change in the alcohol policy (60) i. extension in visitation hours (51)

j. other. . . "sorority lounges" (3)
"no escorts" (2)

'girls sports'' (1) "social events" (2)
"no quiet hours" (1)

"recreation facilities" (1)
"intramural awards" (1)

QUESTION 7: "Are you considering transfering? If so,

Are you considering transfering? If so, why?"
"no" (45) "too late", "friendships"
"yes" (18) "no adult atmosphere", "administration", "high school feeling"
"What are some of the negative attitudes that you have toward HHC? What are the QUESTION 8:

basis for this feeling?

"Administration" -"Alcohol" -"Against Greeks"

"Too much like high school" -"Lack of adult atmosphere"

-"Ineffective SGA" -"To self-centered

QUESTION 9: "What can we do to improve overall communications for the school?

-"Get Mr. Pittman to talk" -"Get administration to listen to students' -"SGA should let students know what's going on"

-"Need SGA president who cares about students'

"We are loosing the personal touch" COMMENTS: "Get HPC up to date!

Gandhi is genuine epic

Editor's Note: GANDHI was awarded Best Picture of the Year at the 1983 Academy Awards on Monday, April 11.

Campus Digest News Service If there is one element missing in the epic Gandhi, it is surprise. By now we've heard how long it took to complete it; we've heard how dedicated the director, Richard Attenborough, was to its creation; we know it's already won many major awards, including the New York Film Critics honor for best picture. And once seen, it's not surprising

The film is extremely well made, with outstanding acting all around, especially from Ben Kingsley in the title role, and his Indian supporting cast. It's directed with a sure hand. The photography is beautiful. The story is interesting and clearly told. In short, from those expectations, it doesn't disappoint. But in a strange way, the strength of Gandhi is also its weakness. In spite of its spectacular dimensions, its faithful recreation of one of this century's great men, it is a movie that doesn't have any surprises, unpleasant or other-

Films that are based on an historical event or character almost inevitably are compromised by the need to be true to facts. As a result, no matter how dramatic the events may be, or how monumental a person's life may be, the film is more a mirror than a creation. Gandhi deals with many explosive and highly dramatic events and yet, underneath the excellent acting, attractive photography and steady direction, the film itself is not overpowering or deeply moving or even illuminating.

There's no denying that it is impressive in many ways, but because it's less a fictional creation than a fictional account of facts, Gandhi is limited in its overall effect.

The film is structured around Gandhi. For three hours Gandhi is almost always in front of us. And yet, Gandhi, in spite of Ben Kingsley's excellent acting, is not a character most viewers can readily identify with.

Not only is Gandhi's modesty, courage and determination extraordinary, the way he is seen so directly emphasizes his uniqueness. In other words, we might have known more about Gandhi and what he did if his life was filtered somehow, through the eyes of another character. A character we could have related to and identified with. As it stands, we only observe Gandhi and marvel at him, and this lack of identification makes the film, in spite of its enveloping dimensions and epic sweep, seem as distant from our mundane lives as Mesopotamia.

In fact, we are left with little insight into his character. True, there are a few scenes which call our attention to his humanity: a fight with his wife (in which his equally saintly wife reminds Gandhi, and us, that he is human; but that is like telling Babe Ruth, after he

See Gandhi, p. 8

JEANINE HALVERSON is working as an intern in the Student Life office. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

Theta Chi hosts bong show

BY TANA PARKER

Once again High Point College students, faculty and staff workers had the chance to display their "talent". The event. ..The 8th Annual Bong Show sponsored by Theta Chi Fraternity. On April 7, gathered in HPC's Memorial Auditorium to view the 14 various acts vying for first place. The acts varied from singing, dancing, balancing objects to a Mae West imitation which was performed by Mary Hayworth, the only non-student act.

Judges for the event included Ms. Shirley Rawley, Dr. Marion Hodge and a very unique "two-headed" judge named B.O. Barfuouar which was comprised of Kenneth Douglas and Michael Duffy. The scoring compiled of a total of 30 possible points (10 from each judge). The winning first place act with a perfect score was the team of Deborah Shaver and Pam Sanchez. Miss Shaver played the piano and sang "The Days We Will Remember," while Miss Sanchez accompanied her on the flute. Second place was taken by singer John Hig-gins with "Wandering Strangers" and "Bridge Over Troubled Water." By singing the popular theme from the movie "Tootsie", "It Might Be You," Dana

DON STEWART balances a bicycle on his face during the Theta Chi Bong Show on April 7. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

Holmes claimed third place. Mark Mann, Chairman for the show, explained that some of the proceeds are to go to Easter Seals and the door prizes which were given out during the show were donated by area merchants.

In Student Life Office Student comes to HPC to work as intern

BY TANA PARKER Staff Writer

Internships and student teaching are a part of some High Point College students education. In this particular situation, instead of the student going to a certain establishment for experience, a student has come to HPC to work as an intern.
That student is Miss
Jeanine Halverson.

Miss Halverson is working in student activities under the supervision of Mr. Mike Pittman of Student Life. Halverson's internship is part of her studies in receiving her master's degree in Counseling, Guidance and Personnel Ser-

After graduating from Westmar College, LaMars Iowa, with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Sociology and Halverson became an admission counselor at the college for the next three years. Miss Halverson then began her master's work at Mankato State University, Minnisota and later transferred to the University of South Dakota.

Miss Halverson explained that student activities are "a necessary part of a student's college experience because it provides a variety for the students." Arriving at HPC Mar. 9, Miss Halverson has been busy compiling a master calendar of events for the student handbook, making plans for the soon-to-come Last Class Bash, reorganizing the equipment owned by the Student Union (i.e., tents, camping equipment, sound system), and booking various speakers and acts. Before leaving in May, Miss Halverson said she would like to try and make the campus center more comfor-table for students and hopefully improve the game room by getting a few more video games.

Finding the job very challenging, Miss Halverson added that students need to have a professional to help and work with them. "There is too much pressure put on students. They are here for an education and they need someone to help them out-side of their class." Miss Halverson concluded that she has found that the students are very cooperative and interested in the activities program.

Atlantic Christian takes championship

High Point claims second place in turney

BY MARK PHELPS

Sports Editor
Though heavy rains
prevented the doubles championship matches from being played Saturday night, the mens tennis team from Atlantic Christian piled up enough points to win its se cond consecutive conference tournament.

The Bulldogs tallied 24 points, almost doubling second place High Point's score of 13. The Panthers were the only other team to lock up a place prior to the bad weather. The matches that were not played will be played in conjunction with the District 26 tournament at Guilford April 22-25.

The other scores included: Guilford 9, Elon 8, Pheiffer 6. and two points each for State and Pembroke

For High Point, five singles players were able to advance past the first round. three of which made it to the finals. Pekka Makela, playing at the number one posi-tion, cruised to the final round before falling to Christa Lundberg of Pheif-fer, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

Number three player Sami Narhi fell to Thomas Linne in the finals 6-3, 2-6, 6-4. Matt Lange also made it to finals at the fourth spot before losing to Christa Eriksson 6-1, 6-1.

Two Panthers, Roy Heilbron and Griff Thomp-son, advanced to the semifinals before being defeated.

In doubles, Jim Hollerman and Sami Narhi will play in the finals as they defeated the number one teams from Pheiffer 7-5, 6-3, _nd Wingate through default. They will play the team of Mitchell-Bessler for the championship.

At the second doubles, Thompson-Makela defeated duos from Wingate and Elon and will play Guilford in the finals. Lange-Holloran advanced to the semi-finals by defeating Mitchell-Cullerman of Wingate, but were beaten in the second round at Guilford.

SPORTS

Inside HPC sports...

Lady Panthers take win over Pheiffer

BY MARK PHELPS Sports Editor

High Point College improved its conference tennis record to 6-1 with an 8-1 victory over Pheiffer on Mar. 6. The team is 10-5 overall.

In singles, top seeded Ana Medina defeated Carol Darkin 6-3, 6-2; Anneli Kiviniemi defeated Cheryl Lazowski 6-0, 6-4; Lynn Sharkey lost to Pheiffer's Jennifer Davis 1-6, 7-5, 7-6; Helen O'Brien defeated Liz Cullen 6-3, 6-2; Teresa Sweatman defeated Robin Campbell 6-2, 6-2; and Dori Johnson defeated Ann Cogliano 6-2, 6-3.

In doubles, Medina-Kiviniemi defeated Darkin-Lazowski 6-2, 6-0; O'Brien-Thersa Regnante defeated Cullen-Campbell 6-1, 6-0; and Sharkey-Sweatman defeated Davis-Cogliano 6-1,

Three matches were postponed last week because of rain. The April 5 match at UNC-Greensboro was made up last Saturday. Matches with UNC-Charlotte and Appalachian State University, previously scheduled on April 8 and 11, are postponed until later determined

Track team finishes second

The HPC track team finished second in its own tri-met on Tuesday, April 5.

The Panthers' 691/2 point total fell short to Francis Marion which scored 89. Garner-Webb finished third with 221/2 points. Kent sides led High Point's individual scoring with 12 points. Sides won both the 100 and 220 meter runs. Ralph Barnes, added 111/2 points as he won the long jump with a 21'14" leap and the triple jump with a 46'7" effort.

Jack Songster added 10 points with a winning leap of 6'2" in the high jump. Jon Richardson also took a victory in the javelin with a 179'5" throw. The 440-relay of Sides, Barnes, Richard-son, and Jeff Collins gave High Point its final first place in the time of 45.14.

On Saturday, the Pan-thers competed in a nonscoring meet at The Citadel in Charleston, S.C. Barnes gave High Point its lone victory in the triple-jump with a 45'10" leap.

Songster finished second to Barnes in that event and took a third in the high jump. Sides took third in both the 100 and 220 meter runs and Richardson added a second in the javelin.

HPC golfers take ninth place

The High Point golf team finished ninth in a fifteenteam tournament at the Pinehurst Country Club in Lumberton last week.

Limestone took first place in the two day event with a 571 total. Atlantic Christian and Coastal College finished closely behind with 598 and 601 scores. High Point finished just nine shots out of third with a 610.

The Panthers posted a

301 in the opening round, leaving them in a tie for sixth. Junior Buddy Sass led the team with a 72 while Matt Kohn followed with a 75. Ted Barnhardt and Phil Krimminger posted 77's, and Jeff Zivic shot an 84.

A steady rain hampered

tion. High Point felt the effects of the bad weather as it could only muster 309 total. Kohn, and Barnhardt, though, were able to better their first rounds' scores as they shot a 73 and a 75 respectively. Sass posted an 80. Krimminger an 81, and Zivic an 84 to complete the Panther's scoring.

most of the second day's ac-Sports quiz

Campus Digest News Service

1. Name the only active college coach an NCAA championship at a school other than he is presently coaching.

2. At which school did Iowa State Coach Johnny Orr coach prior to coming to

3. What school did Jack Hartman coach to a N.I.T. championship?

4. Alabama-Birmingham Coach Gene Bartow has also coached U.C.L.A., Illinois, and another school. Name the other school.

5. Which team did Marquette defeat to win the 1977 NCAA Championship? 6. Name the center on the

1977 Marquette national championship team? 7. The 1979-80 season was the only year Ralph Sampson was not All-ACC. Who was the All-Conference center during Sampson's 8. Indiana Coach Bobby Knight played on an NCAA title team. Name the school Knight played for. 9. At what school did K.

State Coach Jack Hartman

10. Name the college where Nebraska Coach Moe Iba had his first coaching position?

Answers

10. Memphis State 8. Ohio State 9. Oklahoma State 7. Mike Gminski of Duke 6. Jerome Whitehead 5. North Carolina 4. Memphis State 3. Southern Illinois 2. Michigan abirol'i 3s at Won tie at North Carolina St. and I. Norm Sloan won 74 ti-

SPORTS

Panther Scoreboard

Tennis

Women Tues 5 at UNC-G (rain) Wed defeated Pheiffer 8-1 Fri UNC-Charlotte (rain) Mon 11 Appalachian State U.

12 at Davidson Tue 15 Wingate Carolinas Fri 16 Conference Tournament

Men: 8 Carolinas Conference Fri 9 Tournament

Atl. Christian 24, HPC 18 Guilford 9, Elon 3, Pheiffer 6 Pembroke St. 2, Wingate 2

Wed 13 at Appalachian 15 at Campbell 16 at UNC-Wilmington Fri Sat Mon 18 Greensboro

Golf 5 Limestone, 571, Atlantic Tues. Christian 598, Costal College 601 HPC 610 (tied for ninth)

Track 5 Francis Marion 89, HPC 691/4 Tues Gardner-Webb 201/2 Sat 9 Non-scoring meet at the Citadel 12 Lynchburg, Elon

Tues Thur 14 District 26 15 Meet at Pembroke

Baseball 13 at Gardner-Webb Wad Thur 14 at Atlantic Christian 15 at Elon

Rating the decade's best games

Campus Digest News Service

When rating the best games in any sport over any time period, it is important to remember that timing has a great deal of effect.

In attempting to rank the greatest college games of the past decade, the emphasis is naturally on games which had a great impact on the game as it is now played, as well as the true value of the individual game itself. Great teams may play in December or January, but great games are normally played in February or March. The dozen games listed as the best of the past decade are numbered only in chronological order. It was enough of a task to select the 12 without attempting to rank them in order of importance, timeliness or entertainment value.

(1) U.C.L.A. 87, Memphis State 66 (March 26, 1973).

In the greatest individual performance of the decade, U.C.L.A.'s Bill Walton hit 21 of 22 field goal attempts as the Bruins won their seventh successive NCAA title. Memphis State had advanced to the finals with a win over Providence (with Marvin Barnes and Ernie DiGregorio), but the Tigers were no match for the Bruins and Walton. Mem-phis State, led by Larry Finch and Larry Kenon, stayed even with U.C.L.A. in the first half, but folded after intermission.

(2) Notre Dame U.C.L.A. 70 (Jan. 19, 1974). The win by the Irish ended U.C.L.A.'s 88-game winning streak, the longest in college history. Guard Dwight Clay netted a jumper with 29 seconds left to culminate a rally in which Notre Dame outscored U.C.L.A. 12-0 in the last three minutes. Gary Brokaut and John Shumate combined for 49 Irish points and Walton scored 24 for the

(3) North Carolina State 103, Maryland 100 (March 9, 1974).

In the greatest of the tournament title games, the NC State team survived an overtime to defeat Maryland, Wolfpack center Tom Burleson (7'4') played the greatest game of his career, hitting 18 of 25 shots on the way to a 38-point night, and David Thompson added 29. Top-ranked NC State had to win this game to make the NCAA tourney field. (4) North Carolina State 80, U.C.L.A. 77 (March 23, 1974).

In an NCAA semi-final. the ACC champs ended U.C.L.A.'s domination of the NCAA with a thrilling double-overtime win. The Wolfpack trailed by 11 late in regulation time, and by seven midway through the first overtime. But the pack refused to surrender as skywalking All-American David Thompson scored 28 and Burleson 20, while Walton netted 29 and collected 18 misfires for U.C.L.A. The win marked "a change in the order" of NCAA basketball, with U.C.L.A. finally losing and a renewed interest in eastern basketball (especially the Atlantic Coast Conference).

(5) U.C.L.A. 92. Kentucky 85 (March 31, 1975).

The last win of Coach John Wooden's great career saw his Bruins win the NCAA title for a rugged Kentucky team. Rick Washington and Dave Meyers combined for 52 points, but UK's Kevin Grevey took game honors with 34. Kentucky used four freshmen in the game who would play important roles in the 1978 Kentucky national title.

(6) Indiana 86, Michigan 68, (March 29, 1976).

The last of the unbeaten national champs, Bobby Knight's Hoosiers capped a 32-0 season with a win in Scott May and Kent Benson scored 26 and 25 points, respectively, for Indiana. This was the only time in NCAA history in which two teams from one conference met in the title game. Big 10 prestige understandably soared (7) Texas 101. North Carolina State 93 (March 21. 1978)

In the most entertaining of the 12 games, Texas got 33 points from long-range bomber deluxe Jim Krivacs and used a back-door offense (with all five offensive players beyond the free throw line) to defeat NC State in the NIT championship. Chunky Ron Baxter, unheralded Tyrone Brayan and guard Johnny Moore also combined for 62 points. UT Coach Abe Lemons topped off the week by challenging a New York City waiter to find a hen that could lay two eggs worth $4.95.

(8) Kentucky 94. Duke 88 (March 27 1978)

This NCAA title game is remembered for two reasons: Wildcat forward Jack Gibens shot his way to a 41-point night; and Duke's three stars (Banks, Spanarkel, and Gminski) combined for 63. But never in the next two seasons did the Blue Devils live up to the promise seen in the '78

(9) Michigan State 75, Indiana State 64 (March 26.

Two of the most charismatic stars of college basketball's recent past met when Larry Bird of ISU played against the Spartans' Magic Johnson. The MSU support cast was better and Johnson's team prevailed, ending the Sycamore's perfect season. Johnson scored 24 while the sub-par shooting Bird finished with

(10) Notre Dame 57. Virginia 56 (Feb. 22, 1981). Played in Chicago's Rose mont Horizon, the Irish upset the undefeated (23-0) Cavaliers. The winning basket was scored on a desperation shot by Orlando Woolridge, as the Irish upset Virginia's best team. Kelly Tripucka led all scorers with 15 points.

(11) North Carolina 47,
Virginia 45 (March 8, 1982).

While probably not a great game, this contest caused more rule changes than is usually seen in a quarter-century. Carolina held the ball in the second half, and the Tar Heels won this ACC title game. James Worthy scored 16 for the Tar Heels. This game af-fected college basketball as no other single game ever

(12) North Carolina 63. Georgetown 62 (March 29.

UNC, the best program in the country since U.C.L.A. stopped winning titles, won a first NCAA title for Coach Dean Smith. This game was unique as it matched the two teams playing the best basketball in the nation at the proper time. It took a place the size of the Superdome to handle a super-game won by Michael Jordan's jumpshot with 17 seconds remaining. Worthy scored 28 for Carolina while the Hoyas were led by 23 points from Patrick Ewing.

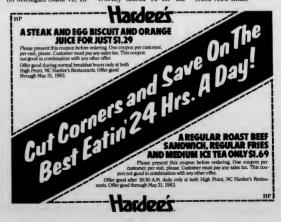

Honorable mention: DePaul 95, U.C.L.A. 91

(1979 West regional final) Notre Dame 76, DePaul

U.C.L.A. 75, Louisville 74 (1975 nat'l semi-final)

Marquette 51, NC-Charlotte 49 (1977 nat'l semi-final)

Duke 73, Maryland 72 (1980 ACC final).

Strictly Classified-

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED . is for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit m ad, type the ad doubleced and turn it in to the HI-PO by Friday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ads turned in after this deadline will be held until the next issue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no lesignation, the ad will run for only one week.

Announcements

EDITORS

Anyone wishing to apply for the position of editor on one of the campus publications, or for the position of general manager of Radio Station WWIH, should submit a letter of application and resume to the Publications Committee, C/O Dr. Smith, Chairman, no later than Friday, April 15. DEADLINE

APRIL 15

***** Communications ma-jors entering the SCIP internship for summer and fall, 1983, should have 5 copies of the application and contract submitted by Monday, April 18. The depart-ment SCIP meeting will be held on Thursday, April 23, at 2:30 p.m. in Cooke 23.

*****

$2 HPC student discounts are available for attractions at the High Point Theatre. Coupons are available on the Bulletin Board, upstairs in the Fine Arts Building

Employment

SUMMER JOBS Regional firm has full and part time positions available in most areas of N.C. $7.25/hr. assured. Car necessary. For personal interview, call Greensboro -1-274-6763 between 1-4 p.m.

TITLE: Waitresses (3 or 4 DESCRIPTION:

perience preferred. Go to Pizza Inn on W. Fairfield Rd., High Point. PART-TIME, evenings CONTACT: Fave Coats, Assistant manager

TITLE: Counter server for fast food restaurant DESCRIPTION: Need one person to work counter and prepare food. PART-TIME, M-F, 11-1:30 (maybe more if wanted) SALARY: Negotiable

CONTACT: Sharry Haynes, Taco time. Call or come by het ween 2-5 PHONE: 882-4522

OFF-CAMPUS EMPLOY-MENT.

TITLE: Freight movers DESCRIPTION: 4-5 males needed on 2 shifts to load and unload freight for Colonial Motor Freight (Fred Smith), located on Uwarrie Rd (Jamestown). PART-TIME

HOURS: 12 a.m.-6 a.m. or 4 p.m.-12 a.m. SALARY: $4 hr. CONTACT: Pick up and return application to Stu-dent Life Office, HPC

TITLE: Domestic workers DESCRIPTION: Need persons on-call for work as babysitters, windows, housework, et. PART-TIME, as needed

SALARY: Varies CONTACT: Patty Reape. Call for appointment. 889-0101 at House Calls. Interviewing at 116 W. Broad St. -- one block off Main.

TITLE: Salesperson DESCRIPTION: Insurance sales, Administrative duties. Must have interest in insurance career. This is an independent insurance agency. FULL-TIME CONTACT: Rudy Hinnant Insur. Agency, 889-3033

TITLE: Summer day camp director DESCRIPTION: perience for summer day camp. Campers between ages of 7-13. Mid-June through mid-August.

CONTACT: Send resume to Camp Wayside, 400 Radio Rd., Charlotte, N.C. 28216

TITLE: Babysitters DESCRIPTION: baby sitters that can be called for work at different times, for 2-mo. old child. PART-TIME

SALARY: Negotiable CONTACT: Ann Purcell, Baker Rd. in Archdale PHONE: 434-3082 or 379-3276 (office)

DESCRIPTION: Dishwasher needed at Katarina's Restaurant PART-TIME HOURS: M-F 11:30-3:00, M, T 5-12 SALARY: $3.35/hr. CONTACT: Kathy Brown, 882-2919

Promoting from within

According to a University of Michigan "Management Succession" study, job-hoppers do not usually get to the top of corporations.

The best way to get to the boardroom is to stay with the same companies. Most com panies promote presidents and vice presidents from within the company.

So once you get that job after graduation, plan to stay with it and prove lovalty to vour employer.

- The Winds of War, by Hermen Wouk. (Pocket, $4.95
   One femily's struggle to survive during World War II
- Sophie's Choice, by William Styron. (Bantam, $3.95.) The nature of evil seen through the lives of two doomed lovers.
- War and Remembrance, by Herman Wouk. (Pocket $5.95.) Continuing the story begen in "The Winds of War".
- When Bad Things Happen to Good People, by Harold Kushner. (Avon, $3.50.) Comforting thoughts from a rabi
- 5. Happy to be Here, by Gerrison Keillor. (Penguin, $4.95.)
- and comic pieces by a radio personality
- Love, by Leo Buscaglia. (Fewcett, $3.50.) Inspiration from a Southern Celifornia professor.
- The Parsifal Mosaic, by Robert Ludium (Bantam, $4.50.)
   Spies and counterspies race to prevent World War III.
- A Few Minutes With Andy Rooney, by Andy Rooney. (Warner, $2.95.) Humorous essays by the TV personality.

New & Recommended

An Unknown Woman, by Alice Koller. (Bantam, $3.95.) One

Nam, by Mark Baker. (Berkley, $3.50.) A full and vivid account of the war from those who fought it. An oral history that searches through first hend accounts to confront the American experience in Vietnam.

Woman Up The Corporate Ladder, by Angela Harper. (Signet/NAL, $2.95.) Lifegames: Selected from 64 possible tutures as the heroine of your own plot-it-yourself corporate adventure. ...............

Gandhi

has struck out, that he is only a ballplayer), some nice touches of humor, a few moments of doubt, and so on. But for 99 percent of the film, Gandhi is presented as more angel than man. The latter half of the film is especially intent on this quality. Not only is Gandhi now a venerable old man but he has choirs of admirers quietly speaking his praise, gazing longingly at him and spiritually genuflecting in his presence. The film indirectly raises some interesting question on occasion: Is there a streak of meglomania in Gandhi? Is there a touch of the opportunist in him? But these flickers of inquiry into his character are swiftly ex-tinguished by the repeated images of his humility

The result of all this is a very polished, almost pristine,

Gandhi has abundant virtues, of course. Ben Kingsley is thoroughly convincing. The Indian cast members equally credible and skilled. Some of the most distinguished British actors (including John Gielgud, John Mills and Trevor Howard) make cameo appearances and give fine performances. Ian Charleson, who was outstanding in Chariots of Fire, gives another excellent performance and is one of the few western characters to appear for any substantial time. Martin Sheen, and regrettably, Candice Bergen, both make cameo appearances as American jour-nalists. Bergen, never a formidable actress, provides Gandhi with its only whitf of inauthenticity.

The rest of the film's creative qualities, especially the photography, are firstrate. This film is well crafted, not inspired. Attenborough has created an homage to Gandhi the figurehead, not a film about a man, a remarkable man, but a man just the same.

Ellington's Florist 1122 EAST LEXINGTON AVENUE

889-4748 Specializing in cut flower arrangements, corsages, and boutonnieres.

Friday Flowers - $3.00 FREE DELIVERY TO HIGH POINT COLLEGE

Last Class Bash 1983 underway

KAREN HERNANDEZ

Last Class Bash '83, which has been an investment made by the Student Union within the range of 10-11,000 dollars has already given birth in HPC. Mr. Mike Pittman, director of Student Life, said "This whole week has been put together by students and for the students, so get the best out of it. If there is good participation, it will be a strong indication that there is a need for this type of planning and programming at the college. Also remember the According to Jeannine Halverson, an intern in the Student Life office and who has helped organize this week, said she is expecting Friday to be the highest turnout. She also added that T-shirts, which were designed by Art Prillaman, will be given away throughout the week's events. There will be free popcorn during the afternoon on Friday and just in case it rains the activities such as the mime grove, caricauture drawing, the frisbee team and the old alcohol policy (old one) is still in effect."

time photos will be held in the Student Center.

Tickets for the Nantucket concert will be available in the cafeteria during lunch and dinner and in the afternoons at the Student Life Office all of this week. They are free for HPC students with their ID's and $5.00 for off campus citizens. *EACH STUDÊNT NEEDS HAVE THIS TICKET IN ORDER TO GET IN THE CONCERT. ONLY 995 TICKETS AVAILABLE.

The activities left for this week are the following:

Wednesday, 27th CAMPUS SKATE WITH MUSIC 2:00-7:00 LASER SHOW BY "CONSTELLATION II" 7:30-9:30 Auditorium

(2 shows)

Thursday, 28th "CARICATURES UNLIMITED" 1:00-5:00 Campus Center Free Drawings
FAREWELL PARTY FOR SENIORS 8:00-12:00 Armory

JAMMER FRISBEE TEAM" 3:00-4:00 Front of Campus Center "TIN TYPES OF THE 80's" 10:00-5:00 Campus Center "MIGHTY MAJCRS" BAND 2:00-5:00

Front of Campus Center
"NANTUCKET" BAND 9:00-11:00 Memorial Auditorium

*ALL EVENTS ARE

FREE TO FACULTY.

STAFF, AND STUDENTS

INSIDE

High Point College's

"Working for a better informed campus"

High Point, N.C. 27262

Vol. 55 Issue 17

April 27, 1983

Families at HPC, p. 5 Tennis, p. 6

Gart Evans gets L.E. Moody award 83 Honors Day convocation held

BY CRYSTAL L HEDGECOCK Editor-in-Chief

The 1983 Honors Day convocation was held yesterday with the presentation of the L.E. Moody award highlighting the ceremony. W. Gart Evans, director of Alumni Affairs, received the award following an explanation about the honor of the award. At the announce-ment of Evans' name, the audience gave a standing ovation. Mark Mashburn, 1982-83 SGA president, formally introduced the 1983-84 SGA president, Tom Leech, to the Denise Watts was awarded the most outstanding member of SGA award, and Mark Mashburn received an award in recognition for his service as SGA president.

Modern Foreign Languages presented Kelley Ahl the Thomas E. Scott award for excellence in foreign

Jimmy Fox was presented with the Wall Street Journal award by Dr. Richard Bennington, chairman of the Earl Phillips School of

Dee Higgins was awarded the Finch-Locke award for academic excellence in the religion department. Hig-gins had the highest grade point average in the depart-

The Communications majors awarded Dr. William DeLeeuw with a plaque of appreciation, and Ms. Shirley Rawley was presented the first annual WHAZ award by the Society of Collegiate Journalists. The Charles E. Mounts award for Literary Excellence went to Renee Henry Marsh. The same award for Artistic Excellence went to Marisa Fir-pi and Glenn Groseclose. The Tobias Scholar-Athlete award Was presented to Lenora Comp-

Sherry Cheek presented the Dan B. Cooke award for excellence in the Education department.

Jon Richardson received the Outstanding PE Major award.

Most Valuable Player awards went to the following players: Mike Everett. basketball; Lynn Whitaker, field hockey; Anneli Kiviniemi, tennis; Ursula Watt, volleyball; Melanie Hamilton, basketball.

Pepe Perone was awarded the NAIA All-American Soccer award.

Dr. James Elson was presented the Hershel

The Outstanding Greek award went to Anna Brady, and Kappa Delta sorority the Outstanding Scholarship award with sorority GPA of 2.93.

Jean Williamson, editor of the ZENITH, presented the 1983 ZENITH to the College and announced the dedication of the yearbook. The dedication was to Ms. Shirley Rawley, chairperson of the English Department and head of CAEP

DR. ALAN PATTERSON, chairman of the Health, PE, and Recreation dept., will leave High Point College to assume the position of head of the athletic dept. at Catawba College in Salisbury, N.C. Patterson, who has been with HPC since 1977, will begin work at Catawba this summer. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

College Bowl season ended

The 1982-83 College Bowl season came to a close with a bang on April 6, 1983 with a competition between the year's champs and the faculty. Dr. E. Roy Epperson issued a challenge to play the students, and after a double elimination tournament where The Simpletons took the title, they squared off with a team from the faculty. The winners of this year's College Bowl (The Simpletons) consisted of James Parker (captain), David Matzko, Tony Matthews, Lane Sapp, Art Payne, Mark Mashburn, and Cotham.

The faculty team was comprised of Dr. Nelson Page, Dr. James Stitt, Dr. John Gabrielle, and Dr. B. Gray

The first game between The Faculty and The Simpletons was a clear win for The Faculty. Intimida-tion (several of The Simpletons are in thos pro-fessors' classes) seemed to set the scene with The Simpletons only buzzing in to answer one question.

See College Bowl, pg. 5

Last Class Bash 1983 underway

to the second causes and the second s

College Bowl season and

Editorials=

A forewell.

The question has crossed my mind numerous times. It crosses it again. Still, there is no answer.

But what will I write my final editorial about?

As I approach the end of my editorship, I admit that I feel somewhat indifferent. It has been a hard year, yet not quite long enough to do what I had to do, and too long when it came to doing those little favors one can't refuse.

My indifference is not a malicious one. I am stepping down with a hpeful feeling for the future of the HI-PO. I am leaving the HI-PO in excellent hands.

At the moment, I don't feel sentimental, but that will inevitably come. So, assure yourself that I am not writing this editorial with tears in my eyes. The feeling is more like a vagueness in my stomach.

I didn't intend for this editorial to turn into my farewell. I don't have a farewell-I'll be back next year. But I suppose that leaving the paper is reason enough for a farewell anyway. In a way, I do feel like I am leaving the college. At least, I am leaving my free communication with the College. Through this editorial column, I have kept in tune to the concerns of the students and administration. I have also had a viable means by which to express my opinions, and one that would be acknowledged, even if it wasn't agreed with.

I couldn't possibly complete my farewell without thanking the appropriate people. That's just tradition! THANK YOU EVERYBODY! I guess that pretty well covers it. Actually though, the HI-PO and I could never have existed without the support of the campus. I am not omniscient, so I needed you, the readers, to keep me informed of events on campus. Without that help, there would have been very lit-tle news, even a smaller amount than we have now.

Of course, I must thank my diligent workers who trudged through the snow, ice and rain to meet the deadlines, staved up all night writing stories and sat through the monotonous

Tuesday morning staff meetings.

My most important co-worker, aside from God, (since every issue was truly a miracle) was Lewis Wheless. Lewis was always there, even when I wasn't, to keep things running smoothly. Even though he failed in his endeavors to keep things running smoothly, things would have definitely been worse off without him! Lewis was responsible for my maintaining my sanity in many instances, and I'm still not sure if I thank him or not.

Thank you, also, Dr. Marion Hodge. Although I didn't employ your services as advisor very often, just the knowledge that you were there eased the pressure that arises from being editor.

So this is it - my final editorial, my farewell.

CRYSTAL L. HEDGECOCK

Crystal L. Hedgecock . . . . . Editor-in-Chief Lewis Wheless . . . . . . . . Associate Editor Business Manager

Mark Phelps ..... Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those the opinions nerein are not necessarily mose of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO.

The HI-POwelcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed, and an address must be included. If warranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as seen necessary.

Ruminations

A tribute to Crystal

You see, I'm trying to create a tribute to someone who can only be described in "mushy" terms like "friendliness." After all, friendliness is the core of her personality; "cooperation" is a trait she was born with. "Dedication, "patience," 'kindness," and "understanding" - she's blessed with all these and more, but if I wrote all that here, I'd sound too doggone "mushy.

If Crystal Hedgecock, my editor, found out I was trying to print something real "mushy" - especially something real "mushy" about HER - she would probably refer me to the eighth commandment of the Associated Press Stylebook, which reads "Thou shalt not be mushy when writing tributes." Luckily, though, Crystal doesn't know I'm writing this, so it'll all be a big surprise to her on Wednesday as she reads the editorial page.

Now, all "mushiness" aside, I want to congratulate Crystal on the remarkable work she has accomplished during her two-year tenure as Editorin-Chief of the HI-PO. Crystal and I have worked as a team since last spring, so I've been lucky to get to know her as a person, and not merely as someone who assigns me articles to write each issue

Crystal has donated countless hours to this publication and often without any tangible rewards. This year, Crystal and HI-PO advisor Marion Hodge developed a weekly format for the newspaper, and the reader response has been tremendous. Seeing to it that campus news and activities were covered accurately and objectively has been Crystal's main goal -- a goal she has more than accomplished.

To her staff, Crystal has been a guide, a teacher and a confidant. To the college, she has been a truth-seeker, an advisor and a person who CARES. She has given unselfishly her time and talents to produce an outstanding newspaper for the past two years.

Crystal Hedgecock, I salute you. The HI-PO and the entire college is better for having had your dedicated service at High Point College.

Congratulations to all those who received awards at the 1983 convocation ceremonies Tuesday. A special congratulations to Miss Jean Williamson, Shannon Moore and the Zenith staff for a fine yearbook.

= Lewis Wheless =

Chairman search sparks upset

Dear Editor.

I am writing as a former tudent in the Religion and Philosophy Department, a graduate of High Point College, and a member of the staff of the college for the last three years - all of which, I believe, qualify me to speak to a current issue on campus.

I understand that a search committee has been formed to recommend someone from outside the Religion and Philosophy Department as Chairperson of that department. Given the qualifica-tions of the curent faculty members of that department, Dr. Earl Crow, Dr. Vance Davis, and Dr. Charles Teague, I cannot see the justification for the committee's charge.

I think this action is unjust because of what I learned while a student in the Department of Religion and Philosophy. I came to have a clear understanding of the many meanings of philosophy. I learned that philosophy attitude is the searching and critical attitude; that it is also the open-minded, tolerant attitude expressed in the willingness to look at all sides of an issue. Philosophy is a method of reflective thinking and reasoned inquiry; it presses its inquiry into the deeper problems of human existence beyond what eye hath seen or ear heard: What is truth? Is my life controlled by outside forces, philosophy asks, or do I have a determining or even a partial degree of control? Why do persons struggle and strive for their rights, for justice, for the improvement of society? What do concepts like "right" and "wrong" and "justice" mean? What are the genuine values of life and how can they be attained? Is there really a fundamental distinction between right and wrong, or is it just a matter of one's own opinions?

In the Department, I learned that if I am to decide wisely and to act consistently, I need to discover values and the meaning of things. Life forces me to make choices and to act on the basis of some scale of values. I hve to decide questions of truth and falsity, of right and wrong. Philosophy refuses to disregard any authentic aspect of human experience and seeks to formulate standards and goals in the most reasonable way. Human beings, I have learned, do not live only by bread and technological discoveries. They live by values and realities which are above time and are worth knowing for their own sake. For if a person acts as he or she does merely because of custom or tradition or the law or the rules. that person is not genuinely

When I was in secondary school, I had been mentally bending over my desk; when I came to High Pont College I began to stand up and look around. I came to see that one of the functions of a college is to enable me to shed details in favor of principles, not verbal formulations, but principals that thoroughly soaked in, that are mental habits rather than formal statements. A principle, then, becomes the way a person reacts to the appropriate stimulus in the form of illustrative circumstances.

The Department provided an atmosphere in which I learned that knowledge which adds greatness to character is knowlege so handled as to transform every phase of immediate experience. The habit of active thought, with freshness, can only be generated by adequater freedom. If growth has properly taken place, the principle of progress has come from within: the discovery is made by ourselves, the discipline is self-discipline, and the frui-

See Chairman pg. 8

Long accepts position at Bridgewater College

DR. BARBARA LONG is leaving HPC to begin work at Bridgewater College in Virginia. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

Leaves HPC after three years

BY TANA PARKER Staff Writer

Students enter and leave High Point College every year, but it is not every year that professors leave. This year one of those professors is Dr. Barbara Long.

After teaching French and Spanish for the past three years at HPC, Dr. Long has accepted the position of ac-ting head of the Foreign Language Department at Bridgewater College in Virginia, Dr. Long said She felt through the hard work of the language department and the high profile that it has received that she was given consideration for the position.

"I've got a lot of work ahead of me to try and revitalize their language program and to get things gong," said Dr. Long. She explained that Bridgewater College is similar to HPC in that it too has a small enrollment which enables the professors to interact closely with the students and she thinks that is important.

"It's going to be sad to leave all the friends and the fabulous department here (HPC) but it will give me a chance for some professional advancement. I hope to spread the success and techniques from HPC to Bridgewater," said Dr. Long.

No comment has been made as to who will replace Dr. Long but she stated that the decision is being made

Debate team being formed

BY LEWIS WHELESS Associate Editor

The Sophists were Greek migrant teachers who taught grammar, public speaking and held debates just for the sake of being able to debate. Several student and faculty members on the High Point College campus think the school needs to pursue the Sophists' art by forming a debate team

Dr. Earl Crow, an HPC religion professor, and John Smith, an HPC sophomore biology major, have joined forces to try to assemble such a team.

The details of the team's formation have not yet been worked out. Crow said, "We want to test the interest and get response" to determine if enough people are interested. The team would officially begin in the fall of 1983. The team would be composed of about 10-20 persons, but there does not have to be a set limit. "Officers" of the team would include a moderator and a secretary. It (the debates), would increase in formality as we go on," Crow said.

According to Crow and Smith, team members would debate on issues of current interest, political and social issues and, possibly, moral issues. The debate format would "give the student a chance to debate a faculty member without fear... A byproduct of the debates would be a blow against anti-intellectualism" on campus, according to Crow.

The team's organizers said debating will increase the participants' speaking and research skills and would give the participants self-confidence in front of a group. The debators "can learn from each other and learn not to be embarassed" in presenting arguments for or against a particular sub-

Smith said he is interested in asking Bill Sapp, the President of the Dialectic and Philanthropic Society to talk to the team after it gets underway. Sapp has much experience in the art of debating.

The team would be open to any student or faculty member. Interested persons should contact Dr. Crow in Roberts Hall or send him a note through campus mail for more information.

Campus safety office car/washing materials

There is now available in the Campus Safety office a 75 ft. hose, buckets, brushes, (and water) for students to 1) wash their cars, and 2) wash other people's cars.

After a recent incident in which two students were written up for washing their cars in the wrong place, Ed Cannady, director of Safety, secured the items mentioned above for student use. Any student wishing to borrow these needs to give his/her I.D. card to the officer on duty. Upon return of the equipment, the student can receive his/her card.

There are designated spots on campus to wash a vehicle. They are: 1) between McCulloch Hall and the auditorium, 2) In the maintenance parking lot (on weekends only), and 3) behind Haworth Hall.

Faculty awards received

MR. EARNEST PRICE Kearns professor award

Alumni Chair of higher learning award

DR. JOHN WARD Alumni Chair of higher learning award.

Photos on display

Selected photographs by students in the two sections English 360. Photographic Communica-tions, are on display in the lobby of Roberts Hall. The photographs use a variety of special effects, including vignetting, sabattiering, diffusion, double exposure, and color tinting. Special recognition goes to Erika Allion and to Jeff Collins for the best 8x10 prints and to

Renee Marsh for the best 8x10 hand tinted black and white photograph. All black and white prints were shot with Tri-X B&W, ASA 400, film and printed on Kodabromide FH paper. Color prints were shot with Kodacolor II, ASA 100,

The prints will be on display in Roberts Hall until the first Monday of exam week.

Hi-Po Staff

Reporters . . . . . Karen Hernandez. Terri Livingston Tabbie Nance

Tana Parker, Michael Pisano Bob Roasi Marisa Firpi, Bill Johnson, Photographers

Karen Hernandez

Artwork displayed

MARISA FIRPI is presently exhibiting her artwork at the lobby of the Campus Center. (Photo by Marisa Firpi)

Two High Point College students are presently displaying artwork in the lobby of the Campus Center. The students are Mat Rogers and Marisa Firpi. Rogers, a senior Art Education major, is displaying his pottery, drawings, woodcuts, silkscreens, sculpture and weaving.

Firpi, a senior studio art major from Puerto Rico, is displaying a series of wood-

Rogers, who is from Greensboro, NC, plans to teach high school level art when he graduates in May. He has his own studio in Greensboro at the Sternberger Center. He has interned with M.L. Owens Pottery in Seagrove, NC and did his student teaching at Page High School in Greensboro. Rogers wants to eventually become a full-time artist.

Firpi plans to pursue her art by going to graduate school next fall. She hopes to gain a M.F.A. in graphics of painting and become a professional artist.

Senior party planned

Combining their time, money, and efforts, the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior classes are hosting a farewell party for the Seniors. The event will be held Thursday. April 28, 1983 at the High Point Armory. The party is set to start at 8,00 p.m. and run until 1:00 a.m. Music will be provided by the Lambda Chi Alpha sound system.

you must bring your own beverage (beer and wine on ly). Directions to the Armory are available in the cafeteria and around campus. Being part of the Last Class Bash Week, the event is FREE to the whole student body and faculty. So Please come out and help us celebrate with our graduating seniors.

Remember to dress nicely.

Emotional strain characterizes role

BY CRYSTAL L. HEDGECOCK Editor-in-Chief

Jesus: Believed by many to be the greatest man who ever lived. How could an actor ever portary such a demanding character?

Phil Valente recently undertook that task when he portrayed Jesus Christ in High Point College's production of "Godspell."

"An actor has to be able to go from being himself to being that person," Valente said as he explained his preparation for the role.

"I was having a very hard time being Jesus Christ," he said. "The lines could be read 500 different ways. At first, I read the lines damning. The cast told me to be nicer; to be warm, smiling."

Valente said being nicer helped him do the part better, because he never could imagine Jesus actually being mean.

"It (the play) wouldn't work with Jesus being mean. I wanted Jesus to lead them, not order them," Valente said.

The blond college freshman said he wanted the part of Jesus when he auditioned for "Godspell," but he didn't know if he would get it or not. He also knew very little about the play, when he decided to audition.

"I knew it was religious-based, but that was all. Very few of the cast knew anything about it. It (the play) was one surprise right after another."

"A celebration of all that happened to Jesus" is how Valente views "Godspell." The audience, he said, should feel all the pain that Jesus felt and feel the joy, because He rose.

"I have a great respect for Jesus," Valente said, "and I wanted it to come through."

However, Valente said, he had to first learn a lot about himself before he could successfully do the part.

"At first," he said, "I was acting like a pompous ass. Then I had to open myself up to the audience, and that is very humbling experience."

Valente credits the other cast members with helping him the most.

"I felt a real magic between the people in the cast. They were so nice." Valente said the cast members would sug-

Valente said the cast members would suggest ways to do the different scenes he had. They were honest with him and would tell him if something he said was good or bad.

"That play was 12 people working as one," he said.

The Last Supper scope was the hardest to

The Last Supper scene was the hardest to do, Valente said. In the scene, Jesus went from one disciple to the next, telling them good-bye for the final time before His crucifion. For the scene, Valente had to be emotionally upset for it to work.

"I tried to have mental pictures to get in the mood, but they didn't work," he said. "I thought about breaking up with my exgirlfriend, but nothing was going to work for me unless I was actually going to say goodbye to these people.

"There are real tears there. The last night (of the show), I had to stop for a second and I took 15 deep breaths. . From that point on was the hardest part of the play."

The scene following the Last Supper is
Jesus on the cross.

Jesus on the cross.
"I did it intensely," Valente said of the scene on the cross. "On the cross, you have to remember why He was there, what He had gone through.

"I was so emotionally drained after that scene." he said

After the cross scene, Valente had to leave the stage and go to the front of the auditorium to prepare for his re-entrance as the risen Jesus.

"I had to go outside and run to the front," Valente said. "I could have walked, I had a few minutes. But if I didn't have that stupid little run. I would have been a fruit-el."

little run, I would have been a fruitcake."
The run, Valente said, helped him vent the emotional pressure that had built up during the previous two scenes.

The production on Good Friday was the most successful and the most draining, Valente said.

That Friday Valente didn't have a voice. His parents were in town from Florida and he said he visited them at the hotel, hoping to get some tender, loving care from his mother.

His voice got gradually better, but he knew that after the first song his voice would be gone again. The other cast members knew about Valente's voice, so they were waiting to hear it too,

"When I came out (on stage) and started singing, everything was great," Valente said with a smile. "My voice was great. Our eyes lit up and I knew something special was going on. By rights, I should not have been singing that night, but I did."

"There was magic there that night. The crucifixion was the most draining it had been When it was over, I thought 'Wow-do I know what I've just done?' I just wanted to be alone."

A warm glow surrounded Valente as he talked about the "magic." He claims the play has changed him and that he feels "nicer."

"I haven't come down yet. I still have a high from it." he said

Biology prof helping to prevent moldy clothing

Which chemical works best to keep our cotton or cotton/polyester clothing from mildewing? Dr. John Ward, Professor of Biology, spends a considerable amount of his time trying to answer this question.

For over 25 years textile mills have used a common fungicide called ephenylphenol to do the job; however, with the advent of strict Environmental Protection Agency regulations, it has been necessary to find substitutes.

Dr. Ward has found that the molds that most commonly infect cotton or cotton containing cloth in the local area are Aspergillus niger, Chaetomium globosum and a species of Pennicillium. Using these molds as test organisms, he has compiled several conventional techniques to determine the effects of 25 different chemicals in controlling mildew. This control is especially important to the textile industry while varn or cloth is in storage.

As a result of his work, several chemicals have been added to the list of effective fungicides in the textile industry. Among these chemicals are dichlorophene and dimethoxane.

Ward recently presented some of his findings to the North Carolina Academy of Science at its annual meeting at UNC-Chapel Hill.

Ward said he is often asked when he has time to work on research activities. The answer, he said, is "in the very little spare time I have available - weekends, evenings, Friday afternoons. It (conducting research) is fun, interesting and stimulating."

The instructor said he is also asked his opinion concerning research in a small liberal arts college. "I feel that a limited amount of research by a faculty member is desirable. It tends to keep me abreast of developments in my field, stimulates my enthusiasm for the subject and helps to generate student interest as students observe me genuinely involved in my subject area. However, I must be careful not to conduct research at the expense of my teaching.

Ward said he feels a certain amount of research is necessary for students. "Here at High Point our majors in the sciences have... a requirement which provides a means of adapting learning experiences to their own needs, interests and capacities as they become involved in the scientific process."

Seniors continue family tradition as future alumni

BY TABBIE NANCE Staff Writer

Jane Needham, Sally Davis, Todd Hilliard, and Susan Pierce are seniors at High Point College; but they also have something else in

All four have a parent who graduated from HPC. However, all chose to come to HPC, not because of tradition, but for other reasons.

An English major from Thomasville, NC, Jane Needham chose to come to HPC because it was close to home. Needham's parents, Rita (Ward) and W.H.

Needham, met during college and were married after they graduated.

'Mom told me when she was here, girls had to sign in and out whenever they left campus," Needham said. campus," Needham said.
"Girls had to let the receptionist know where they were going, when they would be back, who they were going with, and how they could be reached."

Needham's mother, an education major, and father, a business major, often double dated with Murphy Osborne, past HPC vice president of student affairs, and his wife, who were

students at HPC at that

Sally Davis, an education major, chose to come to HPC because it was a small college and she felt there was a better chance to become involved. Her mother, Ellen Faulkner Davis, attended HPC and majored in Christian Educa-

'When my mother attended HPC, girls had to wear raincoats over their gym suits because they were not allowed to walk across campus with only their gym suits on," Davis said. Davis and her mother both are members of the same sorority, Zeta Tau Alpha, Mrs. Davis was a member before it became nationally recognized at HPC.

Choosing to attend HPC because of baseball, Todd Hilliard and his father both majored in business administration.

Hilliard, a day student, said his father had some of the same professors he has had. "My father was a day student also so we have that in common," Hilliard said.

"Todd attended my graduation in his mother's stomach," Hilliard's father, Bob, said. "Since I was there the campus has grown with additional buildings being added.

Susan Pierce, a business and furniture major, came to HPC after receiving a scholarship. Both parents are alumni of HPC. Judy Williams Pierce, her mother, completed a two year secretarial course the college offered and John C. Pierce, her father, majored in business.

"My parents told me when they were here chapel was mandatory every Sunday and each person had an assigned seat," Pierce said. "My mother was a member of Kappa Delta and she said the college is more liberal now than it was when she

Language department to attend conference

BY KARLA GREEN Features Editor

The Foreign Language Department of High Point College will be well represented again this year at the Northeastern Conference on Teaching of Foreign Language. In attendance will be Dr. Carole Head, Dr. John Gabriele, Dr. Frances Hoch, and Dr. Barbara Long. Together they will present a workshop called "Foreign Languages and the Liberal Arts Col-The New lege: Integration."

In this workshop the members of the department will demonstrate means by which the foreign language department can contribute in these four areas: Literature and Civilization; Oral Communications Skills: Written Communications Skills; and International Business Program.

According to Dr. Carole Head, who helped in organizing the workshop, "We will show how the foreign language program is a vital and intregal ingredient in the liberal arts curriculum.

The goals cited for the workshops include: to recognize the means by which a foreign language department can become revitalized and exercise an important role in the general college curriculum. To learn specific techniques and examine course plans which link foreign languages to various aspects of the curriculum; and finally to discover the ideas and skills taught in literature, culture, conversation, composition and business must not be isolated in the language classroom but rather form an intregal part of the liberal arts instruction.

Dr. Gabriele will speak in the first part of the workshop on Literature and Civilization, He will relate Humanities to the core of liberal arts curriculum whereby students can develop an awareness of the foreign culture and at the same time gain an increased understanding of their own culture, by maturing thought processes and examining values.

Dr. Head will take the topic of Oral communica-tions skills and discuss a series of games and other activities that create a participatory classroom where the student is encouraged to express himself fully and exercise his creativity.

Dr. Long will discuss the written communications skills in her talk as Part Three of the workshop. She will stress how the student in foreign language is taught to write freely as in english composition class, using correct grammar and syntax as tools rather than goals.

Dr. Hoch will discuss the International Business Program. Its curriculum combines a business major, a core of foreign language courses and courses in supporting areas.

The entire workshop taught by the instructors from HPC will last 80 minutes, with each presentation of 20 minutes. This is the 30th annual conference its type. It will be held the weekend of April 28-May 1 in Baltimore, Marylnd. The conference will bring 24000 educators together to interact and to observe the state-of-the-art of foreign language and international

College Bowl

cont. from pg. 1

A second game was played between members of the regular season College Bowl players and the faculty. Players in the second game were James Parker, Tom Leech, Tom Williams, and Bill Cotham. The second half The Faculty was once again victorious.

of fun and excitement. Let's hope next year's College Bowl is just as fun!!

Kier says "consider me"

CRYSTAL L. HEDGECOCK Editor-in-Chief

CONSIDER ME - the title of a newly-released album, and the plea from the artist who recorded it.

Kier, a solo act from Greensboro, recently released his first album. He has played on college campuses all over the North and South during the past and played at High Point College several times, the most recent being the 1982 Last Class Bash.

The album offers thoughtprovoking, retrospective lyrics about a life that ap-pears to be filled with heartaches and disappointments.

Although the lyrics aren't particularly upbeat, the album isn't depressing. Instead, the album is soothing and provides a calming ef-

The music is heavily guitar-influenced, with nearly every song having a guitar solo. The music ranges from a slow rock tempo to an upbeat tempo that reminded me of Bruce Sprinsteen.

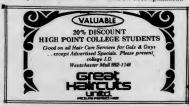

The title song is par-ticularly retrospective with several references that obviously aren't meant to be understood by the average listener. A reference to Hamburg, Germany is left unexplained, but I didn't worry about it enough to ruin the rest of the song. The piano solo is robust and melodic. In fact, all of the solos on the album are strong.

Kier creatively uses a few instruments on the album that surprised me. A complete string quartet is used on "My Final Invitation."
Steve Coble, of "Brice Street" plays saxophone solos on the "This Time Love Will Stay." "Convenient Memory" is played solely by the acoustic guitar, and the semothness of this and the smoothness of this song provides a pleasant transition between songs.

The entire album is really a look back at the artist's life. Three songs on the album refer to Kier's brief, but apparently impressive, stay at a college in Boston. The first song on the album, "Secondary Plan," refers to his elementary years in school. The album is a culmination of Kier's life, put to music.

CONSIDER ME is a definite answer for the listener who is ready for some sincere, thoughtprovoking lyrics with equally sincere and talented music for accompaniment.

SCI holds induction

In a meeting of April 25, the Society of Collegiate Journalists inducted ten Communication majors into the High Point College chapter.

Those inducted were: William Johnson, Gina Car-done, Jean Williamson, Lewis Wheless, Jane MacCannell, Renee Heath, Pat Connelly, Mary Hunter, Shannon Moore and Mario

Officers for 1983-1984 were also sworn in. Officers are: Renee Heath, pres.; Shannon Moore, vice-pres.; Jean Williamson, sec.; Lewis Wheless, treas.; and Mario Watson, publicity chairman.

All in all the game was one

High Point College

SPORTS

High Point takes conference, district titles

Netters gain confidence

BY MARK PHELPS

Sports Editor As the old saying goes, a little confidence can go a long way: and for Coach Kitty Steele and her Lady Panthers, it did just that.

A week before April fifteenth's conference tournament, the High Point net-ters were faced with the uphill battle of three consecutive matches against Davidson, UNC-Greensboro, and Appalacian, the latter two having defeated the Panthers earlier in the season 7-2.

Now, two weeks later, they can proudly look back at three 5-4 comeback victories, their sixth straight Carolinas Conference championship, and their first ever District 26 title.

"Before those three matches, I wasn't pleased with our performance and neither were the girls," said Coach Steele, "but those wins gave us the confidence heading into the tournaments.

The main story in both tournies was the individual battle between High Point and Guilford. This rivalry has grown during the last two years as High Point won both conference tournaments while Guilford took both district titles.

Going into the conference

BASEBALL

tournament, Coach Steele admitted to having more than a few worries of the Quakers.

"I thought that for the first time, Guilford might have a slight edge in depth. We matched up evenly in the top three positions, but they have stronger players at the fourth and fifth spots than last year and are very solid at the number six position."

Though these weaknesses showed up, the Panthers were able to overcome them and outscored Guilford 22-21 for their sixth consecutive conference championship. This winning streak is the unofficial record in any sport in Carolinas Conference history. Ana Medina won the number one singles flight, automatically giving her the player of the year award. She defeated Monica Hamm of Pembroke 6-2, 6-3, Anneli Kiviniemi won the number two flight as she defeated freshman Julie Tupper of Guilford with a pair of 6-4 sets.

Guilford won all four remaining singles matches, but the Panthers were able to clinch the tournament with two doubles victories.

In the number doubles, Medina

ANNELI KIVINIEMI has been named Conference Player of the Year and is on the All-

District tennis team

Kiviniemi defeated Pembroke's Byrd Britt and Hamm 6-2, 6-3. High Point's Helen O'Brien-Theresa Regnante tandom downed Melanie Bischoff and Lili Carpenter 6-3, 7-6 for the title at the second doubles.

In the third flight, Terri Strickland and Lisa Miller of Guilford defeated the Panther's team of Lynn Sharkey and Teresa Sweatman 3-6, 7-6, 7-6

The District 26 tourney, in

Scoreboard

which 14 teams participated and an open draw of singles players was used, took place Thursday through Sunday in Greensboro. High Point outscored Guilford 36-33 for the title. Pembroke and

Campbell finished a distance back with 14 and ten points respectively. The Quakers actually held a three point lead entering Sunday's finals, but needed to win all of their matches that day to win the cham-

Guilford's Tupper avenged the loss to Kiviniemi in the conference tournament as she defeated her counterpart 6-3, 6-3 for the singles championship. Kiviniemi, a junior form Sweden, may have been affected by the pressure that was put on the match.

"Anneli was uptight and felt a great amount of preassure because she knew

See Netter, pg. 7

Batting - thru April 16 HR BA NAME .055 Barber 12 .125 8 Barnes 5 Barra 15 0 .267 0 000 Carter 88 364 Carty 59 237 Crews Dupree 250 Everett 464 Furman Hamilton 000 .125 Horniak Humbert 600 368 Lucas Pisano 23 91 275 32 281 Rowand Russell 78 .321 Sprinkle 52 269 .242 18 66 Waynick .195 Whitney 15 41 .091 Wilboure TOTALS

Pitching NAME ERA Albrecht 4.97 1-1 7.22 0-2 Collins Dupree Humbert Mizell 6.51 McPherson Scott 5.78 1-1 Thompson 7.66 3-1 Tilley 2.79 1-1 Upchurch TOTALS 0.00 0-0 4.71 14-9

Fri., 15 - Lost to Atlantic Christian 4-10 Sat., 16 - Defeated Wingate 8-5

Thurs.-Sun. - Carolinas Con-20-24 - ference Tournament

At Greensboro (Late) Wed., 27 - St. Augustine Fri., 29 - At St. Augustine

TENNIS

Womens
Mon., 11 · Defeated Appalachian 5-4 Tues., 12 - Defeated Davidson 5-4 Wed., 13 - Defeated UNC-G
5-4
FriSat., 15-16 - Carolinas Conference Tournament
HPC 22, Guilford 21, Wingate 6, Pembroke 5,
Elon 4, Pfeiffer 3, Atlantic
Christian 2, Catawba 1 FriSun. 20-24 · District 26
Tournament
HPC 36, Guilford 33, Pem-

broke, 14, Campbell 10

Fri-Mon. 22-25 - District 26 Tournament at Guilford

TRACK

Thurs., 20 · Carolinas Conference tournament Pembroke 118, Elon 33, HPC 29

GOLF

Mon.-Tues. 18-19 · Carolinas Conference and District 26 tournament Guilford 609, Elon 611, Atlantic Christian 623, Wingate 638, HPC 641

SORRY - due to an early Monday deadline, the baseball and men's tennis teams' conference tournaments could not be covered.

Pepe Perone: A leader on and off the field

BY MARIO WATSON Special to the HI-PO

For a moment, imagine you are a freshman athlete. While daydreaming in orientation class, your mind ponders about your goals and what your collegiate sports career will be like.

sports career will be like.

If you number one priority is to be a leader by example and be honored by your teammates, coaches and even receive national honor, maybe you would like to talk with Pepe Perone to pick up a few pointers.

Perone came to High Point Since the fall of 1979 when College from Long Island, he College from Long Island, he has been known as being a go-getter and having a zest for life.

His personality, a mixture of friendliness and confidence but no cocky attitude, has left its mark at the campus.

Perone, a four-year starter for the men's soccer team, has built up an impressive collegiate record.

During his collegiate career, High Point College has won 42 matches, two conferences championships and competed in the district finals his last three years.

"He has consistently been the hardest worker day in and day out during his career here," said Woody Gibson, soccer coach at

"He directs and helps everyone else to think on the field. He has both skill and soccer sense."

The last three years
Perone was an AllConference and All-District selection in the Carolina Conference. The honor is voted on by all the conference coaches.

After being named to the NAIA All-American team his senior year, Perone talked of his four years at HPC.

"It's been an experience for me meeting the different people at High Point," he said. "I have grown as a player and a person through the different situations and relationships I've been involved with."

Perone first heard about High Point College from a former athlete from his high school, Marie Riley who later became an All-American in volleyball and basketball at High Point College

"He has the ability to make others laugh," said Riley. "He gets along with everyone and has a nice personality."

"The most important thing that ever happened to me is attending school at HPC," admitted Perone.

Perone is a business administration major who enjoys being with his friends and being active in tennis and basketball.

HPC teams disappointing in tournaments

Track team takes third

BY DON WILBORNE Special to the HI-PO

High Point College failed to win an event and finished a disappointing third in the tree-team Carolina Conference Tract Meet April 21 at Pembroke State Universi-

The host, Braves, easily won the meet as expected, scoring 118 points, followed by Elon College with 33 and HPC with 29

"I really thought we'd take a couple of firsts," HPC

Coach Bob Davidson said.
"The big difference was in the weight events. Elon had some people (from Spring football) that we'd never seen before."

Davidson cited a poor exchange on the 440 relay as a key to the Panther's third place finish.

place mush.

High Point College
managed five second places.
Ralph Barnes was second inte triple jump with a leap of 46'9''; Jon Richardson was second in the javelin with a throw of 169'. Phil Dickerson was second in the pole vault at 13'; Glenn Jones was second in the 440 hurdles in 59.52; and the mile relay team of Kent Sides, Richardson, Jones and Jeff Norris also finished second.

Sides set a new school record of 21.45 in the 200-meter dash, finishing third.

Ralph Barnes was selected High Point College's most valuable performer for the season.

Weather hinders golfers

Mark Phelps Sports Editor

Though a 25 degree temperature and steady 30 mph winds hampered play in the combined Carolinas Conference and District 26 golf tournament on April 18-19, coach Woody Gibson feels his players were possibly hurt more by the conditions mentally than physically.

"I'm dissappointed that we didn't play a little better," coach Gibson said. "I think some of our golfers were mentally affected by the weather. They thought they would be slowed and they in turn were."

High Point finished a distant fifth to first-place Guilford, which leed the field with a two day total of 609. Elon was second at 611, followed by Atlantic Christian with 623 points, Wingate with 638, and the Panthers with 641.

Juniors Buddy Sass and Ted Barnhardt led High Point as each shot for a twoday score of 156. Sass finished with totals of 75 and 81 while Barnhardt turned in a 76 and 80.

Phil Krimminger completed the tournament with a 163, having individual scores of 82 and 81. Matt Cohen finished with straight 83's and a 163, while Jeff Zivic landed a 170, splitting a pair of 85's.

conference Cont. from pg. 6

we needed only one point to win," said coach Steele. "She also was nervous since the game was being playing indoors and on Julie's homecourt."

The clinking victory for the Panthers was in the doubles semi-finals, as Kiviniemi and Medina combined to defeat Guilford's Bishoff and Carpenter 6-4. The High Point team then beat Guilford's number one ranked tandom of Tupper and Cary Kennedy 6-4. 4-6, 6-4 for the champion-ship.

ship.
The key Panther victory in the tournament, though, may have occured during the first day. High Point's

Cont. from pg. 6 fourth ranked singles player, O'Brien, upset Carpenter, the number five seed for the Quakers, 6-4, 6-2. She was then able to advance three more rounds, which included having to defeat her singles partner, Regnante.

O'Brien Regnante, Kiviniemi, and Medina were included on the all-district team. Guilford also had four players named to the squad, including Tupper, Bischoff, Carpenter, and Kennedy, Pembrokes Hamm and Campbell's Carol Dirking completed the list.

Both High Point and Guilford will complete in the NAIA championships at Overland Park in Kansas from May 31-June 4. Guilford won the tournament in 1981 and finished second last year.

The Panthers have taken fourth place the last two

Ellington's Florist

1122 EAST LEXINGTON AVENUE 889-4748

Specializing in cut flower arrangements, corsages, and boutonnieres. Friday Flowers - $3.00 FREE DELIVERY TO HIGH POINT COLLEGE

Strictly Classified

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad, type the ad doubleced and turn it in to the HI-PO by Friday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ads turned in after this deadline vill be held until the next sue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no designation, the ad will run For only one week.

Announcements

Fine Arts

Departmental Recital

Piano students of Marcia Dills will present a program of four-hand music on April 28 at 8:00 in the choral rehearsal room of the Fine Arts Building. Performing in the program will be Brenda Haworth, Elizabeth Johnson, Latefa Jones, Mary Kay Deasy, Jacquiline Elliot, Mary Hina and Jose Armenteros Selections by Brahms, Franck, Schubert, Scarlatti, Ravel, Moskowski and Dvorak will be heard. Students are invited and there is no admission charge.

Lost and Found articles may be picked up in the Office of Student Life. . .

- . . prescription glasses watches
- keve
- .. calculator iackets
- .etc.

REMINDER TO ALL TITLE: Domestic workers 141-146, Practicum. All DESCRIPTION: Need persons on-call for work as biweekly report forms and final two-page summary report are due by Friday, April 29. Please place in marked box outside office door of Dr. DeLeeuw, Cooke

The absolute final date for all practicum materials is Wednesday, May 3, at 4 p.m. All students should keep copies of reports. *****

All DAY STUDENTS are eligible to attend CAEP Classes from May 9 - June 2. 1983. Earn extra hours! Make up Incompletes! Come to Cooke Hall - Rm. 26.

Employment

TITLE: Babysitter DESCRIPTION: Need responsible sitter during summer months (June-August) for well-behaved 8-yr.-old.

HOURS: 6:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. M-F (in High Point). SALARY: Negotiable.

CONTACT: Cindy Conrad. 525-B Weaver Ave., High Point; phone 431-8169 after 4:30 weekdays, anytime weekends.

TITLE: Car parkers and drivers

DESCRIPTION: Need 10 persons to park and drive cars during auto auction. Must have drivers license; at least 18 yrs. old.

PART-TIME, 8 a.m. to ? SALARY: $3.35 hr.

CONTACT: David Buckner, phone 886-7091 between 9 and 5 sons on-call for work as babysitters, windows, housework, et.

PART-TIME, as needed SALARY: Varies

CONTACT: Patty Reape, Call for appointment, 889-0101 at House Calls. Interviewing at 116 W. Broad St. - one block off Main.

TITLE: Retail Merchan-

DESCRIPTION: Need one female 21 years or older with an outgoing personality and able to communicate easily. Must have own car with proof of insurance, to sell to store managers. PART-TIME, 25 hours or so per week.

SALARY: $4.25 hr. plus 20¢ mile CONTACT: Rick Young, R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., phone 777-7777. Must be willing to work through December, 1983.

TITLE: Handyman/Assistant to help keep up proper-

DESCRIPTION: Married couple to live in house on farm. Male would assist with yard work and han-diwork on farm. Female would be free to go to school,

HOURS: 8:00-5:00. SALARY: $3 per hour plus free housing CONTACT: Mrs. Ragsdale, Jamestown.

454-1722

Not a lost art... at Domino's Pizza our dough is never frozen or pre-formed, but prepared fresh by highly skilled pizza professionals. Pizza is the only thing we make at Domino's Pizza. It enables us to concentrate fully on making it the best available. Limited delivery area. Our drivers carry less than $10.00 ©1961 Domino's Puzza Inc. 869-1115

Off any large pizza!

Expires 5/18/83

Fast, Free Delivery High Point Mell (Eastchester Drive) Phone: 869-1115

Off any size pizza!

Expires 5/18/83 13 High Point Mail (Eastchester Drive) Phone: 869-1115

$ .50 off any size pizza. Fast, Free Deliver

Chairman

Cont. from pg. 2

tion is the outcome of our initiative. This is the atmosphere in which I learned.

My teachers in the Department had a double function. They elicited the enthusiasm by resonance from their own personalities, and they created the environment of a larger knowledge and a firmer purpose. Their ultimate motive power was the sense of value, the sense of importance. It took the various forms of wonder, of curiosity, of reverence, of worship, of tumultuous desire for merging personality in something beyond itself.

Is what I have learned to be denied now? Is the college not approving of what I and hundreds of other students have learned? The Administration did not hesitate to appoint someone within Foreign Language Department as Chairperson when that position was vacated. Is it the opinion of the administration that the Religion and Philosophy Department professors are incompetent? Is the administration saying that it does not approve of the fact that the Religion and Philosophy Department faculty members are doing the job that they were hired to do in their discipline?

And what of the faculty members in other departments? Can they not voice their support of their colleagues in the Religion and Philosophy Department with the intensity and conviction with which, were any of them in the same position, the Religion and Philosophy faculty would support them? Can the faculty of HPC not see the ironies - one of which is a man standing up for a principle, (not only for himself, but for the entire faculty) which should be the backbone of any institution of higher learning, and which is characteristic of one who is hired in his particular discipline.

Can I not make the assumption that this faculty has the academic credentials and humanitarian qualities that would enable it to see the injustice taking place? Or am I guilty of violating the mature philosophical attitude - that of looking at all sides of an issue?

Carol Branard

FREE

The Hi-Po is distributed on campus by Alpha Phi Omega, a National Service fraternity. This is the fifth year they have provided this service.

